Had Weak Kidneys For Two Years.

Doctor Failed to Help. Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Mr. Edmund Assels, New Carlisle, Que., writes:—"I feel it my duty to let you know of the great cure I have obtained by using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for two years. I tried a doctor, but he failed to help me. I read in the B.B.B. Almanac about Doan's Kidney Pills, and began using them, and after the first box began to feel better. I only used four boxes and they completely cured me. I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure, and would advise everyone suffering from kidney disease to try them."

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some kind of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backache, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored, scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or suppressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for, if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

MIGHTY MOUNT ROBSON.

Rev. G. R. B. Kinney Tells of the Ascent of the "Big Fellow."

The interesting fact has just come out of the wilderness west of Edmonton that a distinguished party of British Alpine climbers have attempted to scale the icy summit of Mount Robson, and have failed. Two points stand out distinctly in the story of this attempt, and this failure. The first is that while they failed they felt more than repaid for the long journey just to have seen and to have stood in the presence of this "King of the Rockies." The party were twenty-four days reaching the foot of the mountain from Edmonton. At John Swift's homestead on the Upper Athsbasca, Aug. 24, they met Rev. G. R. B. Kinney, who had "Cook'd" them. Kinney warned them that they were too late, but they pushed on. On Sept. 7 they began the ascent. When they had gone within twelve hundred feet of the summit of this mighty monarch of the hills, whose icy crown sits 13,700 feet above the sea, the famous Swiss guide, Moritz Inderbinen, turned to the man following him and whispered hoarsely, "Foehn," which is the name of the warm wind of Switzerland, which compares with our "Chinook." And lo there blew down across the glacier the wind which softens the snow and makes the going bad. In the Alps the "Foehn" brings not only a thaw, but often an avalanche and sometimes showers of ice. Most of the climbers knew, and better still they knew Moritz knew, and they halted. Even as they talked the storm broke over the crags and the night fell before they could escape the glacier over which they were traveling. It was with great difficulty that their made their way back to the timber belt.

The second point referred to above is the interesting fact that these British climbers did not doubt for a moment that Mr. Kinney had reached the summit. On the contrary they accepted his statement and congratulated him heartily. Professor Coleman of Toronto has already called Mount Robson "One of the show places of the world," and Mr. Hasting's description of the big hill seems to corroborate Prof. Coleman's opinion.

The British party was composed as follows: Geoffrey Hastings, Bradford; A. L. Mumm, London; L. S. Amery of The London Times; his brother, Capt. H. Amery, and Mr. Mumm's Swiss guide, Moritz Inderbinen.

Speaking of the grandeur of Mount Robson, Mr. Hastings said it was a magnificent peak, the northerly face of which was a tremendous precipice. There was a great glacier on the mountain, which he understood was to be called "Kinney glacier," in honor of Mr. Kinney. The river, which rose on the glacier, said Mr. Hastings, divided into two streams, one of which flowed into the north fork of the Fraser river, and so into the Pacific ocean, while the other stream flowed into the Smoky river, thence into the Peace river and so into the Arctic ocean. On the north side of the mountain there were two glacial lakes formed by the melting of the glacier. It was a scene of great beauty. Great blocks of ice were constantly breaking off the glacier's tongue, the crash being audible many miles away. The great glacier on Mount Robson was fed by smaller glaciers from the south, west and east.

Trappers Up Against It.

Trappers who live in the wilds of the Canadian north are up in arms against the march of civilization which is gradually but surely ruining their business. Of course their protest is futile and the work of forming new settlements still goes on but, at least, one can sympathize with these baffled sons of nature. The wonder is that the situation has not become more acute long ago and that their business has continued profitable is really remarkable.

History has repeated itself in this as in all other things. The advance guard of civilization was years behind a class of hardy trappers who earned their livelihood in the solitude of the forests by taking animals for their furs. As civilization advanced the number of trappers became larger and the amount of game diminished until there was no longer a profit to be had from the business.

The Hudson Bay Co. preserved the frozen north of Canada for half a century after the rest of America had ceased to be a profitable hunting ground, but the onward march of the railroads and the ever restless wave of homeseekers has at last advanced to the very outposts of the Hudson Bay territory. Gold and wheat have been the lodestones and the trapping business suffers.

Where will we get our furs in the future? We will raise them. For farming, skunk farming, cat farming and the hundred and one other kinds of animal raising will take the place of the trapper and his gun. Other fur bearing animals will soon be taught to eat out of the hand of man just as the domestic animals of the farm have been doing for centuries. Man will simply enlarge his control over the fur bearing as well as the food bearing animals.

Shrewd Marketing.

A Galician who lives 35 miles north of Vegreville, Sask., recently went in to town with ten sacks of cucumbers and some sacks of corn. The cucumbers were extra large and some of them dead ripe. He sold them at a dollar a pail. This is the second load taken in this season by the same Galician. He made over $60 in his load. This Galician lives north of the Saskatchewan and he says that he has a lot more of cucumbers and corn. Already he has made $150 on his garden stuff. His wheat and oats have been stacked over ten days.

Trawler's Big Haul.

The Lowstoft herring-drifter Pride landed at Grimsby the results of one night's fishing, consisting of 200 crans, or 200,000 herring. On the market the catch realized $1,649, which is believed to be the highest price ever obtained for one night's fishing. The herring were caught twenty miles from Grimsby.

Skeptical.

"Darling," he said, "you are the only woman I ever loved. I swear it!"

"George," she rejoined, "you talk like an arctic explorer."—Houston Post.

WORKER'S HAND SAVED

Mr. Wm. Burdett, of 198 Simcoe St., East, Hamilton, Ont., is employed at the works of the Canadian Westinghouse Co. He says:—"A heavy mould was being rolled over when it caught my hand. The result was a terrible crush, and by next morning my hand was black, and so stiffened, swollen and painful I could not use it. We applied liniment, and bandaged it, thinking it would soon be all right again—but it wasn't! For some time it showed no sign of getting better but on the contrary looked like turning to a very ugly injury.

"My wife persuaded me that Zam-Buk would do me more good than anything else, and I began to try it. Zam-Buk seemed to penetrate to the very core of the injured muscles and ligaments, taking healing and ease with it. It soothed the pain, reduced the swelling, and removed the discoloration. In a week's time it had so acted on the injury that the hand was nearly normal again and I could go to work once more. It is now quite cured."

HIS WIFE CURED OF DISFIGURING ECZEMA!

The above case is only one instance of the benefit which the Burdett family has reaped from Zam-Buk. Mr. Burdett's wife owes her cure of eczema to the same healing balm. She says: "The disease broke out on my face in the form of red pimples and blotches which itched terribly, and when rubbed, burned and smarted very much. The pustules then spread and formed sores. These were at times very painful, they itched until I could hardly bear, and when touched turned sore. I tried various things, one after another, as they were recommended to me, but seemed unable to get any relief. Ordinary ointments and salves were quite unequal to my case.

Then I tried Zam-Buk although at the time I hardly thought it could cure me. I thought it was just an ordinary balm. To my delight I was soon convinced otherwise. A few applications gave me considerable ease, and the burning, smarting pains grew less acute. As I persevered with the treatment the patches grew less in extent and the sores ceased to be so painful. In a week's time the eczema was well under control and healing splendidly, and to-day I am free from it entirely. Zam-Buk has effected a permanent cure, I feel sure, and I am very grateful for it."

ZAM-BUK FOR CHILDREN'S HURTS.

Mrs. Burdett has a word to say on the value of Zam-Buk as a balm for the delicate and tender skin of children. Every mother should note this. She says: "Zam-Buk is especially useful where there are children. It seems to heal their cuts and wounds and scratches in wonderful form. Almost as soon as applied, it ends the pain and smarting and gives the little ones ease. I would not like to be without it in the house."

WHAT ZAM-BUK IS AND WHAT IT CURES.

Zam-Buk is a balm composed entirely of healing herbal essences. It is free from the rancid animal fats and poisonous mineral substances found in ordinary salves and ointments. Unlike these it never goes rancid, never stains, but is always sweet, pure and fresh. It cures cuts, burns and scalds; heals ulcers, abscesses, poisoned wounds, chapped hands, frost bite, cold sores, etc. Rubbed on to the chest in cases of cold it ends the feeling of tightness and aching. It is also a cure for piles. All stores and druggists sell at 50c a box or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

A Fish Story

Two Questions the Judge Was Called Upon to Decide.

By Martha McCulloch-Williams.

Copyright, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

The willow tree leaned so far out over the water that all that happened in it was mirrored in the face of the stream. There was an eddy at the tree foot, with a deepish pool underneath. Trout lurked in the pool, so big and wary they were the despair of all neighborhood fishermen.

The Ennis boy, of course, had told Wilmer all about them. Wilmer, indeed, had found the lad much like a local chronicle. In the week since he had established himself at the Ennis farmhouse he had been possessed of at least half the ins and outs of Brush creek neighborhood.

Ostensibly Wilmer was a vagrant vacationer; really he was looking out for remnant tracts of hardwood timber. A new railway was mooted, not yet even in the air, but in the minds of certain men. Before building it they wanted to make certain of sure and quick returns. Walnut, white oak, cherry and ash in sufficient amount would furnish such returns.

Wilmer had been told to spend a fortnight looking for timber. Now, at the middle of the fortnight, he knew he need look no more, so he was giving his whole mind to the enjoyment of fishing; hence today's excursion begun at sunrise. So far the excursion had been fruitless. The Ennis boy was distressed. He had rather bragged of the sport they were to have. Besides, Wilmer had promised him a silver dollar if they managed to catch even one big trout.

Wilmer had his reasons aside from natural liberality. He was on the edge of falling in love with a girl, dragon guarded. The dragon was a crusty uncle whose sole enthusiasm was for fish and fishing. If Wilmer could send off in the night's mail a snapshot of even a two pounder, along with a chatty account of the place where such fish might be caught, he knew he would come near to establishing himself in the dragon's good graces. He would also do well for his immediate principals, since the dragon was among the chiefest of those depended on to finance the new line.

So he came to the willow tree with something beyond sportsman eagerness. Approach to it was not directly along the water side, but across a tiny promontory of gravelly turf. He knelt among the taut upstanding roots stretching back of it, made ready his hook, baiting it with the choicest minnow in the bucket; then, advancing covertly, still in shelter of the trunk, flung it midstream, a little way up current, so the eddy might suck it right over to the depths. Then, watching the ripples spread and turn the water mirror's picturings to grotesque caricature, he became aware that the hole was pre-empted—there was a homemade line of black flax thread, with a cork, likewise homemade, dangling from the tree, the cork bobbing and dipping in exactly the middle of the pool.

He dared not speak. The Ennis lad had warned him a word was death to his chances. The boy also had seen the intruding line. In swift pantomime, by throwing himself prone and lying at ease, he counseled Wilmer to stay. It was good counsel, Wilmer decided. He stood fast, keeping well away from the bank and so maneuvering his rod as to keep his bait properly in motion.

The eddy was big and slow, so slow it made one sleepy to watch it. The mounting May sun was warm and vital, the drone of bees in the basswood tops or over the sparse white clover blooms a lulling chant. There had been a ruffling breeze, but it had died to utter stillness. Wilmer watched his float and the homemade one until he grew drowsy. And then something happened that made him wildly awake.

The bungling cork went under with a rush. The next second there leaped to view, half his silver length above water, a monster trout, the most beautiful Wilmer had ever seen. He was fast, having bolted the hook, but that clumsy line would never hold him. Moreover, it appeared to be but lightly tied to a swaying willow branch. No doubt some rustic had left it there. There could be nobody in the tree.

However the water mirror had been shattered, it had had still moments during which Wilmer had studied it close, yet seen nothing but the gold green leafage, the netted intricacies of slender boughs, the rough and weather beaten bigness of the trunk.

What wonder that he scrambled up the slope of it, made to fling himself along it and reach for the line! That fish must be landed: it was a prize beyond hope. His fingers were almost upon the cord when he snatched them back as if from fire. Another hand had reached for the line—one small and sunburned, with strawberry stained fingers that yet were beautifully tapered. It was a girl's hand—a very pretty girl's. He saw that at a glance as he said rather breathlessly:

"Don't lose him! Give him line—as little as you can! Heavens, how he fights! You—you had better come down—or let me land him for you."

Wilmer half fell from the tree. His own float was dipping, dancing, disappearing, coming up again, in the most maddening fashion. But no silver fish broke, lancelike, through the shimmering waters. Instead, tug as he might, there was a sense of something heavy, yet alive, at the other end of the line. His own battle absorbed him, yet not to the degree of making him forget the other. The girl from her perch was at an obvious disadvantage. Still she knew the game. Back and forth, up and down, weaving sidewise, she let the big fish play. Wilmer watched her almost enviously. He must himself have hooked the grandfather of all trout, but it was nothing like so game.

"Hi, thar, you, up tree! You better come down!" the Ennis boy shouted, but the fisherwoman remained invisible. "That's nobody but just that little Joe Lane. You know, I've told you she wasn't more'n half a gal," he confided in low aside to Wilmer, who nodded comprehension.

He had been hearing things about Joe, a wild piece, motherless, brought up by a mad old grandfather, to the scandal of all the overgood, for she had never been sent to school and had done exactly as she pleased all through her nineteen years of life. More than that, she had a way—a way that fetched all the fellows in the countryside, only to be sent about their business again, even Steve Batson, who had a store and three farms.

The big trout moved sluggishly. It was simply marvelous how that flax line had held him. Wilmer was wild to ask what bait had lured him even though his own quarry filled his hands. He was reeling in daftly, but slowly, making gains now of a foot, now of an inch. He had not yet got sight of his prize. Suddenly, in spite of reeling in, the line slackened. He saw at the water's surface the snaky head and neck of a big snapping turtle. An instant the creature held fast, permitting itself to be drawn toward the bank; then it severed the line and sank back to its fastness of roots and rocks.

There came a tinkling laugh from the willow tree, followed by a merry voice crying: "Please go away, you two! I want to come down before your big fish comes and eats up mine."

"Let us help you; you'll never land him alone," Wilmer called back.

At just that moment the trout gave a wild, running leap, showing clear in the air, then sounding viciously.

The fisherwoman held fast, but in stopping his rush lost her balance and went splash into the pool. As she fell Wilmer understood—her feet were absolutely bare. He plunged in. The pool was well over his head, but it was nothing to bring the girl safe to the bank. She still held the line. The Ennis boy snatched it from her and plunged in himself, winding line as he trod water across half a dozen yards; then, with a quick dive, reached the tired trout, held him fast and scrambled in triumph to the bank.

"Confess that you envy him," the girl said, nodding toward the Ennis boy. She stood dripping, but happy, making no effort even to wring the water from her skirts. "I can't understand why you chose to pull me out instead of the fish," she went on. "I fear you are no true brother of the angle."

"Well, you see, it was your fish, and I wanted it badly," Wilmer pleaded in excuse.

The girl shook her head. "That's a question," she said. "True, I hooked the trout, with, oh, such a big worm for bait, but I didn't land him. Grandad will have to decide the point of ownership. He used to be a judge, you know, and is, I'm sure, much wiser than Solomon."

"Take me to him at once," Wilmer commanded. The girl nodded and darted along a footpath, beckoning the others to follow. Soon they came upon a red brick house with wide, hospitable piazzas and open doors.

Judge Lane sat at ease there, smoking and dipping into a big shabby volume of Izaak Walton. He did not seem shocked at Joe's plight.

"You, miss, have no sort of claim to the fish. You lost it disgracefully through Eve's sin of curiosity," he said. "As for those others, I think they can settle it between them. But, hark you, Jacky Ennis, you've made a great catch—one that ought to be worth at least $2."

Wilmer paid more, but the trout was not sent away. Instead it was cooked for dinner in the Lane kitchen. And some six months later Wilmer came asking the judge for Josephine. The old man listened in silence and at the end said with twinkling eyes:

"Humph! It seems that fish case is mighty hard to settle. What if you did pull Joe out of the water—d'ye happen to know she can swim like a mermaid?"

"What has that to do with it?" Wilmer demanded. "You admit I did pull her out. It was on that ground you gave Jacky the fish. Surely you don't mean to reverse yourself?"

"No, for if I did I might be re-reversed," the judge said, laughing softly. "Besides, I'm a stickler for precedent, and Josephine always has had her own way."

Buy Soap Already Aged

It lasts longer and does more work.

Wise housewives buy soap in quantities and store it on their pantry shelves until it is hard and firm.

But we put Taylor's Borax Soap through an ageing process equal to standing six months in your pantry, so you can use it as soon as you get it. It is a compact, white soap that lathers freely in any kind of water, and the ageing makes it last twice as long as any other soap in Canada.

We go 12,000 miles to Ceylon for the cocoanut oil we put into this soap.

Most makers say it is too expensive, but we find it makes the best soap—so we use it.

Then we mix it with borax, which softens hard water, whitens clothes without injury and makes them sweet and clean.

No soap could be purer than this, for during the boiling process we run thousands of gallons of clean water through the soap. Thus every impurity is carried away and the soap is absolutely clean.

It destroys all odors, kills every germ, and leaves things wholesome and pure. Try it for woolens and flannels. It won't shrink them—it is a wonderful soap for every household use.

Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for additions and alterations to the General Post Office Building, Toronto, Ontario," will be received at this office until 5.00 p.m., on Monday, November 22, 1909, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specifications and forms of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and on application to Mr. Thomas Hastings, Clerk of Works, Customs Building, Toronto.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, with their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
NAPOLEON TESSIER,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, October 29, 1909.

WHERE LAND IS DEAR

GRIMSBY FRUIT PROPERTY IS BRINGING $1,000 AN ACRE.

Down In the Fruit Belt They Are Taking as Much as Twenty-Seven Dollars From a Single Pear Tree In a Year—Three Hundred Grape Vines Yield 6872 In Third Year—What Co-operation Is Doing.

"Where do you expect to find a market for all the grapes you will have in that vineyard?"

This was the question put to Murray Pettit when that gentleman set out a very modest vineyard on his farm adjoining Grimsby in the spring of '71. That was the year in which grape growing, in a commercial way, first began in Ontario. Few people then believed that a profitable outlet could be obtained for the crop grown even on a few acres of grapes. To-day Mr. Pettit alone is shipping from fifteen to twenty thousand small baskets of grapes annually, and there are within less than twenty miles of his door 14,500 acres in vineyard.

In 1882 Mr. Pettit planted the first of his Niagara grapes. The vines cost him $1.50 each, and in the fall of '85 from 300 of these vines he sold $852 worth of fruit, Niagaras at that time commanding 10 to 12 cents a pound.

To-day, of course, the price is very much lower, but even with the reduction in price reasonable profits are, by means of co-operation, being obtained. Eight men, of whom Mr. Pettit is one, have organized what is known as the Winona Fruit Growers' and Shippers' Association. They have 500 acres of choice fruit and they announce themselves as "direct shippers from orchard to dealer." Once a week they send out typewritten circulars to retail dealers from one end of Canada to the other, stating what the price for fruit on board cars at Winona will be in the following week, and these retail dealers telegraph their orders for such quantities they require at the price quoted them. In this case, it will be noted, that the sellers, not the buyers, fix the price at which sale is to be made; and these sellers are enabled to do this by means of an organization which regulates marketing and controls quality.

The fruit of all eight growers is pooled together by varieties and each man receives the same return for the same quantity of fruit shipped as is received by his fellow co-operators. At the same time precautions are taken to make sure that each shipment is of equal quality. This is done by having it so arranged that each man stamps his initials on the baskets put up by him and then, if any complaint is made, the cause of complaint can be traced back to the individual grower who is at fault, and he, not the association, has to make good any rebate in the price which can be justly claimed on behalf of the buyer.

By means of this organization, which at once provides for systematic marketing, and the creation of a reputation giving confidence to buyers, these growers were able to obtain last week 40 to 50 cents per basket for plums, while fruit of similar quality was being sold in Toronto at around 30 cents.

While Mr. Pettit's chief output is in grapes he has considerable plantations in pears, plums, etc. From one Anjou pear tree last year he picked 56 baskets of fruit, which netted $27. This, however, was an exceptional year. This year the tree has no fruit at all and all over the Niagara district pear growers are threatened with a complete loss of their orchards owing to the ravages of twig blight.

It is a mistake to suppose, as many do suppose, that a good quality of apples cannot be produced in the Niagara district. Buyers are paying $1.60 for winter fruit on the trees in that section this year. Still, even in the face of these returns, Mr. Pettit has, in the last few years, rooted out 14 acres of apple orchard which were in full bearing in order to make room for grapes and other fruits that give even better returns.

Lands suited to the growing of peaches and grapes in this Grimsby section bring exceedingly high prices. A year ago 30 acres, six of which run up on the face of the mountain, and are therefore useless for fruit growing, sold for $27,500. During the last two or three years a large number of properties have changed hands. Most of the changes are in the form of cutting up what were large farms into smaller holdings, and fully one-half of the new buyers are, according to E. D. Smith, recent arrivals from England.

It is needless to say that all the fruit growers have house 'phones, and most of them have season 'phones placed in their packing houses as well, the charge for the season being $5.

A further indication of the extent of the fruit-growing industry in Grimsby may be seen in the establishment of E. D. Smith. Mr. Smith has two large establishments on the Hamilton-Grimsby electric line, one of which is in the form of a warehouse for handling of fresh fruits, and the other a factory for the manufacture of jam. The Hamilton-Grimsby electric line hauls fruit cars to the switch directly adjoining Mr. Smith's establishments and these are loaded for all points between Halifax and Vancouver. In one year Mr. Smith has shipped out 500 cars of fresh fruit, and 100 cars of jam.

One of the principal items in his business is the putting up of pulped strawberries and raspberries in tins for the western trade. Mr. Smith says a mistake is being made in neglecting the crab. There is, he declares, an excellent market in the west for all the crabs Ontario is producing.

Skin Diseases.

Under this name such troubles as Salt Rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Tetter, Shingles, Psoriasis, Scurf, Itching Rashes, Eruptions, Boils, Pimples, etc., are included. Skin diseases, as a rule, are not dangerous, but are unsightly, irritating and often terribly annoying to the sufferer; they depend mainly on bad blood, from one cause or another, for if the blood is pure and the circulation good no skin disease can exist, except it arise from lack of proper cleanliness or from contagion.

To get rid of skin diseases it is necessary to observe strictly all the laws of health; maintain regular action of the bowels; avoid high living, eating only plain nourishing food. Cleanse and keep the blood pure by taking Burdock Blood Bitters, which unlocks all the secretions, and makes new rich blood by acting on the entire system.

Had Salt Rheum Six Years.

Mrs. E. M. Myers, East Jeddore, N.S., writes:—"I don't think there is anyone in this Dominion can recommend Burdock Blood Bitters more than I can. I suffered terribly with Salt Rheum for six years, and did everything for it without relief. For curiosity sake I bought six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it completely cured me. I would advise others to use it."

For sale by all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BLOOD WILL TELL!

The Complexion Faithfully Mirrors Its Purity or Impurity

Massage, cosmetics and the like sometimes improve a good complexion, and occasionally mitigate the badness of a bad one. But there is only one way to get that clear, satin skin, with the rosy tint of health glowing through, and that is by keeping the blood pure.

Impure blood will show itself. It makes the skin "muddy" or sallow, with pimples, blackheads or boils breaking out. It takes away the clearness from the eye, coats the tongue, makes the breath bad. It saps the energies and brings on headaches. It is fatal to good health or to the highest happiness or usefulness.

Purifying the blood is simply a question of keeping the four great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys, the pores of the skin and the lungs—in good working order. These organs should throw off all the worn-out tissue and other impurities which the blood is continually gathering up throughout the body, and all the waste matter from the food.

The failure of any or all of them to perform these functions should be remedied at once, and it can be, quickly and certainly, by the use of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. One of the ingredients of these splendid Pills open up the pores of the skin, another regulates the bowels, a third gives ease and strength to the kidneys and a fourth clears the mucus membrane of the lungs so that the gaseous impurities in the blood can pass freely through into the air.

Thus whatever may be the cause of the impure blood, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills remove it, and soon the veins are filled with pure, red, life-giving fluid.

Then, and only then, will you have a clear eye, a clean tongue, a sweet breath and a perfect complexion.

Mr. Richard Wilson, of Middlesex Co., Ont., writes:

"For some time I have been in a low and depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointment, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood. At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicine I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

SHAUGHNESSY'S LONDON MAN.

Mr. Archer Baker Represents C.P.R. Across the Big Pond.

Not all Canadians are aware of the magnitude of the business done in Europe by Canadian financial concerns—banks, railways, etc. The London office of the C.P.R., for example, is a very bustling place indeed, and it is interesting to note how this company's business has expanded in twenty-four years, and to learn something of the man who overlooks it.

In 1885 Mr. Archer Baker, then general superintendent of the eastern division of the C.P.R., was sent to England to open up business for the road in Great Britain and Europe. An office was rented in Liverpool, and its staff consisted of one clerk and an office boy. Now Mr. Baker is European manager of the company, which has its own Atlantic steamers running from Liverpool, Antwerp, Bristol and London to Canadian ports. He is chief of a palatial establishment in Trafalgar Square, London, with an army of clerks, and headquarters for an organisation of 2,000 offices and agencies all over the British Isles and Europe. Mr. Baker was born in the English city of York in 1845, and commenced railroad work in London in 1860. But a short experience there satisfied him, and he resolved to try his fortune in Canada. As to how he prospered we may take his own words, as they are quoted by a writer in The Idler:

"I borrowed the money to pay my second-class passage; I promptly sailed from Liverpool in the paddle steamer Scotia for New York. From that place I made my way to Montreal, finding the ice just broken up in the St. Lawrence, the only means of transit from the south being by ferry, which I took. Up to this point I had clung faithfully to the symbol of civilization, as exemplified in the ordinary top hat, which I quickly discarded, finding it somewhat unsuited to the only occupation which presented itself at the moment—a job where, for $16 a month, I had to be 'handy man' in general, sweeping out the store and cleaning the windows being two of the lightest of my tasks. Inside of a year, 1864, I was fortunate enough to obtain a position in the Allan Steamship Co., where I remained until 1869. During this time there was the attempted invasion of Canada by the Fenians and the trial of the St. Albans raiders; the latter, a party of Southerners who raided the St. Albans Bank, fled to Canada, and were subsequently arrested and brought to trial. My duties took me to Portland, Maine, U.S.A., in the winter, which the Allan steamers made their port of call during that period of the year. At that time, 1862 to 1866, the Civil War was in progress. I was there when it finished, at the time of President Lincoln's assassination, and had the pleasure of meeting many of the prominent men of the day, Generals Grant and Sherman, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and others; and had the good fortune to hear Charles Dickens give his last readings in America. I have reason to remember the Civil War, because I found it necessary at Montreal to get my certificate of nationality signed by the then Governor-General, Lord Monck, to avoid the conscription, which was draining the best of the young men of the country away to take part in the struggle."

In 1870 he returned to Canada and became superintendent's clerk on the Brockville and Ontario Railway. In 1878 he had risen to the position of general manager of this road and of the Canada Central Railway. In 1881 he went to the C.P.R. as eastern superintendent, with the result already stated.

A Roof-Top Dog.

There is a dog in the city of Toronto that lives on a roof. The roof is two storeys above the ground. When he wants to get any exercise he just steps out of his window, which is on the third storey of a certain building on Yonge street, close to the corner of King and Yonge streets, and takes a walk across the roof of the next building, which happens to be only two storeys high.

It so happens that the people who own this dog occupy the rooms on the top storey above a candy store, and a billiard parlor. Up there they cook their meals, wash and iron, and sleep. In fact, it is home for them, and home for the dog. The trouble is that they can't very well take him out for a walk at the adjacent corner, because it is not a healthy place for dogs owing to street cars and bicycles and other troublesome things that were made without any reference to dogs at all. So this dog seldom gets out. Once in a while he is led down the two flights of stairs to the ground floor and taken out for a walk, but that is usually on Sundays. Other times when he wants the air he climbs out the window on to the roof and parades around in solitary glory among the chimney pots.

From his roof garden he is able to see down into the backs of shops where the packing cases are put and whence the waste paper of the stores is taken by the garbage men. He can see also the back windows of a billiard parlor. He stays out quite a length of time some days, and seems to enjoy the situation without the slightest annoyance from vertigo when he looks over the edge of his promenade. All he wants is more dogs; he's fond of company.

Pawnbrokers.

The first pawnbroking establishment was that of Freisingen, in Bavaria, opened in 1198. In 1350 there was one in Salins, in Franche-Comte, and in 1361 one was opened in London. None of these was, however, successful. The present Paris Mont de Piete was established in 1777, in the same street where the head office is now situated.

Points of View.

Different people look at marriage according to their occupation in life. A sailor wants to be spliced, a carpenter joined, a coachman hitched, a vesselman mated, a brakeman coupled up and a locksmith united in wedlock.

"Yes. He doesn't have to wait any more for the caddie to tell him which club he needs."

May Upset Convictions.

Defending a woman at Winnipeg recently Lawyer E. L. Howell took exception to Magistrate Hon. T. M. Daly adjudicating, on the ground that as a member of the police commission he was also in position of prosecutor, and that it was contrary to the spirit and purport of the law that a magistrate should act in a dual capacity of judge and prosecutor.

Mr. Daly adjourned the case a week to enable Howell to apply to King's Bench for a writ of prohibition to prohibit the magistrate trying the case.

The case is exciting the utmost interest in legal circles and others, for if the court holds Howell's contension, the result would necessarily apply to hundreds of prisoners now in jails and penitentiaries as the result of sentences imposed by not only Mr. Daly, but scores of magistrates in other cities, who are members of the police commission in their respective cities.

Federation Good.

The decision to federate all the Canadian clubs in a central organization is a good one, and will enable the general organization to take united action on any important questions, in a manner that will carry a great deal of weight, as being representative of the best class of public opinion.—Citizen, Ottawa.

Married Women and Business.

Mrs. Amy L. Heuple, a young matron of Chicago, has struck a true note in a discussion on the problem of happiness following the woman in business or married and her own housekeeper. "For my part, without children, I should prefer the business world," she writes, "but I have made my choice and am not sorry for it. I work a good deal harder than when my hours were from 9 to 5, with a short day Saturday and Sunday free, but there are compensations that the childless housewife lacks. I regret I have little time to improve my mind. What time I take for reading I often begrudge. Things will be better by and by, and meanwhile let me find pleasure in my babies. Here and now we have them, and nothing else in all the world is so important." Mrs. Heuple also says she has discovered the most difficult of all things for a woman, and that is to buy a hat with a small baby in her arms.

Taxes in Holland.

All told, a Hollander pays about 12 per cent of his yearly income for taxes. He is taxed for his business income, for the interest he collects, on his house rent, his furniture, on six fireplaces and all the stoves in the house he rents or owns, on his horses, bicycle and servants.

The capture of bluefish from New Jersey to Monomoy during a season is 1,000,000, averaging six pounds. Bluefishing on the New England coast lasts 120 days.

Devonshire Cream.

Devonshire cream, which is eaten in London with strawberries in season, is made by skimming the skin and foam off immense shallow pans of simmering milk.

The Prussian and Bavaria war offices are discussing the project of turning over the entire manufacture of arms and explosives to private firms.

The vacancy on the Railway Commission caused by the death of Hon. Thomas Greenway, who never sat on the board, may be left open indefinitely. The present personnel seems equal to the work.

Sir Louis Jette received notification yesterday that an order-in-council had been passed by the Federal Cabinet, appointing him Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench for the Province of Quebec, succeeding the late Sir Henri Taschereau.

Through an explosion of gasoline, caused by the breaking of a lantern in the hands of Engineer Gus Hanson, the G.T.P.'s big launch Shawatian was totally destroyed at Prince Rupert yesterday. Hanson received supposedly fatal injuries.

Special Police Go North.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 12.—Ten constables, with arms and ammunition for twenty more, have started from Prince Rupert by special steamer for beleaguered Hazelton, intending to ascend the Skeena as far as navigation is possible, and thence take the trail. An expedition of fifty more is expected to be sent up Bella River and overland sixty miles. These reinforcements are to be immediately supplemented if necessary.

They were despatched consequent upon a petition telegraphed Premier McBride, headed by Indian Agent Loring and signed by twenty-eight leading Hazeltons. The Indians arrested in connection with the Kisplox trouble appeared before Magistrate Allison yesterday at Hazelton, charged with assaulting a road foreman. Some pleaded guilty. Judgment was reserved in all cases, with further more serious charges laid against all of them.

Clung to Tender.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—J. M. Curry of Yarmouth, who was on his way from Toronto to Montreal via the G.T.R., had a horrible ride for the last eleven miles of his journey. He got off at Lachine, thinking it was Montreal. The train stops only a minute, and when it started he jumped for a rail, only to find that he was hanging to the rail of the tender and had no way of entering the car. He hung on for the eleven miles, and fell as the train slowed at Mountain street, running into the station. He fell between the platform and the train, but beyond blows by the steps of the passing cars, escaped and was able to go to the hotel.

Two Victims In Same Family.

St. Catharines, Nov. 12.—Yesterday morning, a short time after he had got word from Ottawa that he had been awarded $1,500 damages from O'Donnell & O'Brien for the death of his son Frank, a year ago, in an accident on a steam shovel, which he was firing, Joseph Doherty of Thorold received a message from Trenton stating that his other son, Joseph, had been fatally scalded while working on a steam shovel there.

Mr. Wallberg's Claim.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Judgment has been given by Registrar Audette of the Exchequer Court awarding E. A. Wallberg of Montreal $53,305 in settlement of his claim for extras in connection with the construction of the new car shop for the Intercolonial at Moncton. Mr. Wallberg claimed $106,940, and the court's award has cut this down by half.

Warning Not Heeded.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 12.—Charles Richards, traveler for Wilson Bros., wholesale grocers, has confessed to systematic peculations aggregating $6,000. He will take speedy trial on Monday. Richards had been detected in shortages of several thousands before and was forgiven. The next month his stealings recommenced.

Montreal's Chinese Policeman Dead.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Montreal has lost its only Chinese constable, Lee Johnston. He died Wednesday night of typhoid fever. He was a terror to the evil element of Chinatown.

Ayearst's Busy Days.

Chatham, Nov. 12.—Provincial Inspector J. A. Ayearst and Local License Inspector Thomas French swooped down on Merlin, a local option town, Wednesday night and gathered in seven bottles of whisky from the office of Dr. Bogart, a veterinary surgeon.

While raiding a "blind pig" operated in Florence, Inspector Ayearst caught the hotelkeeper's wife running from the place with the whisky in her apron. When he tried to detain her, she hit him over the head with a bottle.

Aid to All-Red Route.

London, Nov. 12.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Government has decided to grant £135,000 towards the Colloney and Black Sod Bay Railway. When this is constructed, London will be only fourteen hours from Black Sod, whence Halifax is only 31-2 days. With this decision, The Standard prophecies the early opening of the all-red route becomes almost assured. Its recognition by the Canadian Government as part of the all-red route will be a signal for the commencement of the railway.

D.R.O. Made Mistake.

Brantford, Nov. 12.—A peculiar mixup resulted here yesterday in the market bylaw returns. The deputy returning officer in West Brantford, in making his declaration, transposed the figures for and against the bylaw, making a difference of 61 votes, and resulting in an official declaration by the city clerk, that the bylaw was carried by 68 majority. A recount has been asked for. The correct majority against the measure is 54, the officer having admitted his error.

Would Extend Censorship.

London, Nov. 12.—The joint committee of the House of Commons, which was appointed in July to enquire into the censorship of the drama, yesterday reported in favor of continuing the censorship and of extending the authority of the censor so as to include a supervision over the music halls.

Stoned by Hoodlums.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Last evening at St. Lambert, when Jean Prevost and Armand Lavergne, M.P.P., offered to discuss the affairs of the province with Sir Lomer Gouin, the Premier refused, a dozen bullies set upon the two Opposition men and stone them out of sight, breaking their automobile.

Cigars Part of Meal.

London, Ont., Nov. 12.—The Court of Appeal will be asked to decide the case against Nicholas Heiskos, a restaurant keeper, charged with selling cigars on Sunday. The court will be asked to decide whether the law was broken, when the men had lunch and then asked the waiter to bring them cigars.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

SCUFFLED FOR A GUN

Quarrel Among Labourers on the Trent Valley Canal at Glen Miller—One Italian Shot in the Leg and May Die.

ARRESTS PROBABLE

Belleville, Nov. 12.—A shooting affray occurred at Glen Miller, on the banks of the Trent Valley Canal, yesterday morning. It is said that some Italians were in a row, and one of them had a gun, which others tried to taken from him. In the scuffle the gun was discharged, and the man who had it was shot in the leg below the knee. He was brought to the hospital here, and the doctors took his leg off at the knee, the bone being shattered. Magistrate Massen, County Attorney Anderson, and an interpreter went to the hospital to try and get the injured man's deposition, but did not succeed. He is said to be very low, and a Crown official is responsible for the statement that two arrests, presumably the men with whom he was fighting, will be made before long.

ON A SERIOUS CHARGE

Man Arrested in Campbellford Yesterday Brought Here Last Night.

John Morgan who was arrested in Campbellford yesterday on a serious charge of assault upon a little girl in Brechin was a prisoner in the local police station over night. Constable Koster, of Brechin, went to Campbellford for the accused yesterday morning and reached here last evening. He proceeded to his destination this morning, where Morgan will come up for trial.

RETURNED FROM HUNT

Messrs. R. A. Elliott and J. A. Storey Home From Rock Lake Near Sudbury.

Messrs. R. A. Elliott and J. A. Storey returned last night from Rock Lake, where they had been hunting for the past ten days. Rock Lake is in the vicinity of Sudbury. Mr. Elliott's party was composed of ten men. They secured six fine deer, and had a splendid ten days' sport, the weather being ideal for such an outing. The local men were well pleased with the results of their hunt.

BEEN RE-DECORATED

Judge's Chambers in the Court House Present Very Attractive Appearance

The Judge's Chambers in the Peterborough Court House have been handsomely redecorated. The County Council, through Warden R. N. Scott, has had them thoroughly overhauled and fitted up so that now they present a very cosy and comfortable appearance. His Honour's private room has had a new hardwood floor put in and covered with a handsome rug. A new desk and chair and new electrical fixtures were also put in. The walls have been repapered and the woodwork repainted. The other room has also been repapered and painted and a new hardwood floor and electrical fixtures have been installed. The work was done by Mr. Archie Morton and is a credit to him.

"SHIRLEY ROSSMORE"

Marion Pollock Johnson, leading lady of "The Wolf," which appears here next week will be pleasantly remembered by local theatre-goers as the original "Shirley Rossmore" in "The Lion and the Mouse" when it was first presented here. Miss Johnson has had a vast experience for one so young and the fact that she played the part of Shirley Rossmore thirteen hundred times without missing a performance is phenomenal, dating from May, 1905 to May 1909 inclusive. Miss Johnson states that to become a good actress one must first go into a stock company, where one gets different line of parts to play on short notice.

IGNORED SUMMONS

Local Man Did Not Appear in Court When Called.

A local man who had been summonsed to appear in the police court for a breach of a town by-law was fined $5.35 for not showing up on any one of the three occasions. His Worship stated that it was contempt of court to ignore a summons and he imposed the above penalty.

PETERBOROUGH'S POPULATION SHOWS A RECORD INCREASE

Percentage of Gain Greater Than Any Other Place in the Province With One or Two Possible Exceptions---President of Board of Trade Gives Statistics.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In the present timely discussions on the steps that should be taken to advance the interests of Peterborough remarks have been made that indicate that other cities have advanced in recent years faster than this city. Toronto, Hamilton, Guelph, Brantford and Welland have been referred to as having rapidly developed, while Peterborough is practically standing still. Here are some facts:

	Population 1905	Population 1909	P.C.
Brantford..	19,092	20,711	8.5
Kingston	18,209	19,193	5.4
London	43,154	49,507	14.6
Hamilton	59,543	67,268	12.9
Windsor	14,007	16,192	15.5
Peterborough	14,391	16,907	17.4

I have not the returns for Guelph for this year, but the population of that city in 1905 was 12,960 and in 1908 14,000, an increase at the rate of 3.5 per cent. Welland is exceptional. Toronto, counting the additions of territory with the present population, has increased at a faster rate by a small percentage than Peterborough, but if these additions by annexation were subtracted I would not be surprised to see it about the same.

Peterborough is advancing faster than any other city in Ontario, with the possible exceptions of Toronto and Ottawa.

This is not an argument against efforts to advance the interests of this city. Let these efforts and the enthusiasm behind them be an outgrowth of the encouragement that comes from great things that have been done and the promise they give of better things that may be accomplished by a united effort.—Yours truly.

G. A. GILLESPIE.

Royal Theatre Will Have Star Vaudeville Acts

Mr. A. C. McArthur, representing and manager of the Griffin Vaudeville circuit, was in the city yesterday, closing a new contract with Mr. M. Pappas, proprietor of the Royal Theatre, by which the Royal will henceforth get all the big feature acts from Griffin's Agnes Street Theatre, Toronto. This means that some of the best vaudeville people in the business will be seen at the local house, as the Griffin management possesses the advantage of being able to offer its artists the benefi of a long circuit and continuous work for many weeks. The Royal will get the best of these stars, according to the new agreement that was entered into yesterday, and while Mr. Pappas' outlay will be increased considerably by the contract he has just entered into, the patrons of the Royal will gain by being provided with a superior entertainment. The present arrangement is quite different to that under which the artists that have appeared at the Royal hitherto, were engaged, and the acts will be the best that the Griffin management with its long experience can secure.

Mr. McArthur was asked by the Examiner if his firm intended to open a theatre here.

"No, we have no intention of doing so now," was the reply. "As long as the Royal Theatre uses our acts and is our agency here, there is no need of us establishing a house here. The increase in the merit of the performance at the Royal will not be followed by any increase in the admission charges, which will remain as they have been.

Rush Troops To Illinois Town

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Cairo, Ills., Nov 12.—Troops began to pour into this city early to-day, coming by special trains, and the mob of 10,000, led by women, which had lynched a negro, and a white man, burned negro homes and defied the county officials, was confronted by glistening bayonets and loaded rifles. Ten companies had been rushed to the scene by Governor Dineen of Chicago, on an appeal from Sheriff Davis over the long distance telephone.

HER BABY HAD ECZEMA
Mrs. F. Clark, Belmont, Man., writes:—"My baby had eczema on her ear. The sore was very bad and nothing seemed to help her. Hearing of some remarkable cures Dr. Chase's Ointment had made we began using it and with the third application the sore began to heal. The cure was thorough and complete and we give all credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

IN TORONTO

Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Attended Installation Ceremonies.

"I say to you without fear of contradiction, that the cathedral system well and effectively carried out in a Canadian diocese must prove a source of tremendous strength; and in fact it is the only way of preserving in true proportion the prerogative of the bishop, the loyalty of the priesthood, the rights of the laity, and the unity of the whole body of the faithful."

With this admonition Rev. A. W. Macnab, canon-in-charge of St. Alban's cathedral, at the installation of the archdeacons and canons of the diocese last night, referred to the advantages of the cathedral system for Canada.

The regular form for installing a canon was taken from the prayer book. Bishop Sweany conducted the installation ceremony. The members of the chapter occupied stalls around the cathedral.

Among those present were Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, of Peterborugh.

WILL SELL OR LEASE

The Property Committee Quotes Figures to Proprietors of the Chinese Cafe, Who May Take Over Hall Store on Simcoe Street.

WANT LARGER QUARTERS

Mr. George Thomas and Harry Hamilton, proprietors of the Dominion Cafe have applied to the Property committee of the City Council for figures for the lease or sale of the store on Simcoe St., formerly occupied by Rich Hall & Son. It is the intention of the Chinese cafe proprietors to secure more commodious quarters to accommodate their largely increased trade, and also to handle banquets, etc.

The Property committee yesterday considered the application and decided to sell the premises outright for $12,000 or to rent on as short a lease as possible at $800 per year. The matter was left in the chairman's hands to interview the promoters and make the best arrangements possible and report back to the committee this afternoon.

The committee decided to rent the place or sell it at the price named as it has been in the Council's hands for the past two years and there are no buyers in sight and it was also thought that if it were rented it might be an easier matter to rent it. At any rate the rent will pay the expenses and the city is now losing money on it. The lessees will also pay the taxes and put in their own fittings and improvements.

Examiner Special:

Hamilton, Nov. 11.—The secretary of the Board of Education to-night read a letter from Mr. T. L. Kinrade, thanking the members for the honour they had done him in passing a resolution of appreciation of his services as teacher in the public schools for thirty-six years, and wishing the schools and all connected with them every success.

OBITUARY.

WM. TIFFIN.

Mr. Wm. Tiffin—Dr. Tiffin—of Millbrook, an uncle of Mr. W. R. Tiffin, superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, died on Tuesday, November 9th, at the age of 89 years. He was the oldest citizen of Millbrook. He was a native of England and has been a respected resident of Millbrook for half a century. The funeral took place on Wednesday and was largely attended. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. C. Kells, W. Walsh, John Dawson, Fred Dawson, John Allen and T. B. Collins.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW.

The funeral of the late Patrick Cranley, who passed away at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday, will take place to-morrow morning at nine o'clock from his late residence to St. Joseph's church and thence to St. Joseph's cemetery.

GLASGOW STUDENTS RIOT IN THEATRE AND "EGG" HYPNOTIZER

Forced Charlatan to Admit His Fake and Apologize---Overpowered Police in Endeavour to Get the Man ---Many Cracked Heads.

London, Nov. 11—Fourteen hundred Glasgow students rioted at the Coliseum music hall in that city to-night. They fought and beat the police, and later rioted in the streets, where the police finally triumphed over them. The trouble originated in the appearance at the Coliseum of a professional hypnotizer of the name of Bodie, who dubs himself doctor. A recent suit in London against Bodie, which resulted in his having to pay the plaintiff $5,000 for swindling him, had exposed the hypnotist as a mere showman, and when he appeared in Glasgow last Monday the students pelted him with eggs, peas and meal as a quack. Bodie, the following night, denounced them as "a pack of beggarly Carnegie students," and the students to-night took their revenge. They had booked seats in the front part of the house and when Bodie appeared they fired fusillades of eggs, paper bags, filled with meal, potatoes, apples, etc., until he was forced off the stage. The management ordered the curtain lowered, whereupon the students rushed to the stage. The manager, who had expected trouble, had a force of police handy and a desperate fight took place between the constables and the students in the front rank, while the collegians behind bombarded the officers with eggs and meal until the atmosphere was stifling with meal dust and malodorous eggs. The students triumphed, reached the stage, and tore the curtain to pieces. They demanded Bodie, but he did not appear. The police, meanwhile, were reinforced. They re-attacked the students, but were again beaten.

Seized the Showman.

Then the leader of the students appealed to his followers to hold their hands until he got Bodie. A handful of the students thereupon penetrated the wings and brought out the hypnotist, from whom an apology was demanded. This was given, with a request that they accept it, and the charlatan was released. He got off the stage quickly. The leader then addressed the students, saying that if Bodie ever appeared again in Glasgow nobody could foretell the consequences. He advised the students to behave in an orderly manner.

Lindsay May Follow The Example Set By Peterborough

The city of Peterborough fortunately is populated with a class of citizens that have faith in the future of the city — who in other words, are "boomers" not "knockers." Peterborough besides being represented in the Council by live citizens, boasts also of a live Board of Trade, comprising some of the leading business men of the city.

Peterborough, as most of the people in Lindsay know, has had a prosperous growth within the last few years. The citizens have been active, but lately it was felt that the city had not progressed as it should and at a meeting held Tuesday night, called by the Board of Trade, over one hundred citizens gathered, a resolution was carried, which recommended the Council to appoint a paid industrial commissioner, whose whole time would be devoted to advertising Peterborough, and to looking after manufacturing concerns.

Does not the town of Lindsay need an industrial commissioner to look after the interests of the town?

Should not the citizens of Lindsay take a more active interest in the town's welfare?

Should not a progressive platform or policy be drawn up for Lindsay.

Should not the watchword of Lindsay be "Onward, ever Onward?"

Should not the press and citizens alike work for a "Greater Lindsay," and endeavour to "Build up Lindsay?"

Work On Canal At Hastings Is Making Rapid Progress

The concrete landing pier at the dam is now completed as far as the cement part is concerned. The iron tie posts have been bedded in the concrete and everything is ready for the dredge to come along in the spring and rip out the strip of rock which was the old water front and was used as a coffer dam while the wall was being laid. The holes which have been drilled in this rock are from five to eight feet deep and will be loaded this week and exploded so that it will be loose enough for the dredge to lift out.

The dredge from Peterborough is being brought down and it will dig out to the rock bottom below the locks on the river side to allow for the laying of the concrete base for the coffer dam for the locks.

Although the work this year has not employed any great number of men since the shipyard operations were finished, we understand that the appropriation for next year will be somewhere in the neighbourhood of $300,000, so that the locks and dam can be built in the one season.—Hastings Star.

Launches Went "Dead" And There Was No Help In Sight

A story is related of two Peterborough launch owners how they embarked for Rice Lake a few days ago to take a last fond look at the scenes they have enjoyed during the summer and also to take advantage of a sail on the river in the warmth of the declining season of autumn. As was expected the trip to the lake proved delightful and after a wide detour the crafts were pointed homeward. Everything went smoothly until nearing the eastern channel, when still on the lake, the engine of one of the launches refused to work. The strange part of the affair was that shortly after the other craft came to grief in a similar manner. Then followed the usual efforts to start the engine again, but both machines refused to work. The customary invectives failed as a lubricator and to keep from drifting out in the lake the occupants of the crafts had to paddle into the eastern channel and anchored near the Anglers' Cottage. The engines were coaxed again, and force was used as an extra with the result that one of the engines returned to life. To test the engine and prove that it really meant to "be good," the boat was run out into the lake a short distance and just as it was being turned near the new lighthouse the engine kicked again. Well, if there were any pet names forgotten just about that time it was because the two men were so angry that their thinking powers were diffused. The boat was after more hard work gotten under way again, but it had to tow its companion for several miles until its engine revived.

FARMER SHOULD KEEP RECORDS

Farmers, do you keep records? It is doubtful if there is any one thing that will add more to the interest of farm labour, or make its usefulness more apparent in shorter time than one simple method of figuring. For instance, supposing that mixed farming is followed; an answer is desired to the query, which pays best, sheep, poultry, fruit, cows, steers, or grain? It may be found after a year's record that the farm is best adapted for dairying. Then will naturally follow the investigation, which cow pays best? This phase of the question has not yet appealed to all owners of dairy herds, but is in truth at the very foundation of profitable dairying. Every farmer is interested in cutting out all unprofitable features of his business, he wants to produce plenty of good milk at the least cost, and to this end dairy records are indispensable. Why? Simply because they enable the watchful owner to detect those cows that give the most milk and fat in proportion to the food consumed. Which cows will respond to a little extra grain? Which cow can I least afford to sell? Are any in my herd not paying? Will it pay me to get a good pure bred sire? The dairyman needs to know such points definitely, hence he must keep records of feed and milk. Forms are supplied free on application to the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa.

SAVED FROM DROWNING

Otonabee Woman Fell From a Punt While Crossing the River Yesterday and Was Rescued by Mr. Frank Fairen.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Only quick action and presence of mind on the part of Mr. Frank Fairen, of the Trent Canal department, prevented a tragedy yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Wilson, who resides in Otonabee, opposite the Otonabee boathouse, fell from a punt in which she was crossing the river, and was drowning in the ice cold water when Mr. Fairen went to the rescue. Mr. Fairen was driving in the neighbourhood, and seeing the accident, hurriedly got out of the buggy and running down to the river and plunging into the cold water, made his way out to Mrs. Wilson and succeeded in bringing her safely to shore, where she soon revived. It was fortunate, indeed, that the rescuer was on the scene when the accident happened, as there were few people in that vicinity at the time, and Mrs. Wilson would have undoubtedly lost her life.

ELECTRIC CANNON NEEDS NO POWDER

Pittsburger Says He Has Invented a Gun That is Noiseless and Smokeless.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 12. — An electric gun has been invented by Alexander F. Humphrey of this city, which he says will do away with the use of powder, and it will be absolutely noiseless when in action. He claims to have discovered the method of propelling projectiles at a greater speed than powder or dynamite can. The plan of the gun is similar to that of rifles in use, except in the mechanism.

The inventor says: "My first design was a gun of 12-inch calibre for coast defences, and as the principle of electric cannon is adapted to either large or small calibre guns, I designed a gun for use as field artillery. This proposed gun could be manipulated by the application of electricity without noise, smoke or recoil. pulling or holding a trigger a continuous stream of projectiles may be fired with enormous muzzle velocity.

"Several years ago I discovered the fact that metal missiles could be projected by th agency of electricity, just as they are projected by the powder guns of to-day, only with enormous speed. Embryo models proved the theory correct."

WONDERFUL NEW STOVE THE SUPREME RANGE

Attention is called to the advertisement announcing a practical demonstration of the Supreme Range, to be given in the stove showrooms of Messrs F. J. R. MacPherson & Co., Limited, George street. This new range is said to be "a wonder" in some respects. It is claimed that it will cut your fuel bill in half, and that it consumes its own smoke and gases. The great feature of the Supreme Range is the patent device known as the secondary combustion tube—that is the fuel saver. By this the monoxidized or unconsumed gases are ignited and carried down under the oven, up the back of the oven, and across the top of it to the smokepipe, thereby making a complete circulation. Heated air carried up through the fire makes a perfect combustion on top of the fire, as well as the bottom, adding intensely to the heat as well as the radiation.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday interesting demonstrations will be made of the Supreme Range, when the public are invited to be present by invitation of the local agents, Messrs. F. J. R. MacPherson & Co.

STIRRING PICTURE AT THE PRINCESS

A stirring action picture is one of the features of the offering for to-day and to-morrow at the Princess theatorium, and those who have seen the film, which is entitled "Senorita" pronounce it one of the best of its kind that has ever been seen in this city. It is a powerful Mexican story, full of life and action. The illustrated song just now is, "I'll Catch You Yet Little Girl."

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilised in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

DEEDS, NOT INTENTIONS, COUNT.

There is much precedent and much wise sentiment to urge the city authorities, to ACTING on the resolution printed at the head of this column:

Hell is paved with good intentions.—St. Bernard.

Our grand business is, not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to DO what lies clearly at hand.—Carlyle.

From this moment
The very firstlings of my heart shall be
The firstlings of my hand. And even now,
To crown my thoughts with acts, be it thought and done.—Shakespere.

Do not delay,

NORTH ESSEX.

The outcome of the bye-election in North Essex, which resulted in the return of the Opposition candidate, is disappointing, but, neither significant nor inexplicable. It cannot be construed as hostility to the naval policy of parliament, for both parties are committed to that policy, and in this respect there was no opportunity for expressing preference for one candidate above another. The result is largely attributable to over-confidence on the part of the supporters of the Liberal candidate, and the indifference to getting out the vote. The lesson is that votes, to count, must be recorded, and that in an election, as in shooting a lion or tiger at close range, one must shoot to kill.

BULLSEYE ADVERTISING.

A prominent United States business man addressing the Associated Advertising Clubs of America emphasised two important mistakes in advertising. One is in placing poor matter in a good medium, and the other is the placing of good, live, appealing advertising matter in a weak medium. The latter mistake is aptly compared to dressing splendidly with attractive goods a show window facing upon an alley. In the newspaper guild there are alleys that few frequent—that is with few travellers—readers. There are others which are broad, thoroughfares thronged with thousands of frequenters—readers. In selecting a newspaper to hold his advertisement an advertiser will look well to its character, will consider the number of eyes under which his announcement will come. The number of readers a paper has, and the number of homes it reaches are factors in its usefulness to the advertiser. The Examiner modestly submits that it is the front street of the Midland District, travelled by more people—possessing more readers than—well we sha'n't forget that comparisons are odious. It is enough to assert that the Examiner is the best advertising medium available between Toronto and Montreal, for big advertisements and little. If you want to hit the mark—in the centre and make a bullseye—advertise in the Examiner.

DECEIVING THE READER.

Does the Toronto Mail and Empire, when it is launching political whoppers, reflect that there is a danger of some of its readers getting access to a paper that tells the truth and finding out the fairy tale character of the organ's statements on political matters. The Mail glories in suggestio falsi It declares that the total amount "sunk" in the Transcontinental railway is $54,966,482 and that very little has been done." Is this statement true that "very little has been done"? The Examiner pointed out several days ago that up to last August rails had been laid upon 551 miles of the completed line and that, in addition, 921 miles had been graded, ready for the rails, making a total of 1,472 out of the 1804 miles of the Government end of the railway—from Moncton to Winnipeg; seven ninths of the total distance, and that is "very little done." To emphasize the Mail's mendacity of intention, it may be pointed out that on the western division the railway has been completed for 861 miles west of Winnipeg, and west of that additional contracts are let for a distance of 400 miles. The remaining 332 miles under contract, makes the whole of the Eastern or Government division, from Winnipeg to the sea, completed, and under contract. And yet the truthful Mail and Empire tells its readers that "very little has been done." The subscriber who swears by the Mail, if he borrows his neighbour's paper a few times, will soon swear at the Mail.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto Star mentions that the Peterborough Review publishes five "Protests from the Press" against a Canadian built navy, and four of them are from the Kingston Standard.

Mr. Monk, the Quebec Conservative leader, though he opposes, tooth and nail, Mr. Borden's position on the navy, says that he is still for Borden—"its all very well to dissemble your love; but why do you kick me down stairs?"

There is no terror in the threats and demands of the Toronto Telegram. It is ravening, red-eyed, for Mr. R. L. Borden's scalp; in a short time it may be licking his shoes, as it is doing to those of Sir James Whitney. It is not long since the Telegram was after the scalp of Sir James.

Last year Canada imported 911,291 pounds of cheese, valued at $100,917, from the United States. This is a good deal like Greenland importing ice. For the twelve months ending August, 1909, Canada sent to Great Britain alone fifteen million hundred weight of cheese.

The Toronto News officially explains the Liberal victory in West Middlesex on Wednesday. It says that Mr. Ross, "a young and energetic politician restores the normal Liberal majority," and it is explained that "It must have appeared to the electors of West Middlesex that the party (Conservative) was hopelessly divided, and that on the outstanding issue of naval defence its course was tortuous and uncertain."

AN IMPORTANT ADDRESS BY SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's recent speech on "The Constitutions of Great Britain and the United States—a Comparison given before the Woman's Canadian Club of Montreal, was an important one, and one which teachers and leaders of debating societies will find exceedingly valuable for readings and for discussion.

That it was an instructive address goes without saying, for matters of constitutional history from one of the favourite studies of the Premier. He was enthusiastically applauded when he declared that the British Constitution was the pride of all British subjects. He showed how all other countries in the search for liberty had had to adopt the principles of that constitution in whole or in part, and remarked that the most illustrious example of all was that of the American Colonies, which, when they had wrenched themselves from the Motherland, had paid her the compliment of adopting her constitution, as far as the new conditions permitted. He showed why, in his opinion, the British Constitution was more elastic and more responsive to the public needs than the American Constitution.

Through the courtesy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the full text of his address has been published in 'World Wide' of November 6th, copies of which may be obtained at special rates from the publishers, John Dougall & Son, Montreal, Que.

THE FAMILY TROUBLE.

The Canadian Courier says:

A considerable portion of this talk against a Canadian navy is a family quarrel in the Conservative party. There are ambitious leaders in that organisation who think Mr. Borden is too much of a gentleman to be a successful leader. Without mentioning names it may be said that the centre of the restless faction is Winnipeg. Moreover, in our opinion, the men who are stirring up this strife are not willing to be even lieutenants in the party, which Mr. Borden leads. They are almost entirely lacking in those high qualities of leadership and statesmanship which Mr. Borden possesses. The people who know them best within the Conservative party would be the last to wish to see the "revolt" successful.

This is putting the matter concisely and correctly. The gentlemen to whom the Courier refers are doubtless Hon. Mr. Roblin, premier of Manitoba, and his first lieutenant, Hon. R. Rogers. It is quite evident that Mr. Roblin is ambitious and—unscrupulous. As to whether he is a man whom the Conservative party would like to see oust Mr. Borden, the people of Peterborough can form a pretty shrewd opinion. He was heard here on the platform. The qualities of a leader are varied, but from the outside it will be agreed that though he have the morals of a highwayman, he must have the manners of a gentleman. Mr. Roblin's manner and matter of speech on the occasion of his first and last appearance on a public platform in Peterborough give evidence that though he might qualify in the first regard he would come lamentably short in the second. Apart from that superficial qualification his abilities, which fall far short of his ambitions, would not preeminently qualify him to shine in a role larger than a leader in parish politics. As the Courier remarks, the affair is a family matter with the Conservative party; but it is more than that. It is to the interest of any country under constitutional government that the leader of an Opposition should be a gentleman capable of commanding the confidence of his party and also the respect of the public, as well as being an efficient balance wheel to the government of the day. Does Mr. Roblin or any possible suggested successor to Mr. Borden fulfil the conditions. Looking at the matter from the outside, and having in mind the calibre of the presently possible successors of Mr. Borden, it would look as if the Conservative party, in the matter of leadership, had better bear the ills they have than fly to others that they know not of.

HOW TO DEVELOP BUST, ARMS AND NECK

Get separately "two ounces glycerine," "three ounces rose water," and "one ounce tincture cadomene compound" (not cardamom), and five cents worth of borax. Take home, mix the glycerine with tincture cadomene, shake and let stand two hours; then add a teaspoonful of borax and the rose water. Shake well and apply to the neck, arms and bust, rubbing and massaging until completely absorbed; then wash thoroughly with hot water and soap and dry thoroughly. Apply morning and night regularly for several weeks and the most beautiful development will begin to reward the efforts. It is believed by experts to be the most necessary and effective prescription ever conceived.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM WAS SHOWN AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE HOCKEY CLUB

Peterborough Will Have Junior and Intermediate Teams in the O. H. A. Ranks This Season---Prospects for a Successful Year Were Never Better---Strong List of Officers Selected---Dr. MacPherson Nominated for the O. H. A. Executive.

If the enthusiasm that pervaded the annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club last night is to be taken as a guarantee there is every reason to expect one of the best seasons in the history of the organization. The gathering was held in the Oriental Hotel parlours and was attended by a large number of players and friends of the game who displayed great interest in the prospects for the season and the vim shown in the meeting promises big things later on. The affair took the form of an informal smoker and the business was interspersed with musical numbers that added to the enjoyment of the occasion with the result that a very pleasant evening was spent. The president, Dr. A. W. MacPherson, occupied the chair.

W. E. WASSON,

W. J METHERAL,

While the question of what service the club will be represented in this year was left to the new executive it is assured that Peterborough will have both intermediate and junior teams and there is every reason to expect that both teams will be stronger than last year and of a calibre to make a stiff fight for the honours in their respective series. There is some new material in sight that should help out considerably this season and as far as teams can be sized up this early in the season, the outlook is decidedly rosy.

The first business was the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting by Secretary R. M. Glover.

"The club had got a bad start last year," said President MacPherson, in making a brief verbal report. "Everyone seemed to be waiting for someone else to take the initiative, and it was not until December 2 that the meeting was held. There was also a certain amount of dissension and the club did not receive the unanimous support of all the hockey players in the city. We tried to reason and plead with them, but as we had no powers to drive them we did not succeed. Everyone should get out and work this year and try to do what they can to put the best teams possible on the ice. Let the City League go on with their good work and let them work in harmony with the O.H.A. teams."

H. P. MORGAN,

"The junior team last year was young and had had no experience together or in O.H.A. hockey, but they made a fairly good showing even if they did not win out. The senior team, on the other hand, was composed of men who had experience, and they made a very creditable showing, succeeding in defeating Lindsay, who were the ultimate champions."

"The financial side was a success, and from that standpoint the season was most encouraging."

In conclusion President MacPherson remarked that there were a number of things, such as the securing of club rooms and the question of season tickets that would better be left to the incoming executive.

Secretary Treasurer Glover submitted the financial statement for the past season, which was most satisfactory, showing as it did a credit balance of $124.70. The receipts for the year were $1343.40 and the expenses, including sweaters and coat sweaters for the players of the junior and intermediate teams were $218.70. The report showed that the biggest gate last year was the last home game with Lindsay, when the receipts totalled $507.30.

In connection with the statement Mr. Glover remarked that it had been clearly shown that a hockey team in Peterborough, if winning at all, could go on and carry itself along as far as the finances were concerned, without the slightest trouble. The expenses of course, were heavy, but if the team won a few games the gate receipts were large. The junior team had cost the club some money last season, but he was sure that it was a wise expenditure, as it developed a number of players who would otherwise have been out of the game. The financial statement was adopted.

A telegram was read from R. M. Moore, cover-point of the intermediates last year and now in Toronto, wishing the club every success. Among the communications was a letter from F. D. Craig, secretary of the Peterborough Rugby Club, asking the Hockey Club to assist them in a financial way by a subscription towards the expenses of to-morrow's trip to Toronto.

The meeting seemed to be unanimous in the opinion that some assistance should be given the Rugby Club and on motion of Messrs. Graham and Wasson, it was decided that the club should donate $25 towards the funds of the Rugby Club.

Dr. MacPherson was selected as the club's nominee for a position on the O. H. A. executive. Mr. MacPherson has represented Peterborough on the executive for five or six years and was for some years treasurer of the O.H.A. Last year he was appointed to the executive by President Dwight L. Turner of the O.H.A., and he should have no trouble in being eleteed to the position this season. Dr. MacPherson will represent the local club at the meeting in Toronto a week from Saturday.

The election of officers resulted as follows, the appointment being unanimous in every case.

Patrons and Patronesses—Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., and Mrs. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. G. Denne, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Denham, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.P., Mr. J. H. Burnham.

Honorary President—Mr. R. H. H. Kenner, B.A.

President—W. E. Wasson.

1st Vice-President—Sam Ray.

MR. H. R. H. KENNER,
Honorary President of the Peterborough Hockey Club.

CHANGES IN THE RULES

Some Amendments to the O. H. A. Constitution That Will be Discussed at the Annual Meeting Next Week.

NEW JUNIOR RULE

Copies of the proposed amendments to be considered at the O.H.A. annual convention at the Temple Building, Toronto, a week from next Saturday morning were sent out to the clubs yesterday.

The only amendments that suggest any radical changes are in connection with the junior series. N. R. White, of Grimsby proposes that the maximum age limit for juniors be nineteen years on the first day of January in the season of competition, instead of twenty years, as the rule now reads. Mr. White's argument is that the present rule does not give the young boys as good a chance as they might, because lads over nineteen of age are just developing into manhood, and are too mature for competition with boys 15, 16, 17 and 18 years of age. Mr. White points to last year's Eurekas of Toronto as an example of what he means.

Objections to Overcome.

The amendment will no doubt meet with very strong objection from many of the delegates. The 20-year age limit was established some years ago, and has always given excellent satisfaction. The various junior clubs throughout the Province have, no doubt, been figuring on the material for their teams for the coming winter, and have been counting on all available players up to the maximum age limit, so that a change in the rule, as suggested, would alter all their plans, besides keeping a number of players out of the game. The argument as to maturity hardly holds good, as the Stratford club, winners of the juuior championship for the past thre years, had very few changes on their line-up during that period.

Junior Games in Quarters.

Another amendment in regard to the juniors comes from James Sutherland, of Kingston, who suggests that all games in this series be divided into quarters, with 5 minutes' intermission at the end of each 15 minutes of play, instead of one ten minutes' intermission at half-time. Mr. Sutherland contends that the young players exhaust themselves quicker than the intermediates and seniors, and should be legislated for accordingly. The only objection that can be raised to this is the tendency of the players to overstep the time limit during intermissions, and not respond quickly to the referee's whistle, which would be unfortunate from the spectators' standpoint. Nobody likes sitting in a cold rink waiting for dilatory players to come on the ice, and the delegates might consider that to be sufficient to kill the proposal at the convention.

Appointment of Referees.

Under the present rules, when clubs fail to agree upon a referee they are compelled to notify the secretary of the association at least 36 hours before the scheduled time of their match A proposal by Secretary W. A. Hewitt is to extend this time to 72 hours, so as to give him ample opportunity to select an official. Frequently clubs ask for a referee at much shorter notice than the rules stipulate, and great difficulty is experienced in securing a satisfactory official. With the time extended to 72 hours, there should be better satisfaction all around.

No Interference On Ice.

Complaints have sometimes been made by players that in rinks which are not properly boarded and netted spectators have interfered with the men on the ice. To obviate this Carl Rocher, of Simcoe, has suggested an amendment, that "all rinks must have the sides and ends properly boarded at least four feet high, and a wire netting at least five feet above the boards at sides and ends." There might be some difficulty in enforcing this regulation, but it is a step in the right direction, and should be adopted by the convention.

To Distinguish the Captains.

N. R. White, of Grimsby has another amendment, which reads as follows: "Each captain must wear an armlet of red cloth on his sweater, between the elbow and shoulder, to distinguish him from the other players." This is a really good idea, and one that will likely meet with the approval of the delegates. The referee and the spectators will then know who is in charge of the teams on the ice.

To the Rules of Play.

J. Ross Robertson has several amendments in connection with the rules of play. One refers to players who are penalized or are off the ice for accidents ,and reads as follows: "Neither player shall reaume play until he has received permission from the penalty timekeeper to go on." This is intended to prevent players from resuming play without the knowledge of the officials in charge. The other amendment is in regard to fouls, and is as follows: "If in the opinion of the referee a defending player has deliberately committed a foul to prevent a score he shall not stop the play until the play has been completed." Both amendments are in the interest of the game and should be adopted.

Bond and Protests.

Mr. Robertson also has an amendment increasing the bond of the treasurer from $2,500 to $3,000, and Mr. Hewitt suggests an addition to the protest rule which more clearly defines the time for filing protests and the method of service, so that a protest cannot fail on a technicality. The rule calls for service on the protested club within 48 hours of the advertised time of the match protested, and the amendment provides that the protest is to be considered if it is shown that the evidence has been by registered post for time to reach the protested club within the time limit.

THE RUGBY SITUATION IN THE DIFFERENT UNIONS JUST NOW

The race for the honours in the senior series of the O. R. F. U. is still a long way from being decided. It is a foregone conclusion that Parkdale will defeat Peterborough at Diamond Park Saturday and tie up the standing with T. A. A. C. The play-off on the twentieth of this month will end the uncertainty. Dr. W. B. Hendry and Harry Griffith will be the officials in this important game. Both teams have shown that they are of more than average senior calibre, and a line on their chances in the Dominion final will be furnished by the article displayed on November 20th.

In the junior series the championships of two groups have been settled. St. Michaels are the winners of section No. 1 and Lindsay, the victors in the eastern district. In the west the decision of the Executive Committee last night in ordering London and Petrolea to meet again Saturday, at Strathroy, leaves the champion team still to be determined. In group No. 2, if T. A. A. C. defeat Y. M. C. A. Saturday and Parkdale B a week later, it will land them on top. If Y. M. C. A. beat T. A. A. C. Parkdale can tie them by trimming T. A. A. C. If T. A. A. C. lost to Y. M. C. A. but win from Parkdale B it will mean the group honours will go to Y. M. C. A.

St. Michaels play in Lindsay Saturday in the first of the junior semi-finals, and the winner, if it should be St. Michael's, will in all probability meet the winner of the western district in Toronto the following Saturday. Should the Western Club, London, or Petrolia, be victorious, it may have the final game at home with the winner of group No. 2.

Should Lindsay defeat St. Michaels it will likely meet the winner of the western district in either London or Petrolia, as the case may be, or at some intermediate point. —Toronto Star.

HOCKEY

Keene will have a team in the City Hockey League this year that will bear a lot of watching, according to the reports from the Otonabee metropolis. Nearly all of the players who represented the village in the Trent Valley League last year are still available, and, in addition, there is new material in sight that should strengthen the line-up. The Keene Club has definitely decided to enter the League and will be represented at the annual meeting, which will be held on Wednesday night next, in the Oriental Hotel parlours.

Charlie Ray, who played for both intermediate and junior O. H. A. teams last year has consented to captain the Strathconas City League team this winter. This makes the third season for him with the Straths and as he is popular with the players he should make a good leader for the Commissioners. He was with the Champion Strathconas team two years ago, and played with them last year, although he was out of the final game against Lakefield, on account of the fact that there was a senior game the following night. The Strathconas will have a strong team again this year, having nearly all of last year's team with some new blood that promises to help some.

VANDERBILT'S FUN WITH TRICK PIANO

Surprises Friends in Plaza With Electric Instrument That Seems to Play Itself.

New York, Nov. 12—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt played a trick on some of his friends who were calling on him in his apartments at the Plaza yesterday, and enjoyed it hugely. While the guests were chatting away about Horse Show prospects a magnificent new grand piano that had just been installed in Mr. Vanderbilt's sitting room began playing as if suddenly possessed of a demon.

Mr. Vanderbilt had made no movement and the visitors could not understand it until the host had explained.

The grand piano is played by electricity from Mr. Vanderbilt's dining-room. Steel sheets of perforated "music" take the place of the fingers of a performer. A cable containing as many wires as there are keys is connected, and an electrical impulse causes each wire by an electro-magnetic arrangement to pull it key down at the proper time. The piano and the electrical mechanism are said to have cost Mr. Vanderbilt a round sum.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

AMATEUR NIGHT.

The fourth night of the Tom Marks Company's engagement at the Grand was marked by the same large audience and finished performance that have marked the other offerings of the Company during the week. Last night's bill was the popular melodrama "Under Southern Skies," a play known to every theatregoer, and one that played as it was by the Marks Company cannot fail to please. The principals won fresh laurels for themselves and deepened the favourable impression they had already made by their clever work last night.

The climax of the week's amusement will take place to-night, when at the conclusion of the regular bill an amateur contest will be held for the prize of $5 in gold, donated by the management. There will be a large number of competitors and as a rehearsal of the hook has shown that useful talent to be in splendid working order there is no reason to expect anything else than a very amusing time.

The play to-night is the "Rose of Killarney." To-morrow at the matinee performance the Company will present "Jerry The Tramp," one of Mr. Marks' favourite comedy dramas.

DR. W. T. GRENFELL'S LONG TRIP TO WED

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Into the frozen north, where the sun casts stingy rays over a barren landscape, where mail is not delivered for months in the winter, and where the department store and "bargain counter" are unheard of, a Chicago girl will travel as the bride of Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenfell, the famous Labrador missionary. The young woman who has elected to give up the luxuries of a modern home and the conveniences of a metropolitan city to brave the hardships of the snow field and the dangers of ice floe, is Miss Anna MacClannahan. Her fiance, Dr. Grenfell, is a guest at the MacClannahan residence. Plans for the wedding, to be held on Nov. 18, are being made by the bride-elect.

Miss MacClannahan is enthusiastic over Dr. Grenfell's work. She is prepared to face the changed conditions and expects to accompany her husband on cross country sledge rides and "hikes" up snowy hills. Dr. Grenfell and his bride expect to leave Chicago soon after the ceremony, for their journey to the land of snow.

In England Dr. Grenfell is characterized as a "Perambulating Providence," and he recently was knighted by King Edward. For years the physician has devoted much of his time to caring for the hardy fishermen of ice bound Labrador. During the summer months he cruises the northern coasts, in the Strathcona, a hospital ship, and in the winter he is among the snowdrifts of St. Anthony, toiling among the natives.

The explorer is a close friend of Commander Peary and enjoys the personal friendship of Dr. Cook. He entertained the former at Indian Harbour, while Peary was on his way back to civilization and at that time examined some of the commander's records.

"I am satisfied that Peary reached the Pole," declared Dr. Grenfell, 'and from a conversation with Harry Whitney, I know he believes Dr. Cook also found the top of the world."

Jessie McLachlan's Concert.

—The plan for the Jessie McLachlan Concert opened this morning at the Grand Opera House, and judging by the brisk demand for the best seats to-day the event will attract the biggest crowd of any musical programme of the year. Those intending to go are warned to get their tickets early.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The closing meeting of the Mission in St. Andrew's Church will be held to-night in the church auditorium, at 8 o'clock. All who have attended any of the services and all others are asked to meet in this closing mass meeting.

A special offering will be made for the work of Evangelism.

EDDIE GRANEY WILL BID FOR BIG FIGHT

Former Referee Will Try to Get Jeffries-Johnson Battle.

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—Eddie Graney, dean of referees, has entered the game again and will go East with in a few days and try to land the Jeffries-Johnson fight for San Francisco County. He and Jimmy Coffroth, the San Francisco promoter, who is confident of winning the fight, long ruled coast pugilistic affairs, but they had a falling out several years ago and Graney has been attending to personal business since. He has prospered, it is said; and now is anxious to oppose Coffroth in the promotion field.

The great fight will be held in the city of San Francisco proper if Graney's dream comes true. His move is said to have a political complexion in view of the recent election here. One of the new supervisors is John L. Herget, better known as "Young Mitchell," a former prize fighter. It is rumoured that Herget will have a good deal to say about police affairs. Herget and Graney have been close friends for years.

KNOX CHURCH TO-NIGHT

Rev. J. D. Morrow, of the Dale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, will assist Rev. Farquharson in the service at Knox Church to-night. Rev. Morrow opened the evangelistic campaign in Knox church a week ago Sunday night by a very strong sermon and there will undoubtedly be a large number to hear him this evening. The service begins at 7.45 o'clock. The campaign is drawing to a close and the enthusiasm that has been manifested, it is hoped will be shown to the final night.

Societies Defray Expense Of Altar And Several Windows

Bishop O'Connor Received Cheques From Catholic Societies of City Assisting in Equipping New Church—Expressed His Thanks

ILLUMINATED CHEQUE

Large representations from a number of the Catholic societies of the city assembled in St. Peter's school hall last night to present to His Lordship Bishop O'Connor gifts in the character of furnishings of the new Church of the Sacred Heart.

While the body of the hall was well filled with the members of these societies they were represented on the platform as follows: The Ladies Sodality, Miss Sue Kelly, President, and Miss Nora Fitzgerald, Treasurer; St. Peter's T.A.S., Jos. Picard, Jr., President, M J. Maher, Rec.-Sec., and Jos. Primeau, Treas.; Catholic Order of Foresters, Jas. Clancy, J. P. Bryson, and Jas. Murray, C.M.B.A., John J. Lynch and P. Leahy; Ancient Order of Hibernians, Jos. Kelly and Michael Neary. Rev. Father McColl acted as chairman and Bishop O'Connor and Rev. Dr. O'Brien were also seated on the platform.

An introductory musical programme was provided, Misses L. Hatrick and M. Gorman playing a piano duet and Miss Lavina Hallihan's delightful vocal number, was heartily encored. Miss M. Doherty played the accompaniment. Father McColl explained the object of the meeting referring to the substantial donations that had been made and the generosity of the responses from the societies. Following his remarks, Mr. Jos. Picard read an address on behalf of St. Peter's T.A.S. and Mr. Jos. Primeau presented Bishop O'Connor with an illuminated cheque for $1100 representing the main altar in the new church. Each of the other societies mentioned above presented cheques for $150 and brief addresses. Each society has presented a memorial window in the body of the church at the above cost per window.

His Lordship expressed his deep gratitude to the various societies for their liberality. He particularly mentioned the generosity of the T.A.S., referring to the beautiful altar which was not only worthy of the church but also of the society. St. Peter's T.A.S. was spoken of far and wide over the American continent. "It has been a source of consolation to your bishop and priests. Even people who differ from us admire the good example and influence the society has spread and the work it has done for the good of humanity. You have been an encouragement to others to follow in your footsteps."

Bishop O'Connor also spoke individually to the other societies. Rev. Father O'Brien made a few brief remarks, stating that the society had decided to present a gift worthy of the T.A.S. In conclusion His Lordship stated that the new hall would be blessed next Sunday at 3.30 p.m.

The address from the Total Abstinence Society, as read by Mr. Picard, was as follows:

To the Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D. D., Bishop of Peterborough.

May it please Your Lordship—We, the members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society, would feel ungrateful to so kind a Spiritual Father, and disloyal to our Catholic principles if, upon the erection of a new city church, we did not express in a concrete manner our desire to co-operate in this noble enterprise. Whilst not flattering ourselves on the extent of the help, we wish to make it effective and suggestive.

Since the holy basis of our Society is the spirit of self-denial and since our endeavour is to commemorate the Sacred Thirst of our Lord, we beg Your Lordship to permit us to defray the expense of erecting the High Altar in the Church of the Sacred Heart. We feel that in so promoting the perpetual remembrance of our Lord's sacrifice we will ever enjoy His help in bravely making a personal sacrifice, which a little, but very little, resembles His own.

Finally, while we wish to erect this Altar to the greater glory of God, we beg you to accept our efforts, which we desire were far more generous, as a mark of the high esteem and filial devotion we bear towards Your Lordship personally.

On behalf of St. Peter's T. A. S.,
J. L. PICARD, President.
M. J. MAHER, Corr.-Sec.

The illuminated cheque, when cashed, will be returned to the Society, framed, and hung as a memento of the occasion in one of the rooms.

STOMACH DISTRESS IS ENDED FOREVER

Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Gas or Indigestion Vanish in Five Minutes.

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis, or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fulness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervouness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

WEDDING BELLS

SEXSMITH—BUCHANAN.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Buchanan, Campbellford, on Wednesday, Nov. 3, when their daughter, Miss Bessie, became the wife of Mr. John A. Sexsmith, M.P. for East Peterborough.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. A. Brown, in the presence of about fifty guests. Precisely at 11.30 o'clock the groom took his place in the spacious drawing room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. A few minutes later the bride attended by her father, entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Mr. V. S. Collinson, in his usual brilliant masterly style. She wore an elaborate princess gown of satin en traine, elaborately trimmed with lace and pearls, also a bridal veil with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

After the usual congratulations, the guests repaired to the dining room, where the tables were decorated with carnations and chrysanthemums, and sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast. After this had been partaken of the Rev. Mr. Brown rose and after speaking in the highest complimentary terms of the bride, proposed that all should rise and drink to her health. The groom, Mr. Geo. McCartney, of Bethany, and Mr. W. Sharp, of Westwood, responded to this toast, the latter two also testifying to the manliness, integrity and high ability of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith left by the 3.06 train for a short trip to some of the western cities. The bride's travelling dress was a blue-grey chiffon broadcloth with tailored hat to match and she wore a handsome set of mink furs.

Many beautiful and costly gifts showed the high esteem in which the bride was held, among them being a handsome clock from St. Andrew's Sunday School, where she had taught with marked success, the Primary class for a number of years.

Some of the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. McCartney of Bethany, Mr. and Mrs. McNeil and Miss McNeil and Mr. Anderson of Keene; Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Sexsmith of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. T. Lancaster of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Barton of Norwood, Mr. and Mrs. Doupe, of Trent Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. Sharp, of Westwood, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith will reside in Ottawa during the season.

The Standard joins with the many friends of the bride and groom in wishing them every happiness.

"IT SEEMED LIKE THROWING MONEY AWAY

Until I Tried Gin Pills."

Mr. P. Fitzgerald was completely disheartened. He had suffered so long with his Kidneys, and spent so much money on doctors without relief, that he had made up his mind he could not be cured.

Then, he chanced to read about the wonderful cures by Gin Pills, the great Kidney Remedy, and sent for a sample. The pills did him so much good that he immediately bought two full size boxes. And these two boxes of Gin Pills made him feel like another man.

But let Mr. Fitzgerald tell his own story of a really remarkable cure.

Provincial Asylum, Orillia
June 13th.

I have much pleasure in stating that the sample, which you sent me, led me to buy two boxes of Gin Pills from a local druggist. They are the best remedy for Uric Acid Trouble that I have ever tried. I must say that before using Gin Pills, I had undergone a long and expensive course of treatment by eminent specialists of Chicago. They did me no good—it seemed like throwing money away.

I still keep a box of Gin Pills on hand and take one occasionally. I am pleased to recommend them and bear testimony to their efficacy.

P. FITZGERALD.

After reading such a letter as this, you simply can't doubt the value of Gin Pills in cases of Kidney and Bladder Trouble. If you are a sufferer, write the National Drug & Chemical Co., Dept. B, Toronto, for a free sample of Gin Pills and try them at our expense. After you have seen for yourself just what Gin Pills will do, buy the full size box at your dealer's, and remember that Gin Pills are sold with a positive guarantee of a cure or money refunded. 27

THE PAINS OF THE AGED
Are usually due to the tendency of the kidneys to wear out as age advances, giving rise to the accumulation of poisons in the blood and causing backache, lumbago, aching limbs and rheumatism. Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly prized by aged people because they can be relied upon to invigorate the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and so remove the cause of pains and aches.

THE EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

"Serious thinking and Consequent Action" was the topic of Mr. MacBeth's evangelistic sermon in St. Paul's last night. The large auditorium was well filled, the attendance being remarkable for a week evening. The singing was hearty, the congregation following strongly, the excellent leading of Mr. Crane and the choir. Mr. Acheson, a young gentleman, who has recently come to the city, sang in a strong and melodious bass voice the hymn "Will there be any stars in my crown," and at the conclusion of the address Miss McCaw sang with fine impressiveness the hymn "O Jesus Thou Art Standing Outside the Fast, Closed Door." Amongst those present last night were Rev. Mr. Trumpour, of All Saints Episcopal Church, and Rev. J. R. Webb of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Mr. MacBeth took his text from Psalm 119-59, "I thought on my ways and turned my feet unto Thy testimonies; I made haste and delayed not to keep thy commandments." This looked like the reverie and recollection of an aged saint who had the joy of recalling the day when he had forsaken the ways of sin and started out on the way of life. It is an argument in favour of early devotion to the Christian life so that the loneliness of old age may be brightened by thoughts of a life given to the service of God and humanity. Serious thinking must not be crowded out of our lives by the pressure of business or the engagements of society. These had their place, but they must not be allowed to monopolize the life. It is well to be alone at times, away from the press and throng that we may hear the voice of God, and the speaker said that in his boyhood, his lonely rides over the great plains of the West had remained with him as occasions where away from the voices of men, he had heard in the solitude, the voice of God. The lonely room in a boarding house was not cheery in comparison with the surroundings of a home, but it was infinitely better than the vortex of the city's life and the loud glare of places of doubtful amusement. We are social beings, but let us choose our society on the side of the good and above all let us sometimes be alone with God. When the Psalmist found out by thinking on his ways that they were wrong and unsatisfactory and deadly, he acted at once. He turned his feet to the testimonies of God. He did not wait for some one to turn him. Man had a will and he must use it, and when he had turned, he made haste along the way of life. He had lost much time and there was much work to do. Many a man is recaptured by his old sin and evil habit because he does not make haste and flee away from his old resorts and his old companions in vice.

This evening will be the closing meeting and it is expected that there will be a crowded attendance of the congregation and others.

KNOX CHURCH.

It is expected that there will be a large congregation in Knox church for the closing meeting of the series. Rev. J. D. Morrow is returning for this closing meeting and will assist Rev. Dr. Farquharson. The congregation is looking forward to an impressive service. The song service will commence at 7.45 p.m. instead of eight, and the congregation is urged to be present at the earlier hour. The men will meet at the same hour in the upper room for prayer. A special offering will be taken at this closing service.

Last evening Rev. Dr. Farquharson spoke on the great invitation given in the closing words of Revelation. It is found in chapter xxii., verse 17, "The Spirit and the Bride Say Come." It refers to those who have not accepted Christ and comes as a closing opportunity to those outside of His Kingdom. It is, moreover, an invitation to life at its best and highest. That life finds its truest expression in Jesus and it is to Him men are urged to come.

Every encouragement is given to us to accept such an invitation. The one who extends it is able to make every provision. The invitation goes out without distinction to high and low, rich and poor. Everything that will satisfy our life is promised when we come.

In spite of all this there are many who make excuses. Some are too busy or too pre-occupied to consider it just now. But in the meantime many are entering and it may be that while these are being received we may become castaway.

The mothers' prayer meeting that has been such a help in these services met to-day in the church.

The closing meeting to-night assembles at 7.45 p.m.

ST. ANDREW'S.

There was a good meeting in St. Andrew's church last night and Mr. Atkinson spoke with vigour on the text, "To-day, if ye will hear His voice: harden not your heart."—(Psalm 95, vs. 7.)

The two notes here were urgency and entreaty. God's invitations are always joined with an imperative. It is to-day that is the measure of our opportunity. To-morrow no man can call his own.

There is in every character a capability of hearing the Divine appeals. That appeal is concentrated in Jesus Christ. He is the voice of God, the Word made flesh. Just as the trees bend to the breeze so our spirits can bend to the spirit of God. The spirit of man is the candle of the Lord and is able to receive the Divine fire.

This power to respond to God is more alert at some times than at others. When we are young, when we experience affliction, when the tides of Divine grace are flowing full and strong.

But we can harden this power, we can wither this fancy by misuse and disuse. To disregard the appeal of God, the urgings of His spirit, the influence of Christ is the sure way to destroy our power of response to the eternal and spiritual. To do this is to enter a hell of godliness.

In this matter we have a grave responsibility. "If we will," we can harden our hearts. The crisis lies here. Our characters and our destiny are all involved in what we will do in relation to Jesus Christ.

To-night Mr. Atkinson will speak on "What they missed." All are invited to this, the last meeting of the series.

For Rheumatism it is not necessary go to Hot Springs. Just use the "D. & L." Menthol Plaster and results will be satisfactory. 25c. at druggists. Davis & Lawrence Co., Manufacturers.

Moving Pictures Of Canadian Artillery In "The Girl Scout"

"A" and "B" Batteries Perform at Barriefield—A Thrilling Drama of the South African Veldt as It Exists in the County of Frontenac.

BOER WAR INCIDENT

The drama enacted recently near Fort Henry, by Batteries "A" and "B," Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, and a company of moving picture actors, will be seen in Kingston within a few days.

The work was done by the Kalem company, of New York, about six weeks ago, and the picture was first shown on October 29th. It is called "The Girl Scout," and purports to be an incident of the Boer war, in which Canadian troops played the star part. In August, Sidney Olcott, stage director for the Kalem company, came on and after several conferences with Col. Gordon, secured his co-operation, giving his assurance that there would be nothing in the drama which would offend the sensibilities of the English or Canadian people. Both batteries were placed at Mr. Olcott's disposal.

About the middle of September Mr. Olcott came on with a company of actors and an assortment of Stetson hats, also beards, Boer clothing and other stage accessories. Some of the batterymen were disguised as Boers, while others donned the service uniform of khaki and puttees which became so familiar to Canadians during the stirring days of 1900 and 1901; and for several days Barriefield saw reacted such scenes as were seen on the South African veldt in those years. Eventually the negative films were taken on to New York, to be printed, and the drama, "A Girl Scout," which Kingstonians are now about to witness, was the result.

The picture-drama is opened by a Boer dispatch rider, who is seen galloping across the veldt, summoning the Boer farmers to join the army which is about to march against Ladysmith. With a shout he dashes up to the farm house of Burgher Voorhaut, who is found with his daughter Neltze, his son Derrick, and their Kaffir servant Schrake. Voorhaut receives the news and with his son takes horse and starts for the front. Neltze begs to go as a soldier too, and gives an exhibition of sharp shooting with her rifle, but is sternly ordered to remain. No sooner, however, is her father out of sight than Neltze changes her gown for boots and trousers, mounts her pony and, with Schrake as her companion, sets out for the war.

Next day, with a shout and a clatter, Neltze gallops into a Boer outpost, interrupting the captain, who is holding a bible, reading. The old Boer treats the girl with contempt, whereupon Neltze tells him that she is a better soldier than he ever will be. The angry man strikes at her with his whip, which Schrake, the Kaffir, wrests from his hand. It is about to go hard with both of them, when the Boer general rides up and immediately afterwards Burgher Voorhaut and Derrick ride up. There are reproaches and pleadings, and at last Neltze, standing proudly erect, takes the oath which makes her a soldier of the republic.

During the succeeding weeks Neltze shows herself, a fearless, dashing and resourceful scout, and performs many services of the greatest value to the Boer cause. At last news arrives that a British force has got betwen the main Boer army and a convoy bringing army and ammunition, and Neltze and Derrick are set out to inform the commander of the convoy of his danger. It is a perilous and vastly important mission for without this ammunition the Boer army must retreat.

Now we see a column of Canadian horse artillery with guns and limbers making their way across the veldt. The commanding officer calls a halt. The country is a dangerous one and calls for volunteers to reconnoitre an advance of the column. Sergt. Cameron, the beau ideal of a Scotch Canadian, responds, and is sent off on his dangerous mission.

Meanwhile, Neltze and Derrick have delivered their dispatches, and are riding back to camp. Suddenly Neltze utters an exclamation and points to a tall figure on a hilltop silhouetted against the horizon.

It is the Canadian Cameron.

They leap from their horses and Neltze seeks concealment, while Derrick creeps cautiously through a little gully towards the unconscious Canadian. Cameron is riding leisurely down the declivity when Derrick steps from behind a bush with levelled rifle.

But the Canadian's activity is too much for the heavy young Boer. Cameron slides from his horse with snake-like suddenness, dives under the Boer gun and seizes Voorhaut. The Boer struggles fiercely, but Cameron has not played football on the 'varsity eleven for nothing. His superior weight and activity are telling, when Neltze approaches, and by a skilful shot, brings Cameron's right arm helpless to his side. The Canadian turns to face his new assailant, and seeing Neltze's pretty face looking over his threatening rifle, he takes off his hat and bows with a smile to so charming a captor.

Cameron is carried prisoner to the Boer camp, but the Canadian's manly ways and winning smile have made him a favourite with his stern captors, and have won Neltze's heart. Suddenly two Boers dash into the camp.

The English! The English.!

Then the firing begins, with smokeless powder. The noise causes the horses to stampede. Over goes the supply waggon. Burgher Voohaut drops and Neltze throws herself upon his body. Cameron can see his own battery in the distance. The guns come into play and the shells fall thick and fast in the Boer camp, but the burghers are fighting deperately, and a heavy Boer gun on the hill sweeps the only approach making an advance on the camp impossible.

But the Boers have forgotten their Canadian prisoner, and Cameron resolves to silence the big gun. He finds the rifle of a fallen Boer, creeps stealthily forward, and then, rising suddenly, rushes upon the gun, dealing savage blows on all sides. Taken by surprise, the Boer gunners fall back, and Cameron, with a shout, seizes the breach block of the gun and hurls it into the gully.

Now the Canadian troops dash furiously against the Boer position in a desperate charge, and the battle is over.

Down the street of one of those quaint little villages, which lie scattered sparsely over the upland veldt (Barriefield, as a matter of fact) come the English with their Boer prisoners, Neltze and Derrick among the number. With bowed head and lagging steps, the Boers march along. Meanwhile a British despatch rider is galloping over the veldt. He dashes into Barriefield and presents a despatch to the commander.

"Crobje has surrendered. Parole your prisoners"

So it all ends. Neltze goes to Cameron's arms, for, although released from captivity of war, she finds herself prisoner to a stronger power—the power of love.

White Star Leviathans Are Palatial Hotels Afloat

The Olympic and Titanic Now Being Built in Belfast—Veranda Cafe, Palm Garden, Grill Room, Sun Gardens, Etc., are Among the Many Novelties That Will Amaze Passengers.

A MODERN WONDER

Belfast, November 11.—Twelve thousand tons represents the increase in size of the two mammoth liners, Olympic and Titanic, now being built by Harland & Wolff, for the White Star Company, over the leviathan Cunarders, Mauretania and Lusitania. The tonnage of each of these is 33,000 tons, that of each of the new White Star boats is to be 45,000 tons, and possibly more. Among the Belfast shipyard workmen these great vessels have been known for months past as the mystery ships, because of the extraordinary precautions which have been taken to prevent their dimensions and designs from becoming public property. Something, however, may now be said on these points.

The new steamers will be completed about the end of next year, and will go on the Southampton-New York service in the following spring. They will be by far the largest in the world and in equipment and decoration will be the finest on the water. The new vessels will have a displacement of 60,000 tons. They are to be about 900 feet long, with a beam of 90 feet, and the boat deck will be more than 60 feet above the water.

NOT DESIGNED FOR SPEED

Neither the Olympic nor Titanic will be high power boats nor are their lines designed for great speed, 21 knots being the average aimed at, as against the 25 of the Cunnarders. An immense amount of space which in fast boats is devoted to machinery, will thus be saved for cabin accommodation. The carrying capacity of the great boats will exceed that of any afloat to-day by at least one-third. Each steamship will carry, under normal conditions, more than 5,000 persons all told.

The crew will be the largest ever employed on one merchant ship—more than 500 in all. The monster new liner will have nine steel decks. The steamers are not only designed to eclipse evrything else as yet achieved in passenger shipbuilding as regards the size, but in their novelty of equipment as well. There will be a large entrance hall, a spacious dining room, smoking room, library, women's parlour, grill and lounging rooms, elaborately furnished to the last detail.

One of the upper decks is to be completely enclosed to serve as a ballroom or skating rink. By day this enclosure may be used as a sun parlour or promenade. It will be large enough to accommodate several hundred passengers. In planning the cabins of the new liners the luxuries of the most up-to-date hotels have been kept in sight and even improved upon. These boats will offer not only extended suites of rooms, but complete flats, which will make it possible to cross the Atlantic while enjoying all the luxuries and privacy of one's own home.

MANY NOVEL FEATURES.

The Olympic and Titanic will be the first steamers to offer cabins with private shower baths attached. In addition there will be a great swimming bath aboard both the Olympic and Titanic, large enough to permit of diving. A gymnasium, the largest and most completely equipped afloat, will be found on each of the new boats. The main saloon, which will seat more than 600 passengers, will be the single largest cabin on the ship, and in its furnishing and decoration the most elaborate. Should a guest tire of his apartments in the week he is at sea, he can wander from one cafe to another enjoying practically as much variety as he might ashore.

A veranda cafe will be built on one of the upper decks far astern, looking out over the water, and about 80 feet above the sea. The decorations and general management will carry out the idea of the open air cafes of Southern Europe. The cafe will be erected with expected rafters entwined with vines, and the sides will be latticed effects, to make the illusion of a cafe at the seaside as complete as possible.

Another novelty will be a grill room. The cabin will suggest an old English chop house, with high backed stalls of ancient oak, and broad, low tables. It will be possible at any hour of the day or night for a passenger to use the grill room. The palm garden will be still another refuge for those who weary of the confines of the ship during the passage.

SUMMER AND WINTER GARDEN

A garden will be located on the sun deck and in the winter months will be protected by a glass roof. Here will be found, perhaps, the most complete illusion of the hotel ashore. There will be arbors artfully contrived to give the effect of gardens covered with vines and flowers. The children's room of the new liners will be the most sumptuous apartment of the kind ever attempted.

The new liners will be as complete in their safety devices as in their luxurious equipment. Each boat will be divided into upwards of thirty steel compartments separated by heavy bulkheads. An automatic device on the bridge will control all of these heavy steel doors, making it possible for a single hand to close them all in case of danger. Each of these doors in turn will be electrically connected with a chart on the bridge, and will be represented by small electric lights. When one of these doors closes the light will burn red. The officer on the bridge will thus be able to see at a glance if all the apartments are closed. Still another set of safety devices will guard against fire in every part of the ship.

A combination of turbine and reciprocating engines will propel the vessels. It is expected that a great economy of coal will be effected by this arrangement. The berths in Harland & Wolff's yards at Belfast, in which these wonderful ships are being built, are each 1000 feet long and capable of bearing a dead weight of 75,000 tons. The Olympic is expected to be ready for launching in the early autumn of 1910.

4 NICE ROOMS TO LET OVER STORE

WHO GAINS MOST BY MARRIAGE

As to the comparative tribulations of the married state, does the man who marries give no hostages to fortune beyond those provided by his collaborator? Is it for his own selfish creature comforts that he bolts his breakfast, rushes for the morning train, and stews in the city—all to earn an income of which he personally spends only a fifth or a tithe? Are dressmakers' bills merely part of his unholy, selfish joy? Once a man becomes a husband, has he nothing to bear and forbear? Has the compound word "Henpecked" crept uselessly into our language? Has no man's "individuality" been sapped or overwhelmed by an overpowering personality in petticoats? Though it be true that a wife has no "wages," is a husband allowed to husband his? Though a wife may be a "slave to her husband," has the converse phrase no sanction from experience? And though a mother be a "slave to her children," has a father no parental cares? Are there no households in which a father has to stak his "individuality" and preferences and wishes—allow his meals to be fixed, where he shall live, when and where he shall take his holidays, and even how long he shall remain in harness—"for the sake of the children?" Is a "devoted husband" merely a contradiction in terms? Is marriage always beer and skittles for the husband, and never cakes and ale for the wife? And as to the comparative losses and gains through entering the marriage state, does the man standing at the altar surrender nothing and incur no responsibilities from which he would otherwise be free, and does the woman acquire nothing but the burden of fresh duties and a gold ring of a somewhat monotonous pattern?

I apologise for the elementary and homely character of these interrogatories. But the fact that they arise out of a current controversy shows where that controversy is taking us. And so I put the question as a matter for timely discussion. Who gains most by marriage, man or woman? And that question cannot be answered without answering the deeper question: "In the interest of which sex (apart altogether from the institution of home and the entity of family) is it most necessary that the institution of marriage should be preserved?"—London Chronicle.

Good Glasses Are Worth All You Pay For Them.

The constant increase in Eye defects is partly due to improperly fitted lenses. There is no guess work with us, we give your Eyes a thorough examination, and advise Glasses only when absolutely necessary.

WE are not transient, but permanent residents of the city, and all our Glasses are positively guaranteed. We do not make it a practice of remaining for a few days in a place, and then leaving for parts unknown.

We have never sought to obtain the money by advertising out-rates on Glasses. Those who do business in this way, either deceive the public, or sooner or later come to grief themselves. Any business, to be a lasting success, must be conducted at a fair rate of profit; expert service and enduring articles cannot be furnished at or below cost. SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for additions and alterations to the General Post Office Building, Toronto, Ontario," will be received at this office until 5.00 p.m., on Monday, November 22, 1909, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specifications and forms of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and on application to Mr. Thomas Hastings, Clerk of Works, Customs Building, Toronto.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, with their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
NAPOLEON TETRAULT,
Secretary.

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

To be continued next Saturday

Together they crept along the dark cutting. Suddenly Simon seized Aylward by the shoulder and pushed him into the shadow of the bank. Crouching in the darkness, they heard footsteps and voices upon the farther side of the trench. Two men sauntered along it and stopped almost at the very spot where the comrades were lying. Aylward could see their dark figures outlined against the starry sky.

"Why should you scold, Jacques," said one of them, speaking a strange half-French, half-English lingo. "Le diable t'emporte for a grumbling rascal. You won a woman and I got nothing. What more would you have?"

"You will have your chance off the next ship, mon garcon, but mine is passed. A woman, it is true—an old peasant out of the fields, with a face as yellow as a kite's claw. But Gaston, who threw a nine against my eight, got as fair a little Normandy lass as ever your eyes have seen. Curse the dice. I say! And as to my woman, I will sell her to you for a firkin of Gascony."

"I have no wine to spare, but I will give you a keg of apples," said the other. "I had it out of the Peter and Paul, the Falmouth boat that struck in Creux Bay."

"Well, well your apples may be the worse for keeping, but so is old Marie, and we can cry quits on that. Come round and drink a cup over the bargain."

They shuffled onward in the darkness.

"Heard you ever such villainy?" cried Aylward, breathing fierce and hard. "Did you hear them, Simon? A woman for a keg of apples! And my heart's root is sad for the other one, the girl of Normandy. Surely we can land to-morrow and burn all these water-rats out of their nest."

"Nay, Sir Robert will not waste time or strength ere he reach Brittany."

"Sure I am that if my little master Squire Loring had the handling of it, every woman on this island would be free ere another day had passed."

"I doubt it not," said Simon. "He is one who makes an idol of woman, after the manner of those crazy knight errants. But Sir Robert is a true soldier and hath only his purpose in view."

"Simon," said Aylward, "the light is not overgood and the place is cramped for sword-play, but if you will step out into the open I will teach you whether my master is a true soldier or not."

"Tut, man! you are as foolish yourself," said Simon. "Here we are with our work in hand, and yet you must needs fall out with me on our way to it. I say nothing against your master save that he hath the way of his fellows who follow dreams and fancies. But Knolles looks neither to right nor left and walks forward to his mark. Now, let us on, for the time passes."

"Simon, your words are neither good nor fair. When we are back on shipboard we will speak further of this matter. Now lead on, I pray you, and let us see some more of this ten-devil island."

For half a mile Simon led the way until they came to a large house which stood by itself. Peering at it from the edge of the cutting, Aylward could see that it was made from the wreckage of many vessels, for at each corner a prow was thrust out. Lights blazed within, and there came the sound of a strong voice singing a gay song which was taken up by a dozen others in the chorus.

"All is well, lad!" whispered Simon in great delight. "That is the voice of the King. It is the very song he used to sing. 'Les deux filles de Pierre.' 'Fore God, my back tingles at the very sound of it. Here we will wait until his company take their leave."

Hour after hour they crouched in the peat-cutting, listening to the noisy songs of the revelers within, some French, some English, and all growing fouler and less articulate as the night wore on. Once a quarrel broke out and the clamor was like a cage-ful of wild beast at feeding-time. Then a health was drunk and there was much stamping and cheering.

Only once was the long vigil broken. A woman came forth from the house and walked up and down, with her face sunk upon her breast. She was tall and slender, but her features could not be seen for a wimple over her head. Weary sadness could be read in her bowed back and dragging steps. Once only they saw her throw her two hands up to Heaven as one who is beyond human aid. Then she passed slowly into the house again. A moment later the door of the hall was flung open, and a shouting, stumbling throng came crowding forth, with whoop and yell, into the silent night. Linking arms and striking up a chorus, they marched past the peat-cutting, their voices dwindling slowly away as they made for their homes.

"Now, Samkin, now!" cried Simon, and jumping out from the hiding-place he made for the door. It had not yet been fastened. The two comrades sprang inside. Then Simon drew the bolts so that none might interrupt them.

A long table littered with flagons and beakers lay before them. It was lit up by a line of torches, which flickered and smoked in their iron sconces. At the farther end a solitary man was seated. His head rested upon his two hands, as if he were befuddled with wine, but at the harsh sound of the snapping bolts he raised his face and looked angrily around him. It was a strange powerful head, tawny and shaggy like a lion's, with a tangled beard and a large harsh face, bloated and blotched with vice. He laughed as the newcomers entered, thinking that two of his boon companions had returned to finish a flagon. Then he stared hard and he passed his hand over his eyes like one who thinks he may be dreaming.

"Mon Dieu!" he cried "Who are you and whence come you at this hour of the night? Is this the way to break into our royal presence?"

Simon approached up one side of the table and Aylward up the other. When they were close to the King, the man-at-arms plucked a torch from its socket and held it to his own face. The King staggered back with a cry, as he gazed at that grim visage.

"Le diable noir!" he cried. "Simon, the Englishman! What make you here?"

Simon put his hand upon his shoulder. "Sit here!" said he, and he forced the King into his seat. "Do you sit on the farther side of him, Aylward. We make a merry group, do we not? Often have I served at this table, but never did I hope to drink at it. Fill your cup, Samkin, and pass the flagon."

The King looked from one to the other with terror in his bloodshot eyes. "What would you do?" he asked. "Are you mad, that you should come here. One shout and you are at my mercy."

"Nay, my friend, I have lived too long in your house not to know the ways of it. No man-servant ever slept beneath your roof, for you feared lest your throat would be cut in the night-time. You may shout and shout, if it so please you. It chanced that I was passing on my way from England in those ships which lie off La Brechou, and I thought I would come in and have speech with you."

"Indeed, Simon, I am right glad to see you," said the King, cringing away from the fierce eyes of the soldier. "We were good friends in the past, were we not, and I cannot call to mind that I have ever done you injury. When you made your way to England by swimming to the Levantine there was none more glad in heart than I."

"If I cared to doff my doublet I could show you the marks of what your friendship has done for me in the past," said Simon. "It is printed on my back as clearly as on my memory. Why, you foul dog, there are the very rings upon the wall to which my hands were fastened, and there the stains upon the boards on which my blood has dripped! Is it not so, you king of butchers?"

The pirate chief turned whiter still. "It may be that life here was somewhat rough, Simon, but if I have wronged you in anyway, I will surely make amends. What do you ask?"

"I ask only one thing, and I have come hither that I may get it. It is that you pay me forfeit for that you have lost your wager."

"My wager, Simon! I call to mind no wager."

"But I will call it to your mind, and then I will take my payment. Often have you sworn that you would break my courage. 'By my head!' you have cried to me. 'You will crawl at my feet!' and again: 'I will wager my head that I will tame you!' Yes, yes, a score of times you have said so. In my heart, as I listened, I have taken up your gage. And now, dog, you have lost and I am here to claim the forfeit."

His long heavy sword flew from its sheath. The King, with a howl of despair, flung his arms round him, and they rolled together under the table. Aylward sat with a ghastly face, and his toes curled with horror at the sight, for he was still new to scenes of strife and his blood was too cold for such a deed. When Simon rose he tossed something into his bag and sheathed his bloody sword.

"Come, Samkin, our work is well done," said he.

"By my hilt, if I had known what it was I would have been less ready to come with you," said the archer. "Could you not have clapped a sword in his fist and let him take his chance in the hall?"

"Nay, Samkin, if you had such memories as I, you would have wished that he should die like a mean not like a man. What chance did he give me when he had the power? And why should I treat him better? But, Holy Virgin, what have we here?"

At the farther end of the table a woman was standing. An open door behind her showed that she had come from the inner room of the house. By her tall figure the comrades knew that she was the same that they had already seen. Her face had once been fair, but now was white and haggard with wild dark eyes full of a hopeless terror and despair. Slowly she paced up the room, her gaze fixed not upon the comrades, but upon the dreadful thing beneath the table. Then as she stooped and was sure she burst into loud laughter and clapped her hands.

"Who shall say there is no God?" she cried. "Who shall say that prayer is unavailing? Great sir, brave sir, let me kiss that conquering hand!"

"Nay, nay, dame, stand back! Well, if you must needs have one of them, take this which is the clean one."

"It is the other I crave—that which is red with his blood! Oh! joyful night when my lips have been wet with it! Now I can die in peace!"

"We must go, Aylward," said Simon. "In another hour the dawn will have broken. In daytime a rat could not cross this island and pass unseen. Come, man, and at once!"

But Aylward was at the woman's side. "Come with us, fair dame," said he. "Surely we can, at least, take you from this island, and no such change can be for the worse."

"Nay," said she, "the saints in Heaven cannot help me now until they take me to my rest. There is no place for me in the world beyond, and all my friends were slain on the day I was taken. Leave me, brave men, and let me care for myself. Already it lightens in the east, and black will be your fate if you are taken. Go, and may the blessing of one who was once a holy nun go with you and guard you from danger!"

Sir Robert Knolles was pacing the deck in the early morning, when he heard the sound of oars, and there were his two night-birds climbing up the side.

"So, fellow," said he, "have you had speech with the King of Sark?"

"Fair sir, I have seen him."

"And he has paid his forfeit?"

"He has paid it, sir!"

Knolles looked with curiosity at the bag which Simon bore. "What carry you there?" he asked.

"The stake that he has lost."

"What was it then? A goblet? A silver plate?"

For answer Simon opened his bag and shook it on the deck.

Sir Robert turned away with a whistle. "'Fore God!" said he, "it is in my mind that I carry some hard men with me to Brittany."

CHAPTER XIX.

Sir Robert Knolles with his little fleet had sighted the Breton coast near Cancale; they had rounded the Point du Grouin, and finally had sailed past the port of St. Malo and down the long narrow estuary of the Rance until they were close to the old walled city of Dinan, which was held by that Montfort faction whose cause the English had espoused. Here the horses had been disembarked, the stores were unloaded, and the whole force encamped outside the city, whilst the leaders waited for news as to the present state of affairs, and where there was most hope of honor and profit.

The whole of France was feeling the effects of that war with England which had already lasted some ten years, but no Province was in so dreadful a condition as this unhappy land of Brittany. In Normandy or Picardy the inroads of the English were periodical with intervals of rest between; but Brittany was torn asunder by constant civil war apart from the grapple of the two great combatants, so that there was no surcease of her sufferings. The struggle had begun in 1341 through the rival claims of Montfort and of Blois to the vacant dukedom. England had taken the part of Montford, France that of Blois. Neither faction was strong enough to destroy the other, and so after ten years of continual fighting, history recorded a long ineffectual list of surprises and ambushes, of raids and skirmishes, of towns taken and retaken, of alternate victory and defeat, in which neither party could claim a supremacy. It mattered nothing that Montfort and Blois had both disappeared from the scene, the one dead and the other taken by the English. Their wives caught up the swords which had dropped from the hands of their lords, and the long struggle went on even more savagely than before.

In the south and east the Blois faction held the country, and Nantes the capital was garrisoned and occupied by a strong French army. In the north and west the Montfort party prevailed, for the island kingdom was at their back and always fresh sails broke the northern sky-line bearing adventurers from over the channel.

Between these two there lay a broad zone comprising all the centre of the country which was a land of blood and violence, where no law prevailed save that of the sword. From end to end it was dotted with castles, some held for one side, some for the other, and many mere robber strongholds, the scenes of gross and monstrous deeds, whose brute owners, knowing that they could never be called to account, made war upon all mankind, and wrung with rack and with flame the last shilling from all who fell into their savage hands. The fields had long been untilled. Commerce was dead. From Rennes in the east to Hennebon in the west, and from Dinan in the north to Nantes in the south, there was no spot where a man's life or a woman's honor was safe. Such was the land, full of darkness and blood, the saddest, blackest spot in Christendom, into which Knolles and his men were now advancing.

But there was no sadness in the young heart of Nigel, as he rode by the side of Knolles at the head of a clump of spears, nor did it seem to him that Fate had led him into an unduly arduous path. On the contrary, he blessed the good fortune which had sent him into so delightful a country, and it seemed to him as he listened to dreadful stories of robber barons, and looked round at the black scars of war which lay branded upon the fair faces of the hills, that no hero of romances or trouveur had ever journeyed through such a land of promise, with so fair a chance of knightly venture and honorable advancement.

The Red Fern t was one deed toward his vow. Surely a second, and perhaps a better, was to be found somewhere upon this glorious country-side. He had borne himself as the others had in the sea-fight, and could not count it to his credit where he had done no more than mere duty. Something beyond this was needed for such a deed as could be laid at the feet of the Lady Mary. But surely it was to be found here in fermenting war-distracted Brittany. Then with two done it would be strange if he could not find occasion for that third one, which would complete his service and set him free to look her in the face once more. With the great yellow horse curveting beneath him, his Guildford armor gleaming in the sun, his sword clanking against his stirrup-iron, and his father's tough ash-spear in his hand, he rode with a light heart and a smiling face, looking eagerly to right and to left for any chance which his good fate might send.

The road from Dinan to Caulnes, along which the small army was moving, rose and dipped over undulating ground, with a bare marshy plain upon the left where the river Rance ran down to the sea, while upon the right lay a wooded country with a few wretched villages, so poor and sordid that they had nothing with which to tempt the spoiler. The peasants had left them at the first twinkle of a steel cap, and lurked at the edges of the woods, ready in an instant to dive into those secret recesses known only to themselves. These creatures suffered sorely at the hands of both parties, but when the chance came they revenged their wrongs on either in a savage way which brought fresh brutalities upon their heads.

The new-comers soon had a chance of seeing to what lengths they would go, for in the roadway near to Caulnes they came upon an English man-at-arms who had been waylaid and slain by them. How they had overcome him could not be told, but how they had slain him within his armor was horribly apparent, for they had carried such a rock as eight men could lift, and had dropped it upon him as he lay, so that he was spread out in his shattered case like a crab beneath a stone. Many a fist was shaken at the distant woods and many a curse hurled at those who haunted them, as the column of scowling soldiers passed the murdered man, whose badge of the Molene cross showed him to have been a follower of that House of Bentley, whose head, Sir Walter, was at that time leader of the British forces in the country.

HER DEATH WAS HOURLY EXPECTED

Enterprise, Ont., Oct. 1st, 1908.
"For seven years I suffered with what physicians called a "Water Tumor." I could neither sit, stand, nor lie down. Hypodermics of morphia had to be given me to ease the pain.

MRS. JAMES FENWICK

My case seemed hopeless, and my friends hourly expected my death. I was so bad that I wanted to die, and it was during one of these very bad spells that a family friend brought a box of "Fruit-a-tives" to the house. After much persuation I commenced to take them, but I was so bad that it was only when I had taken nearly two boxes that I commenced to experience relief. I kept up the treatment, however, and after taking five boxes I was cured, and when I appeared on the street my friends said. 'The dead has come to life,' and this seemed literally true, because I certainly was at death's door."
(Signed) MRS. JAMES FENWICK.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c, or sent post-paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Had a Bad Cough For a Number of Years.

Was Afraid of Consumption.

Mrs. A. E. Brown, Ottawa, Ont., writes "I have had a very bad cough every winter for a number of years which I was afraid would turn into consumption. I tried a great many remedies but only received temporary relief until I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking two bottles my cough was cured. I am never without a bottle of Norway Pine Syrup."

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that when a person catches cold it must be attended to immediately or serious results may follow.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It strikes at the foundation of all throat and lung complaints, relieving or curing all Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Sore Throat, etc., and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.

So great has been the success of this wonderful remedy it is only natural that numerous persons have tried to imitate it.

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Gardiner, Maine.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease and weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation but I could not bear to think of it.
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. S. A. Williams, R.F.D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

So. West Harbor, Me.—"I suffered for years with painful periods, backache, headaches, nervousness, irregularities and inflammation. I consulted two physicians and one advised me to have an operation.
"I was completely discouraged when I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has made me a well woman. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Lillian Robbins, South West Harbor, Me.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

WILD PEOPLE OF CEYLON.

The Veddas Live a Communal Life In Caves.

Writing of the curious customs observed by the Veddas, or wild people of Ceylon, a traveler says: "All the men came to meet us and led the way to the caves, which were completely hidden by a thicket. On a rocky platform in front of the cave the men all surround us, shouting to their women to come and see their 'white sister-in-law' or 'cousin.' Veddas have always been renowned for their truthfulness, and this reputation we are able to indorse. Each community has its own hunting ground, and adheres strictly to its own game rights. Upon each hunting ground there are a number of caves and rock shelters, and the families of the community move from one to another throughout the year, as presence of game, honey, yams, or fish demands. The big caves are communal property, the smaller caves usually belonging to single families; but even in the communal caves each family has its particular place, in which its members sleep, cook, eat, and keep all their belongings.

"Each family respects the privacy of its neighbors' few feet of the cave floor as faithfully as if partition walls existed; only the children roam all over the cave at will. Food, however, seemed to be public property, for one woman would cook food and share it with every one present in the cave. This may probably be explained as follows: The communal caves are situated in common hunting ground; therefore, all the game, yams, iguanas, or honey brought in from the common land is the property of the community, not of the man who procures it.

"I have stated that the smaller caves are usually private property. It would probably be more correct to say that Veddas possess private hunting grounds on which very frequently there are small caves, such caves being then the property of the owner of the land. When a man is living in his own cave in the midst of his own hunting ground the produce of the chase would naturally be his own, though shared with any one living with him. Women and children always fared as well as the men, and the former would be fed first in any time of scarcity. Indeed, the dainties were often saved for the children."

Canadian Alpine Journal.

Few as interesting volumes are published in Canada as The Canadian Alpine Journal. The volume for 1909 is dated from headquarters, Winnipeg, (180 Furby street). The first paper is a spirited account by the Rev. Mr. Kenny of the attempt to climb Mount Robson last year. Mr. Kenny's success this year adds to the interest of the paper. "The Second Ascent of Mount Tupper," by Miss Jean Parker, and the story of the first successful climb of the same mountain, translated from the German of Herr Wolfgang Koehler, taken from the minute book of Glacier House, possess the charm of personality and show the real fascination of mountain climbing. But the finest story in the book will be found under Alpine Notes. It is an account taken from a letter by Tom Wilson, the most celebrated guide of the Canadian Rockies, of the tramp home seventy miles to Banff last Christmas. He was caught in a blizzard in the Pipestone Pass. What he says of his march reveals a pluck and endurance which it would be hard to match.

Born Farthest North.

Commander Peary's "snow baby" may have been born farthest north, but there is a young lad in Kincardine who is a close second, viz., Herschell Stringer, son of his lordship, the Bishop of Yukon, and Mrs. Stringer. He is named after Herschell Island, where he was born. That island is in the Arctic Ocean, northeast of the Mackenzie River. He was born when his father was a missionary among the Esquimaux.—Kincardine Review.

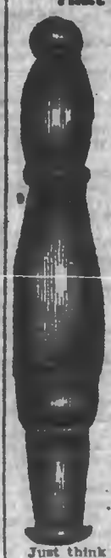
BRONCHITIS,

Huskiness, Throat Catarrh

Delightful Cure Discovered That Cures Quickly.



Old-fashioned remedies were administered through the stomach only, but as it is impossible to swallow anything into the lungs, little benefit ever resulted.

Strong drugs, such as opium, chlorodyne and cocaine, were resorted to, but did more harm than good.

Nowadays, when a doctor meets a case of catarrh — finds the throat filled with mucous—sore all the way down, he prescribes Catarrhosone because he knows it goes direct to the disease.

Catarrhosone cures by antiseptic balsams that are carried by the air you breathe direct to the source of the trouble.

In one minute you experience decided relief with Catarrhosone and invariably it does cure every type of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Irritable throat and hoarseness.

Just think of it—a sure cure without noxious drugs—one that is guaranteed and delightfully pleasant as well. Catarrhosone only, complete for two months' use, $1.00; small (trial) size 50c. at all dealers.

CATARRHOZONE A SURE CURE.

STAMMER AS A TALKER.

His Listener Was Not Interested But Wife Would Be.

The Canadian poet, Mr. Arthur Stringer, was recently asked to deliver an address before the Canadian Club of London, Ont., one of the most flourishing of those luncheon organizations which have sprung up throughout the length and breadth of Canada during the past six or seven years. Mr. Stringer chose for his subject a theme not commonly discussed in such organizations, which are made up, as a rule, of hard-headed young business men with a penchant for practical themes. The title of his address was "The Making of a Poet," and the choice of his subject was a happy one in the case of Mr. Stringer, for he is a poet in the minor key, and a very good one at that. It was a much happier choice, for instance, than his paper before the International Council of Women, when his theme was "The Making of a Newspaper," or something like that.

Mr. Stringer has worked at both callings, but he knows a great deal more about poetry than he does about newspaper work. His success in dealing with the creative forces of the man born a child of the Muses was correspondingly greater, and the members of the London Canadian Club were highly pleased. In itself the choice of such a theme was flattering. It was a clear intimation that Mr. Stringer regarded his old friends in London as capable of cherishing some ideals beyond those of business and politics of the pig's-feet and beer variety. His remarks were listened to with wrapt attention and something approaching reverence. When he concluded, there was a ringing salvo of applause, and as the assemblage broke up the members vied with each other in coming forward to shake hands with him. One of the committee men was especially effusive. Gripping Mr. Stringer by the hand, he said:

"I want to thank you very much for your address. Of course, I didn't understand everything you said, but you know my wife takes an interest in that sort of rot."

TRADE IN SIBERIA.

Canada Seems to Have an Excellent Market In Vladivostock.

In a recent issue of The Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association, there appeared an article by Mr. Allen Lethbridge on the market which Siberia offers for Canadian manufactured goods. With regard to the possibilities for trade, Mr. Lethbridge has this to say:

"Vladivostock, the harbor of Siberia, is situated approximately at the same distance from Vancouver as is Yokohama, and is open to navigation at all times of the year. Canada should therefore be in a position to supply, easily and economically, a great proportion of imported goods, as at present these must either travel from Moscow by a single line of railway 6,500 miles long, obviously at times causing terrible congestion of traffic; or must make the long sea voyage via the Suez Canal and Singapore, occupying over two months.

"Already Canadian agricultural implements are favorably known in Western Siberia, where they are in successful competition with both the German and American makes. The International Harvester Co. of Chicago are opening a branch at Vladivostock, thus showing that they are alive to the possibilities of the situation, and intend making a bid to capture the market. Owing to the fact that this corporation are willing to grant more extensive credit facilities than the Canadian firms, it is probable that they may succeed. Canadian companies would do well to carefully consider this question of credit, as it must prove the keynote of success. The demand for agricultural machinery of all kinds must be a growing one to keep pace with the increase of population caused by the influx of immigrants."

A number of English papers have taken up this matter to some extent, and The Canadian Gazette of London, says:

"Siberia will outlive its ill fame as an icy wilderness as the Canadian West has done, and there is no limit to its expansive capacities. Canadian industrialism has here a great opportunity."

The Bartletts of Newfoundland.

The Newfoundland Bartletts, Robt. and P. W., were sealers before they were Arctic explorers, and so was their father before them. A gentleman now living in Toronto, who met the senior Bartlett on the Miramichi River many years ago, declares he was the most taciturn man alive. The many winters he had passed in the frozen north with few save Eskimos to converse with had caused him to lose the habit of speech, and he would sit and smoke all day and never utter a word.

That Peary's sailing master got such a hearty reception when the Roosevelt reached Sydney, is an indication of the excitement prevailing at "Little Pittsburg." For Newfoundlanders are about as popular in Cape Breton as Japs in Vancouver. The men who come to Sydney from the ancient colony when the fishing is poor at home, looking for work in the mines, as known in Cape Breton as "Billy Gays." To the uninitiated this term suggests a Nova Scotia Highlander's pronunciation of Twillingate, but tradition has it that early immigrants from Newfoundland to Nova Scotia were all passengers on a schooner whose owner and commander was one William Gay.

N. S. Apples Bring Poor Price.

Some 10,500 barrels, the first consignment of Nova Scotia apples, sold in Covent Garden, London, at from 10s. to 14s. 6d. a barrel, a price considered unsatisfactory to growers. In view of the shortage of the English crop, the sale was watched with interest by the tradesmen.

Lowest Tax Rate.

Dear Sir,—Just a line to let you know what a great benefit I have derived from your excellent course. I may say that a person in conversation with me now would never imagine that I ever stuttered, and I owe my present condition wholly to your instructions. I sincerely believe that any person, no matter how badly afflicted, may be cured in a very short time if they will but follow your instructions, and I will certainly recommend you to any stammerer that I may come in contact with.

C.P.R. In Strathcona.

The C.P.R. will have a direct line via Wetaskiwin between Strathcona and Winnipeg in operation by the first of November. This was the information which Premier Rutherford received while in Winnipeg a few days ago at the western office of the C.P.R. At the present time the company is hurrying to completion the unfinished portion of the line east of Hardisty, which will connect with Saskatoon. When this is completed it is stated that the line of the Canadian Pacific between Winnipeg and Strathcona will be shorter than that of the Canadian Northern.

Premier Rutherford says that it is expected that the C.P.R. will also start shortly the line from either Camrose or Sedgewick to Strathcona, which it will enter from the southeast. The completion of this line will bring Strathcona even nearer to Winnipeg and the east than the Wetaskiwin line. With the C.P.R. on this short time in competition with the C.N.R. and the G.T.P. Edmonton and Strathcona will have the best transporting facilities of any city of the West.

Earth Would Explode.

You probably learned at school that an atom was a particle of matter so minute as to admit of no division; but science has learned much since then.

Sir J. J. Thomson, at the meeting of the British Association delegates at Winnipeg, pointed out that the atom is now known to be a comparatively large and complex structure, and that units of negative electricity, called corpuscles, have a volume, compared with that of an atom, such as a speck of dust has compared with the volume of a large lecture-hall.

But these corpuscles are to be found in every atom of every substance, and the energy they contain is so great that a little over a grain of hydrogen from their presence has an amount of energy greater than that developed by the burning of ten tons of coal.

Sir Joseph remarked that if an appreciable fraction were at any time to get free, the earth would explode, and become a gaseous nebula.

Aviation in Cactus Center.

We have got a club in Cactus called the Conquerors of Air.
It's for boostin' aviation, so its members all declare.
It meets and drinks and argues till it gits all overbeat,
But so far as we've observed it there ain't been no flyin' yet.

They have had a play and smoker fer to decorate their hall;
They have took up cash subscriptions, and they've give a fancy ball,
And as far as people know of they have paid off every debt.
But, unless they've kept it quiet, there ain't been no flyin' yet.

They have showed us movin' pictures, and they're takin' magazines
That are full of information 'bout the latest sky machines,
But we have to hunt a hoss race when we want to place a bet,
'Cause our Cactus aviators haven't aviated yet.

Offended Her.

"Ah," sighed the enraptured swain, holding her lily white hand and looking up at the refulgent orb of night, "see yonder moon! And think how often it has looked down upon a scene like this and listened to soft words such as these."

"Sir!" she exclaimed, jerking her hand away. "I want you to understand that I was not in earnest with all the others."—Chicago Post.

Priscilla's Curl.

'Twas small, it's true, but very fair,
A dainty, gleaming, silky snare
Which some blest wandering breath of air
Brushed o'er my cheek, and then and there,
With cheeks aglow and thoughts awhirl,
I wondered if I'd really dare—
Priscilla's curl!

I wondered, too, if she would care
And, wondering, leaned above her chair,
Pressed to my lips the wisp of hair.
She rose and left me standing there
With cheeks aglow and thoughts awhirl,
For in my hand remained
Priscilla's curl!

BUNTING STORY.

Episode of the Late Journalist and the New English Reporter.

A short time ago some reminiscences of the late Christopher W. Bunting were published in these columns, and an old Toronto newspaper man who read them has recalled another one in which the noted editor played a small part. In the later seventies and in the eighties, Mr. Bunting kept a supervising eye over everything, and used to engage everyone on the staff of The Toronto Mail himself, and suggest the duties they were to perform.

One day a little Englishman blew in town from Montreal, and told him a hard luck story, saying that he was a trained reporter who had not been able to get a hold in this country. Mr. Bunting engaged him and turned him over to the city editor. The latter asked what he should do with him, and Mr. Bunting suggested that he be put on railroad news until he got to know the town. Mr. Bunting went to New York for a week, and on his return journey bought a copy of The Mail at Hamilton. Opening it, he was surprised to read a most astounding "roast" on railroads in general, and Canadian railroads in particular. They were extortionate, their officials were incompetent and insolent, their equipment bad; altogether it was a terrible arraignment. It was a complete reversal of the policy of The Mail, which was to stimulate railroad development as essential to Canada's future.

Going to the office in wrath, Mr. Bunting sent for Mr. Farrer, his chief editorial writer, and wanted to know what he meant by passing such an article. Mr. Farrer replied that he had never seen it until it appeared in the paper, and that it must have been sent up by the city editor. The latter disavowed the article; said he had seen it in proof only, and assumed that it had been sent up by the editorial writers for reasons best known to themselves. The original copy was sent for, and the writing identified as that of the new reporter. It was obvious that he had sent it to the composing-room himself. The Englishman was told to go and see Mr. Bunting.

"What the devil do you mean by sending up an article of this kind without submitting it to anyone?" asked the chief.

The reporter was not crushed. With Cockney assurance he gave the ultimatum to Mr. Bunting as follows:

"I was assigned to cover railroad news. If I am not to have a free hand to say what I please about the railroads, I wish to be placed on another assignment."

Mr. Bunting was knocked breathless. All he could say was: "Get to Hades out of here!" And seeing the look in his eye, the reporter "got," and never came back.

Canadians Among the Great.

There is a new organization of painters and sculptors at Paris called the Societe Nouvelle. The great sculptor Rodin is its president. The membership is less than a score, and is made up of the "pick" of Europe. It contains two English names: Sargent, the celebrated portrait painter, and Morrice, James W. Morrice, who is a native of Montreal. One must be able to paint, and paint well, to get into that group. And Mr. Morrice is a Canadian! He is vice-president of the Salon d'Automne of Paris, and a member of the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts and of the International Society of Sculptors, Painters and Gravers of London, and has been referred to by Mr. Louis Vauxcelles, a competent Parisian Art Critic, as the one "Englishman" whose work has taken the place of Whistler's in the estimation of Parisian artists.

Both Walker and Morrice are now members of the Canadian Art Club and are annual exhibitors here. Other instances could be given, in sculpture as well as in painting. And it can be added without fear of serious refutation that in figure and marine painting, as well as in the various phases of landscape and genre subjects, we are making satisfactory contributions not to Canadian art merely, but also to universal art. It is just the same with most of the other arts, and any well-informed person who considers the achievements that Canadians have made in the big centres, (where opinion is made and circulated), must admit it.

Could Not Sleep.

DOCTOR SAID HEART AND NERVES WERE RESPONSIBLE.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed.

Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted and causes nightmare, bad dreams, starting in the sleep, twitching of the muscles, [illegible], etc.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all people troubled in this way. They have a soothing and calming effect on the nervous system.

Mrs. Calvin Stark, Rosemore, Ont., writes:—"About two years ago I began to be troubled with a smothering sensation at night when I would lie down. I got so bad I could not sleep in the dark, and would have to sit up and rub my limbs, they would become so numb. My doctor said my heart and nerves were responsible. I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised and got a box to try them. I took three boxes and can now lie down and sleep without the light burning and can rest well. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE SECRET AGENCY

(A TRUE STORY)

I.

"PERHAPS, in friendship, I might be led to obtruding advice upon you, if you extended some slight encouragement."

Leroy glanced rather sullenly into the face of the speaker, a face that held an unwonted hint of earnestness behind its bantering smile. But it was hard to be sullen with Boyston.

"I think in all probability I already know what you would say," he answered, after a pause. "I've heard enough in half whispers and seen enough in eye talk to form material for a guide through life," he added, bitterly.

"You mistake," said Boyston, disposing himself more comfortably in the stern of the rowboat. "I prefixed my offer by saying 'in friendship.' I regard it as entirely unlikely that any one has yet furnished you with a passage under that chapter heading."

The two naval officers were out for an excursion from Norfolk. Leroy was idling with the oars of their little snubnosed craft. Off in the Roads a sloop of war and a smaller armed schooner breasted the rising tide with stiffened hawsers.

Leroy, for all that he had instantly thrown himself on guard against the first word that showed the drift of his friend's thoughts, was conscious of a sharp curiosity to know what the other might say to him. For months he had felt the pressure of critical and adverse comment among those about him. The atmosphere in which he moved had been charged with it. Wherever he went an exasperating, sidelong leer of cynical amusement had followed him. At least, so he had come to feel.

"Well, what if I extended that slight encouragement?" he returned, with some hesitation.

"That opens up quite another field," said Boyston, with his lazily humorous smile. "If you are wondering about the results, it's quite possible you'll try to throw me out of the boat before I've finished.

"The trouble with you, Leroy," he went on more briskly, sitting up, "is that no one was ever permitted to chase you up the street with a hazel switch or throw stones at you or call you names or shake you out of yourself. You're too confoundedly touchy and self-serious and romantic. And, beyond that, you've an absolutely fiendish temper. There," he added, with a deprecatory gesture, "that's a sample, and I'm sure I beg your pardon."

Something in the whimsical transition touched the other's rudimentary sense of humor and he found the grace to laugh. "I stood that well," he said. "Suppose you slap on sail."

"And you won't fly into a typhoon or anything of that kind?"

"No. It will be amusing."

Led Him to Strike.

Boyston saw clearly enough that the mood was a passing one, foreign to the gloomy, mystical and wholly vain character of Leroy. He foresaw, too, that the license he sought could lead to no result, and his easy impulse was to draw back. But a certain reserve of dogged belief in exhortation, a heritage, perhaps, from his roundhead ancestors, led him to strike.

"Well, then, of course you know it's about——that woman," he began, awkwardly. Leroy nodded, and a shadow fell athwart his thin, pale face. "As you say, you've gained a fair idea of what people think," his companion went on rapidly, "but it isn't that I want to repeat gossip. I'm not a meddler. But I speak from my own knowledge, Leroy, when I say that she is bad, cruel, and wholly unworthy the attention of you or any other decent man.

"Hold on, now!" He held up a hand before Leroy's impetuous gesture. "I have your permission, and, by hookey, I'm going to run this out. From my own knowledge, I said. Listen. I'm older than you, six years older in the service. Will it make the thing any plainer when I say that in my first winter here I went through what you are going through now? And with the same woman! I know her, Leroy, better than you do; better, I think, than you ever can.

"She swept me stem and stern, as she has you. She was forty then. You needn't glare. This isn't hearsay you're getting now. A marvellous woman, I grant, but just about twice your age. Do you understand? Leroy, there came a time when I saw the soul within her. I say, keep away from her, Leroy, or you will see it some day, and it may be too late."

Both men were breathing hard as Boyston's crisp, hard phrased came to an abrupt halt. Leroy had dropped the oars and his hands were clenched. He unclasped one to pass it across his face with a bewildered air. Then the glitter broke in his eyes and he fixed Boyston with a savage glance. His words came low and fluttering as he rose, half crouching.

"That's all. Do you hear? That's all. Damn you! Wait till I get a grip, a grip. I'll tear the throat from you." He moved stealthily along, holding by the gunwale, fragments of speech whimpering from his lips. A quick wave of fear passed over Boyston, for in the flash he recognized something that made his interference worse than useless—the essential madness of Leroy. Even while the creeping menace approached him he had time to cry to himself that he was too late, that the woman had worked her will upon this victim.

Then he awoke swiftly to action and Leroy stopped short, staring into the levelled muzzle of a short barrelled pistol. The threat of death behind the cold, round eye of the weapon reached the disordered brain and Leroy sank back on his thwart. The whirling fever of wrath ebbed and he sat listless, looking out over the stretch of water to the war vessels at anchor in the Roads. Boyston, suddenly embarrassed, lowered his pistol and watched the other curiously.

"PRESENT!" SHOUTED BAINBRIDGE SHARPLY.

Minutes passed without a word between them. Then Boyston broke the silence in a matter of fact tone.

"I suppose we might as well return now."

"Yes," said Leroy, listlessly, and he picked up the oars once more. It was a long and unpleasant journey. After landing the men separated without salutations. Leroy hurried along a street that led to the southern outskirts of the town.

He found that she was at home, and presently she came down the stairs and greeted him, taking both his hands in hers with the quick soft pressure that had been his welcome upon recent visits. If he had had a question ready it fled at the touch. He could but hold her and gaze upon her. Truly, she was a marvellous woman, tall, regal, splendid, with a warmth of coloring and perfection of form that brought to his mind some rich, smooth, subtly scented fruit of the tropics. Another might have said that her maturity was too pronounced, might have thought her too exotically vital, but Leroy, fascinated, possessed by her beauty, was conscious only that to him she was the woman.

They sat and talked, and after a time the young man thought of the happening of the day and the reason for his seeking her out immediately. He spoke of it timidly, mentioning Boyston and intimating that there had been a quarrel over words of his.

"Another of them," she answered, nodding. "Paul, do you think that I have lived here so long without making enemies? It has been my misfortune, and still, in a way, my happiness, that there have been few I could call my friends." The glance that accompanied her speech thrilled him. The theatrical and studied effectiveness of her manner seemed sublime nobility in his eyes. She rose and stood above him. "I know this man Boyston, and others. You will find many of them here in Norfolk, in the harsh, scandal loving circles of the navy, who take no shame to attack a woman, to drive sharp shafts of hate and lying ridicule against her name."

Her Opportunity.

She was pacing the floor with magnificent stride, one hand held hard upon the other. "What way have I for defence? How can I strike back? I had been waiting for this, that they should whisper vile things to you, Paul. And I had promised myself that when the time came I would tell you the story of it all. I have never told it yet. I have waited for the time when I felt that I had made a friend."

Her passion fired him and he leaned toward her eagerly. She passed and repassed before him, head erect, eyes flashing, with all her magnetism aroused and all her force exerted for the part she was to play. But there was truth in her words. She had waited for this moment—fifteen years. She had winnowed man after man, and all had failed her, all but Paul Leroy. Him she was determined she must win. The terrible intensity of purpose, the concentrated, schooled, intelligent will that had but gathered strength through disappointments, taught her every word, every inflection and every movement. She led him deftly, with master hand, for she had lived, had kept her youth, had battened and thrived and grown desirable in the hope of one consummation—the sating of her revenge. She stopped and faced him at last.

"I have never told this to any living person," she began, "and perhaps that fact may add solemnity to what I am about to say. For me, God knows, it is solemn enough, as you shall hear. Years ago, so long is it now that I am afraid to remember, I met a man. I was a young girl, he a dashing, handsome officer. I gave him my love, and he returned it. We were to have been married."

She paused, apparently overcome with emotion, and he writhed in his chair. She resumed in a tense voice. "Suddenly there came an order sending him to a distant port. He comforted me and promised me that we should have the ceremony on the day he sailed. Paul Leroy, the last sight I had of that man—the last, I say—was the day he made me that promise. He did not come again. I learned that he had gone to his vessel and had left the country."

She sank into a chair and sobs shook her. He waited, with tingling nerves that lay raw beneath the lash of her words. "I hoped, I waited, I prayed, Paul, and after a long time he came back. But he did not come to me. He sent me no message. He ignored me. I continued to live in Norfolk. I had no refuge from my shame. I tried to live it out and down. But the truth was known and I was marked. Since that time my name has been one to bandy with, a thing to fit in with vile phrases. That man is still alive, honored, respected, influential. They are banded with him and against me. He has encouraged them. To save his own honor he has had them pour the evilest inventions upon me, slander, innuendo, open insult. There is the basis of all you have heard and much that you have not.

"What do you say to my story, Paul Leroy?" she asked in conclusion, turning the full power of herself upon him. The man was crouched in his seat. There were strange sounds in his throat. His face was white and drawn. For the second time that day the glitter broke in his eyes and his hand passed restlessly across his face.

"The name," he murmured. "Give me the name. Who is the man? Tell me, the name." She had won. She caught him by the arm, bringing her hot, flushed face close to his, breathing her warm breath against his cheek. His hands were clenched upon the arm of the chair. "The name," he repeated.

"Stephen Decatur," she whispered.

II.

"BUT one opinion exists with all the naval officers here, that L—— is the sole instigator of the renewal of the correspondence and will prevent any kind of an adjustment if he can do so."

Decatur lowered the letter he was reading and looked thoughtfully into the fire. It was early in January, 1820. For more than a year he had been aware of an increasingly malign influence exerted upon his life, working silently, unswervingly, implacably. The confidential report written by a close friend at Norfolk told him nothing of which he had not already convinced himself.

He turned to Commodore Bainbridge, whose indulgence he had craved that he might peruse the report.

"Have you ever been able to think of a reasonable excuse for a meeting between Barron and myself?" he asked.

Bainbridge, taken aback by the sudden question, stared in surprise. "Why, I thought you had arranged all that, Stephen."

"He has renewed his correspondence these three months," answered Decatur, simply.

"Certainly there is no shadow of necessity for such an affair," spluttered Bainbridge, in whom fears long set at rest were suddenly revived. "The man must be mad. You have dealt most patiently with him, Stephen. You have given him every honorable explanation while preserving your own reserve. It was definitely understood that all difficulty had been smoothed between you."

"So it was," said Decatur, "but he conceives that I have repeated my offences. Bainbridge, it is not Barron who has moved in this matter. He is a weak, well meaning soul, though hot tempered. But I have much regard for him and I feel assured that his independent judgment would not encourage such a bounding course as he has pursued. He is inspired, egged on, and I have the confirmation of it here in this letter."

"By whom is he egged on?" asked Bainbridge, mystified.

"I will put no name to it," said the other. "But there is a strange incident of my early life which, rightly or wrongly, I have always associated with these frenzies of Barron's. Call it instinct if you like. I have never tried to verify it, nor do I find it consistent with honor to do so now.

"It was in 1800, a short time before my marriage. I met a young woman at the home of a friend, and for some weeks saw her from time to time. It is not seemly, nor is it necessary, that I should go into unpleasant details of our acquaintance. Enough that I have never had to reproach myself in any degree for my share in it. The incident was brought to an abrupt termination by a violent misunderstanding of my intentions and motives on the part of the woman. Hers was an ill balanced, vengeful and uneven nature, with unexpected and shadowy depths.

Urged to a Challenge.

"I thought that the matter was over, indeed, I had almost forgotten it, when, some six years later, I was almost drawn into a meeting with a man with whom I had no possible grievance. It was sharply brought to my notice afterward that the man concerned had been deliberately urged to challenge me by this same woman. The reasons for her persistent malignancy lie in her character, which I cannot fathom. But, Bainbridge, I feel with absolute certainty that she is in some way the instigator of this latest trouble."

"But does the letter mention her?"

"On the contrary, the secret agency is referred to as a man and is given an initial as designation. But that does not change my conviction. She could not well carry on her plan in person. She has some go-between. I do not know him nor do I care to search him out. The result of the whole affair is that Barron will not rest satisfied until I meet him. So be it. If he continues to force me I must, in justice to myself, give him his will. I regret it, Bainbridge, deeply."

Bainbridge, more uneasy than he cared to show, protested that Decatur's idea was fanciful and tried to shake him from it with a bluff laugh. But the great sea fighter only smiled calmly and held to his position.

"Why, of all men, should your termagant Borgia pick old Barron. He's no marksman. If I mistake not he can scarce see across the room. One would as soon choose a blind and ancient gray horse for a duellist as he," insisted Bainbridge.

"What matters that" said Decatur. "He is still sturdy, can still pull a trigger. A lucky shot, a favoring chance may speed his bullet. And he is the only man now alive with whom I have ever had a difficulty. Barron is as good as another for her purpose."

Then his friend, arguing hard against the quiet fatalism of Decatur's attitude, went over the whole affair with Barron from its beginning, seeking to show that the latter lacked basis for a quarrel. His account covered thirteen years, for so long had the situation been developing.

In late June, 1807, the United States war ship Chesapeake set sail from Norfolk for the Mediterranean under command of Commander Barron. As she weighed anchor from Hampton Roads the Leopard, fifty guns, one of the British fleet then lying in Lynhaven Bay, preceded her to sea. Outside the Chesapeake was hailed and a letter sent aboard. The letter proved to be an order from the British vice admiral to search the Chesapeake for deserters from the British navy.

Barron refused to allow such a search and the Leopard opened fire. The Chesapeake, newly from the shipyards, was not in full preparation for combat, and Barron struck her colors. She was boarded, the crew was mustered and four of them were taken as alleged British deserters. When news of the outrage became public there was an outbreak of fierce indignation and a court of inquiry was appointed. Decatur served on this court against his will. He informed Barron's counsel that he had already formed an unfavorable opinion, but no protest was entered against him.

The finding was against Barron and he was suspended from command in the navy for five years. He engaged in the merchant service and at the end of his suspension the War of 1812 was in progress. He was very slow in reporting for duty and did not return to the United States until 1818. When, after this delinquency, he sought restoration to the service he was opposed by all the navy commissioners, and particularly by Decatur.

Barron had believed that Decatur was moved by personal enmity from the first. He was confirmed in this view by his later disappointment. He protested rather sharply. Decatur answered in a series of mild, sane, reasonable letters, in which he gave in detail his reasons for opposing Barron. He based them upon feelings of public duty alone and distinctly disavowed any hostility. After considerable correspondence Barron apparently was satisfied.

This was the story that Bainbridge went over in Decatur's Washington house that night, and he conclusively proved, to his own satisfaction, that the renewal of the correspondence could have no more serious result than the first wordy interchange. Decatur did not differ with him further and his old friend had quite argued himself into an easy state of mind again before he took leave.

On January 16, 1820, Commodore Barron wrote Decatur that whenever the latter would consent to meet him he was at liberty to consider the communication as a challenge. Decatur replied, naming Commodore Bainbridge as the one fully authorized to act for him. On March 8 Captain Jesse D. Elliott, representing Barron, conferred with Bainbridge on board the war vessel Columbus, which then lay in the Potomac. The terms agreed upon were as follows:—

"It is agreed by the undersigned, as friends of Commodore Decatur and Commodore Barron, that the meeting which is to take place between them shall take place at nine A. M. on the 22d instant at Bladensburg, near the District of Columbia, and that the weapons shall be pistols; the distance, eight paces or yards; that, previously to firing, the parties shall be required to present, and shall not fire before the word 'one' is given, nor after the word 'three;' that the words 'one, two, three' shall be given by Commodore Bainbridge."

Heard with Despair.

On his way to visit his principal Bainbridge met friends of Decatur, who eagerly inquired as to the conditions of the agreement. When he told them of the distance named they were in despair. They reminded him that a short distance was all in the favor of the older man and that Decatur, as the challenged party, had the clear right to the advantage of a greater space. This view had escaped Bainbridge, who hastened to explain his mistake to Decatur. The latter had deliberately refrained from suggesting any such advantage to his second and assured him that he was satisfied. His one comment was:—

"Bainbridge, do you know that this is the fourteenth anniversary of my wedding day?" Bainbridge stoutly informed him that it was a good omen, but Decatur shook his head.

When others remonstrated with him concerning the terms he said:—"It is too late to make objections. If other terms had been fixed it was my determination not to return his fire. Now all I can do is to wound him in a part not vital."

"But you may pay your life for that," said one.

"I cannot help it," replied Decatur. "I would rather lose my own life than take that of a fellow creature against whom I have no ill will."

It was with such sentiments and such intention that Decatur drove with a few friends to the field at Bladensburg which was the scene of so many deadly conflicts. The opposing party was awaiting them. The ground sloped a little, and Commodore Barron, who won the choice of stands, chose the lower end as most favorable to hitting his adversary in a vital spot. After the weapons had been loaded and they were in position Bainbridge repeated the instructions and warned them that he would count quickly.

"Have you any objection to saying them now before you intend to give them?" asked Barron. Bainbridge complied with the request.

The two men, ready for combat, were gallant and dignified. Neither showed the least concern or nervousness. They eyed each other calmly for a moment.

"I hope, sir," said Barron, addressing his opponent in a steady voice, "that if we meet in another world we shall be better friends than we have been in this."

"I have never been your enemy, sir," returned Decatur calmly. As afterward pointed out, there was an opening for a reconciliation here, but neither second made the necessary suggestion.

The spectators stood aside.

"Present!" shouted Bainbridge sharply.

Both duellists brought their weapons to a level and took careful aim.

"One, two"—— began Bainbridge rapidly.

At the second count both men fired so exactly together that but one report was heard. Almost instantly, as if a giant hand had seized him from below, Barron sank to the ground. Decatur stood a moment, gazing at his adversary through the drifting smoke wreath. Then he pressed a hand to his right side and collapsed.

"I think I am mortally wounded," he said as his second rushed to him. "I wish that I might have fallen in defence of my country."

It was found that the ball had passed through his abdomen. Barron was wounded in the thigh, as Decatur had planned. Decatur was raised and supported a short distance, but could not endure the pain. In their preoccupation his attendants had not observed the direction they took, and when the naval hero sank again he was lying almost by the side of Barron. Barron believed, as did his seconds, that he also would die. During the excitement that followed the two men were left by themselves within a few feet of each other. They carried on a conversation as they lay there, both expecting death. What they said has never been known, but their tones were friendly. It is likely that in that moment the matter of the "secret agency" was explained and forgiven.

Decatur died at half-past ten o'clock that night after intense suffering. Barron recovered.

* * * * * * *

In the profound grief that swept the country at the death of its most popular and successful naval commander lesser events received little attention. Few persons took any interest in the fact that a week later Paul Leroy, a young officer, committed suicide at Norfolk and that a woman rather unfavorably known in that town was removed to an insane asylum.

More bread and Better bread

—And the Reason for it

A STRONG FLOUR can only be made from strong wheat. Manitoba hard wheat is acknowledged the strongest in the world—and that is the kind used for Purity Flour.

But that's not all. Every grain of this wheat contains both high-grade and low-grade properties. In separating the high-grade parts from the low-grade the Western Canada Flour Mills put the hard wheat through a process so exacting that not a single low-grade part has the remotest chance of getting in with the high-grade.

Of course this special process is more expensive to operate but it means a lot to Purity flour users—that's why we use it.

It means that Purity Flour is made entirely of the highest-grade flour parts of the strongest wheat in the world.

It means a high-class, strong flour and therefore yields "more bread and better bread."

Purity may cost a little more than some flours, but results prove it the cheapest and most economical after all.

THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER Limited

ATTEND THE DAIRY MEETINGS

From Farm and Dairy.

It is difficult to understand just why there is not more interest taken in the district dairy meetings that are being held throughout Ontario under the auspices of the Eastern and Western Ontario Dairymen's Associations. The addresses and discussions bear directly on the needs of the localities in which they are held. The annual conventions of these associations are not accessible to all who might wish to attend or to profit directly from their proceedings. The branch or district meetings are so arranged that at least one of them will be held in close proximity to each dairy section that all may have the privilege of attending. Instructors for the district and leading authorities of repute address these meetings.

Since they are so well appointed from the standpoint of speakers, it is too bad that these meetings are not more largely attended. At the Peterboro district meeting, as well as at Lindsay, barely a handful of men availed themselves of the opportunity of attending and, were it not that the proceedings are more or less fully reported in the press, it would be a question whether or not it were advisable to go to the expense and trouble connected with them. At Peterboro even the salesmen, leaders in their respective communities, and who attended the cheese board in the morning, failed to remain for the meeting designed especially for them. Patrons should reprove these men for not taking advantage of the instruction given and, incidentally, reproach themselves for not having turned out. It is to be hoped that the remaining meetings of the series will receive the support that is their due.

It may be that the meetings are held too early in the season. They probably would be better attended if held at smaller places. Those responsible should give this matter consideration before another year and, if possible, devise some means of getting a larger attendance.

INSTRUCTION WORK IN PETERBORO' SECTION, 1909

From Farm and Dairy.

R. W. Ward, Dairy Instructor

It is gratifying to me to look back over my 11 years' work in the Peterborough section as dairy instructor and sanitary inspector and be able to note the change and improvements that have been made. Improvements have been more marked for the last few years under our new laws and system of instruction. A number of factors have contributed to these improvements, but one I wish to make special mention of is those meetings held in connection with the factory business meetings at the close of the season. I am sure we all appreciate the assistance that we have had from the Governments both at Toronto and Ottawa.

I have found the officers, patrons, owners and makers, almost without exception, ready to co-operate with me in bringing about the necessary improvements, which has made the work more pleasant for me, and the success of it greater, more permanent and lasting. The dairymen of Peterborough section I know must be well pleased with the results of the past season's operations. They have had good demand for their product at a very uniform good price, coupled with a good supply of milk up to the closing day of the season.

BETTER CONDITIONS PREVAILING

I have had under my charge this season 36 cheese factories and one creamery and am very pleased to be able to state as a whole that the milk has reached the factories this season in better condition than ever before.

RYRIE BROS., Limited

TORONTO

I think it is up to us as instructors and makers to sit up and do some hard thinking, for the thought has been forced to my mind for the last two seasons, that the patrons as a whole were making more improvements than we were as a whole. We cannot sit down and rest on past laurels won. The strainer on the vat at the factory is a good indication of the general condition of the milk. The less sediment, dirt and hard cream we find on it, the better the results in the manufacture. The old rusty cans are nearly all discarded and the very few that are left should be. Do not use rusty tinware of any kind in storing or handling milk. To every patron of every cheese factory and creamery let me say, make provision for cooling, and the proper storing of milk and cream for the season of 1910.

COOL CURING ROOMS

I would say to the patrons of every cheese factory, meet the owners of them on the question of expense, and have cool-curing rooms installed. The value of holding cheese at a cool temperature has been so well proven that I need say no more.

The aim of the producer should be to produce a first-class article at the least cost possible. I think it was H. H. Dean, B.S.A., who said "Breed, Feed and Weed." There is probably more in this than we see at first glance. If good cows, liberally fed, and properly cared for, do not show right performance at the pail then weed them out. I have noted and been pleased to see more corn growing this year than usual. With silos and alfalfa hay the cost of feed should be materially lessened. For weeding, there is nothing better than weighing and testing the individual cow; in fact it is the only thing, so I would advise every cow owner to make use of the cow testing associations that have been placed within the reach of all.

EQUIPMENT OF FACTORIES

Your cheese factories on the whole are very well equipped and managed but there should be a determined effort made to exclude the flies. There is more trouble in the surroundings at the whey tanks than from any other cause. Let me suggest that the tanks be kept clean and cement platforms on which to load the whey be installed and have these connected with underground drains.

Every cheese factory, to my mind, should be equipped with alkali test, curd or fermentation test, lactometer, and Babcock test, and all milk should be paid for by the butter fat test. In my group of 36 factories, there are 14 that pay by butter fat test.

The make and the quality of the cheese on the whole for the season has been very good. Probably the greatest mistake made in the manufacture was in the fore part of the season. The curd was not allowed to form sufficiently in the whey resulting in dim color, short sandy texture, weak body and they were not as close as they should be. I believe 90 per cent. of the faults in manufacture would be traceable to this one source. We are liable to run into these conditions every year under certain conditions of weather and feed, but this year it seemed to be more pronounced than usual.

Let me say to makers, keep close watch of the curd while it is in the whey, and if properly firmed when you have right amount of acid for removal, the quality of your cheese will be pretty well assured.

STARTERS ADVOCATED

I cannot close this paper without a word on the starter question. I would like to see, and think that every maker should attend a dairy school, and if they did I do not think ing a pasteurised starter prepared from a pure culture and then have this used intelligently and in moderation. I have a few makers, but am pleased to tell you that they are very few, that are doing their patrons serious harm by the too free use of sour milk.

I hope and trust that there will be greater effort put forth by all next season than ever before, for the uplifting and placing of this great industry, dairying, on sure and right footing where it rightfully belongs on account of its importance in the agricultural industry of this country.

THE HEART A GREAT WORKER

What a wonder is the heart! Day and night it works away pumping tons of blood through the body and never tires or wears out so long as it is supplied with rich, red blood, such as is formed by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. While sending supplies of nutrition to other parts of the body the heart renews and rebuilds its own wasted cells and so retains health and strength.

The "Sovereign" Hot Water Boiler

Made by the

TAYLOR-FORBES Company, Limited, GUELPH, ONT.

There are five separate boiler sections in the Sovereign hot water furnace, each section being a little boiler in itself, and each contributing its share of heat to the radiating system. The first little boiler, the one directly over the fire, is larger than the other boiler sections above it. It holds one-third more water, so that a hot fire quickens circulation and increases radiation without ever causing the water to boil. The unit principle of construction and the larger first section are exclusive features with the "Sovereign."

WHEN DAVID CAME.

Patty Said She Would Take Him Herself, and She Did.

By HARRIET G. CANFIELD.

Elmdale was the scene of joyful preparation, for Mr. and Mrs. Esra Hammond were soon to celebrate their golden wedding. From far and near their children and grandchildren were coming to the old country home under the great elms.

All of the neighbors were interested in the coming event, and a number of them were pledged "to help out on chairs and china." Patience Saybin, familiarly known as Patty, and her brother lived only a mile from Elmdale, but they had not been asked to contribute, and Patty felt slighted.

"I've offered to lend them everything on the place, even you, John," she said to her brother, "but Mrs. Hammond says they have all the arrangements made. I did want a finger in the pie."

John laughed. "Never mind, little girl," he said consolingly. "Mr. Hammond says they may ask us to 'sleep' one or two if the old house won't hold them all."

The day before the celebration Mrs. Hammond drove over in the morning to see Patty. "I thought we could slow 'em all away," she said, with a smile, "but I was thinking Mary had four children 'stead of five. I don't see how I came to forget little David when I counted noses. I've been wondering, dear, if you'd let him sleep here—either him or one of the others?"

"Oh, yes!" Patty cried delightedly. "I should love to, Mrs. Hammond."

The old lady smiled. "I brought his picture along," she said, "so you could see what a dear little fellow he is."

Patty bent eagerly over the photograph. A pleasant little face smiled at her from the cardboard—the round, dimpled face of a five-year-old. "He's a perfect cherub!" she cried.

"I'm expecting most of my children this evening, and if his folks come I'll send him over before bedtime."

The dear old lady forgot to tell Patty that the picture of David was taken twenty-three years before.

All that day Patty was very busy preparing "little David's room." An old high chair and trundle bed were brought down from the attic and dusted. Lizzie, the good natured girl in the kitchen, made some little round cakes, and Patty frosted them and put a pink "D" on the top of two or three. When evening came everything was in readiness for the expected guest. The tin waiter and tiny knife, fork and plate were on the dining room table, and the little rocker held out its welcoming arms in the sitting room. An old rocking horse that had been John's long ago waited patiently for its gallant rider, and a little woolly dog stood on three legs with an air of expectation.

The day had been a long one to Patty. At 7 o'clock she was rearranging the furniture in little David's room when the doorbell rang. She went to the head of the stairs and called to Lizzie.

"Hurry, Lizzie!" she cried. "They've brought little David over. Take him into the sitting room and amuse him. I'll be down in a few minutes." She ditted back to her work and did not hear Lizzie's exclamation of astonishment when she opened the door and saw a big, broad shouldered man standing there. Probably he had overheard Patty's instructions to the girl, for his eyes were full of laughter, though he said soberly enough: "Good evening. I am David Terrell. Miss Saybin was expecting me, I believe?"

"Y-y-yes, sir," Lizzie stammered, "but she wasn't expectin' quite"— She paused in embarrassment.

"Quite as much of me?" he asked laughingly.

Lizzie giggled and led the way to the sitting room. The little chair held out its welcoming arms in vain to this guest. David Terrell's eyes rested at once upon the rocking horse and woolly dog, and his expression momentarily grew more cheerful.

"Were these—ahem—these preparations made in my honor?" he asked Lizzie. But before the girl could answer a sweet voice came from the upper landing, "Are you amusing him, Lizzie?" Lizzie giggled hysterically.

"Tell her you are," the young man whispered.

"Show him the picture books," the voice went on, "and if the little fellow is tired take him up in your lap."

Lizzie stepped into the lower hall and turned her laughing face up to her mistress. "Please, ma'am, I can't," she said. "I'd hate to try."

"I'm ashamed of you!" the indignant reply came. "I'll come right down and take him myself."

Lizzie fled to the kitchen, and there was the quick click of heels on the stairs. Then David Terrell saw a pretty picture framed in the wide doorway. Miss Patty stood there, with surprise and disappointment plainly written on her expressive face.

"Where—where is"— she began in a bewildered way.

David came forward. "I don't know where he is," he said. "If I did I'd get him for you, Miss Saybin."

"You?" she asked.

"Yes; I'm little David's successor. Will you forgive me for growing older and larger, Miss Saybin?"

For a moment the sensitive mouth quivered. She had anticipated so much. Then she held out her hand and said, with a smile, "I suppose you can't help it, but you don't look much like your picture."

"Oh, that's it! Grandmother showed you that small boy photo, did she?"

Patty nodded and smiled again. After all, this David had pleasant eyes, quite like the little fellow's. "I am glad that you came," she said hospitably. "My brother and I are often lonely, and John will be delighted to entertain some one of his own age. I hear him coming now." And she rose and went to the door to meet him. "John," David heard her say, "Mr. Terrell is here."

"Mr. Terrell?" the answer came. "And who is he, Patty?"

"Hush! He'll hear us. It is little David. Don't laugh so loud, John!" She slipped her hand into his and led him to the sitting room, and in a few minutes the three young people were on the short road to friendship.

Late in the evening they adjourned to the dining room for a little lunch. Patty had forgotten the high chair and its accompaniments, and it was with a feeling of dismay that she saw their visitor's eyes traveling in that direction.

"Are these things for my use?" he asked laughingly.

"What things?" Patty said innocently.

"This high chair, tin tray, and so on."

"Oh," she said, with a guilty glance at John, "those belong to my brother."

John stared at her in amazement. His face grew crimson with suppressed mirth when Mr. Terrell said, "How old is your little brother?"

"Twenty-seven," Patty answered demurely, and John exploded with laughter. "No good pretending, Patty," he cried. "Better show him all of my old possessions, including the trundle bed, but we'll not ask him to occupy it."

The morning of the golden wedding dawned clear and bright. It was a day filled with happiness for all who gathered at the old home. At 10 that night David Terrell gave John and Patty full account of "the gathering of the clans," as he called it. In conclusion he said, "I shall have to ask you to keep us another night, but after that there will be room for me at Elmdale."

"I thought you said you must go tomorrow," John exclaimed.

"Yes; that's so, but since then" he glanced quickly at Patty—"I've made other arrangements. My brother and I are partners, and Jim is writing that I should have my summer vacation now."

"Oh," Patty cried, "I'm so glad. Aren't you, John?"

"Yes," he said heartily, but this sudden change of plans made him suspicious.

David made good use of those ten weeks. His grandmother laughingly accused him of spending half of his vacation with the Saybins.

The last day came, and David walked over for a farewell visit. He found Patty alone on the vine shaded porch. John was away on business, she explained. "Never mind," David said cheerfully, "it is you I wish to see." Her clear eyes were raised to his inquiringly.

"Will you keep your word," he said gently, "and take me?"

"My word?" she murmured wonderingly.

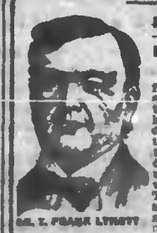
"Yes. Before I saw you I heard you tell Lizzie that you were coming downstairs and you would take me yourself." There was a mischievous light in his eyes now.

Patty's face flushed. "You know I didn't mean"— she began.

He interrupted her anxiously. "But you will take me, dear, on trial for the sake of little David?"

She smiled into the honest eyes, so like those of the child in the picture. "Yes," she said, "for the sake of little David's successor."

I CURED THEM FREE



DR. T. FRASER LIVETT

Let Me Cure You —I Will Send You Free Treatment.

I have a standing offer in this paper to send a free treatment to any sufferer from kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism who will send me their name and address. If you need it I urge you to take advantage of the offer. These diseases are my specialty. I have been successful with old and young. Many bed-wetting children owe their present good health to me: many old people who had enlarged prostate and had to get up as many as ten times a night are now cured of too frequent desire to urinate; many men and women no longer suffer from pain in the back, terrible rheumatism, etc., since taking my remedies.

SEND FOR MY FREE TREATMENT

If you suffer from any form of kidney or bladder trouble or rheumatism, no matter how old you are or how long and severe you have had it, write me today describing your condition and let me send you a free treatment to show you I can cure you in your own home. I want to show you and your neighbor that I can and do cure these diseases. Address DR. T. FRASER LIVETT, M.-CI. Scientific Bldg., Chicago.

A Woman Who Was Sure.

When the artist came upon the procession of snowy geese, waddling along in a green path of their own selection and spluttering and hissing like damp fireworks, she first admired, then followed them to their home with Mary, the best goosewoman on Dartmoor, with a result which the author of "Furze the Cruel" relates and which is best quoted in Mary's own words to a neighbor:

"There was a lady down along, a dafty lady what painted, and her come to Peter one day, and her says:

"'I want they goosies to paint.'

"Well, us wouldn't have it. Us thought her wanted to paint 'em, one of 'em red, 'nother green, likely, 'nother yellow, maybe, and it might be bad for their stomachs. But us found her wanted to put 'em on a picture. Her had got a mazed notion about the resurrection, wi' angels flapping over, and her wanted my goosies for angels.

"Peter says he didn't know goosies were like angels. Knows a lot, Peter do. Us couldn't make she out. The lady said 'twas just the wings she wanted. Her said angels ha' got goosies' wings, and us couldn't say 'em hasn't, 'cause us ain't seed any. Her knew all about it.

"Peter drave the goosies down," concluded Mary, "and her painted 'em for angels sure nuff. Us never knew angels has goosies' wings, but the lady knew. Her was sure on't."

A New Insulator.

A substitute for gutta percha, ebonite, celluloid, amber and other insulators has been invented by Dr. Bakeland, president of the American Electro-chemical society, from whom it takes the name "bakelite." It is produced through the condensation of formaldehyde and phenol. It is said to be an electric insulator of the first rank, insoluble in all ordinary dissolvents and not melting at high temperatures. In chemical constitution it closely resembles Japanese lacquer, the composition of which has always been more or less of a mystery.

Too Much Prosperity.

Here is a story of the meeting of two farmers recently. One asked the other how crops were in his neighborhood.

"Well, crops are pretty good—in fact, the best I've ever seen at this season—but I'll tell you what's a fact, old man—if crops keep on at this rate the land is going to be capped so we won't make a thing for five year to come."—Atlanta Constitution.

A Viceroy's Plain Living.

In Miss Juliet Bredon's book about her uncle, Sir Robert Hart, the "grand old man of China," for many years in charge of the imperial customs service, is the following story:

"One of the most influential of Sir Robert's Chinese friends was the great Li Hung Chang. The diplomat liked Li's household because of the simplicity he found there—no wearisome courses at dinner, but fish and perhaps a dish of chicken with rice. Incautiously, as it turned out, he praised this frugality to his own Chinese servant, for the remark reached Li's ears in a distorted form. Next time Sir Robert went there he had to face a grand ceremonial banquet.

"'You shall not have the chance to go away again and say that you have been fed like a cooly in my house,' said the viceroy proudly at the end of the banquet.

"'Nevertheless the very simplicity of your hospitality was what I most appreciated,' Sir Robert replied. 'But if you believe that I could have made any such remark and if you persist in altering the style of my reception I shall not come to lunch with you again.'"

The Room Was Full.

Rev. Daniel Isaacs once alighted at an inn to stay the night. On asking for a bed he was told he could not have one, as there was to be a ball that evening and all the beds were engaged.

"At what time does the ball break up?" asked Mr. Isaacs.

"About 3 in the morning, sir."

"Well, then, can I have a bed until that time?"

"Yes, certainly, but if the bed is asked for you will have to remove."

"Very well," replied Mr. Isaacs, and away he went to get between the sheets.

About 3 in the morning he was awakened by loud knocking at his chamber door.

"What do you want?" he asked.

"How many are there of you in there?" inquired a voice.

"There's me and Daniel and Mr. Isaacs and an old Methodist preacher," was the reply.

"Then there's plenty of you." And the speaker passed on, leaving Mr. Isaacs to enjoy his bed.

Belated Logic.

"Put yourself in my place, young man. Would you want your only daughter to marry a penniless youth?"

"Put yourself in my place, sir. Would you want to remain a penniless youth when there are rich men's daughters to marry?"

"You confess, then, that you marry my child simply for her father's wealth?"

"And you confess that you withhold her from me simply because of my poverty?"

"What other reason do I need?"

"What other reason could influence you?"

"This talk is quite useless."

"Quite."

"We have nothing to gain by it."

"Absolutely nothing."

"You take it philosophically."

"Why shouldn't I? Your daughter and I were married quietly a month ago."

"Great Scott!"—Puck.

Insanity in London.

Costermongers and engineers, one notes, rival each other in heading the list of maniacs provided by the commissioners in lunacy. If you don't want to be mad, be a clergyman. You will have about a one to a thousand chance of not dying in a lunatic asylum. It is a bit risky to be a literary or scientific person, but if you put your science into practice and become an engineer your prospect of lunacy jumps to the top, with only costermongers as your real rivals. Why this is is a mystery. It can't be intellect or hurry. Costermongers do not hurry, and they are not noticeably intellectual—London Chronicle.

Caverns In Australia.

Near the township of Melrose, South Australia, investigations have shown the probability of vast caverns existing in the limestone formation. The great extent of the formation, its great depth, and its height above sea level, the fact that it supplies large quantities of water, the proved great depth of an existing perpendicular opening, and the evidence that there is a moving current of air, though no other opening exists in the vicinity—all point to the likelihood of some curious caves being found if the locality is explored.

Constipation • Bad Breath Headache

When the bowels are constipated and you have stomach trouble and headache, try Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are so mild you can scarcely feel their action, yet so effective that the entire secretory apparatus is stimulated to healthy action.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS CURE QUICKLY

Thus writes Mrs. D. P. Fowler, from Yarmouth: "I used to feel drowsy and heavy, my color was shallow, and there was usually a bad taste in my mouth. I had vague pains all through my limbs, and an annoying headache as well.

"After one dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills there was a sudden change. I felt better, my appetite increased, and that exhaustion and depression gradually left me. Life seemed brighter and happier after I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills, so I strongly recommend such a good medicine."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills you certainly need; then why not get them now, and enjoy the abundant good health they are sure to bring you? Price, 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00. At all dealers.

According to "Advertising Arithmetic"

There are Stores in this City that would be Greater Stores---Hustling, Bustling Successes

If They Were Only Advertised Just Twice as Much As They Are Now.

If any one of these Stores were to begin at once to Double its Advertising, or to use the Newspapers as a Medium for Advertising their goods, it would more rapidly increase their business than they ever dream of of Space in a live Newspaper is worth more than TWICE as much as ONE COLUMN in Store Advertising.

England's Oldest Inn Is Well Preserved And Still In Use

Has Even Secret Chamber in Which Oliver Cromwell Hid From Charles II.—At Norton St. Philip, Near Midford, This Historic Hostelry is Situated.

A FEW RECOLLECTIONS

Norton St. Philip is a comely village equidistant about three miles from Midford on the Somerset and Dorset Railway and Freshford, Great Western Railway. It stands on high ground near the crossing of the roads form Frome to Bath and from Radstock to Trowbridge. In mediaeval days Norton was the scene of a considerable cloth fair, the tolls of which were the perquisites of the Prior of Hinton. At a later date it was the scene of a sharp skirmish between the Duke of Monmouth's forces and a body of regulars under the Duke of Grafton.

The George Inn, Norton St. Philip claims to be the oldest licensed house in England. It is a fine old half timbered building with a small bay window in front and an octagonal projecting staircase and gallery at the back, and is well worthy of inspection within and without.

The "George" has had many visitors of distinction. An old account states that it was originally a sort of shooting box belonging to Prince Arthur, son of Henry VII. On the first story is an ancient chamber, "in which Oliver Cromwell is said to have slept a night when pursued by Charles II. The door of this room has a very antique lock and bolt. The top storey of all is a great long hall-like apartment, which "500 years ago was used as a market for cloth and wool, the merchants appropriating it as an 'Exchange' at the fair time, this town holding the most important cloth fair in the West of England." At the end of this was a false wall, between which and the real wall of the building was a space of about 10 feet.; this was a secret chamber, and was used as a hiding place. It extended to the ground floor. In a recess a wooden wheel was fixed in olden days and by a rope food was lowered to the unfortunate person in hiding; by the same means he was lowered to his temporary home. In this the fugitive Prince Charles is said to have secreted himself for a time.

Mr. John Hissey, in his exceedingly interesting book "Through Ten English Counties" writes: "Driving on, in time we came to a long uphill stretch; at the top of this asudden dip landed us all unexpectedly in one of the quaintest old world villages imaginable, built centuries long ago, and apparently little changed since. Then our eyes were gladdened by a vision that for the moment made us almost think that we were dreaming. There before us stood, not a poetic imagining, but a delightful reality in the shape of an ancient hostelry—a veritable picture in stone and timber, that we never expected to find out of a picture or a Harrison Ainsworth's novel. But there it stood, an enchanting reality, with the bloom of ages upon it. A thrill of delightful surprise went through us as we gazed upon that, and fortunately little altered since, at least externally, and not very much internally. In itself it was worth the whole journey to see, or a dozen such journeys for that matter. And how shall I describe it? Here I feel that pen and pencil, both alas! must fail me. . . . The claims of hunger got the better of us and we sought the interior of our inn, when we found a modest repast ready for us in a genuine antique fifteenth century chamber, lighted by a picturesque mullioned window, which verily seemed to enclose an atmosphere of the past . . . . . The ground storey is of stone and somewhat ecclesiastical in the detail of the mullioned windows; the great Gothic doorway, too, suggests rather the entrance to a church than an inn. There is a tradition that the building was originally erected by the Prior of Hinton Abbey, which, if true, may account for the style of this lower part; but the curious thing is that above this are two stories of half timber, projecting one above the other. It would be interesting to know how it was that this peculiar transition from a stone to half timber came about. It is certainly one of the quaintest—I will not say the most harmonious in architecture—of old inns that we have ever set our eyes upon; and we have seen, at different times, during our many drives about England from one end to the other, a goodly number of quaint and picturesque past-time hostelries."

"Then we were taken down and shown the stone-groined cellars, which, tradition says, were at one time used as dungeons, though why an inn should be provided with dungeons we could not imagine; however, they certainly looked prison-like and dismal enough. The curious little rounded chimneys at either end of the roof, we are told never smoked; if this be so, they are effectual as well as picturesque, two things we cannot always combine in this imperfect world, and may be worth the study of modern architects. On the return home from the journey our artist friend told me the following story: "Being in a neighbouring town, and hearing of this ancient hostelry, he drove over with his son to see it in a hired fly. On arriving there his son said: 'Oh, father, you must paint that old inn!' Now it so chanced that the owner of the property was expected that very day to inspect it, and the remark being heard by the driver—who imagined that my friend was the owner — he ventured to remark, 'I don't think I would paint the old place, sir, it would quite spoil its antique look; it will do very well as it is outside for many a year yet,' which shows that even a fly-driver may have artistic tastes and an idea of the fitness of things.'"

FOSTER PREDICTS CONTINUATION OF WARM WEATHER FOR A WHILE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 17 to 21, warm wave 16 to 20, cool wave 19 to 23. This is expetced to be a moderate disturbance, its principal effect being to start the temperatures upward and they will continue to go higher from 18 to 26, except one moderate cold wave. During that eight days not much precipitation.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about 22, cross Pacific slope by close of 23, great central valleys 24 to 26, eastern states and provinces 27. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about 22, great central valleys 24, eastern states and provinces 26, Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about 25, great central valleys 27, eastern states and provinces 29.

This will be the most severe disturbance of the month. The warm wave will cause excessively hot weather, but it will be of short duration. A cold wave will occur following 26, with a great fall in temperatures. These winter storms will be severe. All kinds of weather that sometimes comes in the closing days of November may be expected during the seven days, 23 to 29.

Snowfalls will come with this cold wave in northern states and cold rains in the south. Where locations are not specifically mentioned in these forecasts the dates are for meridian 90 and you must allow a day or more for east of the line and as much earlier for west of it. About and following November 13 cold and stormy weather is expected on most parts of the continent with a wave of very cold weather crossing the continent, reaching Meridian 90 about 18.

Important Indorsement.

The Albany, N.Y., Sunday Telegram gives my work a very high place of honour in the world's scientific accomplishments. It says: "There is something eerie in this man's ability to fortell the weather. His correct prediction of the gulf hurricane is by no means the only victory to his credit. His most startling prediction, previous to this gulf storm, was that of the weather for inauguration week. The value of a service like that of Foster's will be seen at once by the intelligent reader."

The last tropical hurricane predicted in these bulletins was south of Cuba on the closing days of October, going westward. At this writing, Nov. 2, it has not reached our southern coasts. As the season for these hurricanes is now closing it may die out on the south-eastern Mexican coast. My success at forecasting these terrible storms has surely been great and indicates that when the U. S. Weather Bureau adopts my methods—as it surely must—great benefit will result to those who go out on the salt waters or live on our southern coasts or the islands of the Caribbean Sea.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Golden Text.—I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. Romans i.16.

Verses 11-13.—Where are the places located, which are mentioned in these verses? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

How long did they stay at Melita after their shipwreck on that island?

Which to the average man, is the hardest thing to do; to wait, or to go on; to be compelled to rest, or be compelled to work, to have patience or to hurry?

Is it as sinful to work when you ought to rest, as it is to rest when you ought to work?

Here are two ships from Alexandria and bound for Italy, the one Paul sailed in and the "Castor and Pollux" and both apparently were compelled to put into Melita; one was wrecked by so doing, while the other landed and wintered in safety; was it providence, or chance, or skill, or any other power, that caused the wreck of the one ship and the safety of the other?

Two young men, of apparently the same ability, go into the same kind of business, under similar circumstances, one of whom fails and the other succeeds—how do you account for it?

Verse 14.—In Puteoli Paul found Christian brethren, and tarried with them seven days—which to-day, answering from actual experience, forms the closest and most practical bond of union and fellowship, when travelling, members of the same church, or members of the same fraternal society?

Verse 15.—What relation in life is there more fraught with blessings, and that imparts more "courage," than true Christian fellowship?

Verse 16.—Real Christians are found in all trades and professions, and among the rich and the poor, and may be some are in prison; now is it invariably the case that, like Paul, here, they get more comfort out of their circumstances than do their fellows?

Verses 17-22.—When we are as badly treated as the Jews treated Paul, in his own country, is it either wise or profitable, or politic, to speak of our enemies in as strong language as the facts warrant; or should we out of loving hearts mitigate their offence all we can, as Paul does here?

Christians were in those days much slandered, and were "everywhere spoken against"; are real Christians still spoken against?

Christianity is now becoming popular, is that an advantage or disadvantage?

Should we ever allow ourselves to speak against, or be prejudiced against any "sect" or society of which we have not got accurate or first hand knowledge?

Verse 23.—What points would Paul be apt to emphasize concerning the "kingdom of God?"

Verse 24.—Would those who believed Paul's testimony, be the religiously honest men, and those who disbelieved, the religiously dishonest men, or was it a mere matter of evidence and of the intellect?

Verses 25-29—If a man lives in sin, and his moral nature is deadened and perverted so he does not recognize the truth, is he as guilty as a man who deliberately rejects it?

Is it a law of God that sin deadens the conscience and perverts the judgment, hence, can a man living in any kind of sin, trust his judgment on personal, moral and spiritual questions?

Verses 30-31.—Should every Christian home be used for preaching and teaching the kingdom of God?

NOT HEREDITARY.

Baldness Due to a Living Minute Germ.

Many people, even unto the present day of grace, consider baldness due to hereditary influence.

Nothing is further from the truth—Baldness is caused by the onslaught of a minute organism which secretes itself beneath the scalp and attacks the roots of the hair—causing it to lose its life and fall out.

This organism cannot be got rid of except by the free and persevering use of Newbro's Herpicide.

No matter how badly the scalp is affected the Dandruff surely disappears and hair health is restored when Herpicide is applied.

"Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

PACIFIC NAVY PLANNED.

Melbourne, Nov. 12—The Imperial Federation League gave a dinner in honour of Colonel Foxton to-day on his return from the Imperial Defence Conference. Mr. Deakin, who presided, said the Conference had made a bolder advance towards Imperial defence than any previous Conferences. The defence of the Empire was the fundamental question at the present time. Colonel Foxton hoped New Zealand would shortly co-operate with the Commonwealth in forming a navy which would be the line of defence on which they would have at first to rely. He was glad to note that both political parties in the Commonwealth approved of the naval proposals of the Conference. Sir John Forrest said it would be unjust to allow the motherland to bear the whole cost of the naval defence of the Empire.

JUMPED THROUGH TRAIN WINDOW.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 13—While the Maritime express was speeding at thirty-five miles an hour, an Indian named Bernard made a dash for liberty by jumping through the car window at Gloucester Junction yesterday. He was in charge of Sheriff Stewart of Dalhousie, who was taking him to Dorchester for a two-year term for stealing. He was handcuffed, and had asked permission to go to the lavatory. Nothing was thought of the matter until the train slowed up, and the fireman came hurrying back, saying he saw a man fall through the window and roll down the embankment. This afternoon the Indian had not been captured.

HAS ONLY THREE HUSBANDS.

Hamilton, Nov. 13—Unusual matrimonial complication was unfolded to Magistrate Jelfs yesterday afternoon, when Nellie Grant, who was married six weeks ago to Ornif Chrysler, son of a well known farmer at Aldershot, confessed she had three husbands. Discovery came as a result of two years' search by Alfred Harding of Boston, who claims he married the girl two years ago. On finding her married again the girl decided to accompany Harding, and while walking to the city the pair were overtaken by County Constables and handed over to the city police. Questioned by them she claimed she was married to both Harding and Chrysler and had also been married in Boston previous to marrying Harding. Chrysler is willing that she go back to the States, and authorities will not prosecute if she leaves the city.

CHARGE OF EMBEZZLING

Arthur Baxter Appeared Before Magistrate Dumble This Morning Charged With Embezzling Funds of Union Life Assurance Co.

HE WAS REMANDED

Arthur Baxter was brought here from Cobourg last night and appeared before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning charged with embezzling the funds of the Union Life Assurance Co. He elected to be tried summarily but did not care to plead guilty until he had consulted his lawyer. He was remanded until Wednesday last when the crown will be ready to go on with the prosecution. Baxter was employed as an agent of the company during which time he is alleged to have committed the theft.

HELD MEETING

Central Ontario Life Underwriters' Association Met Last Night.

A very enthusiastic and well attended meeting was held last night by the Central Ontario Life Underwriters' Association in the Board room of the Toronto Saving and Loan Company.

Addresses were made by Messrs. J. A. Tory, of Toronto and T. B. Parkinson, of London, Secretary and Vice Pres. respectively, of the Life Underwriters 'Association of Canada, both of whom were tendered a flattering reception.

It is very evident from the earnest manner of the members that in future the Association will take a strong part in the erdication of the unscrupulous agent.

Examiner Special:

Big Springs, Tex, Nov. 13.—Members of Richards & Pringle's Minstrels, all negroes, were attacked by a mob after the show last night and run out of town as the result of the bitter feeling towards negroes since the race riot two years ago, when a ban was placed against negro residents. The minstrels took refuge form brick bats and other missiles in the private car and were saved from a mob when the switch engine pulled them from town.

P. C. Newhall Went to Cobourg to Get a Prisoner.

P. C. Newhall did some hustling last night from the time he left here for Cobourg to get the prisoner, Baxter, until he returned this morning. He went down to Port Hope on the 9 o'clock train, but owing to a wreck on the main line of the G. T. R., he did not reach Cobourg until this morning at half-past four. He had to do some hurrying and get the prisoner back to the station in time to catch the five o'clock train. He reached here at half past eight, having no sleep on the entire trip.

COLD DIP IN STONY LAKE AS RESULT OF STRAY BULLETS THROUGH CANOE

Warsaw Young Man Had to Upset His Boat After it Filled With Water, Overturn it and Paddle With One Hand Two Hundred Yards Before Making Shore.

DUCK SHOOTING AFFAIR

Warsaw, Nov. 13th.—Messrs. F. McClure and Roland Pearson of this village had an experience at Stony Lake this week which gave one of them a good wetting and both had to pay for a damaged canoe. They were shooting near the late A. L. Davis' cottage, having gone up on Tuesday, and found the luck much to their liking. Yesterday McClure went out in the canoe the two men were sharing and anchored behind a rather narrow expanse of marsh to wait the arrival of game birds. He was about two hundred yards from shore where his companion, Pearson, was sitting with a gun across his knee gazing out across the water, which was unbroken by the splashing of blue bill or teal as it came up after a lunch below the surface. Above the marsh was visible a water-worn snag at a safe distance from McClure, and Pearson for the want of something else to shoot at, fired several shots at the top of it. He could see McClure motionless beyond the marsh, but could not see the canoe.

Hit the Boat.

While Pearson was conjecturing upon the number of shots that had been embedded in the stump, Mclure was alarmed by the stray shots that had splintered their way through one end of the boat near the water line. Pearson's shot gun had been charged with buckshot and at a range of 200 yards they had spread farther than he had fancied possible.

The canoe was rapidly filling with water through five or six of the holes and McClure soon realised that he was helpless to stop it. Picking up his gun he overturned into the water and upset the canoe, emptied it of considerable of the water and after several attempts, climbed up on it. Pearson shouted to him, but McClure replied that he was all right, and a short time after appeared around the point of the marsh paddling the upturned craft with one hand and holding the gun in the other. He had made about two hundred yards in this manner and managed it without losing his position. The water was very cold and McClure stated to an Examiner representative that he was nearly frozen when he reached shore.

Boat Rented.

The young men had rented the boat and on returning it this morning had to pay five dollars to the owner for the damage done by the bullets. McClure is hoping that he will have no after effects from his ducking.

You think I look so much better; yes, and I feel better—Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it.—Wm. Madill, Druggist.

OBITUARY.

THOS. S. QUINCY.

Mr. W. J. Green has received a letter announcing the death of Thomas S. Quincy, a former resident of this city, who died in California on July 1, '09. Mr. Quincy had been ailing for some months with cancer, at the root of the tongue, caused by his horse throwing up his head, which came in contact with Mr. Quincy's head. Mr. Quincy came to this city in 1870 and was in the hardware business first with Stethem & Co., and later McKee & Davidson. He will be remembered by a good many as a genial citizen of unusual popularity in the early seventies. Quite an all-round athlete, he was a playing member in the old Maple Leaf Cricket Club, and helped to win laurels for the Club. Also was goal keeper for the first lacrosse club organized in the City, known as the Red Stockings; also Captain of the then volunteer fire brigade, and a member of the Charlotte Street Church choir at its opening. He was also a charter member of Peterborough Lodge, 111, I.O.O.F., and on the lodge attaining its 21st year Mr. Quincy presented the lodge with a complete set of lodge jewels. In fact he was well known as a most genial, good natured, wholesouled fellow. His many friends and acquaintances will extend sympathy to his widow. He was buried in California.

NEARLY ONE HUNDRED MILLION BUSHELS OF POTATOES THIS YEAR

Official Report for October Showing the Value of Canadian Roots, Etc.---Big Increase Over Last Year's Products---Ontario Leads the Other Provinces.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The Census Office gives out to-day a statement on the root, seed and fodder crops of Canada for the month of October, together with their values as reported by the regular correspondents.

The yield of potatoes is 99,087,000 bushels, which is 22,697,000 bushels more than last year. Turnips are reported at 107,724,000 bushels, being 5,476,000 bushels more than last year. The hay and clover crop is 427,000 tons more than last year, its total yield being 11,877,000 tons. Fodder corn shows a decrease of 149,000 tons, the crop being 2,780,000 tons.

The average condition of potatoes over Canada is 93.98 per cent., of turnips and other roots 91.64 per cent., of hay and clover 88.68 per cent., and of fodder corn 90.68 per cent.

The total value of the four crops is $202,473,700, as against $186,595,000 last year. Prince Edward Island is credited with $5,748,500, or 2.83 per cent. of the total; Nova Scotia with $18,741,300 or 9.25 per cent.; New Brunswick with $13,497,900, or 6.61 per cent.; Quebec with $59,952,000, or 29.69 per cent.; Ontario with $97,475,000, or 48.15 per cent.; Manitoba with $2,886,500 or 1.42 per cent.; Saskatchewan with $1,896,500 or 0.93 per cent.; and Alberta with $2,276,000 or 1.12 per cent. The value of hay and clover alone is $132,287,000, being $10,403,000 more than last year.

The potato rot has done much harm in the Maritime provinces as a consequence of the heavy fall rains; but in Quebec and Ontario the yield and quality rank high. Good reports are also made for the Northwest provinces, but considerable damage has been done there in places by early frost in September.

In British Columbia all the crops are reported as excellent in quality and yield, but no areas have been procured for that province.

Hunter Stricken With Paralysis While Out On Trail This Week

Lindsay, Nov. 12th.—Lying across the deer trail, at Pattie's Lake, in Haliburton county, in an unconscious condition, suffering from the effects of a serious attack of paralysis, was the condition in which Mr. Geo. Barnhart, of Humberton, was found at 5 o'clock on the evening of Wednesday. After arriving at camp a few miles further in the bush, he passed away without regaining consciousness.

The deceased had left the camp during the afternoon with several other members of the party to work up a portion of the swamp lying south of their camp, and a few miles off the lake shore. The members were posted at various points, while the hounds were set to work. Mr. Barnhart was given his position on the open. After being separated from one another for some time, the party started for camp by the trail, expecting to pick up Barnhart on the way, but he was found across the trail with gun in hand, already loaded and cocked, in an unconscious condition.

Mr. Barnhart was a blacksmith by trade at Humberaton, a small village east of Port Colborne. He is survived by a wife and large family.

SPECIAL SERVICES

There are some special services in the city to-morrow that should be of great interest to a large number of citizens. The first of these will be held at 3.30 o'clock, at the new Church of the Sacred Heart when His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will bless the bell.

At four o'clock the usual Sunday afternoon mass meeting will be held at the Opera House, at which Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, N.Y., will give his lecture to men on "A Ride on the Water Waggon." At 8.30 another meeting will be held in the Opera House. Mr. Howard will again give an address. This gathering is open to everybody. Mr. Howard has been described as the greatest orator on earth and every one should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him.

Won The First Prize For The Best Fall Opening Window

Mr. J. McNicholl, of Richard Hall & Son's store, is to be congratulated on having obtained the first prize for the best dressed window for the month of October, donated by the Dry Goods Review. The window entered in this competition was Mr. McNicholl's fall opening one. It will be remembered as having been very attractive, the idea of autumn being made very effective with pretty arrangements of golden tinted leaves and fruit clusters. The fall millinery and mantles were also displayed in splendid taste in this window.

In October's issue of the Review Mr. McNicholl has also a number of his show cards reproduced. The Review speaks in complimentary terms of his work as a show card writer, describing it as being "particularly good."

MISS KATHERINE E. WALLIS MAKES GENEROUS OFFER TO PETERBOROUGH

Replica of Her Acknowledged Success Will be Placed in Public Library---A Gift to Her Native City---Wrote to Mayor Rush From Paris.

Miss Katherine E. Wallis has offered the city a replica of her statue entitled "Mercury Charmed by his own invention," announced in France England and America a genuine artistic work. Mayor Rush received a letter from Miss Wallis a few days ago in which she made the generous offer to her native town, and at the meeting of the committee of the Whole Council last night presented the question to the aldermen. The original sculpture in marble is owned by the Ontario Government. The members of the committee were delighted with the offer and considered that the work would be a splendid adornment to the Public Library, in which it will be placed.

The letter His Worship received is as follows:

Paris, France.

Mayor Rush,—I have made up my mind to offer to the town of Peterborough the original and only plaster cast of my statue, "Mercury charmed by his own invention," of which the execution in stone is now the property of the Ontario Government. Thus my native city and Province will be in sole possession of the work which cost me the greatest effort of my life, and which obtained for me such success here in Paris. It is a great pleasure to be able to offer it to Peterborough, and the only condition imposed is that the city pay the expenses of packing and transportation, amounting to perhaps $30. I would beg you to give me an answer to this before the first of January, 1910.

I have sent Miss Hatton an Indian ink drawing of the proposed Nicholls monument to be exhibited and placed before the city authorities. I have in the drawing carefully avoided all attempt at likeness or detail that attention might be concentrated solely upon the mass of the monument in its place. I trust that this may fully decide the authorities to entrust me with this work on which I am earnestly resolved to bestow all my experience and ability. Believe me.—Yours very sincerely,

KATHERINE E. WALLIS.

It was moved by Ald. Buller and seconded by Ald Phelan, that the mayor be instructed to accept Miss Wallis' very kind and generous offer, and to convey to her the sincere thanks of the council and the city.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Hunters Return To The City Well Satisfied With Their Luck

Ald. G. W. Mororw returned to the city last evening after two weeks' enjoyable outing with the Ketchecum Lake hunting party. Mr. Morrow returned ahead of the others, the remainder of the camp not coming until Monday night. The Ketchecum club had, when, Mr. Morrow left, ten deer, and he expected some more would be captured to-day. The deer are fairly plentiful this season, but the weather, while ideal to be in the woods, was hardly cold enough for good deer hunting. However the party had enjoyed every day.

Bottle Creek Party.

Two bucks and six does was the allotment of deer that the Bottle Lake party returned home with last night. This party was composed of Dr. C. H. Amys, Messrs. Gus Concofan, M. O'Brien, Arthur Head, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, M Blewett, W. Weatherlake and J. Stabler. They all report a very enjoyable time and although they did not receive as many deer as in former years, they are well satisfied with their hunt, considering that the weather was not the most favourable for deer hunting. One member of the party stated that the partridge were very plentiful in their hunting grounds. The deer brought back by these men are fine ones, and were admired by many this morning, as they lay in front of Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald's on Brock St.

Long Stretch Of Plate Glass Windows For R. C. Braund's Store

Mr. R. C. Braund is making a decided improvement to his large store at the corner of Park and Albert Sts. The side of the building facing the latter street, has been torn out from the ground to the first floor, and a long stretch of plate glass windows is replacing it. This is only a small part of the north wall, but it is in the front of the store and will permit a display of goods which the two small windows did not allow. Five large plate glass windows will be used, making a total of over 35 feet of plate glass as large if not larger than any window in the business section up town. This is another example of Mr. Braund's progressiveness. He has felt that the change now being made would give him a show window space that could be utilized to advantage, and he was not long in putting his idea into action. The change affords a splendid show window and Mr. Braund will have a chance to display to better advantage the large stock of goods he carries. The glass has been secured from the Peterborough Hardware Co. Mr. John Elliott has had the contract of the work.

Savagery Of An American Mob Displayed In Cairo Lynching

To understand possibly a little, how so-called civilised humanity can degenerate under a mad impulse of mob frenzy, is shown by the following extract of the report of the lynching of a negro at Cairo, Illinois, charged with the murder of a women:

"When James, the negro lynched, was captured at Belknap last night and while he was being brought to Cairo, he absolutely refused to make a confession but when the rope was around his neck and he was given his last chance, he said: "I killed her, but Alexander took the lead."

Many in the great mass of people had become impatient during the efforts to induce the negro to make a statement and there were demands for "work."

"We don't want to hear him; string him up; kill him, burn him," were frequently heard.

The crowd pressed forward and the rope which had been thrown over the steel arch, which was in the hands of women was pulled up and the body jointed a few feet from the ground when it broke and came tumbling down.

Riddled With Bullets.

The mob by this time had become so impatient that they fell upon the negro and riddled him with bullets. The body was dragged more than a mile through the streets to the spot where the murder was committed, and burned. Before the fire was started, the negro's head was cut off and placed on one end of a pole, which was stuck in the ground.

The heart was taken out, cut up in small pieces and passed among the men as souvenirs. Pieces of the rope with which he was hanged after being soaked in the negro's blood, were also handed out.

This morning there is nothing left of the negro's body but a pile of bones, but large crowds of women are visiting the spot where he died.

CONSIDER PROPOSAL

Council and Business Men Met Last Night to Meet Representative of an American Company Looking For Location.

TWO NEW PROPOSITIONS.

The leaven, brewed at the meeting of the Board of Trade, Council and citizens on the King's birthday, is beginning to work. The element of cooperation, without which the best results in Building up Peterborough cannot be reached, was evidenced last night in the fact that several enterprising and energetic citizens were present at a meeting of the Council last night, to consider the proposal of a large manufacturing company, which desires to establish a manufactory in Canada, with Peterborough a favoured site.

The Company conducts a business for the manufacture of completed parts—ready to be assembled—of furniture and boats, an industry, that once established here, would lead to considerable development of our forest resources, in the form of hardwoods, rendered accessible by the operation of the Trent Canal north from Peterborough, and marketed by the demands of the new industry.

The proposal submitted to the Council and considered by that body and the citizens mentioned, is that the Company, a United States one, an independent local company be organized, with a capital of $100,000, to be represented by $50,000, subscribed by Peterborough or other Canadian capitalists, and $50,000, contributed by the parent Company, in the form of patents, patterns, business experience, the subscribed capital to be used for working capital, the supply of raw material, equipment, etc. There is to be a local board of directors and the management to be under local control. The above are the general features of the proposal as submitted.

It is stated that the parent Company has achieved a signal success, and reached very large proportions from a small beginning. Nine years ago business was began with the modest capital of $3,000. From the profits of the concern, without the addition of any new capital, the business has expanded into an industry representing the employment of $250,000 capital, with an output, which last year reached a value of $300,000.

A representative of the Company, who was in the city yesterday, and was showed around the city by the Council, and most favourably impressed with Peterborough, was not able to be present at the conference last night, but engaged to come around with additional information, which the Council wished to have available, at his next visit, in a few days, when he will return to confer farther with the local authorities and citizens likely to take a substantial interest in the establishment of an important new industry in Peterborough.

CAUGHT JOHNNY DOLLARS

Miss Sullivan Won the Five Dollar Gold Piece.

There was a large crowd at the Brock St. roller rink last evening in an effort to capture Johnny Dollars. After several unsuccessful attempts, Johnny was caught by Miss Sullivan. Mr. Jas. O'Brien was the unsuspected Johnny Dollars.

To-night the Block Party will be the attraction.

RUGBY SCORES BULLETINED

The Examiner has made arrangements to receive the results of the leading rugby games to-day at the end of each quarter. These will be bulletined in front of the office and this evening the final scores may be obtained by the Saturday night crowd. Telephone enquiries will be gladly answered, and the Examiner will be pleased to give the results over the phone. The Oriental Hotel is also receiving the returns.

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

SOMETHING TO LIVE UP TO.

In yesterday's issue of the Examiner was printed with some prominence complimentary reference from the Lindsay Warder, complimentary reference to the citizens of Peterborough, to its Council, and its Board of Trade. We are, according to our complimentary contemporary, blessed with "a class of citizens who have faith in the future of the city", "fortunate in being represented in the Council by live citizens," and we "boast of a live Board of Trade"; and we are also praised for having held a meeting to appoint a paid industrial commissioner. All this is very good, and as true as it is good; but it depends. Unless we take prompt and practical measures to act upon the resolution unanimously adopted at the meeting on Tuesday night, we shall forfeit all claim to the pleasant things said by our Lindsay neighbour. As things are now we have only an option, for a few weeks, on a reputation for enterprise and progressiveness in respect of the resolution to employ an industrial commissioner. Unless we implement the option by taking prompt action, we shall break faith with those who have admired our public spirit and our enterprise. Our city fathers have too much self-respect, we are sure, to accept glory on false pretences. We expect them to act in conformity with the strong warrant for action served on them by the large and influential meeting of citizens, through the unanimously adopted resolution printed above.

THE ROOT OF THE EVIL.

The London Free Press says that "the glad smile and the handshake were powerful influences in in Strathroy"—in the West Middlesex election. Not only are they powerful agencies of success in election matters, but in business, in the church, in social life, and in all human relationships. What they stand for, politeness, courtesy, —in a word being a gentleman or lady—constitutes one of the indispensable equipments of success in any walk or relation of daily life. In view of the importance of politeness, courtesy, and the spirit of reverence, which is behind all personal refinement and grace of manner, one is surprised that so little effort is made to impress it upon the characters of our boys and girls in the formative stage—the school stage of their lives. We live in an age of irreverence for our superiors. In fact, it has come to this pass that we have no superiors. The monstrous lie which finds expression in word and act among our neighbours to the south of us, "that Jack is as good as his master," that is that one man is as good as another, has found a too-deep lodgement with us Canadians. One man is as good as another, if he is as good. This self-evident proposition is not always accepted nor understood. Wherever the British flag floats; wherever the principles it stands for are established, one man is as good as another before the law, divine and human; but there the equality ends. Education, culture, and the resulting refinement, moral qualities and a self respect founded upon qualities that justify self-respect are circumstances that differentiate one man or one woman from another. We reverence the divine Author of all things; human law and order are founded upon divine law, and therefor share the divine claim to respect, which also inheres in the instruments appointed to administer law. Hence our judges, our ministers, our delegated representatives, considering whose authority they have, are entitled to respect which is only another form or degree of reverence. Age and the wisdom and experience, and, as a rule, the service to humanity, which age represents, is worthy of respect. But in this levelling age, this age of low moral ideals, compared with the importance attached to material ideals, there is a painful lack of reverence for good things and good men and women. From this follows loose ideals in respect of general recognition of the claims of law and order. From this is generated a spirit of disregard for the conventions of religion and society, we become more and more a law unto ourselves. The rest is the facilis decensus Averni.

The authorities of Toronto University were pained and public sense of decency was shocked by the disgraceful and riotous conduct of students on Hallowe'en, and as a result three of the students have been suspended. This is locking the stable after the horse has been stolen. The hoodlumism of the students is a negative result of our public school system, which did not chasten and correct the spirit of disrespect and contempt of the restraints of society and morals which pupils took to the schools from homes where the universal irreverent spirit of the age vitiates young lives on the threshold of their entry into the world's activities. We aim to teach our school children many things, but there is a plentiful lack of moral training. Children, to have a proper equipment for life should be infused, saturated, with the spirit of respect for good in principle and in person, in state and society, respect for superiors, dignities, authority—which is only another form of respect—reverence—for divine things, and as such an essential part of religious character. We can't expect children, educated solely on the intellectual side with the moral and ethical side neglected to grow up at their best. The education that does not develop and mould character is only veneer. Mental education without moral infiltration of character is to be likened to a man with his left side abnormally developed and his right side paralysed. If the students, who outraged decency, and discredited the greatest seat of learning on this continent had been trained in the schools to be polite, to be respectful, to be reverent, to be considerate of the rights and feelings of others; if the lesson had been confirmed in the home and deepened from the pulpit, the roster of the University would not have been disgraced with the names of educated hoodlums. Politeness, deference to authority, to our superiors, the handshake, the pleasant greeting are small things in themselves; but they are divine things; outward and visible signs of an inward and spiritual grace, having their foundations upon the Rock on which rests the Christian religion.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Now is the time to plant Christmas advertisements if you want to reap a crop of dollars.

THE UNITED STATES TARIFF BUNGLE.

(Pulp and Paper Magazine.)

For a good lively boomerang commend us to Uncle Sam's schedule of duties on pulp and paper. Canadian pulp and paper men, for whose special benefit (?) the new tariff was created, seem the least excited people on the continent. Even the newspaper publishers who must be looked on as being the originators of all the trouble and confusion, are now hot-toot for another revision. Herman Ridder, president of their Association, supported by other important press organizations, has addressed a very frankly expressed letter to President Taft, telling him flatly that he has been misled by designing men into a serious blunder, the result of which may be to precipitate a trade war with Canada involving the annual sum of $285,000,000. Messrs. Ridder & Norris, regret that the findings of the Mann Committee, which reported that a rate of $2 on paper would cover the difference in cost of production between at home and abroad, were not acted on, because now "the fixing of the rate of $3.75 per ton has decided the Province of Quebec to prohibit the exportation of its pulpwood and many American paper mills must close or move to Canada to obtain their supplies of raw material."

Congressmen J. R. Mann, in backing up the resolution of which the above letter to the Chief Executive is the outcome, calls for an effort when Congress meets to have duties on print paper repealed (which Mr. Norris thinks is the only course which will now appease Canada), and to postpone the action of the maximum tariff. "There is no sense," says Mr. Mann, "in having a tariff war with Canada over paper. There are enough forests in Canada to supply paper for centuries. Our paper mills depend on Canada for logs. Canada is not going to let us have the logs we need if we shut out Canadian paper by a high tariff."

Despite the clamour of the publishers and other interests in the United States, however, it is difficult to see how President Taft and his advisers can make another lightning change in their pulp and paper tariff policy. That is without eating their words. But that is exactly what seems likely to happen. Reports from various sections of the Republic are to the effect that the consequences of endangering trade relations with Canada promise to be so disastrous to the party responsible for such action that there is little likelihood of the terms of the maximum tariff being brought into force permanently against this country. According to the new law the President has the right to say whether any country or subdivision thereof does or does not manifest discrimination against the United States; and it is of course only as the direct result of such alleged discrimination that the maximum duties are supposed to apply. It is admitted to be easy to show that Canada or certain of its provinces, do discriminate; but on the other hand it is easy to be blind to what one does not want to see. A tariff commission has been appointed at Washington and some cynics believe, or affect to believe, that an important part of its task will be to advise the President that Canada does not discriminate against the United States, and that therefore there will be no occasion to put the maximum duties into affect against the products of Canada.

"In Canada the strongly expressed opinion of those in the trade, as well as of the general public, is to "sit tight and await developments." For the United States to place further hindrances in the way of importing Canadian pulp and paper because Canada very wisely puts into effect its desire to conserve its resources is like cutting off another slice of the former's nose to spite its face. It is a sort of game they cannot play at for very long. The newspaper publishers have already found this out to their cost; and so have the paper manufacturers. This is why our paper manufacturers keep so cool amidst the excitement of their neighbours to the South. It is true, however, that amidst the almost unanimous detrminattion of Canadian paper interests to let things take their course, one prominent paper man upholds the idea of intermediate business interest before sentiment. Mr. John R. Barber, of Georgetown, who admits he is like one crying in the wilderness, points out the advantages which would accrue if Quebec, before present leases expire, would abolish the difference betwen fees charged on wood made into pulp at home and abroad, and if Ontario would abrogate for a year the prohibition of export on wood cut from Crown lands. The former province would then be able to ship its pulp into the United States free of duty, and its paper for $3.75 per ton instead of $6, and the latter province would save the duty of $1.667 on pulp and its pulp would go in for $3.75 instead of $5.75, at any rate until March next, when developments may have taken place. Incidentally, the United States Treasury would be "out" a very considerable sum, which would redound to the benefit of Canadian manufacturers. Apart from this, as we have said, the overwhelming feeling is to stick to our guns and let the United States do what it pleases.

Blacksmithing and Woodworking Business For Sale

The undersigned offers for sale his blacksmithing and woodworking business, situated on the side line between Peterborough and Norwood at Jermyn P. O. The blacksmith shop building is two stories, 25 x 42, with cement floor and cement forge. The upper story is the full size of the blacksmith shop (25x42). Attached to the blacksmith shop is the post office building, which may be entered from the blacksmith shop. Adjoining is a first class brick dwelling, with frontage 18 and 26 feet, with kitchen. It is an L-shaped house with cement cellar. Also verandah and beautiful lawn. There is a good stable, with cement floor, three stalls, with straw barn attached. The land comprises one-half acre. This is one of the best blacksmith stands in the County of Peterborough. The farmers all patronize this shop. My reason for giving up business is on account of having one of my legs fractured I am unable to continue the shoeing. For further particulars, write to

DISFIGURING TORTURING SKIN TROUBLE

A blemished skin irritating sores, pimples, eczema, salt rheum and other skin disorders are all signals of distress, telling that your blood is impure or weak. You cannot cure eczema and other skin troubles with ointments and outward applications. These things may give temporary relief, but cannot cure, because the trouble is rooted in the blood and can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills speedily cure skin troubles because they enrich, purify and build up the impoverished blood that caused the trouble. As they feed and cleanse the blood the skin grows fair, the bloom of health returns and new strength is found. No other medicine has ever had such wonderful results in curing all diseases due to bad blood. Miss Elizabeth Gillis, Kensington, P.E.I., says: "Words can hardly express how grateful I feel for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. For seven years before I began their use I was troubled with salt rheum. My hands and arms were nearly always a mass of torturing cracks and sores. I tried several doctors and spent a great deal of money without getting any benefit. Indeed my hands seemed to be getting worse all the time. Finally my brother persuaded me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I am happy to say they have completely cured me. I used in all seven boxes, and I would not be without them in a case of this kind if they cost five dollars a box instead of fifty cents. I hope my experience will be of benefit to some other sufferer from skin trouble."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HAVELOCK NEWS.

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Nov. 12.—Mr. George Noyes, a C.P.R. brakeman on the division from Havelock to Smith's Falls, who resides in town, met with an accident while on his trip to the Falls on Tuesday, by slipping and fall of the top of the van. His wrist was sprained and his skull fractured. He was brought back to Havelock, where his injuries were attended. He is reported to be doing as well as can be expected. His many friends would hope for his quick recovery.

A club room for young men is to be opened in Havelock in the course of a few weks. We believe it will be a great help to the young men of our town, and somewhere to spend the long winter evenings. Forty some members have already joined.

EVERY VITOL TABLET IS FULL OF LIFE They contain all the elements of life and energy. If you feel weak and dispirited, your blood is out of order and you need just the tonic that VITOL will supply.

THEY WILL CURE YOU! This is no idle assertion. We GUARANTEE them to do this or your money will be refunded. All we ask for them is a fair trial. Take one box and you will get more.

WHAT VITOL WILL DO Most bodily ailments come from a poor condition of the blood. Vitol acts directly on the blood, enriching and purifying it and it will positively cure all ailments which are directly or indirectly due to the condition of the blood. Rheumatism positively cured by VITOL

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Ormiston spent Sunday last with friends in Campbellford.

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church will hold a concert in the town hall on Friday evening next, Nov. 19th, when the principal entertainer of the evening will be Miss Rute, of Belleville, an elocutionist of excellent merit, who delighted a Havelock audience once before. Local talent will also assist on the evening's programme.

Rev. Mr. Sterling has returned from Nicholls hospital, Peterborough, much improved in health.

Mr. C. D. Breams, of Lindsay, has moved to town and will open up a first class restaurant in Mr. John Overend's stand.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

ATHLETES IN PETERBOROUGH

If there was one thing more than another that struck one at the informal meeting of the Hockey Club in the Oriental Hotel on Thursday evening last, it was the absolute unanimity of sentiment between the members of that organization and of the sister sports of the city. This was clearly shown by the warm way in which the request of the Football Club for a grant from the surplus funds of the Hockey Club towards the expenses of the team in their match against Parkdale to-day, was espoused by the whole meeting.

It brought clearly to one's mind how much can be accomplished by unity. Athletics in Peterborough have survived under many disadvantages. Chief among these have been the fact of their being no centralizing influence to form the various organizations into an association, or union, and secondly the apathetic way in which the public generally have encouraged sports and pastimes in Peterborough.

However, what above everything else is needed is undoubtedly unity. An association under proper officers, should be enabled to foster every branch of amateur sport in Peterborough, and be in a position to bring each one to a very high degree of prosperity.

Adiposity.

A few days ago there was an account in the daily papers of the death of a man who was reputed to be the fattest specimen of humanity on this continent. The public was told that he weighed somewhere in the neighbourhood of five hundred pounds. This is certainly a fairly substantial showing, but after all he was but an infant in comparison with others whose weight is vouched for by indisputable authority. Just 100 years ago last 21st July, died Daniel Lambert, of Leicester, England, possibly the heaviest man who ever lived. At the age of 36 this ponderous being weighed 700 lbs. He died at the age of 39, weighing 739 lbs. His coffin contained 112 superficial feet of elm, and was 6 feet 4 inches long, 4 feet 4 inches wide, and 2 feet 4 inches deep; and the immense substance of his legs necessitated it to be made in the form of a square case. It was built upon two axle trees and four clog wheels, and upon these the remains of the great man were rolled into his grave in St. Martin's churchyard. A regular descent was made to the grave, by cutting the earth away for some distance. He slept on the ground floor of his residence, and the window and part of the wall of the room had to be taken down to permit of his coffin being taken out.

Then there was Mr. Bright, of a preceding generation to Lambert, who died at the age of thirty, and who tipped the scales at the modest weight of 616 pounds. After his death a wager was laid that five men each 21 years of age could be buttoned in his waistcoat. It was decided at the Black Bull Inn at Maldon, when not only five, but seven men were enclosed in it without breaking a stitch or straining a button. England hasn't lost every championship yet.

Cacoethes Loquendi.

Many people are afflicted with this distressing complaint, more particularly the clergy and public speakers. They acquire the habit of it we suppose much in the same way that a domestic acquires that painful complaint denominated "housemaid's knee," viz., by constant use of the member particularly needed in her work. But the clergy et al are not the only beings who may be classed in this category. There are many men, young men at that, who, for long-windedness and absolute dulness, can hold their own with anyone. There are also certain literary characters who think because they can write with a fair amount of fluency that their talents run to public speaking. Frequently they are wrong, as the late Marion Crawford very amply demonstrated, not to mention Jerome K. Jerome and others. Some carry this defect into the ordinary affairs of life, like the late Thomas DeQuincey, the author of the "Confessions of an Opium Eater." This is how he addressed his cook on one occasion. "Owing to dyspepsia afflicting my system, and the possibilities of any additional disarrangement of the stomach taking place, consequences incalculably distressing would arise; so much so, indeed, as to increase nervous irritation and prevent me from attending to matters of overwhelming importance, if you do not remember to cut the mutton in a diagonal rather than in a longitudinal form." No wonder the cook was moved to exclaim "Weel, I never heard the like o' that in a' my days; the body has an awfu' sicht o' words." We wonder how De Quincey would have fared with a cook in a modern lumber shanty.

It strikes us as it has probably also struck others who occasionally think for themselves that there is very little written nowadays that can be called absolutely fresh and new. Take up any paper, read any article and we will find matter revamped from some other paper, it doesn't matter what it may be on, war, religion, or politics, it is all the same. In these days of rush and flurry we haven't got the time to think for ourselves, or we think we haven't, and so we bring every conceivable form of article under tribute and steal from this and add on to that till we present an article that whilst it cannot be truthfully called a plagiarism from any one author in particular, is really a plagiarism from several and no more the offspring of our own thought or imagination than gas is the offspring of electricity or electricity of gas. Obscure authors are not the only ones who are offenders in this respect. Many men high up in the ladder of literature may be cited as having been guilty of the same practice. Goldsmith published a book on Natural History, which was a plagiarism from beginning to end. Ben Johnson adapted from Shakespeare, and Shakespeare himself stole plots, incidents and ideas from his forerunners. Voltaire said "Plagiarism is the least dangerous to society of any form of theft." Perhaps so.

But it seems as if there was something wrong when men can be raised to high honour by the purloining of the fruit of other men's brains, when for any other form of dishonesty they are liable to a term of imprisonment in jail.

REGULATES KIDNEYS AND ENDS BACKACHE

Makes Your Out-of-Order Kidneys Act Fine and Bladder Misery Vanish.

No man or woman here whose kidneys are out of order, or who suffers from backache or bladder misery, can afford to leave Pape's Diuretic untried.

After taking several doses, all pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, dizziness, tired or worn-out feeling, and other symptoms of clogged, sluggish kidneys simply vanish.

The moment you suspect the slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatism pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic from your druggist and start taking as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless or will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the cause of trouble, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected and completes the cure before you realise it.

A few days' treatment of Pape's Diuretic means clean, healthy, active kidneys, bladder and urinary organs —and you feel fine.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

A GENEROUS OFFER

Wm. Madill Will Refund Your Money if Parisian Sage Doesn't Banish Dandruff.

Pretty strong talk, perhaps you'll say, but it's honest talk, every word of it, because if Wm. Madill was not absolutely certain, if he did not know from actual results obtained, he could not make such a generous offer.

Parisian Sage, which can now be obtained in every town in Canada, is also guaranteed to stop falling hair, and itching scalp.

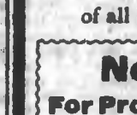
It is the ideal, delightful, rejuvenating hair dressing that makes hair grow in abundance. Parisian Sage is a prime favourite with women, because it keeps the hair brilliant and fascinating, is daintily perfumed, and is not sticky or greasy.

The price for a large bottle is only 50 cents at Wm. Madill's, who guarantees it. Sold everywhere, or direct all charges prepaid, by the Canadian makers, Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

THE GOODNESS OF OXO

The GOODNESS of OXO is a new delight to Canadians, and we are just beginning to enjoy it. But this goodness is so well known and so thoroughly appreciated in Great Britain and other countries that it taxes all the resources of the two-and-a-half-million-acre OXO farms to cope with the demand for this Company's concentrated foods.

The Goodness of OXO is the goodness of prime beef. Compared with the delicious flavour of OXO, all other fluid beefs are insipid and commonplace.



The Goodness of OXO is guaranteed. OXO has always got every ounce of its beef from its own cattle.

The OXO farms are the key to OXO'S superior quality, its delicious flavour and its wonderful uniformity.

Get a bottle from your dealer, try it, and you too will thoroughly enjoy its goodness.

Remember there is no other name for OXO and no other fluid beef so good.

GRAND CONCERT AT MURRAY ST. CHURCH

Given Last Evening Under the Auspices of the Ladies' Aid—Splendid Programme.

The Ladies' Aid of the Murray St. Baptist Church scored a great success in the grand concert given in the church auditorium last evening. It was a large and appreciative audience that greeted the entertainers, and, judging from the applause accorded to each number, the programme was thoroughly enjoyed. The musical part was contributed by members of the choir under the leadership of Mrs. Miller. Space will not permit of any lengthy criticism on the various solos, duets, and quartettes, sufficient to say that they were all excellently rendered. The enjoyment of the evening was greatly enhanced by the presence of Mrs. Owen Bissell, a gifted elocutionist, who, on her second appearance before a Peterborough audience win fresh laurels for herself. Her selections were well chosen, giving her a splendid opportunity to display her ability. She was loudly applauded, and the audience insisted on repeated encores.

The chairman of the evening was the pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, and Rev. Dr. Wrighton, of Kingston, who was present, made the opening prayer.

The Programme.

The following programme was presented:

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

TOM MARKS COMPANY.

The biggest crowd of the week was present for amateur night at the Grand Opera House at the conclusion of regular performance of the Tom Marks Company last night. A number of the contestants failed to put in an appearance, but the audience enjoyed the feature. The Long Sisters and the Hawes Sisters in duet numbers, were successful in winning much applaue for themselves. Mr. Fred Jones, a dark horse, who attempted to sing a romantic ballad, however, did not meet with such a sympathetic reception, and was forcibly removed from the glare of the footlights by a very successful and highly creditable use of the hook.

The play last night was "The Rose of Killarney," an Irish melodrama, full of exciting situations and plentifully interspersed with comedy in which Mr. Marks was seen at his best.

To-night's offering finishes the week's engagement of the company, who have lost no friends on their present trip to Peterborough.

A DRUGGIST'S CONFIDENCE

In D. D. D. Prescriptions as an Eczema Cure.

When a druggist frankly gives his opinion of a remedy it is well worth listening to. He is in a position to know just what the remedy is made of, and he knows whether it is curing his customers or not.

Druggist R. C. Roberts, of Osage, Sask., has still another ground for his favourable opinion of D.D.D. Prescription. It cured him of a stubborn case of Eczema. Here is his testimony:

"Having had eczema on my hands the past three years and being a druggist I have used a great many ointments, but have never used any drug that gave such grand results as D.D.D. Liquid Prescription.

I have also advised a number of other people to use D.D.D. and find it did them good. I have every confidence in this remedy."

D.D.D. has been so remarkably successful in curing eczema and other skin diseases because it attacks the itch where the germs which cause it live—in the skin. It stops the itch instantly, soothes, heals and permanently cures.

For free sample bottle of D. D. D. Prescription write to the D. D. D. Laboratory, Department P.E., 23 Jordan St., Toronto.

For sale by all druggists.

DISTINGUISHED LECTURER ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

A public lecture is announced to be given in Peterborough on the subject of Christian Science. The address is to be delivered in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Thursday evening next, November 18th. The distinguished lecturer will be Prof. Hermann S. Hering, C.S.B., member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, Boston. See advertisement in another column.

Prof. Herman S. Hering, C. S. B., a native of Philadelphia, Pa., and son of the late Dr. Constantine Hering, whom Hahnemann called "The Father of Homœopathy in America," is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania from the department of Mechanical Engineering, receiving the professional degree of M. E. in 1886. He was made Professor of Mechanics and Electrical Engineering by the Philadelphia Board of Public Education in 1887, and in 1891 was called to the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., as Associate in Electrical Engineering, where he remained eight years engaged in lecturing, and in conducting laboratory and research work. In 1899 he gave up his profession for the purpose of devoting himself entirely to Christian Science work, and was a practitioner reader, and teacher in Baltimore, and Publication Committee for Maryland and the District of Columbia. In 1902 he was elected First Reader of the Mother Church in Boston for a term of three years, and subsequently was made President of the Church and a lecturer.

In 1906 he was called to Concord, New Hampshire, to become the First Reader of the Christian Science Church of that city, and has recently completed his three-year term of office there.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—A few days ago I noticed a letter from Mr. W. A. Bailey to the effect that his dog "Beauty" was more than an ordinary canine. Since that time I have seen "Beauty" several times, and while he may be all his master says, in some respects he has some very bad manners and yelps and barks like other cure. I would not have mentioned this had not Mr. Bailey boasted of his "Beauty" and on seeing it I must say I was greatly disappointed. Mr. Bailey should educate the dog a little bit anyway or keep it at the end of a rope when he brings it up town. At present I consider it much of a nuisance to pedestrians.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

B. A. W.

ATTENDED BY FIVE DOCTORS

But Got No Relief Until He Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Wonderful Cure of A. F. Richard, Who Was Tortured by Rheumatism and Kindred Pains, Sets Kent County Talking.

St. Ignace, Kent Co., N.B., Nov. 12 —(Special)—After being tortured for four years with Backache, Rheumatism, Stiffness of the Joints and Pains in the Loins, and getting no relief from five doctors whom he called in, Mr. Antoine F. Richard, a well-known farmer living near here, is spreading the good news that he is once more a well man, and that he owes his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Speaking of his wonderful cure, Mr. Richard says:

"I was a helpless man in July, 1907. For four years I had endured the greatest torture from Backache, Rheumatism, Stiffness of the Joints and Pains in the Loins. I had dark circles under my eyes, my head ached and I was often dizzy. I was attended by five doctors, but not one of them could help me.

"Then I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and after the first few doses I began to improve. I used four boxes in all and now I am working every day on the farm a well man. I owe my wonderful cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else."

There is no case or kind of Kidney Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

VERY BEAUTIFUL

Eugene Walters' Great Play, "The Wolf," Under the Direction of the Messrs. Shubert, Coming Next Thursday, Nov. 18th.

Those who see "The Wolf," under the direction of Sam S. and Lee Shubert, at the "Grand" next Thursday, Nov. 18th, will find themselves in the vast woodlands of Northern Canada, where the breezes are fragrant of pine. It is autumn, the scene that is laid before the eye is the clearing in front of the house of old McTavish. He is a lonely man; there only lives with him his daughter, golden haired Hilda.

His house becomes the rendezvous for a party of American engineers, led by McDonald, the genius of the wilderness; a man whose acute, broad mind makes possible the building of railroads over steep mountains and through valleys. In his profession a giant, in his moral nature a satyr is McDonald. And even as he is a guest at the house of McTavish, there are two men at his elbow who have for years been hunting him—men who have a single idea as to what they will do when they meet him. They are resolved to kill him. For McDonald had in years back met Annette, a pretty little half-breed Ojibway girl—a good girl, a communicant of the church, more French than Indian, a child who had all the simplicity of her Indian mother, while she had the teachings of the good Christian fathers of the remote parish.

McDonald, conscienceless, had courted her, won her confidence, betrayed her, then left her to bear her shame. And she has not been able to bear it. She had wandered half crazed with grief and shame into a blizzard and she had died in the swirling snow. Her half brother, Jules Beaubien, a splendid French Canadian, only learned of Annette's existence when her father was on his deathbed. The young man is left heir to a big fortune and immediately starts in search of his sister with the idea of educating her and surrounding her life with luxuries. He traces the child to her home, only to discover her frightful death which she had suffered because of McDonald's treachery.

He meets Batiste LeGrand, the girl's clean-hearted lover, who was to have married her, but it was while LeGrand was away in the north working for the Hudson Bay Company that McDonald appeared and with his suavities and worldliness misled the simple girl into believing that his love was honest and that he meant to marry her.

Jules and Batiste have been hunting the man for two years. Jules, by artful talk in which he causes McDonald to believe that he, also, is a libertine, has got from McDonald's own lips the pitiful story of Annette. There is a further situation that makes Jules' anger against McDonald rise even to white heat. Jules is in love with Hilda, and it is plain that McDonald is seeking to injure this girl-woman as he did little Annette. He has filled her head with fascinating stories of the beauty of life in the great cities—the operas, theatres, handsome gowns, glittering jewels.

This is the situation, and how it all works out forms a theme of human interest from which the attention of the audience cannot be diverted, while it works before their eyes to its tragic end, and this end furnishes, so it is said, one of the most tremendous emotional scenes ever presented.

It is claimed that "The Wolf" is a big, vital, thrilling play. It has not a cheap line in it. Neither has it a hackneyed situation.

"The Wolf" is sure to meet with a hearty reception on its presentation here. Its long runs in New York and Chicago argue well for its drawing powers.

Y.M.C.A. BOYS ELECT THEIR CABINET

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the boys was held last evening at the Y. M. C. A. The returns of the election for the Boys' Cabinet for 1910, which was held in the afternoon, was given, and reports of the Couchiching conference, at which five attended, were read by W. Armstrong and B. Hunter, and from the Toronto Conference, at which five attended, were read by H. Lees and R. Langford. Those who were elected for the cabinet were in order of standing: H. Hill, G. Potter, R. Scott, R. Langford, H. Lees, H. Matthews, W. Armstrong, B. Hunter, M. Pearson, and Howden.

The cabinet then met and elected Ray Scott, chairman, and R. Langford, secretary. Another meeting will be held at a later date to appoint the various committees. The boys were unanimous in their approval of the formation of a training class, composed of cabinet and other older boys for the purpose of preparing them to teach Bible classes.

A vote of thanks was tendered Dr. J. E. Middleton for his kindness in directing the proceedings last evening.

To-morrow afternoon Mr. W. L. Clarke, of Leamington, a commercial traveller and business man, will address the boys over fourteen years of age.

The Princess Military Coat

A New Line

¶ To-night in the Ready-to-Wear Department there is sure to be a great deal of enthusiasm shown over the new line of Women's Coats. There are some exclusive touches in cloth and finish that feature the Winter Coats—style novelties that appeal to the woman of discriminate taste.

One line that is most prominent is the Diagonal Chevron Stripe in black and taupe, made in the Mayon Age effect with braided broadcloth military collar and large jet buttons.

Another Coat is the Tweed Military style in dark grey and black mixture, military collar, skirt in Mayon Age set in pleats. There is also a strictly tailored military coat in green and black tweeds. Very handsome garments. Prices popular.

FINAL MEETING OF THE EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

KNOX.

Knox church was crowded last evening to its fullest capacity, when Rev. Dr. Farquharson and Rev. J. D. Morrow gave the closing addresses of the evangelistic campaign. The choir was out in full force and rendered special service. The singing of the hymns was heartily entered into by all. Dr. Farquharson gave the most effective address of the series, and his work throughout has been on a very high plane. His address last evening was on the need of living a true and noble life and he pointed out that it was not an easy task to be a Christian. It is not easy to overcome drunkenness, or vice or meanness, and it is much more difficult to overcome the world.

"It is not the making of money, or pleasure or amusement, it is the attitude of the soul to God in all things, the giving up of ones self to right and to Jesus Christ. He appealed to all to put their faith in Christ to make them strong and urged them to exercise that faith in overcoming the world.

Rev. J. D. Morrow followed, taking as his text and theme, "Not Far From the Kingdom. His address was most realistic and his illustrations were drown from life. He pointed out that one may be educated, cultured, trained in a Christian home, or have one's name on the church roll and yet be outside the kingdom, and if outside then life is mere existence. An urgent appeal was made to make sure of the kingdom.

The meetings have been well attended and most thoroughly enjoyed. They have proved a great help to the spiritual life of Knox church.

ST. PAUL'S

The special services which have been in progress during the last two weeks in St. Paul's, came to a close last evening, when the attendance far exceeded any other night, except Sabbath evening. Mr. MacBeth chose as his text, the words of the Master: "He that is not with Me is against Me, and he that gathereth not scattereth abroad." He said, "These are words of the most loving of men—hence are words for our good." The Lord Himself here declares the impossibility of our being neutral in matters of relation to Himself. We should notice what Christ says as to the work of Christianity. He that is with Christ builds and gathers, but he that is against Christ scatters and destroys. This was applied to the individual and to society. Are you a builder or a destroyer? Are you building up or tearing down? Society to-day is moved by much unrest, and we can save ourselves from revolution only by quickening the religious life of the country. Will you strive to do your share in this great work? Indifference to Christ deepens into enmity and enmity against Him would mean our death. Let us not harden our hearts, quench the Spirit, or reject the influence of His power—but let us decide for Jesus Christ and get into harmony with His work of regenerating the world.

At the close of the address, decision cards were again distributed. Some signed these, indicating their wish to live the Christian life, who had never done so before. Mr. Pogue then rose and spoke some words of appreciation of the excellent services which Mr. MacBeth had rendered the congregation by his presence and message during the two weeks of the mission. He had endeared himself to all who heard him, by the sanity of his methods, and by his loyalty to the grand old saving truths of the Gospel of Christ. Mr. Shook and Sheriff Hall also spoke warm words of praise and expressed the thanks of the congregation to Mr. MacBeth in leaving his own work and coming to us for two weeks at much sacrifice to himself.

Mr. Pogue thanked the choir for the loyal support they had given him in this special effort by their attendance every night. He also thanked the press of the city for the very full reports they had given of all the services, thereby giving many the advantage of reading what was being said from night to night.

Mr. MacBeth, in reply, expressed the pleasure he had felt in working side by side with Mr. Pogue in the great work of Evangelism. It had been his first experience outside his own pastorate, in such work, and the people had loyally supported the mission and made his first experience a most happy one. He also thanked the choir and the press, and spoke of its influence for good and in moulding public opinion when working in harmony with the churches and other forces that make for righteousness.

The congregation then sang a verse of "God be with You till we Meet Again," and so ended a mission of great power and blessing to the congregation of St. Paul's, a mission whose influence is sure to be felt in the coming days in a more devoted consecration of the people to the service of the church and of humanity.

ST. ANDREW'S

One of the most pleasing features of the evangelistic service last night was the presence and help of the children in the service of song.

The words of the Saviour over the City of Jerusalem, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem how often would I have gathered thy children together as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings." Mr. Atkinson portrayed the anxiety of God for the salvation of men and how Christ expressed in His great life's work the broken heart of the Father. A man once said to the preacher: "If I were God the woes of the world would break my heart," and he spoke better than he knew. Christ's advent expressed the sorrow of God. At the conclusion of the service Mr. Rich. Lees and Mr. J. S. Fergusen expressed their heartfelt interest in and appreciation of the services of Mr. Atkinson, and also expressed the assurance that the services would continue to be a rich blessing to the congregation.

I used to be continually tired; now I am strong and well. Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it. —Wm. Madill, Druggist.

HAMBURG BELLE DEAD

A report from Thomasville, Ga., dated Wednesday, Nov. 10, states that the trotting mare Hamburg Belle, 2.01 1-4 died near that place on the farm of her owner, Mr. H. Hanna, of Cleveland, O., that day.

Hamburg Belle was seven years old and was bred by Mr. E. T. Bedford, of Brooklyn, N.Y. She was by Axworthy (3), 2.15 1-2, son of Axtell, (3), 2.12—Marguerite, by Kentucky Prince, and her dam was Sally Simmons, by Simmons, 2.28—Sally Adams, by John Burdine, son of Almont 33.

Owned by John E. Madden and driven by Billy Andrews, Hamburg Belle defeated Uhlan August 25 last at the North aRudall trac kat Cleveland, O., in the most sensational race ever contested by trotters, the time of the two heats being 2.01 1-4, 2.01½ being the world's record for two heats. The same day Mr. Madden sold her to Mr. Hanna for $50,000. Afterwards Uhlan turned the tables by beating the mare in the next race of the series of three races which had been arranged, but the third and final contest was not decided. Now it never can be.

Built by Mr. J. J. Lundy on West Side of George Street, Between King and Charlotte Street—An Idea of the Thoroughness of the Attention to Detail in Entire Construction.

THE ADEL PHI BLOCK.

APARTMENTS AND SUITES

Peterborough's business section has received a splendid acquisition in the building erected by Mr. J. J. Lundy on the west side of George St., between Charlotte and King Sts., and which will be known as the Adelphi Block. From the standpoint of thoroughness of equipment and quality of material employed in the entire construction the building can scarcely be surpassed by any of a similar nature in the city. There are three floors and a basement, the ground floor being divided into four stores. The second story is composed of apartments, suites of two and three rooms and single rooms and the third floor is divided in a somewhat similar manner except that there are more single rooms. The building has filled up the vacant lot south of the Grand Hotel and will undoubtedly tend to centralize business on George St., and with the other changes lotte St. and with the other changes that are being made and are proposed along that side of the street the business section of the city is extended south and the general appearance of the main street is greatly enhanced.

The new building is 79 feet long by 63 feet deep and each of the four stores are 19 feet wide. Each store has large plate glass windows and over the doors are windows of glass prisms thus affording an abundance of light and presenting an attractive appearance both within and from the street. The entrance to each store is tiled in appropriate patterns and the owner has forgotten nothing to provide the stores with a pleasing appearance, an asset that every business man thoroughly appreciates. A hallway to the upper stories leads off the street at about the centre of the building and a rear stairway is also provided

Apartments Upstairs.

On the second floor there are three separate and complete apartments. One is over the north store and the third is in the centre of the building. On the third floor there is another apartment on the north side of the building and the suite of splendid rooms on the south side of the building can be utilized for family purposes. Single rooms and suites of two and three rooms comprise the rest of the building. It may be stated that the desire of the owner is to let the single and double rooms to desirable young men who will furnish them. There are a number of splendid rooms that will be appreciated by men boarding in Peterborough. The apartments for families are sub-divided as follows, a parlour 18 ft. by 11 ft. facing George St., two large and one smaller bedrooms, a dining room, pantry, kitchen and bathroom. The pantry is provided with what may be called a kitchen cabinet and the kitchen has a large gas range, stationary wash tub which when not in use will be scarcely noticed owing to the position in which it has been placed. There is also a wash basin with hot and cold water in each kitchen. The completeness of detail in these rooms will surprise those who visit them with a view of renting them. The floors throughout are of hardwood and the wood work is grained giving the interior a pleasing finish. Besides the baths with each compartment there are a number of others throughout the building and in this respect ample provision has been made.

Steam Heated.

The building is heated by steam the system having been installed by McGregor and Reid who also did the plumbing. The wiring was the work of Alexander and Miller. These contracts were ably carried out. The wiring is according to the latest ideas and was done under the underwriters' inspection, An idea of the extent of the plumbing and heating may be gained from the fact that a force of workmen have been engaged for the past three months and there are still some concluding touches to be made. An electric bell system has also been provided for the accommodation of those taking rooms and apartments. A feature that is particularly noticeable is that in every detail there has been no stinting of material of equipment and occupants should find everything to their liking. The windows are provided with the Chamberlain Metal Weatherstrip and the cold weather should be unnoticed unless the windows are raised. The painting contract was let to Messrs. Duncan and Doupe who have performed good work in every respect. More could be written about the Adelphi Block but the details are almost too numerous to recall. At the rear of the second and third floors there are two verandas the entire length of the building. They are eight feet and afford plenty of room to the occupants of the various rooms.

Mr. J. G. Graham's Work.

Mr. Jas. G. Graham has had the position of foreman of the work which which was done by day labour. He has had to supervise the construction and the thoroughness which is apparent in every detail speaks for the care he devoted to it. The Adelphi block is already tenanted, a number of the apartments and rooms have been arranged for. Graham and Co., who have leased the north store and have opened a grocery business state that the patronage they have received has been very good and even surpassed their expectations.

WHAT IMMIGRATION OF FARMERS FROM AMERICA MEANS TO CANADA

If half a million American settlers should suddenly pull up stakes and migrate to a foreign land, the event would be heralded as one of the most epic movements of the century. Yet this is virtually what has happened, with little notice and less comment, in the last six years, says Agnes C. Laut, in the Century.

In less than six years 388,000 American farmers have pulled up stakes in their native states and moved from Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Arkansas and Oregon, across the invisible line of the international boundary to free homesteads in the Canadian Northwest. Moreover, 100,000 Americans have gone north as investors, speculators, miners and lumbermen.

A railroad traffic manager and a customs officer both told me the same thing: very few of the American homesteaders came in with less than $1,000 cash; many came in with capital ranging from $3,000 to $10,000. The capital brought in by the investing classes varies from the $10,000,000 placed by the Morgan banking house in the Canadian Northern Railway to the $200,000 and $300,000 capital placed in actual cash by the land and lumber and fish companies.

Average the American newcomer's capital at $2,000, and the Americans' invasion of Canada in the last six years represents in hard cash an investment of a billion dollars. From what I saw of a leisurely four months' tour of Canada—first by canoe, 1,500 miles among the settlers of the frontier beyond the railway, then by rail twice across the continent—I have no hesitation in saying that a billion-dollar average is to small by half.

AN ADDRESS ON "LITTLE DORRIT"

Read by Miss Edith Connor at Regular Meeting of Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S, Rooms Last Night.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME

The ladies' literary of St. Peter's T.A.S. held one of their very interesting literary evenings last night, Friday November 12, at which a very interesting paper on Charles Dickens's "Little Dorrit," was read by Miss Edith Connor, and a very entertaining musical program enjoyed by an appreciative audience. Among the numbers were a duet by Miss S. Kelly and Mr. A. C. McIntyre, also a vocal solo by Miss L. Kearns, accompanied by Miss M. Gorman.

The discussion of such an interesting subject as one of Charles Dicken's works should prove of interest to anyone who has read this great author's works. Miss Connor's treatment of the subject was most comprehensive and entertaining and we regret that space does not permit an entire account of the essay.

We are introduced to Little Dorrit, in the Marshalsea prison with her father and the other members of her family, a mere child, motherless, and yet herself called the "Little Mother." Not only on account of her tender devotion to and care of her poor weak father and the members of her own family, but also on account of her charitable offices to the other unfortunate members of the prison. Her motherly watchfulness over her sister Fanny, and her brother Edward, Tip for short, of the Wandering Jew propensities, have endeared her to all readers. Later we find Little Dorrit, a self-taught needle-woman in the employ of a stern, harsh woman, Mrs. Clennan, by name, whose meagre good-will Little Dorrit had succeeded in winning. Later we find that this woman's husband had been instrumental in defrauding Little Dorrit's father out of his rightful possession. Mrs. Clennan had one son, Arthur, who having been present at his father's deathbed, had found out that reparation was due someone, name unknown by him, and who when he saw Little Dorrit and beheld his mother's interest in her, had suddenly felt that the object of his quest was found. Little Dorrit returned his interest in her by loving him with all the strength of her true brave heart.

While sewing at the house of Flora Cashy, a friend of Mr. Clennan Little Dorrit met a gentleman by the name of Mr. Pancks who was agent for Flora's father. This gentleman took an interest in Little Dorrit, and succeeded, after looking up the accounts of the Dorrit family, in finding that they were, not poor, but on the contrary very wealthy. Her father was now released from prison and the family left England for a tour on the continent. During their stay in Rome her father had a stroke of paralysis and died. On their return to England Little Dorrit learned with much sorrow that her friend Mr. Clennan was in prison, on account of some unsuccessful investments which he had made. When Little Dorrit heard of his mistfortunes she longed to be of use to him and it was through her tenderness and thoughtfulness for him during a long illness which he contracted in the prison that he learned how dearly he loved her. Little Dorrit had found out by a confession from Mrs. Clennan that it was her husband who had defrauded her father, but Arthur Clennan never knew, that it was indeed to Little Dorrit that his father owed reparation.

Anyone who has read much of Dickens knows the numberless characters he puts in his books simply for the purpose of amusing, and Little Dorrit is no exception. The Barnacles, and many others, ten dto make "Little Dorrit" one of the most interesting books I have ever read and I am sure that all who read this charming book will agree with me.

My daughter has improved so much that you would scarcely know her—Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it. —Wm. Madill, Druggist.

Gompers Seems to Think Jail Term is Probable.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—Coming events cast their shadows before, and President Gompers' rather pessimistic statement of the position in which he, Vice-President John Mitchell and Secretary Frank Morrison stand, seemed to indicate that the veteran labor leader feared the worst.

In reply to Delegate J. Sullivan of Cincinnati, who requested that the convention should be enlightened as to the actual situation of their leaders, Mr. Gompers surprised a good many delegates when he stated that it was quite possible that no appeal would be allowed. No doubt they could have established their innocence by some technicality, but they welcomed the opportunity afforded them of fighting the matter out on the broad grounds of their inherent constitutional rights.

Fifteen days would be allowed their attorneys after the affirmation of the courts' decision, in which to furnish a defence. Though he and his colleagues had been told that they would never go to jail, they had also been told that Judge Wright would never find them guilty, but he did.

He had strong faith in the righteousness of their cause, for he considered it the most important fight for free speech and free press that had taken place in America since the days of slavery.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS A LITTLE LIFE SAVER

There is no other medicine for little ones as safe as Baby's Own Tablets, or so sure, in its beneficial effects. These Tablets speedily cure stomach and bowel troubles, destroy worms, break up colds, thus preventing deadly croup, allay simple fevers, and bring the little teeth through painlessly." Mrs. C. A. Weaver, Saskatchewan Landing, Sask., says: — "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my little one in cases of colds, stomach and bowel troubles, and other minor ailments, and have never known them to fail in speedily restoring the child's health. I think there is no medicine for babies like the Tablets." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Iron in Hestia's Cargo.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—The verdict in the wreck of the Hestia throws the whole blame on the captain and the officers. Capt. Lugar yesterday morning, after some unimportant evidence, announced his decision, giving his reasons as follows:

1. An error of compass due to 800 tons of iron in the cargo;
2. Neglect of proper precautions in taking soundings;
3. Not sufficient allowance for the strong set of the tide and wind;
4. Error of judgment of the captain and officers in neglecting to take the bearing of the Gannet rock light, which was only five and half miles away.

In response to the request of the shipping interests that an investigation take place into the subsequent efforts at rescue, Capt. Lugar announced it probable that there would be another investigation.

Bee Keepers Conclude.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—The Ontario bee-keepers concluded their sessions yesterday morning. That the production of honey is assuming importance in Ontario will be realized when it is learned that 5,000 men are professional bee-keepers.

Two townships in Northumberland County have been complaining bitterly of the losses through foul brood. Although the Department of Agriculture has been for the last few years trying to suppress this pest, more urgent measures are necessary. A resolution to this effect was passed. The executive committee, together with H. G. Sibbold of Claude, Ont., and Morley Pettit, are delegated to see to the passing of a more stringent measure.

Father Turbide in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Rev. Father Turbide, from the Magdalene Islands, Gulf of St. Lawrence, arrived yesterday morning to see members of the Government with reference to matters which concern his parishioners.

He wants a better postal service. The fact that he did not know that the Postmaster-General was still in Europe is proof that there is much reason for his request. He saw Hon. L. P. Brodeur instead.

Father Turbide also wants to see better facilities for the transport of the harvest of the sea. Their lobsters are the best known, he argues, and if the people in general could get them the lobster as a food would grow in favor.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

THE FIRST ENCOUNTER

Mr. Aylesworth Replies That Early Delay Was Fault of British Columbia Authorities, Who Made No Move In the Matter—Own Responsibility Dates Back Only Since His Return, a Month.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—The opening encounter of the present session between the Opposition and the Government took place yesterday afternoon over a British Columbia matter.

On Sept. 1 last, the act creating a court of appeal for the Pacific province was brought into force, but the Federal Government has made no appointment of judges, and, to quote the Minister of Justice, will make none for a little time yet. The reason attributed by the Opposition is that the Government has delayed matters until the B.C. elections are over, and R. L. Borden described the situation as a disgrace on the administration of justice in Canada.

No fewer than twenty-three blue books were laid on the table of the House yesterday afternoon. This is a record for the printing bureau, of which W. G. Parmelee is the new head.

After this formality, Mr. Borden drew attention to the situation regarding the recently-created Court of Appeal in British Columbia. The Legislature in 1907 had passed an act constituting the Court of Appeals, which would go into force upon a date to be announced by the Lieutenant-Governor. The Federal Government was advised of the act, and in 1908 legislated accordingly, naming the salaries. Last May, the date of the coming into force of the act, was announced as Sept. 1, so that immediately upon the proclamation the court could be organized. The B.C. Act, accordingly, was brought into force on Sept. 1 last, and jurisdiction transferred to the Court of Appeal.

"Why is it?" asked Mr. Borden, "that there has been this extraordinary delay, after receiving notice as far back as May?" It had been stated that gentlemen taking part now in the B.C. elections, and whose names were mentioned, had some understanding or intimation that their claims to appointment would be well considered.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, explained that the provincial statute had been assented to on April 25, 1907, and as the Dominion Parliament had prorogued two days later, the announcement did not reach Ottawa in time to deal with it that session. In 1908, the Federal Parliament passed legislation providing for the salaries. If there had been any crying need for action, he would have supposed that those charged with the administration of justice would have acted with promptness. The Attorney-General of B.C. had been in Ottawa last spring, and had said the proclamation would be made the following day. He was in Ottawa four weeks after that, but nothing was done.

Finally, Mr. Aylesworth said, he went to Europe and he honestly thought that the statute never would be brought into effect. His own responsibility for delay counted from four weeks ago, when he returned to Canada and found that the proclamation had been made on Sept. 1, and that the first meeting of the Court of Appeal was to take place on Nov. 2. He had received a telegram from the Attorney-General of British Columbia, pointing this out. However, he was not ready to make recommendations to the Ministers, and he had replied accordingly. To this he had received no answer. He purposed still to delay a little longer, until he would be able to make all the appointments at once.

Martin Burrell (Yale-Cariboo), said the personnel of the appointees had been discussed by Liberal newspapers. Indeed, the late leader of the Liberal party in British Columbia had resigned when mentioned for a seat on the bench, but to his great credit he had taken no part in the election.

The statement that one Senator got $2,005 for one day's attendance during the last session of Parliament, and another got $2,020 for two days' presence in the Upper Chamber, and that the Auditor-General objected, is set forth in the annual report of that official made public yesterday.

"It would appear," he says in pointing it out, "that you have paid these Senators under subsection 2 of section 35 to the act, rather than under section 33 of the act, which stated that a member shall not be entitled to the said sessional allowance for less than thirty-one days attendance, but his allowance for any less number of days shall be twenty dollars for each day's attendance."

The reply in effect was that these Senators were entitled to draw their indemnity on this basis.

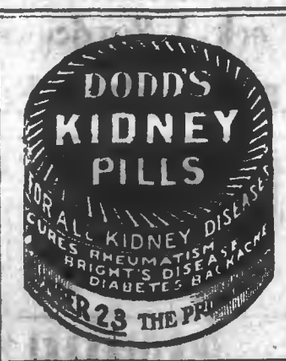
London Detective Resigns.

London, Nov. 13.—The police commissioners yesterday afternoon accepted the resignation of Detective Sergeant William Rider, who has been on the police force for thirty-four years, twenty-five as detective. Detective Tom Nickle becomes sergeant and Sergeant Downs is the new detective.

The commissioners passed a bylaw providing for the licensing of automobiles, and a regulation requiring liverymen to keep a book containing names and addresses of everyone hiring rigs, for the purpose of identifying those guilty of fast driving.

Terrible Depravity.

Belleville, Nov. 13.—A terrible case has been found near Frankford, in Hastings County, by Children's Aid officials. Twelve members of the McDonald family were living in two rooms. There were the parents, five brothers, three sisters, and an uncle, 80 years old. The eldest girl, Sarah McDonald, has had three children, two of them alive. She says her brothers are the fathers of her children. She was brought to the shelter here, and her brothers will be prosecuted.



JAMAICA'S DISASTER

Heavy Rains and Terrific Winds Lay Low the Banana Plantations and Devastate Crops — Railroads Are Blocked by Landslides and Washouts In Some Parts—Kingston Suffers Heavily.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 13.—(via Holland Bay.)—Torrential rains causing serious floods have fallen here since last Friday. The downpour continues, the daily fall averaging ten inches. In one day the precipitation amount to 13 inches.

Railway and electric car operations have been completely disorganized and telegraphic communication is possible only with the western part of the island. The remainder is cut off the land lines having been prostrated and the stations of the cable companies badly damaged.

Many cases of drowning are reported, while the property damage is incalculable. Communication from point to point on the coast is possible only by boat. Owing to the failure of the telegraph and telephone wires, details of the damage done in the interior are not yet available.

From the meagre facts obtainable it is known that landslides have occurred throughout the north and that in the northeastern section of the island railroad bridges had been washed away and tunnels blocked, completely stopping all railroad movements.

It is believed that train service in the northern portion cannot be renewed before two weeks.

Instances of the loss of life are reported, though no estimate of this can be safely made. Enormous damage has been done to the banana and other plantations. The power house of the electric power company here is under water and 600 feet of the company's pipe has been washed out of the ground. The largest bridge in Jamaica over a waterway has been twisted and rendered unsafe. The damage to property throughout the island can only be guessed at, but in Kingston alone the loss is estimated at $250,000.

No communication has been possible between the city and interior parts since the 6th.

I'D LIKE TO SEE THE LIVER OF A FAT MAN

This is the expression of a medical man who said that the liver of a fat man must present a wonderful sight when that man is alive and performing his regular duties. The liver is the largest organ in the human body. The stomach calls on the liver and so does the blood. If the liver gives to the digestive apparatus improper juices then the digestion is wrong. This is what makes people fat. The liver is not right. On popular demand we have made the famous Marmola Prescription into Tablets which are eaten after meals just like food and they digest that food as it should be digested. They remove fat already accumulated at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces per day and leave no wrinkles or flabby skin. Carry one in your vest pocket or purse when you dine out and eat what you will. Fasting, diet and exercise will not reduce fat. You only starve the body and by tearing down other organs you bring the fat with the rest of the destruction. Marmola tablets are sold by all druggists and in greater quantity than all the other so-called fat reducers combined. There must be merit in them or their sale could not be growing larger every month. Ask any druggist or if you prefer send 75 cents to The Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., and they will send you a large case of Marmola Tablets in plain package by mail.

Won't Occur Again.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—It was explained yesterday why Sir Wilfrid Laurier was attired in evening dress at Thursday's opening ceremonies. It appears that the right honorable gentleman's state uniform was sent to England for alterations and repairs and was not returned in time.

The absence of the gay-coated outriders from the Governor-General's carriage in the procession is accounted for by the fact that Earl Grey had not anticipated being in Canada for the opening of another Parliament and many of his servants had returned to the old country. No experienced men could be got to take their places.

MERGER IN FORMATION

Authoritative Statement Is Made to Effect That President of Coal Company Has Sold Big Block of Shares to Toronto Syndicate and the Merger Is Almost an Accomplished Fact at Last.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—The negotiations which have been going on during the past few days between E. R. Wood and Col. Sir Henry Pellatt, representing a syndicate of Toronto holders of Dominion Steel and Coal stock, and James Ross, president of the Dominion Coal Co., represented by Charles H. Cahan, in a legal capacity, were brought very near to a close last evening. The finishing touches, it is expected will be reached to-day.

It is authoritatively stated that the result will be the passing of a portion of the Ross Coal holdings, the whole of which represent a par value of $5,000,000 to the syndicate at a price somewhat under par.

It may also be added that the merger of Dominion Coal and Dominion Iron and Steel into one great company, to be known as the Canada

PRESIDENT JAMES ROSS.

In fact, as soon as the transfer of this large block of coal stock is made, active steps will be taken to bring about the union of the two companies, although it can be said that no basis as to prices of the two companies entering the merger has yet been reached or discussed.

Mr. Ross will still probably be the largest individual holder of coal stock when negotiations are opened for the uniting of the two corporations. It is stated that before Ross would sell a share of his coal common, gentlemen representing holdings to the value of $2,000,000 assured the president that they would not sell their stock even if par were offered, deciding to run their chances of becoming a part of the greater corporation to be created, consequently the president was relieved of the obligation which he for a long time felt, viz., that he was in duty bound to protect the minority shareholders, who had so loyally stood by him during the protracted difficulties with the other company.

Broke Promise; Is Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 12.—Just before he died yesterday from two bullet wounds received Thursday night, Samuel F. Morley, farm manager of a large estate, at Bloomfield, 20 miles north of Detroit, said that Bertha Lieutzau, cook at the farm, had shot him because he refused to marry her.

At the Pontiac jail Miss Lieutzau said: "Morley did me a great wrong in promising to marry me, and in refusing to do so, so I shot him. And if I were going to die in three minutes I would not ask forgiveness for what I have done. He got what was due him."

Flax Mill Suffers by Fire.

Lucan, Nov. 13.—Fire at 3 o'clock destroyed almost the entire season's crop of flax, the property of William Ward. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The mill will shut down in thirty days for the winter, throwing a number of men out of employment.

Parliament Buildings for Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Nov. 13.—It is reported that new Parliament Buildings will be erected, work to begin next year. The present site is likely to be retained.

Congestion at Soo Locks.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 13.—By the time the Poe Lock at the American canal is in commission again in about a week's time, the congestion at the Canadian Lock will be unprecedented. There are fifty-five boats now at the head of the Canadian Lock waiting their turn to lock through. Boats are suffering a delay of from 15 to 20 hours, awaiting their locking.

New Railway for Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Nov. 13.—A. S. Earling, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, is quoted as saying that an extension to Winnipeg from Fargo, N.D., will be begun next spring, cutting midway between the Casselton branch and the main line into Grand Forks, from there west to Larimore and from there direct north to Winnipeg.

Women and Children Leave.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 13.—Telegrams from Hazelton to Premier McBride say that women and children are being sent down the Skeena to Prince Rupert.

The Indians volunteer the assurance that outgoing canoes will not be molested.

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Temperance and Moral Reform League of this City, who have arranged for its Publication.

FURTHER OBJECTIONS TO LOCAL OPTION AND ANSWERS TO THEM

Last Saturday we published some of the objections to the introduction of Local Option in Peterborough that are heard once in a while. The following are some additional ones, with such incomplete answers to them as our space permits us to give. Again we would draw the attention of Peterborough ratepayers and citizens to the point that now is the time for these matters to be discussed through the press and on the public platform. Any arguments that the liquor interests may have against local option should be brought forward now, while there is plenty of time for them to be discussed. Be on your guard against statements that may be circulated during the last few days or couple of weeks of the campaign.

Good and Bad Feeling.

Objection No. 1.—If we adopt Local Option it will create bad feeling.

Let us look at this objection closely. What creates the bad feeling?

Is it not the bar-room and the attempts of bar-room votaries to defy and break the law after people have said that the bar-room will be abolished?

The law against dishonesty creates bad feeling amongst thieves. The law against perjury is disliked by liars.

Every law creates bad feeling amongst those who are prevented by that law from following the bent of their own inclinations or from preying upon the weakness of their fellowmen.

The remedy, however, is not a poorer law, but better people. Local Option will bring this about, for the moral uplift and educational improvement will work such a change in the individual and public mind as to bring about a better understanding and a better and more cordial sentiment all round.

Local Option Stays.

Objection No. 2.—Local Option has not been a success in other places.

Is it not strange, then, that where they have Local Option the people do not repeal Local Option by-laws?

It is still more strange that, instead of showing their dissatisfaction, the electors in Local Option municipalities have almost invariably increased their majorities in favour of that measure the first time they have had an opportunity.

If we take the results of the past four years we find that out of one hundred and twenty-eight opportunities to repeal Local Option by-laws by a simple majority of the votes polled, there had been only fifteen attempts up to last December, and only two of these attempts had been successful.

In one other case the majority was reduced by five; in the other thirteen cases the people sustained the measure by increased majorities.

Local Option is a most pronounced success, the people living under the operation of Local Option by-laws being themselves the judges. They ought to know. They do know. That is why they vote to sustain the measure.

Druggists Don't Do It.

Objection No. 3.—That it will only add to the pockets of druggists.

Druggists have no more right to sell under Local Option than they have under license, and the law regarding the sale by druggists is precisely the same under one condition as under the other. It is a base slander to insinuate that the druggists of the Province of Ontario are the kind of men who will engage in the illicit selling of liquor. They are not.

One way of answering this objection would be to ask the question: Why have druggists not become divekeepers in places already under Local Option?

The detectives of the Provincial License Department have detected practically no violations of the law by druggists. It would be business suicide for a druggist to do as this objection suggests they would do under Local Option. Druggists as a class are not either bad enough morally or foolish enough from a business standpoint to violate the law in this regard. Our Peterborough druggists have already agreed among themselves that they will endeavour to see that the provisions of the law, at it relates to them, are not evaded.

Making and Wasting.

Objection No. 4.—Local Option would mean the raising of taxes on account of the loss of revenues from license fees.

That this would not be the case is shown by the experience of other places in Ontario and of cities in the States, which have adopted Local Option. When a person raises this objection challenge them to name a single municipality anywhere in which the taxes have been raised as a result of the adoption of Local Option. They can't do it. While there is a direct loss in revenue, where no license fees are paid, this is far more than offset by the saving in police court and other criminal prosecutions, in the keeping of prisoners in the jail and by the increase in the value of property in places where the saloons are closed.

Under Local Option there may be some depreciation in the assessment of premises formerly under license, but there will be an increase in value in other property in the community, and the revenue from this increment of value in other property will far more than counterbalance the depreciation in assessment of licensed property and the loss of license fees.

If the money now wasted over the bar-room remains in the pockets, or is invested in the business of those who now spend it, or if it goes into the channels of ordinary trade, much of it is bound to take some taxable form. For example:

A hardware merchant in the town of Thornbury was asked for some specific instance of a man who had been benefitted by Local Option. There were two little girls in the store at the time, and the merchant did not answer. As the girls went out, he said the father of those two girls was at one time an almost worthless drunkard. Since Local Option had come into force he had straightened right up. He was now building a home for himself, and had paid him cash for all the hardware used in the construction of the house.

There was an instance in which the money which formerly went over the bar was assuming a taxable form in the community. The wealth of the community was being increased. This we would naturally expect to a greater or less extent. This we actually have.

A pertinent question is, Who pays the revenue? All revenue is and must be paid out of wealth created. If taxes are paid by individuals or institutions that do not produce something of value, then that institution or individual is simply the medium through which the producer pays. This is particularly the case regarding the bar-room. The bar-room produces nothing of value. Indeed, it is a positive bane to the community, but it is the medium by which revenue comes from the pockets of the producers into the coffers of the state. The difficulty is that it is a particularly expensive medium. Take it municipally. The aggregate municipal revenue in Ontario for the license year 1906-7 was $411,916.71. This was paid through 2,568 licensed bars or shops, or an average of $160.40 per license. Say that these licensed places take in on an average of only $5,000 during that year. It will be seen that the tax collection agency, which keeps so much out of every dollar it collects, is a rather expensive medium.

Who Is Hurt?

Objection No. 5.—Local Option is detrimental from an economic standpoint.

Yes and no. It is detrimental from the economic standpoint of the men who now sell liquor.

It is beneficial from the standpoint of the people who now spend their money for liquor, and of the tradesmen who will get this money, and of the employers, who will get better work from their employees, and of the wage-earners, who will have their working power increased, and of the community at large, because of the reduction in the expense now entailed by crime and pauperism and lunacy and sickness and death.

The question is: Whose economic interests are to be considered?—the interests of the few men who now make money by selling liquor, or those of the great mass of the community who are hurt by the liquor traffic?

Pay For What You Get.

Objection No. 6.—That the hotel men will require to raise rates on board and lodging in order to meet current and necessary expenses, thus causing the traveller and moderate drinker an unnecessary expense.

This objection may appeal to dishonest men, but will not appeal very strongly to those who wish to pay their own way in the world. People, rightly constituted mentally and morally, will take little satisfaction out of the fact, that they are securing their meals and lodgings cheaper because some poor fellow is being ruined at a bar-room. Most Canadian citizens are independent enough to want to get what they pay for and to pay for what they get.

The business of hotel keeping will be put upon a solid, sane business basis by bar-room abolition. It will then be regulated by the law of supply and demand, the same as other businesses. One difference, however, will be the hotels without bars will be safer for life and property.

Experience throughout the Province of Ontario and elsewhere has proven the fallacy of the cry that Local Option will injure the hotel. It has benefitted the hotels. It does not mean the raising of rates above a fair business level; these they should be any way.

The Bar Retards—Does Not Help Business

Objection No. 7.—Local Option will hurt business and people will go to other places to trade.

This objection might have more weight if there was any other place around Peterborough where they could go to trade. Lakefield and Norwood both have local option, and are well satisfied with it, so people would not go there to trade.

Let a thinking man walk up and down the streets of Peterborough. Let him look at the comfortable homes, at our splendid institutions, at our manufacturing establishments. Will he not ask the question, what distorted shapes must the grey matter in the cranium of some men have assumed when they imagine that all this, which is the test of true development in Peterborough, depends upon the maintaining of a few bar-rooms.

The proposition is, in the face of it, utterly absurd.

How can it kill business to make men more sober and more saving? How can it kill business to stop the leaks? What is the testimony of business men in this connection in Local Option town?

Southampton.

The town of Southampton was visited. Every business man in the town was interviewed, with this result: "Eighteen said business had been helped, nine noticed no appreciable difference, three said business had been hurt. All the three above named had been, and were, bitter opponents of Local Option. Many of the eighteen had formerly opposed the measure, but were now supporters of it.

Brighton.

The village of Brighton was visited. Two statements were placed before each merchant, one to the effect that Local Option had hurt the town, the other that it had helped the town. Not a man would sign the statement that it had hurt the town, and almost every merchant in the town put his name to the document that the town had been helped.

West Toronto.

West Toronto was visited. Practically every merchant interviewed testified to the good effect upon business of the enactment of Local Option.

A sample case is that of Mr. Whetter, a prominent provision dealer, who gave the following statement of his cash receipts before and after the closing of the bars:

September, 1903, under license	$2,148
September, 1904, under Local Option	2,690
September, 1905, under Local Option	3,427
September, 1906, under Local Option	3,791

Owen Sound.

In Owen Sound out of twenty-seven men interviewed, nearly all of these leading business men, only four were found opposed to Local Option.

Accommodation For The Public.

Objection No. 8—You cannot have proper accommodation for the public if you do away with the bar.

Those things that go to make a house of accommodation attractive or pleasant to the travelling public are not helped in any way by the bar. For example, if there were two hotels exactly equal in equipment, service, rates, except that one had a bar, the other had not, the average travelling man would most certainly prefer to go to the place without the bar. Why? It would be safer for life and property. It would be quieter. It would be more decent. It would be more pleasant for sight and sound, and smell without a bar than with it. In other words, a bar-room adds absolutely nothing to the desirability of a house of accommodation, but rather detracts from it.

The entire divorcement of liquor-selling from hotel-keeping would result in a vast improvement in the character of hotels. The hotel business would then be regulated by the law of supply and demand. People would get what they paid for. They would be able to pay for what they got.

As a matter of fact, to-day, in the Province of Ontario, there is just as good, and even better hotel accommodation in the towns and villages of the Province under no-license as there is in towns and villages the same size under license.

Local Option will not make a good hotel-keeper out of an incompetent man. It will not transform a liquor drinking establishment into a nice place for the accommodation of the travelling public. It will, however, make the hotels that are good hotels, cleaner, and brighter, and better in every way.

Local Option a Success in Cities.

Objection No. 9.—That while Local Option can be enforced in country districts it can't be enforced in a city the size of Peterborough.

If this is the case will some one please explain how it is that Local Option is enforced in over 50 cities in the United States, all of which are larger than Peterborough. Can't we enforce our laws as well as the people of the United States do theirs? Out of many letters that have been received in Peterborough from the mayors of cities in the United States where they have Local Option the following from the mayor of Somerville, Mass., is taken as a sample to prove that Local Option can be made a success in cities as large and larger than Peterborough. Somerville is a larger city than Peterborough. The letter follows:

Somerville, Mass., June 29, 1909.

Chairman Press Committee, Temperance Association, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—The open bar is prohibited in the city of Somerville. This has been the case ever since the Massachusetts Local Option law went into effect nearly twenty-eight years ago. At every annual municipal election during that time the voters of Somerville have voted for no-license in a most decisive manner.

The only licenses granted are sixth-class license to druggists for the sale of liquor for medicinal and mechanical purposes and to expressmen for the transportation of liquors into the city. Such licenses are granted annually and are, of course, governed by various restrictions of law.

We have not found any great difficulty in enforcing the law against the open bar, and our citizens are still, as they have been for many years, strongly against licensing saloons.

Very truly yours.

JOHN M. WOOD, Mayor.

Campaign Notes.

The question has been asked if License Inpector Stewart will be continued in office in Peterborough next January. When Mr. Saunders, of the Provincial Secretary's Department, was asked this question yesterday, he replied: "Most assuredly he will. It will be his duty then to see that the Local Option law is properly enforced."

Archbishop Ireland says: The great cause of social crime is drink. The great cause of poverty is drink. When I hear of a family broken up and ask the cause—drink. If I go to the gallows and ask its victim the cause, the answer—drink. Then I ask myself in perfect wonderment, Why do not men put a stop to this thing?

Clinton N. Howard, of Rochester, New York, possibly the greatest temperance speaker on the continent, will address the meeting for men in the Opera House to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. In the evening, right after church, he will address a mass meeting open to everybody. These meetings are proving very successful. Attend and hear this great speaker.

PROSECUTOR PAINTED MADAME STEINHEIL IN BLACK COLOURS

Paris, November 13.—The entire session of the Steinheil murder case yesterday was taken up with an impassioned plea by Advocate-General Trouard Riolle for the conviction of the woman who is charged with having killed her husband and her stepmother, and by reason of the fact that Mme. Steinheil's counsel, M. Aubin, a yet to be heard, doubt has arisen as to whether the fate of the woman will be given into the hands of the jury to-morrow.

The prosecutor showed neither pity nor mercy in his address to the jury. He painted the accused woman in the blackest of colours—as the most wicked type of woman, a born liar, and as one whose whole life, before and after the crime, justified the presumption of her guilt. He developed the theory that after the rich and generous lover, Chouanard, abandoned her in 1907, Mme. Steinheil realized she was almost at the end of her tether, and said that when she got Maurice Borterel in her clutches, she was determined to hold him even at the price of murder.

Against Mme. Steinheil's story that burglars had committed the crime, the prosecutor insisted that they were myths, and undertook to reconstruct the scenes which he said actually had been enacted, claiming that while the accused woman and her accomplices were trying Mme. Japy M. Steinhall was aroused by the noise and jumped out of bed. Thereupon they attacked and killed him, and returning to Mme. Japy's room, found her in a bad fright. M. Trouard Riolle even undertook to account for the stopping of the clock in the Steinhall home after the murder, advancing the theory that Mme. Steinhall, in her anguish, could not endure the ticking. An expert testified durin gthe trial that the clock had been stopped by hand as it was being wound up.

The argument of M. Truard Riolle left the impression that the testimony upon which it was based was too conflicting, and that his fine spun presumptions were too precise, leaving him vulnerable to his antagonist, M. Aubin.

INCREASE IN USE OF STEEL IS THREATENING SUPPLY OF ORE

Pittsburg, November 13. — It is announced by a prominent Steel Trust official that at the present rate of increase in the use of steel and iron all of the commercial ore now in sight, or of which there is any knowledge, may be consumed within the next forty years. Unless more deposits of this now universally used metal are meantime discovered, the world, or America in particular, may then have to pass out of and beyond the Age of Steel. The prospect is one of wide concern to all interested, producers and consumers alike.

The total production of iron ore in the United States in the twenty years 1909 to 1928 inclusive, is estimated by the Geological Survey at 511,000,000 tons, an allowance for imports and exports in the period makes the apparent consumption in the period about 525,000,000 tons. Though there are no accurate statistics, Steel Trust officials and Government experts agree in estimating the production of iron ore in the United States prior to 1889 at about 200,000,000 tons. Thus the total production to the beginning of 1909 is approximately 711,000,000 tons. Of this almost 36,000,000 tons was produced in 1908 alone. By the end of 1909 about 750,000,000 tons will have been produced.

In an official statement furnished by the United States Steel Corporation to Joseph G. Butler, Jr., the corporation's northern ores of present commercial standard are put at 1,250,000,000 tons, or one and two thirds times the total amount mined in the country to the present time. Besides this, the corporation estimates it has siliciams and other low grade ores in the North and Southern ores which will bring its grand total up to 2,362,000,000 tons. C. Willard Hayes, chief geologist of the United States Geological Survey, estimating for the Conservation Commission, gives the total of available ore at 4,788,000,000 tons. Butler's estimate of available ore is 3,062,000,000 tons.

As against these figures, there are estimates which show in sight about 75,000,000,000 tons of non-available ore—are not commercially usable under present standards of mining and manufacturing. Unless, therefore, some way can be found for using these very low grade ores, there is much speculation among steel experts as to what material may take the place of iron. So far as railway rails and tools are concerned, there is no satisfying substitute in sight. But with building it is different. The use of iron and steel in the framework of buildings is admittedly a fashion which may change. In Europe there is no such demand for iron and steel for building purposes as in America, because in Europe the skyscraper is considered not only an architectural monstrosity but also as a type of construction which cuts off light and air and therefore hurts the health of city communities, to say nothing of their danger and disadvantages in fire and earthquakes.,,

For these, and other reasons, it is the consensus of opinion among architects and builders that sooner or later there will be a return to stone in buildings and in bridges.

IMPORTANT FACTS

"A quart of milk is practically equal to a pound of beef in food value."

Prof. Dean, of the Ontario Agricultural College: "The composition of wheat is higher in protein and heat of combustion than any other cereal for human food."

Results of analysis by Bureau of Chemistry by U. S. Dept. of Agriculture:

ORANGE MEAT is simply the whole wheat berry, steam cooked, mixed with salt, flaked and toasted. This process develops in each wheat berry the highest percentage of grape sugars. It converts the starches into a form most easily digested and assimilated. ORANGE MEAT and milk is a perfect food

PAINS

In Neck, Shoulders, Arms, Joints, Muscles

This means Rheumatism, the disease that next to Tuberculosis plays greatest havoc in the nation. But there is a cure—Ferrozone—a concentrated vegetable remedy that has the power to neutralize Uric Acid, and therefore it cures permanently.

FERROZONE CURES

"For years I had been rheumatic. I tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints and muscles; these swelled, caused excruciating pains, and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened, my shoulders were lame, and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength, and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Ferrozone. Every day I took Ferrozone I felt better; it eased the painful joints, gave me energy, and a feeling of new life. Ferrozone cured my rheumatism, cured it so that not an ache has ever returned. Even damp weather no longer affects me."

RETURNS FROM WEST

Mr. Robt. H. Leary has returned from a busines strip in the west, more impressed than ever with the vast wealth of the country still to be developed and with the business enterprise shown in every town, city and hamlet He visited his property in Southern Manitoba and afterwards travelled through several of the provinces. An adequate idea of the conditions throughout the west can only be obtained by actually going over the ground. A few years ago the settlers preceded the railway and trips into the interior had to be made in carts. This has ben changed and so rapid and general is the railway construction that new lines are going ahead of the settler and rails are being laid in every direction. Every kind of business is prospering, "even the livery business," Mr. Leary remarked and told an incident in which he had seen a traveller pay $2.00 to have his trunk drawn a distance of ofur bolcks. Mr John Fraser, who a number of years ago was engaged by the Higgins Hardware Co., is now the proprietor of his own store, and is rated at $100,000. One farmer that he visited had 90,00 bushels of grain in his barns, from the past season's work. Only a small portion of the country is yet broken and when it is more developed the question may possibly be how to handle the harvest. The lowest yield of wheat during the year was in the Alameda district in Southern Alberta, the average being 8 to 12 bushels an acre, and the heaviest crops wer obtained in the Saskatoon territory, where the average was 30 to 40 bushels an acre

BRIDGE AT SQUAW RIVER ASSUMED

Committee From County Council Well Pleased With the Work.

Warden R. N. Scott of Smith Township, acompanied by Reeve Fife, of Otonabee, Chairman of Roads and Bridges Committee, Reeve Shaw of Harvey, Reeve Purdue of Ennismore, and Reeve Coben of Galway visited the Squaw River Bridge, which has been assumed by the County of Peterborough, and just rebuilt at an expense of $500. The work has been done by Mart Windover, under the supervision of Reeve Shaw, to whose efforts in the County Council the wrok is due. The old piers having been found good, they were raised some three feet and a new truss bridge 52 feet in length ,between piers was put in place, the timbering of the bridge is sawn cedar, and the flooring four inch cedar. Then at each end there is 60 feet of stone filling. Altogether the Committee were entirely satisfied with the work and congratulated the foreman and Reeve Shaw upon the completion of a good job.

On the way, the Committee made an inspection of the Nogey's Creek Bridge and it is understood that they were agreed upon the necessity of rebuilding, as it is now in a dangerous condition. The piers have seen over thirty years service and the stringers are getting rotten. The bridge is dilapitated and might in the event of an accident cause expense to the County. The bridge is 130 feet in length, and if the work should be undertaken at the approaching session of the County Council, it is probable that it will be replaced with a permanent job of concrete piers and steel truss.

Last year, Reeve Ingram had Deer Bay Creek Bridge renewed, now Reeve Shaw has had Squaw river bridge taken over by the County and renewed, and when the Nogey's Creek bridge is completd as proposed, Harvey will have its bridges in good condition. The Reeve of Harvey always has a big contract in getting the needs of his Township before the County Council, for it is peculiarly situated as regards lakes and creeks and rivers and is quite unable to shoulder such expenditures. Fortunately the County Council has always taken a generous view, not only with Harvey but with all the rear townships and they may well be satisfied with th efair and liberal treatment received from the County.

MAN WITH GUMPTION

Give the man of gumption a job and you can forget it in the confidence that it will be done. Give the other follow the same job and six weeks afterward upon a casual inquiry as to the progress of the work, you will find in all probability that the job has never been started. Some trifling difficulty, which the man of gumption would have gone ahead and solved, has stood in the way, or perhaps your questions will receive the answer so common with a man of this type. "I have not got around to it yet." "To-morrow" is his favorite expression and so often the to-morrow referred to never comes. Then again there are men with just a little activity. The job will be started but done in the easiest way. Thoroughness and good workmanship are no lincorporated in their code of morals, and the result is a slovenly piece of work or a temporary makeshift when repairs are necessary.

A farce comedy entitled "All Charley's Fault" will be produced on Tuesday and Wednesday night of this week in St. Peter's Hall, under the direction of Mr. George Lynch. The comedy has been thoroughly rehearsed and should prove very entertaining. The caste is as follows:

Gen. Waldo Blake, a retired merchant .....Jas. J. Dorris
Charley Blake, his son ....Jas. M. O'Brien
Harry Dodsworth, a friend of Charley's .....Herb. Callaghan
Jimmie Huges, No. 1999 W.U.T. Co. .....Egbert Kelly
Professor Krieger, a professor of music .....Leo Derocher
Margaret Blake, Eleanor Blake, daughters of the general ....Miss Margaret Derocher, Miss Gertie Clancy.
Chipps, a coloured butler..Stan Lewis
Kitty, in the general's employ .... Miss Carrie White

During the evening specialties will be introduced by Miss Lavina Hallihan and Mr. J. Harry Quinlan. An orchestra will be in attendance. Admission 25c. and 50c.

Mr. Lynch has given the preparation much of his attention and the farce should be very enjoyable. The proceeds will go to the fund for a library for the Separate Schools.

SHOT HIMSELF WITH LAST BULLET AFTER LONG AND EXCITING CHASE

Rainy River Bank Robber Run to Earth in St. Louis—Detectives After Him Since Last July—Last Lap of Pursuit a Running Battle.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—Andras Slander, who was wanted for robbing a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Rainy River, Ont., on July 2, of $5,000 in Canadian currency, committed suicide Saturday afternoon by blowing out his brains in a house in this city where he had taken refuge after a running fight of over two miles with four policemen.

Fifty shots were fired during the running battle, in which both Slander and one of the officers were seriously wounded.

Chief of Detectives Smith had been searching for Slander since last July, when a downtown broker reported to him that a stranger whose actions had aroused his suspicions had changed a $1,000 note issued by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Detectives surrounded Slander's house and one of them approached the front door and rang the bell. The woman came to the door, but Slander, realizing that he was cornered, leaped out of a side window with a magazine revolver in one hand and a satchel in the other.

Landing on the ground, Slander opened fire on the officers, firing six shots. He then turned and ran, with Wardenniski and his son in close pursuit, firing as they ran, while the other officers turned into side streets on opposite sides in an effort to head off the fugitive, who set them a hot pace, stopping occasionally to fire back at the officers. The battle was carried on for some distance, and Slander was pressed so close that his nerve gave way and he took refuge in the shadow of a house, fired six more shots and then turned his gun on himself.

During the running battle Detective Wardenniski was struck by bullets several times, but did not stop. After the fight had ended it was found that the bullets had passed through his clothing in several places with no more effect than slight wounds, the most serious of which was on his right hip.

May Be Niagara Robber.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—Chief of Detectives Smith has partly identified Andras Slander, a fugitive, who committed suicide, when surrounded by detectives, as one of the robbers who attacked a clerk of the Canadian Express Co., at Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 7, and stole $14,000.

Slander killed himself Saturday with a revolver after a four-mile pursuit during which many shots were exchanged with detectives. The officers were seeking to arrest Slander on the charge of robbing the Rainy River branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Rainy River, Ont.

His 19-year-old wife is under arrest.

City Building Visited By Fire And Deluged By Water

Hallway and Small Rooms on Third Floor Scorched on Saturday Evening—Offices of the City Officials Were Fairly Well Soaked.

LOSS WILL BE SMALL

The building known as the City Hall, at the corner of Simcoe and Water St., was deluged with water on Saturday night as the result of a fire in a hallway on the third floor. The alarm was rung in about 7 o'clock and the brigade responding quickly, arrived opportunely. There is a hallway leading east from the band room and leading off it on the north side are two rooms, one a lavatory, the other for storing the smallpox tents and furniture. The fire, the origin of which is unknown, was raging in these rooms and in the hallway and the flames had licked their way along the passage blackening and scorching the band room door.

Although confined to these quarters the fire must have been in progress tense and the fire had eaten its way into the walls.

Deluged Offices.

The water thrown on the fire poured through the walls as through a sieve deluging the offices on the first and second floors. Chief Roszel's office suffered considerably as also did the assessors' and city engineer's; the treasurer's and tax collectors' were also flooded.

It is believed that the fire started by the carless throwing of a cigar stub, or match, in a corner of the hallway by someone coming out of the lavatory. No one seemed to know the extent o fthe damage, but the guess ranged between $500 and $1,000, and it may be even much less than $500. An Examiner reporter found Chief Roszel surveying his dampened office this morning. The inconvenience caused him has not been great, and in a few days the room will be thoroughly dried.

Another Raid On Blind Pigs At Cobalt Last Night

Special to The Examiner.

Cobalt, Nov. 15.—A sensational raid of Blind Pigs was pulled off last night by Inspector Calidbick, under direction of Provincial License Department. Twelve keepers were arrested and more are expected to be rounded up during the day. Raiders worked from midnight till six this morning. Raid came as a result of investigation of James Miller, private detective from Toronto, who, in course of two weeks laid about forty informations.

The Line Dividing St. Peter's Parish For The New Church

With the occupancy of the new Catholic church beginning with next Sunday, the parish will be divided into two parts. The boundary, as announced by Rev. Father McColl yesterday, is as follows: For the city the boundary begins at the Otonabee river, follows the C. P. R. to Townsend street, and west on Townsend street to the C. G. E. works. The former members of the cathedral congregation residing south of this line, will constitute the congregation of the new church. The boundary for people living in the country begins at the Locks bridge, and follows the road through Downer's Corners, running due east to the eastern boundary of the parish. Roman Catholics residing south of line will also be members of the Church of the Sacred Heart.

WILL BE A LAY READER

Mr. Herbert G. Dudley Was Formally Admitted Last Night.

At the evening service at St. Luke's yesterday after the last hymn, the rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, formally admitted Mr Herbert George Dudley lay reader of the church. The license is issued by His Lordship the Bishop, and entitles the owner to officially take part in the readering of the services and the catechising of the church.

POTATOES TO CHARITY

Messrs. Turner and Sons and Tom Marks Collected Two Barrels in Contest for Prize.

As a result of the heaviest potato contest at the matinee on Saturday afternoon two barrels were received and without any doubt they were as fine a collection of the tuber family as could be gotten together. A prize was offered for the largest potato and as the house was crowded there was a big pile after all had been received. Messrs. Turner & Sons and Mr. Tom Marks gave a barrel to the Children's Aid Society and the other to the House of Providence.

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

LIVE UP TO IT.

The concerted action of Council, Board of Trade, and citizens, which resulted in the adoption of the resolution at the head of this column, is attracting considerable complimentary attention in the press of the province. The example of Peterborough is quoted as one worthy of being followed. This throws an additional responsibility upon all parties concerned, of living up to the resolution. In deciding to gain greater publicity, we are automatically getting publicity. The eyes of the country have been for the time being focussed upon Peterborough. We cannot afford to fail to take action and live up to the letter and spirit of the resolution printed at the head of this column.

HONESTY AND HONESTY.

The fact of Bishop DuMoulin of Niagara appealing against his income assessment, because it was too low, and the fact of a Baptist congregation insisting upon paying taxes on church property, exempted by law, will probably be regarded in this material age as quixotic honesty. But is it more than is to be expected from an honest man or a conscientious congregation? Analysed, too low assessment and exemption from taxation practically throw an additional burden of taxation upon the poor or those little able to bear it. To this extent, they amount to oppression of the poor. If we are to live up to the divine standard we must live up to the divine example. Our Blessed Lord went fishing to get money to pay his taxes, as an example of the duty of rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and as leading up to the duty of rendering unto God the things that are God's. The world is full of sentimental religion, but the practical religion that lives up to its meaning has a good deal more than standng room. The world has two standards of morality. There are thousands of persons who would scorn to steal a farthing, but will, with a well salved conscience, smuggle through the Customs, goods to an amount to rob the King's purse of many dollars. And a good many of us feel a good deal like this in relation to evasion of local taxes, and are not in a position to extend too much sympathy to the unusual honesty of the bishop and Baptist congregation mentioned.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

It is sometimes wholesome discipline to be brought to see ourselves as others see us, but when we are seen by others with favourable eyes, the experience is more or less agreeable, the degree of pleasure depending upon the extent to which we are worthy of the praise bestowed. Below is found the impressions of an old country journalist, who has been visiting Canada, as sent to his newspaper:

"I have travelled all the world, but I have never been in a country (and I do not except the United States) where energy is so thoroughly a god. 'Get on or get out' is a Canadian principle. The country is new, the internal resources are enormous, the possibilities of money-making are great, and the Canadian knowing this, is hard at it. His coat is off, he has squared himself to the work, he is out for the dollars, and is in deadly, grim earnest. He knows few pleasures, and asks for none. By sheer, hard work he means to win through. From his American neighbours he has borrowed a good many of those tactics which constitute 'hustle.' He is always in the jump, ready for any enterprise, progressive, and not a little unscrpulous. His greatest boast is that he is willing at any moment to do anything—from loading hay to running a railway, and this versatility he claims is a prime essential of the Canadian character. He is loyal to the British flag, but he demands it to be understood that it is also the Canadian flag. He is quite undemonstrative about you. He has not the slightest curiosity as to who your father or your grandfather was. He is more concerned in what you are capable of, and whether he can use you to his and, incidentally, your advantage. He is brutally frank, and he admires success with all his heart and spirit."

This may seem flattery, but if he means to convey the idea that Canadians as a class are wedded to money making by methods "not a little unscrupulous," that we allow ourselves no pleasure, he is overshooting the mark. The most important part of the old country journalist's characterization consists in his conveying the impression to his transatlantic readers that in Canada there is no room for drones and seekers after "soft sits"; that in Canada the price of success is work and in every way being in earnest.

COUNTY HIGHWAY SYSTEMS.

Mr. J. P. Downey, M.P.P., South Wellington, in an article published in the Canadian Farm, on highway improvement, says:

The Government, which, by commission or otherwise, undertakes the making and maintaining of our leading highways will have its own troubles. How are the favoured roads to be selected? What constitutes a "through" road? Where are the Government operations to begin, and where shall they end? Will the counties not touched by through roads—within the meaning of the act—be content to pay for through roads for others? And then there are the counties that have completed, or nearly completed, their good roads systems. What of them?

The difficulties suggested would be easily overcome, if there were a will to overcome them. It has been done in several of the states across the border and could be done here. If a capable and honest commission were appointed, to select a system of leading roads in a county, they could easily do it. It would be easy if that were the object to define "where government operations were to begin and end." A commission's selection of the roads to constitute a county system of leading roads would have to be accepted and would be fair, for the commission would not be influenced by local prejudices and preferences. Where county roads are already constructed an equivalent to their cost could be contributed to be spent upon other roads in the county. Then there need be no friction other than the invariable discontent expressed by the faultfinder that we always have with us.

A FINE TRIBUTE.

It is but the due of Edward II to say that no man has come to the highest station in any country in the last century who has gained higher fame than he because of the excellence of his work on the throne. This is especially felt in contrast with what was expected of the King because of his easy habits while Prince of Wales.

Edward has done for England what no one imagined that any monarch could do. By his alliances and understandings, the result of his personal journeys and interviews with leaders and rulers in other countries, he has regained for England the prestige which was held at the close of the Napoleonic wars. He has also contributed more than any other person living to the ideal of the monarch as the centre of the imperial power and prestige, and in that capacity has conducted himself with so much wisdom and tact as to have aroused the enthusiasm of his subjects in all parts of the world.

It is but natural, then, that his actual birthday should be celebrated as well as his official one, and that the best wishes should go out for the preservation of a life which is proving so valuable as the peaceful leader to so many millions of human beings as the vast multitudes who acknowledge the sovereignty of King Edward VII.

King Edward deserves all that can be said of him in praise of his being a model monarch. He knows his place as a constitutional ruler and keeps it. He has a rare gift of common sense, unerring tact and a good heart. As a peacemaker by peaceful methods, history does not furnish a superior.

TAXATION, NOT REVENUE.

Some persons are sometimes puzzled by reading that a certain form of customs taxation does not increase the revenue. Here is a concrete example published by the Winnipeg Free Press, which says:

At the end of last month the duty on champagne entering the United States advanced from $6 to $9.60 a case, and on other wines and liquors there was a proportionate increase. Six big liners and a number of smaller craft, loaded almost to the entire capacity with wines and brandies from across the Atlantic, arrived in New York within thirty-six hours of the change of the law. The importers of these cargoes have paid the old duty, but they will sell at the same prices as are charged for wines and liquors that have paid the new duty. The buyer must always pay a price in proportion to whatever duty is in force. On the champagne that arrived at New York in time to be taxed $6, instead of $9.60, he will pay the same price as if the 9.60 tax had been levied, the $3.60 being extra profit to the importer. It is estimated that the total of this tax levied by the importers upon consumers will be $1,100,000. It will be the result of the tariff, but it will not go into the United States treasury.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY.

St. Thomas Times.

James J. Hill is the latest convert to the theory of Malthus. He believes that the time has been reached when the food supply of the world is barely equal to the demand therefor. America, which, for the past century has been an exporter of wheat and food stuffs, will soon go into the importing business, acording to Mr. Hill.

It cannot be denied that his views are worthy of respect. The subject is the specialty of his life, and his familiarity with it accounts for the great success he has made. In his early manhood he saw that new fields of wheat production would have to be added to those already far west, in the region of Lake Michigan, and he headed for the Mississippi and the Red River. Later on he struck out for the Pacific, his every new enterprise based on the belief that whatever served to widen the area of agricultural production would justify itself in business returns. He saw Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, and other grain states come into their own, and he contributed more than any other man to ensure their settlement. Now he holds that the end of extension is in sight, that the population to be fed in the United States is increasing, has increased, out of proportion to the increase in wheat production. This spells Canada's opportunity. This country has the chance before her of becoming the granary of the world. In the western wheat belt enough grain can be raised to supply the deficiency that Mr. Hill foresees. Canada should prepare, then, to meet the situation. To do so, she must settle the western lands and place under cultivation the large tracts of virgin soil still unclaimed; and she must improve the transportation facilities. Political partizans who opposed the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific must now realize how narrow and shortsighted their opposition was.—St. Thomas Times.

Women

Weak, lame or aching backs are the first sign of Kidney Trouble.

Under ordinary conditions they ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Miss Alberta B. Clarke, Stoney Creek, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with kidney trouble for several years; my back was weak, I had such terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night and tried everything without any benefit. Meantime a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got four boxes and they completely cured me. I now feel as well as I ever did and would advise everyone suffering from Kidney Disease to try them."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

Blacksmithing and Woodworking Business For Sale

The undersigned offers for sale his blacksmithing and woodworking business, situated on the side line between Peterborough and Norwood at Jermyn P. O. The [illegible] shop building is two stories, 30 x 40, with cement floor and cement forge. The upper story is the full size of the blacksmith shop (22x42). Attached to the blacksmith shop is the post office building, which may be entered from the blacksmith shop. Adjoining is a first class brick dwelling, with frontage 18 and 26 feet, with kitchen. It is an L-shaped house with cement cellar. Also verandah and beautiful lawn. There is a good stable, with cement floor, three stalls, with straw barn attached. The land comprises one-half acre. This is one of the best blacksmith stands in the County of Peterborough. The farmers all patronize this shop. My reason for giving up business is on account of having one of my legs fractured I am unable to continue the shoeing. For further particulars, write to

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."—Mrs. E. HANSON, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

Grapiteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MERGER IS CERTAIN.

James Ross Sells 50,000 Shares of Stock to Syndicate.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—James Ross, president of the Dominion Coal Co., and possessor of 50,000 out of a total of 150,000 shares, constituting the common stock of the company, has sold out his entire holdings conditionally to E. R. Wood, the head of the purchasing syndicate, at $95 per share, or about 3 points above the market quotation, thus transferring the control of the company to gentlemen favorable to the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., or at least favorable to a merger being consummated between these two great corporations.

For several weeks past this buying syndicate, represent by Col. Sir Henry Pellatt and E. R. Wood of the Queen City, and J. C. McCuaig of this city have been loading up with Dominion Steel common, and it is understood that they controlled a few days ago no less than 45,000 shares.

Mr. Ross sells 50,000 shares, and the holders of the 45,000 shares have assured Mr. Wood of their willingness to throw in their lot with the new regime, and it is understood that 25,000 additional shares were financed on Saturday, twenty-five gentlemen here and in Toronto having underwritten one thousand shares each. Circulars will be sent to the holders of the remaining 30,000 shares, and if they will not consent to share the fortunes of the others, the purchasing syndicate are bound to buy them at the same price received by James Ross, viz., $95 per share.

When interviewed yesterday evening, James Ross confirmed the report that he had agreed to sell.

Mr. Ross stated that he understood the real purchaser of his shares is the Dominion Iron & Steel Co. Many difficulties had arisen in the past between the Coal Company and the Steel Company, and after full consideration he had reached the conclusion that similar difficulties could best be avoided in the future by a merger of the companies.

ONE HUNDRED DROWN.

British Steamer Rams Frenchman Off Singapore.

Singapore, Nov. 15.—The mail steamer La Seine of the Messageries maritime service, running between Java and Singapore, and on her way to this port, was in collision early yesterday morning with the steamer Onda, of the British India Line, and sank within two minutes.

Seven European passengers, including Baron and Baroness Benisaky, the captain of La Seine, five European officers, and 88 others, comprising native passengers and members of the crew were drowned.

The accident occurred about four o'clock in the morning in a thick haze. The vessels were steaming at a good speed and the La Seine was cut almost in half. There was no time for panic nor for any attempt on the part of the officers of the foundering steamer to get out their boats.

The majority of those on board were caught in their berths and carried down with the vessel.

The force of the collision brought the Onda to almost a dead stop and her engines were at once slowed and boats lowered.

The rescue work proved thrilling, for not only were the rescuing parties impeded by the dark, but shoals of sharks were already attacking those clinging to pieces of wreckage in the water.

Sixty-one persons from the ill-fated steamer were finally dragged into the boats and brought by the Onda to this port. Many of them had been bitten by sharks and several are severely injured.

Liberal M.P. For New Tariff.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Knowles, Liberal member for Moose Jaw, has startled the Government with a notice of resolution calling for a reduction of the tariff duties on "such articles and commodities which are the necessities of the agricultural classes."

While it has been a matter of common knowledge that the western folk do not see eye to eye with either the Government or the Opposition on the question of the tariff, this is the first definite outbreak by a western Liberal.

It is suggested that Mr. Knowles does not mean business, and is merely temporising with his constituents. His resolution is scanty in information as to what he wants exactly.

Stormy at Fort William.

Fort William, Nov. 15.—A storm which set in Saturday extended over the entire Lake Superior district. Saturday and yesterday the wind was blowing at 36 miles an hour. Early Saturday morning snow fell to a depth of 2 inches, but this quickly disappeared in the mild weather.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not stop here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills makes a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

DARE YOU EAT HEARTILY?

Or Is Every Good Meal Followed By Discomfort?

So certain are we that "Little Digesters" will cure Indigestion every time—for every person—for YOU—that we will give you your money back without a word if they fail.

You can enjoy a good, hearty meal of wholesome food three times a day, if you take a tablet after each meal.

Read how "Little Digesters" cured Mr. Thody.

"For two years I suffered with Indigestion, and obtained no relief from anything I took, including several prescriptions from prominent physicians. Every meal was followed by acute pain until I feared to eat, consequently became run down for lack of nourishment. "Little Digesters" were recommended to me by a friend and I tried them with remarkable results, two boxes completely curing me. It is three months since I took any, and I have not suffered a pain, so matter how heartily I eat. I would certainly recommend them to anybody suffering with Indigestion." (Signed) E. THODY.

June 12, 1909.

"Little Digesters" can be had from your druggist or by mail from Coleman Medicine Co., for 25 cents a box. 26

Shot For a Moose.

Kenora, Nov. 15.—While out moose hunting near here, Duncan French, a farmer, was mistaken for a moose by C. E. Hanon, and shot through the breast. The bullet came from a 32 rifle, and tore a terrible wound through French's breast and lung. Recovery is considered hopeless. The two men were in a thick bush at the time and were only ninety feet apart.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Booth's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Peterborough cures are the proof.

Mrs. R. Duncan, of 115 McDonnel street, Peterborough, Ont., says:

"Some thirteen years ago I suffered with a severe attack of LaGrippe that had up until this spring left me in a weakened and miserable condition. The kidneys had been disordered through this and became so inactive that doctors had pronounced Bright's disease and termed my case incurable. My back was very weak and the pains across the kidneys were most excruciating. I was unable to sleep through the night, the desire to urinate was so frequent and irregular. The urine was highly coloured and contained a quantity of whitish sediment. I became so discouraged through my years of suffering that I had no care for anything. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at Jury & McDermid's Pharmacy and I tried them. The first box convinced me of their merits. I used three boxes of Booth's Kidney Pills and have been entirely cured. I am like a new person, well and strong ,and can sleep through the night and awake refreshed and ready for the day."

Sold by dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., L't'd., Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian agents.

Indian Business Settled.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 15.—Promptitude in despatching police reinforcements, together with misapprehension on the part of the numbers of the new-comers, has temporarily, at least, ended the tense situation at Hazelton.

The ringleaders among the Kispiox chiefs were tried Saturday for rioting and appropriating Government supplies and sentenced to from one to three months with hard labor. They are to be sent down the river in canoes at once. Other serious charges were diplomatically abandoned. Efforts will be made to apprehend the agitators now exciting the villages and preaching rebellion.

John Gibson Re-elected.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—John Gibson was re-elected president of the Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada at a meeting of the association in St. George's Hall on Saturday night. Robert Gemmell was elected first vice-president, and S. M. Sterling second vice-president. For the office of treasurer E. Fielding and John H. Kenney were nominated.

Fell From Window and Was Killed.

London, Nov. 15.—J. B. McVicar, chef at London Asylum for Insane, was found under one of the windows Saturday morning, dying a few hours later.

He returned to the asylum from the city about midnight, and according to the night watchman, went at once to his own room, on the fourth floor. It was on the ground directly beneath his window he was found.

D.U.R. to Pay Street Rental.

Windsor, Nov. 15.—The Detroit United Railway started paying $300 per day rental for the use of the streets on which the franchises have expired. This plan was evolved by Corporation Counsel Hally and passed by council a few days ago.

Child Drowns In Cistern.

Wyoming, Ont., Nov. 15.—Yesterday afternoon the youngest son of George Brown was missed from the house, and upon search being made was found dead in a cistern near the back door.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Death come to Jehiel C. Baker, aged 77, in a barber's chair at St. Thomas, on Saturday evening. He had just taken his seat for a shave.

Thomas Hawkins, aged 55 was badly injured by being knocked down by an automobile Saturday night on River road, Niagara Falls, Ont., breaking his hip bone.

Two vessels, the Prince Rupert and Prince George, the nucleus of the G.T.P. Pacific fleet, are being built in England, and next spring will run between Prince Rupert and Seattle.

It is announced that the next Roman Catholic consistory will not be held before Easter, and it is also stated that the plan to create a new American cardinal has been abandoned.

Joseph Murphy, veteran actor, famed for his work in "Kerry Gow" and worth $3,000,000, has been married to Miss May Frymier, an actress. Murphy is seventy years old and his bride is twenty-five.

Daring Safe Cracking.

New York, Nov. 15.—Within range of the brilliant lights of Broadway, expert cracksmen blew open the safe of a shoe company's store some time early yesterday, and got away with $4,000 in cash.

In the store itself the lights were all on, one brilliant cluster directly over the safe, which was within four feet of the street window.

Rejected Suitor Suicides.

Boils and Pimples.

Whenever your complexion is unnatural, your skin in an unhealthy condition, your face covered with blotches and pimples, when boils and festering sores abound then your blood is bad. You can best cleanse it with that purely vegetable compound, Burdock Blood Bitters, which safely and promptly renovates the blood and invigorates the entire system.

Boils Cured.

Mr. C. A. Mussen, Bawlf, Alta. writes: "I recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as being the best blood purifier there is. About three years ago I was greatly troubled with boils and our druggist advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles I have not had a boil or even a pimple."

Pimples Cured.

Mr. J. Morehouse, Zealand Station, N.B., writes: "My face and neck were covered with pimples, and I tried all kinds of remedies, but they did me no good. I went to many doctors, but they could not cure me. I then tried Burdock Blood Bitters and I must say it is a wonderful remedy for the cure of pimples."

Do You Need Shaking?

Like a Stove Choked with Ashes.

You have probably noticed how much more briskly the fire burns when freshly built or shaken. You doubtless remember too, how much more briskly you used to get around when you were in your 'teens or twenties.

The cases are parallel. You are like the fire that is choked with ashes.

The cells which compose the body are constantly dying and being renewed. Then there is the indigestible part of the food to be removed. This cleansing of the body is the duty of the bowels, kidneys and skin. When any of these organs fail to do their work properly, the system becomes clogged and the fire of life burns low.

There is an increasing tendency towards constipation, kidney trouble and poisoned blood as one grows older. In most cases, the need is felt of something to regulate these vital organs.

"Fruit-a-tives" the famous fruit medicine, does this perfectly. It acts directly on the liver, increasing the flow of bile and causes the bowels to move regularly and naturally. "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest of kidney regulators, overcoming the tendency to congestion of the kidneys and strengthening these organs. "Fruit-a-tives also stimulates the skin to renewed action.

By their combined action on bowels, kidneys and skin, "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the system free of all poisons and renews the vigor of youth.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c—or may be obtained from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

WILL RESIDE IN PETERBOROUGH

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bishop Remembered by Belleville Friends Before Their Departure.

The following extract from the Belleville Intelligencer refers to an honour extended to a gentleman, Mr. H. M. Bishop, on the occasion of his leaving Belleville to take residence at 531 Homewood Ave.:

On Saturday evening about 9.30 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bishop of North Front street, were given an agreeable surprise by their Belleville friends. The event took the form of a surprise party and a surprise it certainly was as Mr. and Mrs. Bishop had not the slightest intimation as to what was to take place. The visitors came prepared to place upon record the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are held, having with them a bountiful supply of oysters, cakes, etc., also a handsome Morris chair, which was presented to Mr. Bishop as a remembrance of the very pleasant business and social relations he has had while a resident of this city. The ladies took charge of the refreshments under the directorship of Mrs. A. C. Faulkner, who was unanimously voted matron, while Mr. A. C. Faulkner acted as master of ceremonies and made the presentation with appropriate remarks expressive of the regret felt by the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Bishop to their new home in Peterborough. Speeches were made by Wm. Simmons of the Belleville Produce Co.; S. Pine, G. A. Barrager, of the L. H. C.; A. Mather, G. Bonisteel, E. Bennett, A. Hogle, all expressing regret for losing Mr. and Mrs. Bishop from Belleville, and wishing them health, happiness and prosperity.

Mr. Bishop replied, thanking the donors for the gift, not for its intrinsic value but for the feeling which prompted such a move on the part of his friends. Mr. Bishop said he would always remember his circle of friends in Belleville with pleasant recollections and assured them that his latchstring would be ever full length to all of them at 531 Homewood Ave., Peterborough.

Mr. Bishop makes Peterborough his headquarters as travelling agent of the Pedlar People, Oshawa.

THIRTEEN TRAINS PASSED THROUGH

There were thirteen double-header trains passed through the city yesterday on the Grand Trunk. The traffic on this road between Midland and Peterborough is exceedingly heavy at the present time. Mr. C. Noyes, the Charlotte Street gateman stated this morning that He could not remember a Sunday in years on which there were so many trains as yesterday.

TO HAVE A BEAUTIFUL SKIN

About one sixth of all the waste matter discharged from the human body passes through the pores of the skin. If the skin is to be kept beautiful the pores must be kept in healthful condition by bathing and by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment which overcomes all chafing and irritation of the skin and cures pimples, eruptions and the many forms of eczema.

YOUR WINTER TRIP.

At this time of the year a great many people go West or South to enjoy the milder climate of California, Mexico, or Florida. Are you going? If so bear in mind that the Grand Trunk and connecting lines offer excellent train service and equipment.

OXO

A friend to the whole Household as well as to the Cook.

OXO is a splendid health-preserver. In this changeable autumn weather it is simply invaluable. When the system is weakened by colds and influenza, OXO quickly renews vitality.

You should use it in this way as well as in the kitchen for making soups, sauces and gravies.

MANY PASSENGERS TOOK PART IN "A JOY RIDE ON THE WATER WAGGON"

Two Eloquent Addresses by Clinton N. Howard, the Well Known Temperance Orator, Were Heard by Large Audiences Yesterday---A Witty and Forcible Speaker.

Clinton N. Howard will need no introduction to Peterborough people after his addresses at the Grand Opera House yesterday when he gave his well known lecture "A Joy Ride on the Water Waggon." The famous temp erance orator, who claims as his quantities of that quality known as home the city of Rocheater, N.Y., addressed two very large meetings yesterday in the interests of the local option campaign and made a most favourable impression. His style is most convincing. He possesea vast quantities of that quality known as personal magnetism and his bright smile and his gift of humour coupled with the witty stories with which he points his arguments, give his a hold upon his audience, which he uses to the best advantage. At yesterday afternoon's meeting he was en rapport with his hearers as soon as his winning smile flashed over the audience, and he succeeded in holding their undivided attention until he finished his remarks.

In his opening sentences Mr. Howard paid a great tribute to Canada and the Canadian people, and expressed his opinion emphatically that Canada was destined to become one of the great world powers. It would be the world's granary, and with its transportation facilities offering the most direct route from the Orient to the Occident, was bound to get the bulk of the traffic between east and west. The Canadian people were welcomed on the other side. No other reference was required when they were applying for a situation, save the simple statement, "I am a Canadian."

The speaker complimented the Canadian people upon keeping the Sabbath day, as it was kept by no other people on the face of the earth, and upon its manner of enforcing its laws. "I believe that the country which keeps the Sabbath, enforces its laws and that has no divorce court," remarked Mr. Howard, emphatically, "will abolish the rum shop."

The people of Peterborough had an opportunity to assist in that great work, by voting Peterborough dry at the next election. It was the unusual that attracted and to do the unusual in the fight against the liquor interests was to capture the larger places first. The speaker had found this to be true in his campaigning in the United States and gave instances where whole states had gone dry after one of the larger towns therein had set the example. If Peterborough went dry the news would be flashed from one end of the country to the other and the contagion would spread so that Ottawa, London and Hamilton and Toronto would also vote against the liquor traffic.

There were seventeen thousand reasons why Peterborough should vote dry. Every person living in the city, every boy, every girl was a reason why there should not be a stumbling blocks and devil traps in the streets of the city.

The speaker gave many interesting experiences of the temperance campaign in the Southern States in which he had played a prominent part. He had found that the women and children were most important factors in the fight and they were used on every possible occasion in parades and in other ways. Mr. Howard gave illustrations of how much better a place would be under dry conditions when business men would profit because of a sober, industrious working people.

He found during his fifteen years of temperance work, that he could never get a liquor man to stand up at a temperance meeting and defend his business.

There was still a larger crowd in the evening, when Mr. Howard spoke for two hours.

At the afternoon meeting Dr. Scott was chairman, and a short song service led by the Salvation Army Band preceded the address.

COUGHING BURST BLOOD VESSEL.

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours.

A writer ofr the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quiet frequently. A cough or cold means inflammatiton (fever) and congestion, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief, as found in patent cough medicines, and whiskey, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion A tonic-laxative cough syrup will work marvels and here fololws a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victim, but begin this treatment, which cures osme in five hours. Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children lesa acoording to age.

EAGLE LAKE PARTY GOT SIX DEER

Posters Were Torn Down Complains Mr. R. J. Todd

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Will you allow me space to refer to what I consider an act of ancient barbarism, an act unworthy of manliness, and a disgrace to our fair city of churches many. A citizens' meeting was called to discuss means to attract people to our city. Now, sir, I think one of the first things to that end is to be able to show the outside world that we have a righteous, law abiding people here; a broad-minded, liberal people, who are willing to give others the privilege they ask for themselves. That we have a city where all enjoy British fair play. The act I refer to is this: Our church, as you already know, went to a large expense to secure a lecturer to deliver a free lecture on the subject of Christianity, a subject in which all should be interested. We had printed what I considered a very respectable card, and I, myself, sacrficed my time to post them where I considered they would not injure anyone, and where other cards were nailed up. Within twenty-four hours I found some of those cards torn down and thrown in the mud, others torn to pieces. They could be taken down by human hands only, and that not of an innocent child. Some say this is the work of hotel keepers, or the whiskey men.

In justice to all I want to say that this is not the action of the whiskey men. Neither is it the act of our respectable Christians, but it is idiosyncrasy of some church members. My respect for anything that names the name of Christ, or is trying to do good will compel me to refrain from making any trouble for the poor, misled culprits, providing it does not go any farther.

Jesus said: "By their fruits ye shall know them." It is easy to judge the wickedness of the perpetrator of this act, when I tell you that alongside of my card that was taken down and torn to pieces was a dark, vicious pcture of two men, each with a dagger trying to stab each other, this was unmolested. Here we see the heart or mentality agreeing with the dark, murderous picture, no doubt the culprit imagined himself venting his spite on Christian Science, by stabbing in the dark. We might ask, Why such an act? I know it is nothing that I have done, neither can it be against the lecturer, whom the devil-minded culprit knows not. Then it is but reasonable to conclude that it must be this word "Science" attached to Christian that stirs the enmity of this carnal mind, as it was Jesus' declaration that he was the Son of God, that enraged the carnal mind against Him.

What is Christian Science doing that its claims are unworthy of being heard? A man answered this a few days ago by saying, "They let people die, and they have been before the magistrates." Your humble servant had to admit that an attempt had been made to bring him "before the magistrate," not, however, for pulling down posters of other denominations, nor in any way injuring any one, but, on the other hand, for trying, however feebly, to carry out the command of the Master and Way Shower.

Christian Science has three periodicals, a monthly, a weekly, and a daily, those who read them will find that there is no effort made to hinder the good from being reflected by any other body. On the other hand we find our "Daily Monitor" constantly making mention of the good others are doing and trying to encourage and help them. In the last few weeks a great deal of space has been taken up in aid of the Y. M. C. A. work. In watching the results I found that Mrs. Eddy alone subscribed $1,000.00, while the "Monitor," through its staff and influence, or readers, raised over $3,500.00. Is it for this kind of work that the posters for a lecture on Christian Science is being destroyed? We shall leave those who did the deed to answer.

In conclusion, I would ask the teachers of these unmanly and misguided youths to bring them out to our lecture Thursday night. It will not cost them anything and if either teacher or pupils find in our teaching anything to justify the destroying of another's property, I shall be glad to have them report through the press.

Our lecture is not to criticise the wrongs of others, nor to justify the wrong or weakness of those in the ranks of Christian Science, but to explain what it is. All are welcome, critic, friend, or foe, especially the poor depraved individuals who took down the cards, I feel that they are in great need of the Truth that makes free from the clutches of the common enemy of humanity. Thanking you, I remain

Yours sincerely,

R. J. TODD.

Lindsay Gets An Option On A Water Power Privilege

The committee appointed by the town council recently to secure an option to purchase water power for the purpose of developing electric power for a municipal plant in Lindsay will present a report in the near future.

Ald. Kylie, the chairman of the committee, has done considerable travelling of late and has been successful in securing an option on water power from a farmer in the north country, whose name or address he would not make public at the present time.

The agreement or option has been signed, sealed and delivered, and it does not expire until May, 1910, the purchase price to be $14,000.

The proposition will be considered at the first meeting of the council.—Lindsay Warder.

Board Of Trade To Deal With Power Water Conservation

If the recent spirit of activity and publicity propagation wins its way as it should do, the next consideration is an increase of power, for industrial purposes.

To get the fullest advantage of the existing possible heads, the flow of water must be maintained at its highest efficiency. This can only be done by the most perfect possible conservation of the flow of our northern watershed. All water powers from the height of land to Lake Ontario will benefit from this conservation. This fact gives point to the conservation meeting of the Board of Trade, to be held in the City Council chamber to-morrow night.

A large attendance should be present. The subject is important. The industrial expansion of Peterborough depends upon cheap power, and cheap power depends upon the economic handling of our sources of supply of water.

THE EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN IN PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT

The Meetings in the Different Presbyterian Churches in This Locality Reviewed by tne Convener of the District.

The convener of the Committee on Evangelistic services has been asked to give his impression of the meetings which have been held in eleven congregations throughout the Presbyt of Peterborough, and which have just closed. Reports from every congregation have not yet reached the convener. Then of course it is a mere truism in all kinds of spiritual effort that results cannot always be tabulated. Indeed, the Presbyterian Evangelistic Committee, discourages the habit of counting heads at such meetings and estimating the value of evangelistic effort by the number who have signed decision cards. The results of the meetings, eternity alone will reveal.

The word revivial can only be properly applied to those who are Christians. A revival is the quickening of believers into newness of life. It is the fanning into a flame of the flax which has been smoking only. The reports would all indicate that a genuine revival in this sense of the word has taken place. Christian people are taking a new delight in the preaching of the Cross. They are finding a new joy in prayer. They are experiencing a new passion for souls. All this is sure to result in a continued ingathering of the lost during the weeks and months that are to come. There have been a great number of decisions for Christ on the part of the unsaved, particularly in St. Paul's Peterborough. But we are sure the number will greatly increase during the coming weeks and months, as pastors and their helpers continue the work begun.

The meetings in Springville (Dr. Marsh, pastor), as conducted by Rev. Mr. Craig, of Quebec have resulted in great good. Some are taking an interest in church work who have not done so for years. The exact number who have expressed a desire to live for the higher things has not been reported; but there were many who expressed such a desire. The work in this charge is in a flourishing condition. The gifts for missions in many cases are five times what they formerly were. "A religion that reaches the pocket is genuine."—is an old saying, but it is a true one.

Rev. D. D. MacDonald is minister at Keene. He was assisted in this effort by Rev. H. J. Pritchard, of Galt. The congregation is one of the most conservative in the Church and has not been favourable in the past to such effort. Whatever prejudice has existed against it has been completely broken down, and there is nothing but praise for the meetings and the methods employed. One old lady remarked that it was a pity that the meetings could not go on all winter. The report of Thursday night says: "The meeting was in many ways the most remarkable of the whole campaign. The congregation was moved in a most wonderful way, many hard hearts were melted, wills were broken, and souls quickened. There were several conversions. One young lady who had faced the problem for a whole week finally surrendered this afternoon. A mother, though a member of the Church, said she saw Christ as her Saviour for the first time, and a man who had driven six miles said he had found the Saviour to-night."

The meetings in Campbellford, which commenced a week later than elsewhere are a united effort of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. The missioner is Rev. Alex. MacGillivray, of Toronto. Already a deep interest is being felt and the spirit of brotherly fellowship which has been brought about is a good thing not only for the churches, but for the community.

The special feature of the services in Omemee has been an earnest effort to reach the boys and girls with the message of the Gospel. Indeed in no field has the work for the young been neglected. Ministers and others are sufficiently well acquainted with the investigations of experts in the study of child life to know that if the life is not given a bent Godward in the tender years of youth, the chances that it will ever yield to good influences, grow less with the passing years.

Speaking of the work in Hastings, the pastor says: "The services have been a rich blessing to the entire community. It now remains for pastor and Christian workers to follow up the advantages gained." The missioner here was the Rev. A. B. Winchester of Toronto, and his preaching was eloquent, heart searching and powerful. The interest grew night by night until the meeting became the one topic of conversation in the homes, stores and other places of business. There have been many conversions here also.

Writing from Millbrook the pastor states: "Never in the history of his pastorate of fifteen years has such intense interest been manifest in the message of the Gospel as has been apparent during the meetings. One hears everywhere, expressions of appreciation of the missioner, Rev. J. A. Brown, of Fergus, and many a man and woman, boy and girl, will in days to come, look back upon this week as the beginning of better things for them, and thank God that He put it into the hearts of the men of our Presbytery to plan and carry out this campaign.

The Rev. Mr. McIntosh, of Elora, has been in charge of the work at Lakefield. One evidence of the deep impression which the meetings are making upon the entire community, was seen in the action of a prominent business man who has not been able to attend the meetings often in sending a cheque to the pastor of thirty dollars, to be devoted to the work as an expression of his belief in such effort and of his thankfulness to God for it.

Your readers are already familiar with the work as carried on in the three city congregations. It is too soon to write the history of this movement, but in looking over the reports a few things may be noted.

1. The simultaneous idea in evangelism has been demonstrated to be far superior to any other method. The fact that the evangelists are prominent ministers in the Presbyterian Church, and that this movement has on it the imprimatur of the whole church, at once disarms prejudice and leads congregations to, at once throw themselves into the movement heart and soul, and not sit back in a critical spirit as is so often the case when the professional evangelist is the preacher.

2. These meetings have been a rebuke to the materialistic tendencies of our age. The fact that large congregations have assembled in eleven different centres of our Presbytery to worship God night after night for two weeks, laying aside social engagements, business engagements, and interests that are in themselves legitimate, is an eloquent testimony to the value that men set on the things of the Spirit and to the power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to interest the individual.

3. One other result of this movement might be mentioned: It has strengthened the faith of all who have come under its influence in the Bible, as the Word of God, in the Saviourhood of Jesus Christ, and in the Gospel of Christ as a remedy sufficiently adequate, not only for the world's sin but the world's woes. Once let the authority of Jesus Christ, in the realm of the conscience, be questioned, and the influence of the church is immediately weakened. The tendency in many places to-day is to the old Israelitish position when "Every man did what was right in his own eyes." Revivals are the best corrective for such a tendency. The preaching of Christ brings men to the bar of judgment. It compels men to test their lives by Christ's life. And, so because Christ has been held up not only as a Saviour from sin, but as the ideal of life, this movement is sure to be lasting in its effects on the life of the community. A Gospel that emphasizes the inseparableness of religion and ethics, that rebukes Pharisaic formalism, which proclaims the impossibility of being Christians without bringing forth the fruits of holy living, is a good thing to have preached once a week; but when such a Gospel has been preached in eleven centres every night for two weeks, influences will have been set at work which only eternity will reveal.

A great treat is in store for you on Friday evening, November 26, when Fraulein Stolle will give an illustrated lecture—"Old Friends and New in the Realms of Art," in the Collegiate Institute Hall, under the auspices of the Women's Art Association. BELL BLESSED Interesting Ceremony at Church of the Sacred Heart Yesterday.

The new bell which will peal from the tower of the Church of the Sacred Heart was blessed yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by his Lordship Bishop O'Connor before a congregation that filled the edifice. The members of the clergy present were Rev. Father McColl, Father O'Brien, and Father McFadden. After the ceremony Dr. O'Brien preached a sermon, explaining the significance of the bell in churches. A special collection was taken up. The programme for next Sunday was announced yesterday. The masses at the Cathedral will be at 8, 9, and 10 o'clock. The only mass in the new church will be at 10.30 o'clock.

ESCAPED TWO BOMBS

Two Bombs Hurled at Carriage at Ahmedabad by Native Nihilists, But Machines Fail to Go Off — Innocent Bystander Has His Hand Blown Off In Earlier Attempt —Outrage In Argentina.

Ahmedabad, British India, Nov. 15.—Lord Minto, the Viceroy of India, and Lady Minto had a narrow escape Saturday from being killed by bombs.

They were driving through one of the streets, when, without warning, two bombs were thrown at their carriage.

A dragoon, who was riding alongside, spurred forward and with outstretched sabre intercepted the first bomb, hurling it some distance away into a sand heap.

The second bomb struck the viceroy's jemidar, a native lieutenant, who was holding an umbrella over Lady Minto, and fell harmlessly to the ground.

Neither bomb exploded, as the soft sand acted as a buffer.

On examination they were found to contain picric acid, a powerful explosive, better known as lyddite.

Just prior to this, as the carriage passed through one of the streets, a bomb exploded some little distance away.

Police and others, attracted by the explosion, ran up and found a man on the ground with his hand blown off. He proved to be an innocent bystander.

The bomb throwers made their escape in the excitement, and as yet no arrests have been made.

Attempts have been made in India against Lord Minto, Lord Kitchener, Sir Andrew Fraser, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and many other officials, and for a year or more there has been fear of an uprising against British rule in India, based on these almost daily attempts on the lives of British officials.

Anarchist at Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 15.—The chief of police of Buenos Ayres, Senor Falcon, and the police secretary were assassinated yesterday while driving in Calla street.

A man, supposed to be a Russian anarchist, but not yet identified, suddenly sprang from a secluded spot where he had been in waiting and threw a bomb directly under the carriage.

The vehicle was blown to pieces and both Senor Falcon and the secretary were terribly injured. They were carried to a hospital, but died shortly afterward.

Immediately on throwing the bomb, the assassin drew a revolver and shot himself. His wound, however, is not expected to prove mortal.

Work of Council Done.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—There will be no less than 115 decrees sent to Rome for the approval of the Vatican authorities, as a result of the deliberations of the recent plenary council, a good number of these being of the greatest importance to the Roman Catholic Church in the Dominion, while others are of minor importance.

These documents have already been edited and prepared in the Latin tongue, which is the language of the church, and are now being printed in a newspaper establishment in the City of Quebec, and will be sent to Rome.

Labor Men Stand Ready.

Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—Plans for a general strike by wage-workers throughout the country for a period of two weeks, beginning on the day the officers of the American Federation of Labor are imprisoned for contempt of court were inaugurated here yesterday at a meeting of the Central Labor Union.

THE WOMAN ACQUITTED

After Two and a Half Hours' Deliberation Jurors Bring In Verdict of "Not Guilty"—Scene of Greatest Excitement Enacted In Courtroom and Thousands Outside Take Up Demonstration.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Madame Margherita Steinheil was acquitted by a jury at an early hour yesterday morning of the murder of her husband, Adolph Steinheil, an artist, and her stepmother, Madame Japy.

The verdict was rendered at 12.55 a.m., after two and a half hour's deliberation, during which the jury thrice summoned the president of the court for explanations, thus proving that the original majority was for conviction. It is said the jury finally divided 9 to 3.

To some degree sentiment and a stuffy, crowded court-room favored the prisoner, and the delay caused much apprehension. With the first appearance of the jury, however, several of whom were smiling, an instinctive feeling of acquittal flashed through the court-room.

A dramatic scene followed. The red robed judges and counsel filed in and took their places. Every one was rivetted on the door through which the prisoner should enter, but she did not appear. M. Devalles, the presiding judge, turned to the jury and said: "Have you reached a verdict?"

The foreman arose and replied: "On our conscience, we answer, 'No' to every question."

A salvo of "bravos" followed and a perfect bedlam broke loose. M. Aubin, counsel for Mme. Steinheil, embraced his colleagues. Men and women in the rear of the hall jumped and screamed for joy. The judge threatened to clear the court-room, and when a semblance of order was restored, he called: "Bring in the accused."

Fully two minutes passed before the black-robed figure, with a white face drooping on her breast, appeared in the doorway, supported on either side by a gendarme. The woman swayed and seemed to be fainting, but in response to a wild outburst of cheers she lifted her head and looked about, smiling faintly in acknowledgement. Then she tottered forward and sank on the floor beside the rail.

When the judge pronounced the verdict, her faint murmur of thanks was hardly heard. An instant after, M. Aubin was over the rail, lifting her in his arms. The crowd surged forward in a solid wall, making the rafters ring with cheers.

Outside the gloomy courthouse tens of thousands, who had been waiting for hours, took up the cry. Special editions of the papers spread the news like wildfire through the boulevards, where thousands more were waiting in front of the cafes, and the same scenes of rejoicing were witnessed there.

After being tenderly assisted out of the court-room, Mme. Steinheil was conducted from the building by one of the numerous subterranean passages. She was escorted back to St. Lazare prison, as the French procedure requires the formality of "lifting the bolts" before the definite release of the prisoner.

The ceremony was performed at once, and madame was whisked away in an auto.

Theatre Under Ban.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—Theatrical circles were considerably taken up yesterday morning by a letter read at high mass in all the Roman Catholic churches from the Archbishop of Montreal, condemning in the severest terms possible the performances at the Academy of Music, which his grace designates as a place of peril and danger.

This theatre was taken over some months ago by a company of French artists from Paris and the character of the representations have been more or less a subject of criticism. Yesterday, however, Mgr. Bruchesi asked all fathers and mothers to league together and to say, by their complete absence from this theatre, that those actors and actresses who have come over from Europe to ply their sad trade are not at home in Canada.

His grace adds that the directors of the Academy promised him at the outset that all of their pieces would be of the orthodox kind, and he claims that the public have been deceived and the Catholic community scandalized.

Dillon Must Hang.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—John Dillon, alias James Smith, will be hanged Friday next at Montreal.

On April 6, 1908, Dillon, who was book agent in Montreal, barricaded himself in a house, opened fire on constables who attempted his capture, and killed Constable Shea. He himself was wounded.

A petition for commutation of sentence of death on the plea of insanity has been refused by the Governor-in-Council.

Hunting Fatality.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 15.—Yesterday, near Goldstream, Edward Allen, a young druggist, was shot in the head while hunting, the charge blinding him and entering the brain. The injury is fatal. There is no clue as yet to the man who fired.

ENTOMBED IN A MINE

Carelessness of One Man Results In Death of Hundreds Down In Pit—Total List of Missing Men Numbers 385, But Some of Them Are Believed to Be Still Alive—Threw Torch in the Hay.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 15.—Nearly 400 men and boys, it is believed to-day, are dead or perishing in the St. Paul mine, as a result of Saturday's fire, though experts who penetrated the smoke-filled air shaft to a depth of 300 feet early last night, returned with a ray of hope for the grief-stricken relatives of the entombed men.

That the fire is extinguished is the report of mining experts sent by Gov. Deneen to investigate the calamity, and its cause. For more than 30 hours the prisoners had been cut off from fresh air before the shaft was entered last night, and undoubtedly have been subjected to smoke and gases.

That life could exist under the terrible conditions is doubted by many; but because no trace of high temperature was found in the depths of the mine to-day, friends of the miners, and even officers of the company, regained some of their failing hope.

A. J. Earling, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad Co., which owns the mine, received an encouraging report from John Reid, son of one of the missing miners, who said that concussions of the earth had been felt by farmers half a mile south of the mine shaft. The farmers are convinced they were the result of shots fired by the imprisoned miners.

The list of the missing miners, compiled yesterday, reached the total of 385, including the dead whose charred bodies were taken from the burning cages on Saturday. It was declared to be probable that this list might be increased.

One hundred and seventy men who entered the mine Saturday morning have been accounted for. Among the missing are many Americans, who have lived for years in the mining fields of Illinois. Most of those entombed are foreign born. Most of the men had families.

The fire broke out late on Saturday afternoon. The only men to escape were those near the main shaft when the fire started. They declared a careless miner had thrown a torch on a bundle of hay. Two miners threw the burning mass on a cart and started toward the main shaft.

Before it was reached a small explosion occurred. Those nearest the cages hurried to them and were hoisted to the surface. After about four trips the cages ceased moving.

What disaster occurred in the minutes following the escape of the men near the shaft is unknown.

Great heroism was shown by officials of the mine and the residents of the town of Cherry. These men, who were outside the mine when the fire originated, contributed five to the list of twelve known dead.

Alexander Nerberg, a pit man, standing at the bottom of the shaft, carried the bodies of four men into the cage, the only alley of escape. As the last was carried in he fell across the body. He was dead as were all his companions, when the cage was lifted to the surface.

W. W. Taylor, general superintendent of mines of the St. Paul Company, who yesterday watched the movements to open the mine, said: "I believe that the state inspectors will say that this was the safest coal mine ever built in this country. The fire need not have been disastrous. The hay in the underground stable caught fire. The men in the stables were excited. The burning hay could have been shut off from the rest of the mine without difficulty, and the fire distinguished with little trouble."

Arrangements are under way to relieve the families of the victims. It is probable that supplies for their needs will be arranged for by the railroad company.

With winter approaching, the catastrophe has dealt every home in Cherry a terrific blow. The breadwinners in hundreds of homes are either dead or incapacitated for work.

Shot Wife by Accident.

Windsor, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Joseph Parent of Belle River, daughter of John Mayville of Windsor, was accidentally shot and killed Friday night by her husband. He was cleaning a shotgun. He had discharged one barrel, and thinking the gun was not loaded, snapped the other trigger. The charge of shot entered the woman's head near the left eye, causing instant death.

Lame Back Cured

Just rub the painful spot with Nerviline; not much rubbing, because Nerviline is made to penetrate. You'll not suffer long after Nerviline is applied, for it acts like lightning, swift and sure. Nerviline is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for—wherever there is pain. Apply Nerviline and the pain disappears.

No remedy so thoroughly cures lame back, stiff joints, sore muscles, lumbago, and cold in the chest as

Nerviline

The farmer, the mechanic, the man who works at hard labor, is subject to the baneful influence of dampness, fog, and inclement weather. It's hard for him to escape pain. What he needs at home is a bottle of Nerviline, which gives instant ease to every kind of pain.

Nerviline is about four times as strong as the ordinary liniment. It gets right at the core of pain and cures it as no other remedy can. So strong and concentrated is Nerviline that one application is always as good as six ordinary rubbings with other liniments. Try a large 150 bottle. Sold everywhere.

PETERBOROUGH BEATEN IN TORONTO IN ROUGHEST GAME OF SEASON

With a Scratch Team O. R. F. U. Seniors Were Defeated by Parkdale Canoe Club---Locals Were Ahead Twice But Were Too Light to Hold the Paddlers---Toronto Team Roughed it Considerably.

With a scratch team picked up at the last moment and having had no practice for a week the Peterborough O. R. F. U. seniors played their last scheduled game of the season in Toronto on Saturday, and were beaten by the Parkdale Canoe Club in a loosely played and very rough game by 40 points to 9. The half-time score was 18 to 6. Although the score looks as if the Paddlers had a walk over, such was far from being the case, as the Petes were ahead twice, and up to the middle of the second quarter had the better of the playing. The much greater weight of the Canoe Club's line, coupled with their rough house tactics, however, wore the much lighter Peterborough boys down so that in the last half they could not hold their opponents. The treatment handed out by the Paddlers was disgraceful, the more so that Peterborough sent a team to Toronto to oblige them and out of a sense of fair play rather than because the game meant anything to the Petes.

Under such circumstances good treatment might naturally be expected but instead the Parkdale Club used rough house tactics for the greater part of the game. Whether it was because they were frightened by the good start made by Peterborough, or for some other reason, they started to hand it out early in the game and kept it up until the finish. High tackles, scragging, punching and charging into the backs after they had kicked were features of the Canoeists' playing, and although Referee J. B. McArthur did his best to stop them by ruling off six Paddlers, two of them for the balance of the game, they got away with a lot of foul tactics that escaped the notice of the referee. O'Brien, at centre half, received a large portion of the punishment and was knocked out half a dozen times by being jumped into after he had kicked. Everyone of the Petes carried away one or more souvenirs of their visit to Diamond Park and the players who had been pulling for Parkdale to beat the T. A. A. C. have swung over to the side of the Crimson, and are all eager to see them put the Indian sign on the Paddlers in the playoff on Saturday. The visitors were by far the lightest and youngest, and the tactics of the Parkdale team were totally uncalled for.

Peterborough were shy nearly all their experienced men. Dr. MacPherson, O'Connor, Thornton, Dickson, Clarke, and Capt. Lundy were all among the absentees and the Collegiate Institute team was once more called upon to fill in the vacancies, and even then the Petes were handicapped, because they could not use again some of the youngsters who had previously played, because it would disqualify them from playing junior Rugby next year.

Considering their crippled and disorganized condition they made a very creditable showing. They surprised Parkdale right at the beginning, Geale getting through a hole in the line for a thirty-yard run, and when Galvin fumbled O'Brien's punt Peterborough dribbled over the dead line for a point. Through the rest of the quarter it was even up until a long run by Cromar, followed by a double criss-cross gave Parkdale a try, which was not converted, and the score at the end of the first quarter was 5 to 1 in favour of Parkdale. Right at the beginning of the second quarter Campbell broke through and intercepted a long pass at Parkdale's 30 yard line, romping over the line for a try which put Peterborough one to the good. From then on Parkdale roughed it and their tactics wore out the Peterboroughs so that in the last half their score mounted rapidly.

Campbell, Hall, O'Brien, and the two Corkerys all played fine Rugby for Peterborough. Campbell scored a try on a pretty play, and Geale dropped a goal from the thirty-yard line, at an angle with the Parkdale wings on top of him. Jack Corkery made a number of dazzling runs, and he and his brother both tackled beautifully.

O'Brien kicked splendidly until he was battered around so much in the second half that Craig had to do the punting in the final quarter. Hall's tackling was a feature. In fact the whole team tackled well, showing the Parkdale line-up in that department of the game. The Paddlers showed in their game down here that they could tackle when they wanted to, but on Saturday they were too busy scragging to bother about getting a man low.

George Barber, the Y. M. C. A. all-round athlete, played a star game for Parkdale. His long runs gained ground time after time for the Paddlers, and were greatly responsible for the defeat of the Petes. Cromar's runs were also a feature, while Meighen shone in following up and bucking. Dissette, the quarter back and captain, was always in the limelight. The teams were as follows:

Parkdale (40)—Full, Meyers; halves Galvin, Meighen, Cromar; quarter Dissette; scrimmage, Duncan, Addison and Leonard; wings, Barber, Grimshaw, Dissette, Harper, Durand, and Crawford.

Peterborough (9) — Full, Craig; halves, G. Corkery, O'Brien and Geale; quarter, Campbell; scrimmage, Ecclestone, Harstone, and Anderson; wings, Turner, Hickey, V. Corkery, Hall, Staunton and Davidson.

Referee—J. B. McArthur; umpire, Tommy Hay.

COLLEGIATE SECONDS PLAYED T. C. S. SECONDS A CLOSE GAME

The Collegiate Institute second Rugby team gave T. C. S. seconds a close game in Port Hope on Saturday, leading at half time, and finishing only five points behind. The final score was 11-6, in favour of the home team. At quarter time neither team had scored and the local youngsters during the second quarter kicked for a rouge, leaving the score at the half 1-0. During the third quarter T. C. C. went over for a touch, which was converted. In the last period T. C. S. got another try and the Collegiates secured five single points on rouges and kicks to the dead line. Towards the end of the game T. C. S. bucked continually, making good use of their weight. The Collegiate boys gave them a good argument and with more avoirdupois would have won out.

The local team was as follows:

Full back, Perks; halves, Rankin, Minorgan, and Stevenson; quarter, Wallace; scrimmage, Laing; Brooks, and Lewis; outside wings, Dennison, Eastwood; middle, Hogan and Halpany; inside, Ackerman and Scott.

Minorgan did the kicking for the Collegiate and showed up well. Eastwood and Scott were also very effective.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE WEDNESDAY

The annual meeting of the City Hockey League will be held on Wednesday evening of this week at the Oriental Hotel, when the officers for the season will be elected and other arrangements completed for what promises to be the most successful year in the history of the organization. Judging by the enthusiasm which is being shown among the local managers and players just now, there will be the keenest kind of a fight this season before the championship race is decided. Every manager is now on a still hunt for players and some surprises may be expected when the roster of the teams is announced.

YOU WILL ENJOY IT

"The Wolf," by Eugene Walter, and Under the Direction of Messrs. Sam S. and Lee Shubert, Will be the Offering at the Grand, Thursday, November 18.

This piece has played a successful half year engagement in New York and a return this year, and one of four months' duration in Chicago. "The Wolf" has to do with the Canadian Hudson Bay territory. The hero is a French Canadian, who undertakes a vendetta against a man who ruined and caused the death of his half-sister. He finds him in the person of a Scotch trader, who is scheming to get hold of Hilda, the very girl upon whom he has set his own heart. The trader has the young woman's father on his side, but the hero succeeds in carrying her off in a fight, and in the closig act kills his rival in a sensational duel. The cast is said to be one of dramatic excellence. The same big production used at the New York Lyric Theatre will be used.

CRIED "TRAITOR" AT KEIR HARDIE

English Labour Men Resent Statement About Crown Going to Melting Pot.

London, Eng., Nov. 15.—When the National Free Labour Congress met recently Mr. J. Simpson (Southampton) moved a resolution denouncing the violent and seditious utterances of irresponsible Socialists—so-called working-men's friends—whose wild harangues are a grave danger to Imperial and International peace and industrial progress."

Cries of "Traitor!" were raised when Mr. Keir Hardie's statement was read that, once the Throne began to interfere with politics, not only the coronets of the peers, but also the Crown, would go into the melting pot. What manner of man, asked Mr. Simpson, was it who dared to insult the King, who, at all times, had been the great peacemaker of the world? Had Mr. Keir Hardie no other reciprocation than fiery harangue for the message of sympathy that his Majesty conveyed to him when some time ago he was ill?

Take Charlie's Aunt.

Mr. Keir Hardie, said the speaker stated that at the next General election 100 persons like himself would be run. If he were not careful he would be like Charley's Aunt—still running. (Laughter). This was the mixture that Mr. Hardie would like to administer as a pack-me-up tonic to the unfortunate creatures whom his vile utterances deluded, terrorised, and enslaved:

But alack, in lairs of monkeys follies heap,
Where gather donkeys, kicking's cheap.

Mr. J. Penrose (London Docks) seconded the resolution, which was adopted.

Labour Party Denounced.

Mr. J. Kelly (Harringay) submitted a motion denouncing the policy of the so-called Labour Party, assisted by a Socialistic "leavened Legislature." With the bearers of the red flag, he said, it was either the Budget or the blade. The day was not far distant when there would be a Government which would increase the country's security, respect the capitalists, and would not identify itself with strikes. The resolution was carried, and the congress concluded.

GAS, INDIGESTION AND HEARTBURN GO
Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.
The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.
If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.
People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach, or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odours. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.
Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

AT GRAND TO-NIGHT.

Miss Jessie Maclachlan, the distinguished Scotch balladist, arrived in the city to-day, and will appear to-night at the Grand Opera House, with other celebrated artists. The music loving public of Peterborough will no doubt welcome her in large numbers, as Miss Maclachlan has a host of admirers in Peterborough.

BANK OF OTTAWA CHEQUES

Officials Have to Have Them Ready to be Issued on Tuesday.

The Bank of Ottawa have now received the cheques in payment of the first dividend to those parties who left their books with the Bank. There are over one thousand cheques and a large number of the claims have been [illegible] entails a lot of work for the Bank officials. They hope, however, to have matters in such a position that they will be able to give these cheques out to the public on Tuesday. In reference to the amount of dividend representde by the cheques, the liquidators have published a statement in the newspapers as to how the amounts were arrived at, which no doubt everybody has read. It will be impossible for the Bank to explain to each depositor just how the amount represented by each cheque was arrived at, and the public should take this into consideration and not take up the time of the Bank officials by asking for special explanations in regard to their individual claims. A copy of the statement made by the liquidators is hung up in a prominent place in the Bank and can be read by any person who desires.

DYSPEPTIC
Food Does You No Good
Half the time you're afraid to eat; your tongue is coated, mouth tastes bad, stomach is bloated. If you want to get well, stop using dyspepsia tablets, and go to the source of the trouble before it is too late. Strengthen your stomach, cast out the bile, regulate the bowels—do this, and dyspepsia will be no more.
For your condition the best prescription is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are made specially for the stomach, kidneys and liver. No better remedy will be devised, for Dr. Hamilton's Pills are perfect.
DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS A SURE CURE
"No one could realize my sufferings from stomach trouble and indigestion. For five years I have not been well. My food did me no good, because I couldn't digest or assimilate. My doctor said constipation was at the root of my trouble, so I got Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My appetite improved, pain after eating ceased, and my food digested quickly. I am delighted with the thorough cure I derived from Dr. Hamilton's Pills.
"(Signed) MARTIN E. WALKER.
"Bridgewater."
Quick results attend the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; this medicine cures all trouble in the stomach and digestive organs by removing the cause.

WAS FINED FOR BREAKING LANTERN

Young Man Had to Pay $6.25 for Damaging Corporation Property.

Alex. Morrison was fined five dollars and costs, amounting to $6.25, for breaking a red lantern which had been hung over an excavated sewer on Burnham street, East City, on the night of November 1st. Two other young men said to have been implicated with Morrison, were also arraigned before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning. Morrison pleaded guilty and the other two put in a plea of not guilty. These young men were celebrating Hallowe'en. His Worship informed the young man that the next time he contemplated having a good time on Hallowe'en he had better save up some money. Morrison was unable to pay his fine, which was payable forthwith. Ten days was the only alternative.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

Dr. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glycerin extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

ABANDON ALL HOPE

Two Hundred Widows and a Thousand Fatherless Children Are Mourning the Loss of Their Breadwinners in Cherry, Ill., Mine Disaster —Effort to Send In Fresh Air Only Increased the Flames.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 16.—The three hundred or more miners who are entombed in the St. Paul coal mine by last Saturday's fire are dead. Some of the bodies lie buried beneath thousands of tons of earth which caved in upon them, and it is doubtful whether many of the bodies can ever be recovered.

This was the opinion expressed last night when rescue work was temporarily abandoned. Fans employed in an effort to carry fresh air and life down to the imprisoned men served only to enliven the embers which sprang into flame. Soon the heat and smoke became so dense that it was necessary again to seal the mouth of the hoisting shaft.

Rescuers descended four times into the hoisting shaft yesterday; on one occasion, 300 feet to its bottom. Then groping their way with electric lamps and kept alive by oxygen carried with them, they penetrated 150 feet into the bottom of the gallery. But none of the miners, dead or alive, were found.

As a result of the disaster there are in this town of only a few hundred inhabitants at least 1,000 orphans and 200 widows. The Knights of Pythias Lodge, the most important organisation in town, had a membership of 75 last week. To-day there are only six members; the rest are in the mine.

The United Mine Workers executive have ordered $5,000 to be contributed to the relief fund at once.

Riel Henchman Dead.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—Ambrose Lepine, one of the leading figures in the rebellion of 1869, died Saturday on his son's farm near St. Norbert. Lepine was born in the vicinity of St. Norbert in 1844, and was a personal friend of Louis Riel. When the rebellion broke out Lepine was Riel's right-hand man, and it was he who captured Thomas Scott, who was afterwards murdered outside the palliasde of old Fort Garry. At the same time Scott was taken Lepine made prisoners of J. H. Ashdown, ex-Mayor of Winnipeg; Malcolm McLeod, George Parker, Alex. Ensker, W. A. Farmer and several other old-timers who are still alive.

At the close of the rebellion a reward was offered for the capture of Lepine and a price put on his head, but he managed to get away to Montana before being taken by the authorities. After living in exile in that state for a number of years he secured a pardon through the influence of the late Archbishop Tache. He then returned to St. Norbert and has lived here in retirement with his family ever since. Lepine was a French half-breed, and was one of those who believe that Louis Riel is ranching in Wyoming, and will one day return to Manitoba to lead his followers as he did in 1869 and 1885.

GO TO JAIL SATURDAY

Veteran Labor Leader Turns Tense Indignation of Federation Congress In Toronto Into a Laugh When News Is Read Out—The Three Men Have Till Saturday Before They Must Surrender.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—A small piece of yellow paper, handed by a telegraph messenger to President Sam Gompers, just as the latter was raising his gavel to adjourn the American Federation of Labor's Convention yesterday afternoon, turned a listless, apathetic gathering into a tense, united mass, and provided the most spectacular ending to any meeting ever held in Massey Hall.

The telegram was from the Federation's attorneys in Washington, who through the day had been arguing before the District Court of Appeals in an endeavor to get a stay of proceedings, so that President Gompers, Vice-President John Mitchell, and Secretary Frank Morrison might appeal to the Federal Court from the sentences of imprisonment passed on them by the District Court of Columbia. It read: "Darlington agreed to fifteen days' extension, but court refused any extension. The mandate of the court goes down on Saturday morning."

This means that on Saturday morning the three officers of the Federation must surrender to the court and commence their sentences or forfeit their bail of $12,000. The sentence on Gompers is twelve months, Mitchell nine months, and Morrison six months.

The reading of the telegram drew the convention up in an instant. It was only Gompers' quizzical look on face and hearty laughter as he caught sight of Morrison's serious aspect that prevented a demonstration. Instead the convention joined in the laughter, and then applauded "old Sam" for his grit. But the earnest faces and the tense conversations of the men who crowded round the three convicted leaders spoke of the feelings the telegram had aroused.

Must Go to Jail.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 16.—The Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia yesterday, denied an application made by counsel for Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, sentenced to jail for contempt, for a stay in the issuance of the mandate to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia until Jan. 2, 1910. Unless notice of an appeal is given before next Friday night, the mandate will be handed down next Saturday.

Attorney J. H. Ralston urged the engagement of his associate, Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, as a reason for the desired postponement.

Attorney J. J. Darlington, for the Bucks' Stove & Range Co., whose injunction suit resulted in the contempt sentence, opposed the length of stay asked. He stated that counsel had more than seven months to determine their action in event of adverse decision.

He pointed out that the advices which reach him show that the labor people had made no attempt to obey the injunction prohibiting the enforcement of a boycott of the Bucks' Company, and were still violating it.

A Triple Tragedy.

Vermillion, S.D., Nov. 16.—An unknown farm hand, armed with a razor, yesterday killed Mrs. Albert Nelson, at her home in Clay County, and fatally wounded her husband. He was killed himself by Nelson, with a club. The man had been hired Saturday night to husk corn. It is supposed the motive of his attack was robbery.

Local Option in B.C.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 16.—Dr. Spencer, superintendent of the local option movement, announces that pledges have been secured from five of the Conservative, seventeen of the Liberal, three of the Independent and one of the Socialist candidates, that if elected on the 25th they will work and vote for temperate legislation.

Inquest Into Girl's Death.

Whitby, Nov. 16.—An inquest will be held Dec. 10, into the death of Ida May Hassard, aged 19, who died from scarlet fever. She had been nursing at the home of an uncle in Claremont, and when taken ill was driven by him, against her wish, to Myrtle station, and sent home, the exposure aggravating her illness.

Lamps Set Fire to Church.

Guelph, Nov. 16.—At the conclusion of the services Sunday night in Rockwood Methodist Church, a chandelier, containing a dozen oil lamps, fell. The congregation formed a bucket brigade. The fire was extinguished after burning practically all the seats and doing several hundred dollars' damage.

Fever Epidemic at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 16.—Scarlet fever is approaching the epidemic stage throughout Greater Pittsburg. Failure to take proper precautions with the disease resulted in the arrest yesterday of a family and an undertaker.

Negro Murders Two Whites.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 16.—Ed. Cardwell and Ed. Koonts, young white men, boarding a street car last midnight, crowded in ahead of William Smith, a negro. The white men stood on the rear platform while the negro entered the car. After traveling several blocks the negro drew a revolver, rushed to the rear door, shot both men dead, and, leaped from the car. Later he surrendered to the police.

MUST GIVE NAVAL HELP

Along With the Privileges of Being Part of a Great Empire Canada Must Shoulder Her Share of the Burden —Mr. Borden Stands Pat and Mr. Foster Charges Plan to Hurt the Conservative Party.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—Yesterday may be said to mark an epoch in Canadian history. While the naval defence resolution of last session committed Parliament to the principle of participation with Great Britain in the duty of defence of the Empire, yesterday saw the principle thoroughly established, and ready for embodiment.

It seems certain that both sides of Parliament will come to an agreement upon a national naval defence policy, and that the definite part of the scheme will be the establishment of the beginning of a Canadian navy, but there was also the strongly expressed desire that if Great Britain required immediate assistance, there should be a generous grant of money from the Canadian exchequer, pending the day when Canada can put a fleet upon the waters.

The speech-making was notable, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's deliverance was rare in the annals of Canadian oratory, His patriotism was fervent and he vouched for the chivalry of Quebec.

W. F. Maclean (S. York) dealt with many of the technical points in this momentous question.

These remarkable speeches were delivered during the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Erement of Berthier proposed the reply to the address in French. After confessing how difficult and delicate was the question of naval defence, he said: "Are we going to refuse to obey the call to the young nations to assert their existence? Surely not, and this is the proud national sentiment which animated our statesmen in putting aside the proposals of those who would prefer a direct contribution to the Imperial marine and to adopt a purely Canadian policy."

Mr. Kyte of Richmond, N.S., seconded the address. Harking back to the naval defence resolution, which he had subscribed to last year, he said he was then somewhat in a haze as to what the exact policy should be, but he found that Lord Charles Beresford had pronounced that the best way for the Dominions to take part in Imperial defence was to make plans for defending themselves. He was therefore pleased to see that the Government had made a practical move. A cash contribution savored of feudalism.

Mr. Borden said he did not propose to discuss naval defence until the Government had signified its policy. Some Liberal journalists had said that he was entirely in favor of the Government proposals. If they argued that he approved of the statements of certain Cabinet Ministers, they were entirely wrong. He neither approved or disapproved. Let the Government bring down its message.

Mr. Borden concluded with a reference to the appointment of Hon. Mackenzie King as Minister of Labor. The Premier had gone outside the House for his Minister.

The Premier observed that Mr. Borden did not discuss the question of naval defence. There was no secrecy regarding their proposals, as Mr. Monk had stated, and the papers would be brought down on Wednesday of this week. He noticed on the Opposition side they were, not a happy family, but that the demon of discord was among them. The policy of the resolution of last year was clear-cut. Parliament stood committed to the policy of organizing a Canadian naval service to assist in maintaining the supremacy of Great Britain. The ink of the resolution passed last session, Sir Wilfrid said, had hardly become dry when there were certain whisperings, which soon became murmurings, in the Opposition rank by members who thought it had not gone far enough. Up to the present time, however, the leaders of the Opposition had stood manfully by their guns.

"Australia," said Sir Wilfrid, "has come to what I call the Canadian plan of having a fleet of her own."

Sir Wilfrid then turned his attention to those who do not favor action of any sort. In describing them he would borrow a word from the American's language. They were the "stand pat party and the chief of that party was the member for Jacques Cartier, F. D. Monk.

Mr. Monk asked if Sir Wilfrid thought it quite fair to discuss the naval question in the House while still keeping the papers dealing with the matter from the House.

Sir Wilfrid said he was not discussing papers not yet brought down, but the resolution passed by Parliament.

"I remember a time," said Sir Wilfrid, "when we had no railways, when we had no public schools. But at the present time we have railways and we have school systems. And if now we have to organize a naval force, it is because we are growing as a nation. It is the penalty of becoming a nation."

"But I am happy to say that, insofar as I can see at all events—and in this matter I express my own opinion—in the present instance there is no clashing of interests between Canada and the Mother Country. Whatever is done in this matter for the benefit of the Mother Country will likewise benefit Canada. Let me say also that if we have duties to perform as Canadians, we have also duties to perform as British subjects. We have rights and privileges and responsibilities as Canadians. We have also rights and privileges and responsibilities as British subjects. But my hon. friend in discussing this subject ignored altogether this side of it. He discussed it from the Canadian standpoint alone. He should have gone farther and discussed from the point of view of our status as British subjects."

"I have to make this remark to the member for Jacques Cartier, that wherever there are rights and privileges, likewise duties and responsibilities, and so long as we enjoy the rights and privileges of British citizenship, so long we must, we shall, we will assume and accept all the responsibilities that appertain to that position. These are sentiments with which we should approach the question. I say 'we.' What do I mean? I mean Canadians of all origins, of all races and of all nationalities, and Canadians from the east and from the west. I mean Canadians—above all—of the Province of Quebec, who claim the honor of being descended from a race which has always stood foremost in chivalry, in honor, and in ideality."

W. F. Maclean (S. York) followed with an argument for direct contribution, and after him Hon. George E. Foster, who cautioned the Government regarding the French treaty until they had seen what course regarding Canada the United States would adopt. In referring to the naval policy, he suggested that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was endeavoring to create a rupture in the Conservative party.

Other speakers were Alex. Haggart, Winnipeg; Dr. T. S. Sproule and E. N. Lewis (West Huron).

A G.T.R. Extension.

Montreal, Nov. 16.—Negotiations are in progress for the acquisition by the Grand Trunk of the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern Railway, a small system about a hundred miles in length running from Detroit to Caseville. The line is now being managed by a receiver.

Mistaken For a Deer.

Dunnchurch, Nov. 16.—Wm. Allen, who was hunting in this vicinity with a party of nine from Chatham, was mistaken for a deer by one of his comrades and shot, expiring almost instantly. The body leaves via Alpnio Harbor by boat for Chatham.

Pays for itself in fuel saved

Don't allow a few extra dollars to prevent you from taking the perfect-cooking, sure-baking, easily-regulated Pandora in place of a cheaper stove. In a season or two Pandora will pay the difference in the fuel it will save—and it will keep on saving until it has paid for itself. 20

Pandora special flue construction makes fuel do double duty. Wide fire box is another fuel-economizer. The steel oven heats quicker than a cast oven, thus saving still more fuel. Further economizing features will be explained by the McClary Agent.

FORTUNES IN BIG PARISIAN LOTTERY

A Game of Chance on Large Scale—May be the Last.

New York, Nov. 12.—The Parisians are working themselves into a frenzy of excitement over the last of the lotteries, and there are signs that the interest in its is not confined to Paris or France. The Government is resolved to sanction no more enterprises of this kind for raising money. This decision has been come to partly to discourage the prevalence of gambling and also out of a consciousness that a large part of the proceeds of the various public appeals never went to their avowed object at all, but found their way into intermediate pockets. Moreover, these methods of raising the wind were sometimes made the occasion of political bribery and corruption.

Two million one hundred and fifty thousand tickets have to be distributed to be spread over eight drawings. The first took place on November 5, the others follow at intervals of a month or so, the last being drawn on Christmas eve, 1910. There are six prises of a million francs each and others of less amounts. The price of the tickets is 20 francs. The number of applications covers many times over the number of tickets to be issued; and the consequence is that persons applying, say, for 500 tickets, will have to be contented with fifty.

The various banks receiving subscriptions are inundated with applications from England, which arrive by every post. Lotteries appear to have all the attraction of the forbidden to the British. Subscriptions are also being received from America. Moreover it is the last occasion upon which an Englishman can make his fortune in France.

COLD ON THE LUNGS

This letter gives some idea of the confidence placed in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by people who know by experience of its exceptional merit. Mrs. E. D. Turner, Breadview, N.W.T., writes:—"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for them all when troubled with colds on the lungs. We buy four bottles at a time and always keep it in the house, believing there is nothing so good for coughs and colds."

DON'TS FOR GIRLS

Don't wear anything you can't pay for.

Don't dress to outdo your neighbours.

Don't wear patched boots and an expensive hat.

Don't wear smart dresses with untidy underclothing.

Don't wear high heels if you wish to walk gracefully.

Don't use a pin where a hook and eye or a stitch would do.

Don't dress like your brothers, and think men admire it.

Don't buy cheap finery—it is extragant in the long run.

Don't forget that shabby gloves and shoes spoil the handsomest toilet.

Had Heart Trouble.

Nerves Were All Unstrung.

Wherever there is any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a healthy, strong system.

Can Do Her Own Work Now.

Mrs. M. McGann, Debec Junction, N.B., writes:—"I wish to tell you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. Three years ago I was so run down I could not do my own work. I went to a doctor, and he told me I had heart trouble and that my nerves were all unstrung. I took his medicine, as he ordered me to do, but it did me no good. I then started to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and had only taken one box before I started to feel better, so I continued their use until I had taken several boxes, and I am now strong and well, and able to do my own work. When I commenced taking your pills I weighed 125 pounds, and now weigh 185 and have given birth to a lovely young daughter, which was a happy thing in the family. When I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I could not go upstairs without resting before I got to the top. I can now go up without any trouble."

Woman's Place Is In The Home

Mme. Marchesi's Own Belief

Not in Sympathy With the Pankhurst Suffragette Notion and Even Challenges the Leader to a Debate on the Question.

HER HOME RELATIONS

Baroness Cacoamisi, better known in this country as Mme. Blanche Marchesi, and who is now in the United States, is a strong opponent of suffrage for women. In a recent interview she not only expressed her views most forcibly upon this subject, but also challenged Mrs. Pankhurst, the militant English suffragette, or any other woman advocate, to open debate, pledging herself to give a large sum to charity if she did not confound her opponent.

"When," she says, "women have learned to be the right kind of wives and mothers and prove that they can keep themselves and their homes in order and treat their babies and families with the consideration and kindness to which they are entitled, then, and not until then, will I favour the right of franchise for them. I am for the home first. The vote, a puny thing at best, can take care of itself, or the men can take care of it, but not so with the home. I should get infinitely more joy and bliss out of the consciousness that my child was properly cared for one day in the year than to know that I had voted 20,000 times.

"The woman's place is by the fireside, in the home—to provide comfort for her family and thereby for herself. Let them become mothers and raise families. That will keep their minds off of the silly vote. If, after they have raised large families and can show that they cast their vote right when they selected their husbands, then it will be time enough for them to mix in public affairs, which seems to have progressed most satisfactorily without their delicately perfumed ballot. If they do not care to marry and raise families, let them adopt parentless, homeless and friendless, children and teach them the right way to live. There are thousands of such children, and the maternal instinct is not so dead in any woman that she would not derive infinite bliss from taking one of these poor, pretty little toddlings into her arms and knowing that its future rested with her.

"I have made my home in London for many years, and naturally have seen and heard a great deal. The demonstrations of the suffragettes in London have been, still are and will be positively disgraceful, a blot on English womanhood, which a century of the most stirring events cannot efface. The conduct of the agitators is most ungracious and unwomanly—in fact, rowdyism—and more harmful to the silly cause they espouse than beneficial. I do not think the roughest men would demean themselves as some of the women have."

Madame Marchesi, who has won distinction in opera and who is a noted singing teacher, is the mother of four children, and says she depends upon them and her home life for happiness. She is the last of ten children, and was early impressed with the joys and comforts of home. Madame Marchesi is a daughter of Salvatore Castrone, Marquis della Rejata, of Sicily, who was sentenced by Lord Nelson, of England, to be beheaded because of his sympathy with the French when that country sought to colonize and annex the island. He escaped during a fete and afterwards married a German baroness, who trained Melba, Eames, Calve, Sibyl Sanderson and a number of other operatic singers for their careers. Madame Marchesi has circled the globe 12 times and speaks 12 languages.

WHEN IS A MAN REALLY IN LOVE?

How can I tell if a young man loves me?

This is the burden of many letters which I recieve dailly from young girls.

Now, there can be but one answer to the question. If a young man loves you he will tell you and save the trouble.

Not perhaps in a day or a week, but a genuine love cannot be concealed for any great length of time.

The girls who want to know at the first sign of interest a young man displays in her whether he is going to propose, is like hte child who plants flower seeds and digs them up every other day to see how they are getting on. Naturally the flowers never come out, and not infrequently what might develop into a genuine love in a man's heart is killed by the great interest in his intentions shown by the woman.

A girl has every right to make herself atractive and agreeable to a man whom she thinks she would be willing to marry. Which, by the way, does not mean to make herself cheap. And there is one thing she may be sure of.

The fact that a man spends his time with her is the best indication of his interest. A big city like Chicago provides many legitimate diversions for young men, and whenever a man calls as often as you will let him, there can be no better evidence of his admiration.

Do not make the mistake of letting one man monopolise you, however, no matter how much you like him. Jealousy is the spur of love, and a man wants the girl that he thinks another fellow is seeking; just as you want the hat you and your chum see in a milliner's window, and she thinks would be becoming to her.

Be sweet, be natural, don't copy any woman, no matter how much you may admire her; keep in touch with what is going on by reading the papers and if a man calls on you and enjoys himself well enough to come back again and again, be sure that he is in a fair way to fall in love with you. But he doesn't need any help.

PARAGRAPHS

You can't get much music out of the horn of a dilemma.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

N.B.—Unauthorized publications of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for additions and alterations to the General Post Office Building, Toronto, Ontario," will be received at this office until 5.00 p.m., on Monday, November 22, 1909, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specifications and forms of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and on application to Mr. Thomas Hastings, Clerk of Works, Customs Building, Toronto.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, with their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

NAPOLEON TRUDEL, Secretary.

Department of Public Works.

Ottawa, October 29, 1909.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

THE ELECTION OF KINGS

PASTOR RUSSELL SPEAKS ON THE CHOICE OF GOD'S CHURCH.

Text, "Brethren, Give Diligence to Make Your Calling and Election Sure" (II Peter i, 10)—Jesus Is Our Surety Who Will Make Good Our Blemishes—God's Election Is That We Work for His Kingdom.

Sunday, Nov. 14.—Pastor Russell, of Brooklyn Tabernacle, preached to-day to a large and attentive audience as usual, from the following text: "Brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure" (II. Peter i, 10). He said:

Throughout the length and breadth of this land of liberty, young and old understand full well the significance of election. Councilmen, aldermen, mayors of cities, county officials, state officials, United States Congressmen, Senators, the President, the Vice-President are chosen or elected from amongst the people to their various official stations. They are chosen with a view to the blessing that will accrue to the electors by the exercise of their officials positions. How strange, then, that we who are so familiar with these things should read into our text so very different a view of election!

The thought should naturally suggest itself to us that if God is electing or selecting a Church in the present time, it must be with a view to the use of that Church subsequently to serve in some manner the interests of the remainder of the world, from amongst whom they were elected. And this is just what the Scriptures teach; namely, that Christ Jesus himself is the Head, the Captain, the Chief Ruler, and that this "elect" company are, figuratively speaking, his "members," his associates, his under-priesthood. The Scriptures tell us that this selection is according to Divine foreknowledge and foreordination. They tell us that God foreknew our Lord Jesus as the one who would occupy the glorious position of Prophet, Mediator and King of the world during the Millennium. They tell us also that the same God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ foreknew us and "predestinated" that there should be a Church class selected from amongst the world, to be their Redeemer's associate, his under-priesthood, his subordinate kings during the Millennium.

The Church is spoken of as God's "elect" now, before the election has been finished; before the testing is completed; before the called have been proven faithful and worthy. These are "elect" in the sense of having been nominated—"moved and seconded." God moved that they should be elected, and "called them with a heavenly calling." It remained for the called ones themselves to "second the motion" by presenting themselves in full consecration of heart to the Lord. But this was not sufficient; for the invited one were recognised as imperfect and unable to come up to the requirements of the call. Hence it was necessary that the Lord Jesus Christ should become their surety and agree out of his own fulness of merit to supply all of their lack, their imperfection. And this he gladly does by applying for such the merit of his sin-atonement-sacrifice finished at Calvary.

Keeping before our minds that the heavenly Father made the motion or the call, that we seconded it by accepting the call upon its terms of faith and consecration unto death, and that our Lord Jesus is our surety who will make good our unintentional blemishes, what shall we say of the prospects of our being elected and at whose door shall we lay the responsibility if we are not elected? Surely the unchangeable God who nominated us has made every provision for our election and will co-operate. Surely our Redeemer, our Surety, our Advocate, will give us every assistance in the way and, according to his promise, cause all things to work together for our good. Just as surely, therefore, the entire responsibility for failure would lie at our door. And this is what St. Peter in our text declares, "Make your calling and election sure."

From this standpoint we have a special interest in our own election, such as we never had before when we misunderstood the entire matter. Once in our ignorance we thought that St. Peter had written foolishly about our making the election sure; for according to the erroneous theory which we had "swallowed" without proper mastication, God was doing all the electing himself, and had unalterably fixed our destiny as eternal glory or eternal suffering, long centuries before we were born.

This erroneous view blinded our mental sight from all the various incentives which now are so precious and so helpful. What had God elected us to be and to do? To sit upon a cloud and to play upon a harp and to sing to all eternity, cheerfully looking over the battlements of heaven to see our dear friends writhing in torment,—and striving hard to praise God for it all and to think of his course in our election and their damnation as the exemplification of Justice and of Love?

We read indeed in the Scriptures respecting a Kingdom, for which our Lord taught us to pray, "Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done in earth as it is done in heaven," yet the thraldom of error upon us was so tense that we recognized not the inconsistency between these promises and our false hopes. Now, thank God, "the mystery" is revealed to us in God's Word and by his Spirit, and we perceive that the Millennial Kingdom is to be a reality and that its blessing to mankind in general, "to all the families of the earth;" is to be most thorough, most systematic, most complete, and in the end entirely satisfactory.

What an interest we properly take in this matter of our election, after learning that the office for which we are running is a combination of priesthood and kingship! The elect are to be priestly kings, or, otherwise styled, "a Royal Priesthood." Their glorious service is to be for a period of one thousand years, during which they will be kings and priests unto God and will reign over the earth (Revelation xx, 4; I. Peter ii, 9).

They will not "reign on the earth" in the sense of being earthly beings, having earthly courts and thrones; their resurrection "change" will constitute them heavenly or spirit beings; they will be invisible to mankind, as now the "prince of this world" is invisible and as the holy angels are invisible. But they will possess heavenly power and authority and wisdom and grace. By these glorious attributes they will be able to serve God and humanity by a reign of righteousness, whose uplifting or restitution influences (Acts iii, 21) will begin with the living generations, but eventually extend to "all the families of the earth," who have been going down for the past six thousand years into the great prison-house of death—"prisoners of hope," however, because of the promise of God's Word and the redemption sacrifice of Jesus.

My beloved hearers, if your hearts are not moved by this message of God's grace and this information respecting his Kingdom and of your prospects of becoming kings and priests in that Kingdom, it is because you do not believe the message—because your faith does not properly grasp the "exceeding great and precious promises" of God's Word (II. Peter i, 4). I am aware that this whole message by Jesus and his apostles has been so long covered by the rubbish of "the dark ages" that it was lost to our light for a long while, and sadly we missed its encouragement to faithfulness. I am glad, however, that now the eyes of understanding are opening to see the length and breadth and height and depth in the great Divine Plan of the Ages.

Consider for a moment what fabulous prices have been paid for earthly crowns! Thousands of lives have been sacrificed and millions of money, to gain an earthly crown. And thousands who paid this price knew well that "uneasy rests the head which wears the crown." They knew well, too, that its tenure would be precarious and that the attainment of it would bring them lasting hatred from others who aspired to the same position and who considered that their right to it was as good or better.

What comparison should we institute as between the value of such a crown and the "crown of glory," honor and immortality which God has promised to his elect—to such of them as make their calling and their election sure! Has God placed too high a valuation upon the heavenly crown, in demanding that those who would share it with the Redeemer must prove their loyalty to him and to the principles of righteousness, and to the spirit of love, to the extent of laying down their lives in his service and in "doing good unto all men as they have opportunity, especially to the household of faith?"

Our Lord asked wherein would be the profit to any man if he were to gain the whole world and lose his own soul—lose his future life. For the purpose of our present topic we might ask a modified question, namely, If one should gain the empire of the whole earth and all of its riches, and if another should gain this heavenly election to the heavenly Kingdom of one thousand years and to subsequent eternal blessings with the Lord, which of these would choose the better part — which would show the real wisdom, and which would be the foolish one? But the contrast increases when we note that the dominion of earth cannot be secured by our sailing through bloody seas, and that a mere competency of earthly wealth is attained by only one of a thousand who strive for it day and night. Surely from the standpoint of the Father's Word all earthly honors are vanities, in comparison with the heavenly glories and blessings which may be surely attained by the "called" of this Gospel Age—if they will but follow the Divine directions.

In our context St. Peter tells us upon what terms the called and accepted may make their election sure. After calling our attention to God's exceeding great and precious promises he tells us that they were given us to the intent that they should operate in our minds so as to influence our lives, in harmony with the Divine will; and that thus we may "become partakers of the Divine nature, after having escaped the corruption that is in the world through desire,"—selfishness, lust (verse 4). He proceeds to amplify, and urges that such as have this hope shall give all diligence to the matter of adding to their faith virtue or fortitude. That is to say, faith of itself is very good as a start, but God requires more than this. As a condition of our acceptance for election he requires that our faith shall be of a strong kind, giving us fortitude for all of life's affairs; for all of our Covenants with the Lord; for a faithful endurance of opposition, contradiction, etc., that thus we might be copies of our Lord Jesus Christ, as God has ordained all of "the elect" must be (Romans viii, 29).

Not only must we have a strong faith combined with fortitude, but we must also add "knowledge." We required some knowledge of God and of our Lord Jesus and of the Gospel message before we could come unto the Lord at all, but the Apostle is not referring to this, our earliest knowledge. He is addressing Christians who have already taken the first steps. He assures us that they need knowledge to enable them to go onward in Christian development—knowledge, scientific knowledge, etc., when these do not cross or interfere with the Divine Revelation, but we are confident that the Apostle did not intend to refer to worldly knowledge, but to the greatest of all scientific knowledge—the knowledge of God.

How shall we know God? By study of his character. Our Lord Jesus it was who declared, "This is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent (John xvii, 3). This knowledge at the present time is a secret knowledge and, as the Apostle says, a "hidden mystery," which can be known only by those who put themselves into a certain attitude of heart and mind and conduct toward the Lord and his revelation. We are to study God's character—to learn respecting his Justice, his Wisdom, his Love and his Power, by studying his revelation—the Bible. In it we see his dealings past, and his promises respecting his dealings future. And a correct appreciation of these gives us a knowledge of God's character as exemplified therein. But since this knowledge is not stated in terms for the world to understand, it follows that only those in proper condition of heart and enlightened by the holy Spirit can receive this knowledge. It is taught only to the pupils in the School of Christ. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him; and he will show them his Covenant."

The Apostle continues his advice as to things necessary to be added by those who would make their calling and election sure. They must keep adding, and the adding must be little by little and day by day. The knowledge we gain of God through his Word should lead us to greater moderation (translated, temperance, in our common version). "Let your moderation be known unto all men" (Philippians iv, 5), moderation or balance in thought, in word, in action. God's people may be called extremists by those who are not begotten of the holy Spirit and who know not "the mystery." But even they should be able to charge immoderation only on the one score—our immoderation, our faithfulness to the Word of the Lord and to our Covenant of self-sacrifice as followers in the footsteps of Jesus. Our lives should be so moderate as respects business and pleasure and food and raiment, etc., that we should be examples of wisdom and moderation to all—extremists only along the same lines that Jesus and the Apostles were counted extremists by those who knew not, neither did understand "the mystery" of their endeavor to be of "the very elect."

Patience must not be forgotten. In addition to moderation, "Let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing." Next add godlikeness — general goodness benevolence, benignity toward all. Add next brotherly kindness—in the natural family relationship, and also in the spiritual family, the Church. "Love as brethren" (ought to love). "We ought also to lay down our lives for the brethren." Still further the Apostle urges that while all of the foregoing are elements of love we superadd love itself in the fullest sense toward the Lord, toward the brethren, toward humanity, toward the brute creation and toward our enemies. While all of these cannot be loved in the same degree, all should profit by the spirit of love in our hearts for all.

Now comes the climax of the advice to those seeking to make their calling and election sure (verse 8). "If these things be in you and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ." And then as our text declares, If these things abound and if we give diligence to the making sure of our calling and election and do these things, we shall never fall—we shall in no case fail of securing our election. God seeketh such for joint-heirship with their Redeemer in the Kingdom. God "seeketh such to worship him as worship him in spirit and in truth."

The grand consummation of our election—our Kingdom honors and glories—is specifically referred to by St. Peter in the next verse, saying, "For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." If, dear Brethren, we believe these things, let us permit them to control our lives—our words, our deeds and our thoughts. Surely we can well afford to be considered foolish along lines of the sacrifice of earthly interest, if thereby we can develop the character which our Lord desires and prove ourselves worthy of a share in his Kingdom.

Fielding's Great Scoop.

Down in Nova Scotia city editors still tell their cubs about the great "scoop" engineered by Hon. W. S. Fielding when he was a reporter on The Halifax Chronicle.

Under the stress of storm a big Atlantic liner went ashore with all her passengers some miles east of Halifax. It was the wreck of the season. All were saved, the passengers having been sent ashore by pulleys and baskets, and cared for by the inhabitants of the coast.

A sailor walked into the city through a blinding snowstorm to tell the news.

Strolling down the water front in search of news, Fielding met the man, who was half dazed by fatigue. As soon as he heard the great story the reporter hurried the fainting man up to The Chronicle office. He took him into an inner chamber and locked the door. Then a steaming hot meal was brought in stealthily from a near-by hotel. The sailorman was soothed in body and mind. He unfolded the thriller which Fielding took down in shorthand and polished afterward. The big presses began to reel off the smoking papers. The sailor was put to bed in the office to prevent leaks. In the morning the front page of the Chronicle was livid with news. The faces of the rival editors were livid too; they had been "scooped" clean.

Live In Comfort—and Save Your Coal

The "Sovereign" Hot Water Boiler

Made by the

TAYLOR-FORBES Company, Limited, GUELPH, ONT.

The general advantage of hot water heating is that the radiators may be placed under or alongside drafty windows, or against exposed walls, where heat is most required. The particular advantage is in the use of the "Sovereign" hot water furnace. It will heat all the house uniformly and comfortably without increasing, and possibly make a considerable reduction in the coal bill. And the "Sovereign" will supply abundance of hot water for bath and kitchen into the bargain.

Built on the unit principle of construction the "Sovereign" cannot wear out.

DIED FROM EFFECTS OF HEADACHE POWDERS

Young Man Studied Too Hard, Injured His Health and Resorted to Headache Powders.

Norman Hubert Miller, youngest son of Mr. David Miller, of Washago, met with an untimely death at Pittsburgh last week. Together with two of his brothers, George and Gordon, he had been living and working in that city. He was engaged in an office, and being of a studious disposition spent his evenings in study. This life weakened his health, and brought on severe headaches, for which he was recommended to take certain headache powders.

On the evening of the 1st, though feeling unwell, he went over the river from Alleghany, where he was living, to Pittsburgh, with his brothers and several others, to hear the results of the elections held throughout the States that day. The party attended a moving picture show, and on coming out Norman took a second headache powder, the first having failed to give him relief.

Shortly after he became weak and ill, and was taken to the hospital, where he grew rapidly weaker, and passed away within the hour. His brothers brought the body home for burial.—Orillia Packet.

PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE

Did it ever occur to you that a man's life is full of temptation? He comes into the world without his consent, and goes out of it against his will, and the trip between is exceedingly rocky, the rule of contrairies is one of the features of this trip.

When he is little the big girls kiss him; when he is big the little girls kiss him. If he is poor, he is a bad manager; if he is rich, he's dishonest. If he needs credit, he can't get it, if he is prosperous everybody wants to do him a favor.

If he is in politics it is for graft; if he is out of politics he is no good to his country. If he doesn't give to charity, he is a sting cuss; if he does it is for a show. If he is actively religious, he is a hypocrite; if he takes no interest in religion he is a hardened sinner. If he gives affection, he is a soft specimen; if he cares for no one, he is cold blooded; if you're fond of the ladies you're a flirt; you're not, you're a woman hater; if he dies young, there was a great future before him, if he lives to an old age, he missed his calling.

If you save money, you're a gnouch; if you spend it you're a loafer; if you get it you're a grafter; if you don't get it you're a bum—so what's the use.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Cheerfulness is more precious than great riches. If I were founding a new religion its first commandment should be; "Thou shalt be cheerful."

If I were instituting a new school of medicine its fundamental principle would be: cheerfulness on the part of the doctor, and for the patient good cheer.

For in the symphony of life much gold without cheerfulness is a mockery Success in the cure of most maladies depends upon faith and hope and cheerfulness.

The optimist is cheerfulness personified, the pessimist a walking grouch.

The cheerful optimist makes the progress of humanity, the growling pessimist would turn back the wheel of time. Away with pessimism! Let cheerfulness reign supreme.—Max.

Nervous, Tired, Anxious, Thin

What causes nervous collapse? Most people say worry, anxiety, brooding, but these are simply the outcomes of a lowered physical condition. When strong we throw them off, but when run down they hold us in by chains.

The true cause of nervous collapse is in the blood. When thin and watery it contains no nourishment for the nerves, no support for the muscles—result is collapse.

The truest food for the nerves is the nourishing blood that Ferrozone forms. Ferrozone builds up the nervous and depressed, not by stimulation, but by the surer way of adding flesh, blood, and sinew. The whole system is vitalized; the nerves are fortified—you can sleep, work hard, and be free from brooding anxiety.

FERROZONE Makes Health

No health winner so certain as Ferrozone, no nerve strengthener more potent, no system tonic so well adapted to the wants of the run down, nervous, or sleepless. Ferrozone is certain to cure if you give it a chance. 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

FOOD FOR A YEAR

WILL BE MADE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. Coon, of Rochester, N.Y., have been stopping at the Oriental in this city for a day or two. Mr. Coon is president of Coon's De Marvel Co., Limited, Toronto, and came here for the purpose of entering into an arrangement with the Collier-Cunningham Co., Limited, for the manufacture of Coon's great invention "De Marvel," of which Mr. Coon is the inventor.

The invention has been patented nearly all over the civilised world.

Coon De Marvel Co., Limited, is a Canadian company, with offices at Toornto. Mr. Coon has found the Collier-Cunningham Co., Limited, just the people he has been looking for, and as a result has placed an initial order with them for 5000 "De Marvels."

We feel that both parties are to be congratulated upon the outcome of Mr. Coon's visit.

Mr. W. H. Burrows, of Toronto, who has charge of the marketing of the company's goods, accompanied Mr. Coon.

The invention above mentioned, consists of a cylinder filled with radio-active fluid, and which is heated by electricity, gas, lamp or stove, and is claimed to produce marvelous results in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, and the many muscular and nervous troubles from which so many people suffer. Mr. Coon has received the enthusiastic endorsement for his device by the leading physicians of Toronto Montreal and other Canadian cities, as well as prominent athletic associations throughout the Dominion.

MEN'S FASHIONS

Fall canes are made of darkly-stained bamboo and have silver handles, like the head of a golf club. Some represent mid-irons, other brassies or drivers. These heads open and are small cigarette cases or match boxes.

Blanket bath robes in every possible variety are again to be seen in the shops, as they have taken the place, to a large extent, of the terry robes for winter use. The most popular are in sister tones of brown. Red and grey art frequently to be seen, and various shades of blue and green are also to be obtained, if preferred.

A new knit scarf is of a solid color in a loose weave, say, red, blue, green violet, or brown, crossed at inch-and-a-half intervals by a horisontal stripe of a fine weave in a contrasting or sister color.

A fine white shirt is sprinkled all over with four-leaf clovers in two shades of brown, each figure being less than a half-inch in size. Shirtings such as these are made up in pleated models with seven narrow knife-pleates on the bosom of the shirt.

Silk dressing gowns of the most elaborate design are being shown. They are made after the manner of overcoats, some of them with military collars and patched-on pockets, and are lined with a contrasting shade of silk. Harvey brocades and plain silks are used in their construction. The pale greens and silver greens are among the most striking of these luxurious house garments.

Tan gloves with black stitching, such as we used to wear years ago are again in the market. They are rather "outre" and not particularly good-looking so that it is doubtful if they will ever be very popular.

Another new knifed scarf, claiming to be hand made, is of the usual close weave variety, but with a long stripe down the centre of the scarf in a self-tone, but in an even closer weave. This scarf, which is unusually handsome, comes in a variety of popular colors.—The Gentleman's Journal.

LILIAN LANGTRY AND HER POWER

She Has Made Consistent Failure of Everything Except Enslaving of Men.

London, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Langtry's failure to make good with her hovel "All at Sea," is on par with that vivacious lady's pretty consistent failure to make good with ventures that really had a serious commercial foundation underlying them. Her Imperial Theatre, for example, was a failure and there have been times when the Jersey Lily was hard put to maintain even the modest house in Tedworth Square, Chelsea, where her rental was not more than £150 a year. The truth is that Mrs. Langtry—why call her Lady de Bathe?—was so gifted by nature that she had only one profession, and that was a profession which really began in the Garden of Eden, at the time of the little affair with the apple. This parson's daughter was from her earliest days an enslaver of men, and outside this particular business she has never really shone. True, she has made good within the past few years at the racing game, but that was because she took good care to enslave an excellent stud manager, who also drew a princely commission on the winnings of her racing cattle. In her natural profession, the greatest coup the lady ever affected was in her reduction of the late George Baird—Squire Abington," as he was known on the turf—to a state of subjection to her fascinations, which, as far as the man was concerned at least, would lead one to think that for the only time in his short life the spendthrift sterling muti-millionaire had felt a genuine love for any woman.

LEFT HER A MILLION

When Baird died in America in 1893 of pneumonia, she was the only person remembered in his will to any extent proportionate to his great wealth. Mrs. Langtry was left, it was said, nearly a million sterling, all the horseman's racers, including the flying Meddler, and the famous house in Curson street. Baird and the "Lily" were for many years on the very best and closest of terms, though it is said they used to quarrel so fiercely at times that the lady's features were in such bad case as to prevent her being "at home" to her friends for many and many a day. Her ventures with other gilded youth who burst upon the West End of London were not however, so profitable—in the case of Lord Rosslyn, for example, who, by the way, was always a comparatively poor man, while her endeavor to enlist the co-operation of young Lord Howard de Walden, with an income of about £200,000 a year, in her racing and social ventures did not come to any practical fruition. Her daughter married a young Parliamentarian, Ian Malcolm, who one time gave a promise of doing something, and since the marriage neither mother nor daughter has ever, it is said, been on visiting terms.

WHAT HELD THE MEN?

What was the particular fascination of Mrs. Langtry for men? This is a question often asked, and never appears to have been satisfactorily answered. Her beauty was certainly not so very entrancing; her eyes were of the hard steel type; her features however classical, were cast in a somewhat forbidding mould; her wit was of no very scintillating order. A newspaper man once put the question to a well-known man about town in London, and received the following explanation. Mrs. Langrty's hold upon men arose from the fact that in her composition the devil predominated. There was no rank so exalted that could subdue this inborn demon, there was no rank so exalted tha tcould subdue this inborn demon, and there was was no man so insignificant that she would not endeavor to enslave him. Of heart, she never had a semblance, and she cared for the man she consorted with as little as she minded his throwing her over for someone else. She gave no trouble whatever and appeared to live from day to day, careless of what might happen the next, provided she could sustain her chosen role. But it was the supreme devil in the woman that won her many admirers, subdued them, and gave her the prestige she has ever held in the Arcady of millionairedom. And she differed from your modern social pseudo-originals who essay the role of amazing devils, in this that she really was, and didn't pretend to be.

Trenton Turns Down Offer.

Trenton, Nov. 16.—By a vote of 399 to 150 the power bylaw to ratify the agreement handing over the Trenton River waterpowers to a company was defeated yesterday. The bylaw was defeated in every polling sub-division and every ward. The council talks about resigning as a body.

The people carried the Johnston factory bonus bylaw by 489 to 57.

Jamaica Storm Losses.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 16.—It is estimated that about fifty persons were drowned by the floods, and that the material storm damage will total not less than $1,250,000. The principal loss is to the banana plantations on the north side of the island. The south side of the island was practically uninjured.

When Mercy Tempers.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 16.—Charles Richards, traveler for Wilson Bros., whose shortages exceed $6,000, pleaded guilty on two counts, and was sentenced to two years. The prosecuting firm asked specially for mercy, and will provide for his wife and family.

Loses Sight of One Eye.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Heavy earthquake shocks were felt in the Canary Islands on Saturday.

J. A. Ellis, city treasurer, will run as an Independent Conservative candidate in the Ottawa bye-election for Parliament.

Bedfort, who made the fake confession in London, Eng., of having committed the Kinrade murder, was yesterday discharged.

James Stevens, who was stabbed by an Italian at Cobalt on Sunday, is resting quietly at the hospital. He received seven stabs.

The study of aviation problems has been inaugurated in the superior schools of France by M. Deumergue, Minister of Education.

Surveys have been completed for a million dollars' worth of reconstruction work on the line of the C.P.R. between Lytton, B.C., and a point to the west of Hope.

Farewell proceedings marked the passing yesterday of Hon. Joseph Dubuc, Chief Justice of Manitoba, from the bench after nearly four decades of continuous judicial service.

It now transpires that J. P. Jones, late general manager of the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., will realize $35,000 a year from the cement merger, and a five-year call on half a million shares of Cement common at 15.

Jacob Rapinskey, charged with being a white slave dealer, broke down in the court at Montreal yesterday, when two little Polish girls testified that they had been lured to his house, 14 Vitre street and forced to associate with Chinese.

Among the gifts towards the jubilee fund of Queen street Methodist Church, Kingston, Sunday, was a check of $400 from Hon. William Hasty, member of Parliament, and a liberal Roman Catholic citizen. In a letter accompanying the gift, he said, "Christianity is a big enough platform to hold us all."

King Manuel at Windsor.

London, Nov. 16.—King Manuel of Portugal, who is paying his first visit to England since his accession to the throne, arrived in Portsmouth on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert yesterday. He was met by the Prince of Wales, representing King Edward, and welcomed by an imposing naval display. Soon after his arrival the party proceeded by train to Windsor. The royal borough was a mass of color and flags in honor of the occasion.

Illegal Duck Shooting.

Belleville, Nov. 16.—Capt. Fleming and the crew of the Government patrol steamer Navarch, made a big seizure of over 30,000 yards of gill nets in Weller's Bay. They also captured two shot guns, a sunken boat, the use of which is against the law, and about 200 decoy ducks. It is said the owners are known and will be prosecuted. In part of the nets seized were found a number of dead and living wild ducks.

Governor Must Face Trial.

Chickasha, Okla., Nov. 16.—Federal Judge John A. Marshall yesterday overruled the demurrer, filed by Gov. Charles N. Haskell and five other Oklahomans to indictments charging them with fraudulently securing from the Government title to a large number of town lots in Muskogee, Okla. The defendants were ordered to appear here for trial Saturday morning.

Twenty Years For Manslaughter.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 16.—In the Criminal Supreme Court at Sydney, Justice Russell delivered sentence. Joe Nash, found guilty of manslaughter, was given twenty years in penitentiary. A number of men convicted of assault or unlawful assembly in coal strike disturbances were sentenced to from one to three months in jail.

Quadruplex Cable Instrument.

Pittsfield, Mass., Nov. 16.—Stephen B. Field of Stockbridge has just perfected a quadruplex instrument for the transmission of four cable messages over a single wire. The instruments are now working successfully in the cable between Key West, Fla., and Havana, Cuba, about 100 miles.

Serve Sentences Consecutively.

Boston, Nov. 16.—Morris Wies will support both his own family and his brother's while his brother Harris is serving a 21 months' sentence in jail, after which their positions will be reversed, if the court accepts the suggestion of District Attorney Asa F. French.

The brothers were convicted in the Federal Court of concealing assets in bankruptcy. After Harris Wies had been sentenced yesterday, Mr. French suggested that the sentence of Morris be suspended until Harris was free, in order that their families, which are large and straightened in circumstances, might be cared for. The court will give a decision to-day.

Want Uniform System.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—At a private conference of auditors representing the municipalities included in the Niagara Power Union, held at the City Hall yesterday, with W. T. Andrews, Brantford, presiding, a committee was appointed to draw up a system of uniform accounting. The Ontario Municipal and Railway Board's report will be used as a basis, and the committee's report will be submitted to the different municipalities for approval.

There will be a further conference of engineers of the municipalities today regarding standardization of equipment.

Women May Thrash Them All.

Bristol, Eng., Nov. 16.—Winston Spencer Churchill, president of the London Board of Trade, failed to appear to prosecute Therese Gurnett, the suffragette, who attempted to horsewhip him here Saturday, when she was arraigned yesterday, and she was released on her own recognizance.

As she was leaving the court-room, the Gurnett woman announced that all of the Ministers in the present Cabinet will receive similar treatment.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—U.S. Markets Active and Generally Firm.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 12 1-2c to 13 3-4c per lb. for live cattle, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted easy, at 10 1-4c to 10 1-2c per lb.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 60 carloads, consisting of 1020 cattle, 50 hogs, 1643 sheep and lambs and 35 calves.

Exporters.

T. Connor bought one load of exporters, 1220 lbs., at $5.50, and several export bulls at $3.75 to $4.75 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked butchers' cattle were quoted at $5 to $5.15; good, $4.75 to $5; medium, $4.25 to $4.60; common, $3.50 to $4.25; cows, $3.50 to $4.15; canners, $1.50 to $3.

Feeders and Stockers.

Prices for feeders and stockers were unchanged. Feeders ranged from $3.75 to $4.50 for good steers; stockers, at $3.25 to $3.75.

Milkers and Springers.

Several buyers were on hand but Fred Rowntree bought all on sale at $45 to $65 each.

Veal Calves.

A limited number of veal calves sold at firm prices, ranging from $3 to $7.25 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

There were 1643 sheep and lambs that found ready sale at the following prices: Good export ewes at $3.50 to $4 per cwt.; culls and rams, $3; lambs of good quality, $5.75 to $6; common lambs, $5 to $5.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices for hogs are easy at $7.65 for selects, fed and watered, and $7.40, f.o.b., cars, at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, receipts for the week ending Nov. 13 were 3425 cattle, 2235 sheep and lambs, 2900 hogs and 675 calves, while the supply for local consumption this morning was 1400 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 1500 hogs, and 250 calves. The cattle supply this morning was much smaller than a week ago, with a continued slow demand, as butchers generally have laid in larger supplies than usual on account of the low prices ruling and stocks of dressed beef in cold storage are fairly large, while the weather is unfavorable for keeping stock. This had a tendency to check any advance in prices, except for a few really choice steers, which sold at 4c to 4¼c. The bulk of the trading was done at 4½c to 4¾c; good, at 4c to 4¼c; fair, at 3½c to 3¾c; medium, at 3c to 3½c; good bulls, at 3¼c to 3¾c; canning bulls, at 2½c to 3c, and cows, at 1½c to 3½c per lb.

Cable advices from Liverpool were steady, with prices unchanged from a week ago, but trade very slow, in spite of good weather conditions.

Supplies of sheep and lambs were fair and good for cold storage purposes, and prices show no change. Sheep brought 3¼c to 3½c and lambs 5½c to 5¾c per lb. The trade in calves was fairly active and sales were made at from $3 to $13 each.

Hog supplies were ample, and prices ruled steady, with sales of selected lots from west of Toronto, at $7.65, and from east of Toronto at $7.90 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 15.—Cattle—Receipts, 4200 head; active and strong to 10c higher; prime steers, $6.75 to $7; shipping, $5.85 to $6.65; butchers, $4.60 to $6.50; heifers, $3.75 to $6; cows, $2.25 to $5.10; bulls, $3.75 to $5; stockers and feeders, $3.60 to $5; stock heifers, $3.25 to $3.65; fresh cows and springers, steady, $30 to $70.

Hogs—Receipts, 14,000 head; active and steady; heavy and mixed, $7.35 to $7.55; yorkers, $7.50 to $7.60; pigs, $7 to $7.50; roughs, $6.25 to $6.35; stags, $5 to $6.75; dairies, $7.40 to $7.55.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 15,000 head; sheep, active and steady; lambs, slow; native, 10c lower; lambs, $5.25 to $7.25; yearlings, $5.25 to $5.75; wethers, $4.75 to $5; ewes, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, mixed, $3 to $4.25; Canada lambs, $7 to $7.30.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Beeves—Receipts 4715; firm; steers, $4.25 to $6.70; bulls, $3 to $4; choice fat bulls, $4.35 to $4.50; cows, $1.80 to $4.35.

E. R. Wood Says Steel-Coal Capitalization Will Not Increase.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—E. R. Wood, one of the most prominent promoters of the merger of Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel, returned to Toronto yesterday after having completed the arrangements in Montreal for the working out of the consolidation.

Mr. Wood said there would be no increase in the capitalization of the combined concerns, and that the common stock, which is now twenty millions of Dominion Steel and fifteen millions of Dominion Coal, would remain at thirty-five millions. The new concern is expected to be called the Dominion Steel & Coal Co. or Corporation.

The outstanding dispute over the claim of the Steel Company for $1,200,000 would be settled by two firms of expert accountants, and a new agreement for the price to be paid for coal for the next five years would be entered into as soon as the negotiations were through.

"What is left to do is to proceed to discover how many of the shareholders are willing to sell, and how many want to keep their holdings."

"After that a joint committee of two companies will meet for the purpose of determining what is a fair relative basis on which to bring these two companies together, based on the value of their assets and their earning power."

Waterway Report.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The annual report of the Waterways Commission will propose that instead of the suggested division of 40,000 cubic feet per second at Niagara Falls, the agreement shall be so modified as to allow of an equal division of 20,000 cubic feet to each side.

New charts to define the boundaries of the waters on the St. Lawrence, Detroit and St. Clair Rivers are recommended. The report will recommend that the Cedar Rapids Co. on the Soulanges Canal shall have the right to divert 56,000 cubic feet from the St. Lawrence. A scheme is under consideration to regulate the level of Lake Erie by a series of weirs and sluices. The commission will advise that Canada consent to the dredging by the United States at Amherstburg, because of the benefit to navigation.

It is also understood that the investigations of the commission have shown that a larger portion of the water of the horseshoe falls than was previously supposed goes to the American side.

An Inhuman Father.

Prince Arthur, Sask., Nov. 16.—Charged with neglecting and refusing to supply medical attention to his 13-year-old daughter, Florence, Frank Cherry, one of the wealthiest farmers in the district, has been arrested by his own son.

Three weeks ago the girl had her leg broken in a runaway accident and since that time the bone has been protruding several inches. The son sent for a doctor, and it is said the father refused to allow the physician to dress the wound.

Negro Lynched; Six Imprisoned.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 16.—Ninety days' imprisonment was imposed yesterday upon ex-Sheriff Jos. T. Shipp of Chattanooga, Tenn., by the Supreme Court of the United States for contempt of court in failing to prevent the lynching of a negro convicted of rape, whose execution had been stayed by the court. Luther Williams and Nick Nolan were also sentenced to imprisonment for 90 days, and Jeremiah Gibson, the jailer, Henry Padgett and William Mayes for 60 days.

KISSED ACTRESS

Queen's Student in Kingston Opera House Thrown From Box on to Stage Made Good—Encored the "Stunt."

MADE THE BOYS JEALOUS

The performance of "Peck's Bad Boy" at the Opera House on Saturday evening was witnessed by a very small audience. Varsity students among the audience did their best to aid the actors in furnishing fun for the audience. Their remarks to each other from one box to the other were audible all over the theatre, and were sometimes laughable, and their most amusing effort of the evening was when they lifted up and heaved over on the stage the noisiest member of their group at the time one of the ladies of the troupe was singing a song. Evidently the student had either rehearsed the part or he knew what was expected of him for he rather awkwardly arose to his feet, and taking a few steps across the stage to where the young lady stood he first shook hands with her and then kissed her. Before she left the stage the kissing act was encored and brought down the house.—Kingston Standard.

"JOE" MURPHY WEDS

Celebrated Irish Comedian Married—Has Plenty of Money From Stage Career.

Examiner Special.

New York, Nov. 16.—Word came from Philadelphia friends of "Joe" Murphy, who off the stage is William Lawrence Murphy, that the Irish comedian had married Miss May Frymier, who on the stage is May Firmier, in San Antonio, Tex. The news created a stir on Broadway when it became known that a bride was to share the $3,000,000 of which the veteran comedian is the accredited possessor.

Mr. Murphy, prior to his retirement recently, was one of the best-known actors on the American stage. When he bade the regular stage farewell he made no promise to keep out of vaudeville.

Despite the fact that Mr. Murphy has on numerous occasions been made the butt of jests about closeness in money matters, his friends hold him as a fine man, of the best type of Irishman, who, while reserved and not prone to the good fellowship of the brass rail and mahogany, was personally generous and a lovable character. The actual account of the wedding was lacking in the reports yesterday.

A nominal charge of ten or fifteen cents a filling will be made to remove the objection to charity.

WHAT TO SELECT FOR CHRISTMAS

If you wish to buy for yourself, or your home, or your friends, something that will be a permanent pleasure, buy a picture.

Of all gifts a picture is the one that wears well. It adorns the home and it pleases the eye, and it grows into the life.

In spending money for oneself or for one's friends, it is a satisfaction to know that the investment is well made; that it is spent for something that has a use, as well as is a pleasure in itself. This is where a picture has its great charm and advantage. It adorns a house and it charms with its presence.

Some very beautiful, artistic, and meritorious pictures may be seen at Pillsworth's Picture and Art Store, 430 George street, and if you will call when you have a few minutes or better an hour or so to spare, their practical picture and art salesman will be delighted to show you their magnificent line of frames and unframed pictures and if you are not delighted with having seen so many beautiful works of art we shall feel much disappointed. There are so many beautiful things in nature and art which can only be made manifest by a picture.

THE RAINY RIVER BANK ROBBER WAS BETRAYED BY A MEMBER OF HIS GANG

Andres Slander, Who Shot Himself When Pursued by Detectives, Had Not Fairly Divided the Spoils—Ran for Miles Although Badly Wounded.

POLICE CLAIM REWARD

Examiner Special.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—Despatches to-day from Pittsburg state that Andres Slander, the Rainy River, Ont., bank robber, who shot himself when pursued by detectives, was betrayed to the police by one of his two confederates in the Rainy River robberry, John Dombrowsky, under arrest in Pittsburg, who claimed to have been cheated in the division of the spoils.

Dombrowsky says he was planning when arrested the death of Slander and the other member of the gang for revenge.

Slander's pretty 19-year-old widowed bride was freed to-day at the conclusion of the coroner's inquest. There was no evidence of her complicity in any of Slander's criminal actions. She declared that not until the revelations following his tragic death had she suspected him of being a criminal. Furthermore, she said she had been unaware that he ever had used the name Slander, he having represented to her that his name was Edward Mynaraki, and she being known as Caroline Mynarski.

Evidence adduced at the inquest indicates that Slander possessed remarkable vitality. With two wounds, which would immediately render an ordinary man helpless, he ran so swiftly that at the end of about three miles and within a block of the Lee Avenue car line, for which he was headed, he had entirely distanced his pursuers.

The St. Louis police will claim the reward of $1,500 offered by the Bank of Nova Scotia for the arrest and conviction of any of the robbers.

Very Effective for Kidney, Bladder and Rheumatic Sufferers.

The function of the kidneys is to filter and strain the imprities from the blood. Pains in the urinary region and the small of the back indicate that the kidneys are sick and need treatment. Neglecting such symptoms, brings rheumatism, diabetes, dropsy, and heart trouble, while a simple home treatment will restore and keep the kidneys in fine working order. Being a mild, balmy healing tonic, old and young can use with perfect safety. One-half ounce fluid extract Buchu; compound fluid Balmwort, one ounce; compound syrup Sarsaparilla, two ounces; mix in a bottle. Take a teaspoonful before each meal. At night take another dose, drinking plenty of water. A local druggist says he fills it frequently for the best physicians.

POSTER DESTRUCTION MISCHIEF—NOT MALICE

In a letter written in yesterday's issue of your paper, Mr. R. J. Todd seems to me to desire to pose as a martyr, on the head of the outrage on a sect with which he is connected. He complains that cards announcing a "Christian Science" address were torn down. That is not surprising, if they were all posted where the one was that I saw torn down—on a telephone pole bearing the warning, "Post No Bills". I noticed, too, that many posters announcing the United Evangelistic services of the Presbyterians were treated in a similar manner. I can't say they were all on forbidden ground—telephone poles—but their destruction seemed to be pure rowdyism, and not a desire to honour any sect or anybody with martyrdom. I have my own opinion of the generosity of a company disfiguring our streets with poles by the thousand and denying the public the trifling return for the space they occupy by making them useful as well as beautiful.

Yours, etc.,
CITIZEN.

COUPLE FORMED A SUICIDE PACT

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 15.—The gruesome tale of a suicide compact, which in fulfilment cost the life of Blanche Ferguson, of Washington, while her companion, Fred Reid, of Cleveland, just escaped a like fate, was told this afternoon in detail by Reid at a hearing in the office of the Chief of Police. It was brought out that the couple, who had known each other only two weeks, made two attempts to die. The first night of their arrival in this city they partook of the contents of a vial of morphine purchased in New York.

Upon finding themselves alive the next morning they prepared to renew their attempt to kill themselves. Reid had the bottle refilled in this city, and the couple spent their last money in decorating their death chamber with fresh white flowers. They made up a potion in the same cocktail glasses as before, drank the contents and went to bed to sleep. The girl never woke. Reid was saved by prompt medical attention.

Reid denied that he handed the poison to the girl. As a result of the story told by Reid the police believe that he was prompted to attempt his life by remorse, and because he had used money belonging to his employer.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER NOW GONE RECALLS YEAR WHEN THAT SEASON WAS PRACTICALLY UNFELT

The exceptionally fine weather enjoyed up to the present has been a byword on the street for weeks past and the oldest inhabitant has been feating his memory to recall a year when the fall season was so delightful. Someone has recalled a year when there was practically no summer.

Ninety-one years ago — 1816 — the northern parts of this continent, and also Europe, had a visitation of cold which caused that year to be known as "the year without summer," and as "the year of the frost." The following interesting facts are to be found in Rev. Dr. Patterson's "History of the County of Picton, N.S.," published in 1887:

"In the northern states frost, ice and snow were common in June, Snow fell to the depth of ten inches in Vermont, seven in Maine and three in Central New York. On the 6th July, ice was formed of the thickness of common window glass throughout New England, New York and some parts of Pennsylvania. In August ice was formed half an inch thick. Indian corn was so frozen that the greater part was cut down for fodder. Indeed, almost every green thing was destroyed. A similar state of things existed in England. During the whole season the sun's rays seemed to be destitute of heat. All nature seemed to be clad in a sable hue. The average wholesale price of flour during the year in Philadelphia was $18 per barrel. The average price of wheat in England was 97s. per quarter.

"Here (in Picton County) the frost was hard in the woods in the month of June, provisions were high, and from the destruction of crops the previous year (1815) by the mice, many were suffering and nearly all the farmers were put to some inconvenience for want of food for their families. Alexander Grant, miller, of the East River, went to Halifax to obtain a supply. He there bought 70 barrels of flour, for which he had to pay £3 per barrel. On his way back on the 5th of June, he stayed all night at a tavern between Halifax and Truro, and in the morning the ground was frozen so hard that it carried his horse. The flour came round by water and he went down to town (Picton) to bring it up the East River which he did on a coal lighter. On his way up on the 16th he saw a man trying to harrow his ground where he had sowed some grain, and wearing a great coat in consequence of the cold.

"That night being Saturday he put the flour into a barn owned by the late James Carmichael — father of the late Senator Carmichael—who had shortly before begun to do business where New Glasgow now stands. On Monday morning before he reached the spot, there were as many assembled as there were barrels of flour, and no sooner was the door opened than a rush was made and each man seized a barrel, asking no questions as to price, and it was with some difficulty that he saved one for his own family."

Tried To Liberate Prisoners In Cobalt Jail During Night

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Cobalt, Nov. 16.—Two men whose identity is unknown, tried at 1 o'clock this morning to break into the Provincial jail, where 15 prisoners are confined, including fourteen blind pig keepers, and Vicario Scalso, the Italian who so murderously assaulted and stabbed James Stevens on Sunday. Provincial Constable MacKay and Constable Johnson have slept at the jail since the arrest of the blind piggers, and were awakened by attempts of the two men to gain entrance through courtroom windows. They fired at fleeing men; but apparently neither were hurt. It is believed they were friends of some of the prisoners who were aware that cell room keys recently hung in the court room.

Presented With A Tie Pin By West End Harriers' Club

Saturday was the big day out at the West End Y.M.C.A., the Harriers holding their annual 2½ mile walk and five-mile run. The large prize list, the value of which amounted to nearly $200, resulted in a large number of entries being received. In the five mile run Jack Tait and Roy Holden were on scratch, with runners ahead with handicaps ranging from 30 seconds to 6¾ minutes. Owing to the fact that the fastest ten men would qualify for the West End's Hamilton-Toronto relay team, competition was keen. This resulted in the record being smashed by 36 seconds, Jack Tait lowering his old record of 26.19, made in 1907. He was closely followed by Roy Holden, who was also well inside the old record. The winner of the race was W. Holford, who started on the five-minute mark, This being his first race, his time of 29.42 is exceptionally good.

A good deal of interest was also taken in the 2½ mile walk, as it was thought that Frank Parkes, West End's new walker, would give Godard a good run for his money. Both these men finished inside the old record of 19.50 for the course, Godard being first, in the fast time of 18.43. Will Gentleman was not caught by Godard until a few yards from the finish, he being the dark horse of the race, starting from the four minute mark.

If figures count, West End ought to walk away with that Standard silver trophy next Saturday. Their nine fastest men averaged 26.53 for five miles. After the races the annual banquet was held when speeches were heard from Thos. McGillicudy, C. H. Ashley, Geo. Glendinning, and W. M. Wallace. Lou Sebert was presented with a loving cup by the track team ofr this wonderful performance at the Y.M.C.A. championships this summer. Dick Baker, the popular trainer, was also presented with a beautiful tie-pin by the Harrier Club for his unselfish services during the past year.

Deer Were Noticeably Scarce This Year Along Old Trails

An old hunter was regretting this morning the fact that the deer season of 1909 was much of a failure. The favourite trails in the northern part of the country seemed to be deserted this year and as one hunter stated he has often worked half as much and had twice as much sport and shot double the number of deer.

The presence of wood rangers and lumbermen on the shores of the lakes and in the woods has the effect of frightening the deer and their limits are going farther and farther north. The weather this year was a little too fine and some of the hunters state that had it been colder they would have secured more game. However, they are not complaining for if the deer were less numerous, the weather was ideal and was enjoyed to the full. Several of the clubs are considering the question of going further back next year and of seeking a new location for their camps.

In The Interests Of Popular Appreciation Of High Art

A large number of our citizens will be, and a larger number should be, interested in the lecture to be given in the theatre of the Collegiate Institute on Friday evening, Nov. 26, by Fraulein Stolle, a most capable authority on art.

Her subject will be "Old Friends and New in the Realms of Art," and the illustrative features reproduced will be in the masterly colours of the great originals. This will afford a splendid opportunity of introduction to the works of the great masters, by one whose artistic culture admirably qualifies her for the office.

Fraulein Stolle's reputation and ability make her in demand as a lecturer on art. She speaks in Kingston on Monday, November 22, and after her appearance in Peterborough on the 26th, will deliver a course of six lectures in Ottawa.

STRICKEN WITH GRIEF

Widows of Unfortunate Miners of Cherry, Illinois, are in Some Instances Not Likely to Survive the Awful Shock.

RIOTS ARE FEARED

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 16.—With fire raging in the St. Paul mine, the tomb of 310 men, every shaft sealed to smother the flames, the attention of the rescuers and officials was to-day turned to the living widows and orphans. Their plight is desperate; some of the women stricken by the shock are not expected to recover. Physicians and nurses are needed. A reaction from the dazed horror of the first days of grief swept Cherry today and the population is on the verge of an outbreak. Every trustworthy man has been sworn in as a special deputy sheriff. Riots are feared.

"ALL CHARLEY'S FAULT"

A rehearsal of "All Charley's Fault," the farce comedy that will be presented at St. Peter's Hall to-night and on Wednesday night was held last night, the audience being composed for the most part of children. The play runs smoothly and the different parts are taken in a very creditable manner. Adults have an opportunity of hearing it to-night.

A CAR SHORTAGE MAY BE EXPECTED WARNING IS ISSUED TO MANUFACTURERS

Canadian Manufacturers' Association Has Issued a Notice to This Effect to Its Members—Farmers Seem to be Holding Back for Higher Prices.

REASONS FOR TROUBLE

The transportation department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in anticipation of a car shortage on the steam roads, sent out a warning this morning to the C.M.A. membership.

"It may not be generally known," shhippers and others are told, "but there is every indication that at a very early date a severe shortage of cars will develop in Canada. In fact it is safe to say that there is a scarcity of cars at the present time, and as one manufacturer said, 'We have n't even begun to ship yet—what are we to do in the future?' Enquiries made of the railways disclose a grave apprehension on their part of their ability to meet the wants of shippers as desired, and they are putting forth every effort to obtain the greatest efficiency possible from the available equipment. Circulars have been issued to agents and yardmen to the effect that it will be necessary during the balance of the present season to place, load or unload and lift cars with all possible dispatch. Agents and yardmen are asked to enter heartily into the spirit of the thing and to be atcive and tactful so that the demands of the shippers can be satisfied and the car performance of the carriers considerably improved.

Special Agents Busy.

"Besides these emergency instructions special agents have been sent to all terminals large and small to post the army of railway employes as to the gravity of the situation and to keep every empty car moving to the spot where it is wanted. Daily telegraphic reports of the movements and location of cars and whether loaded or empty are received. At stations where there is no telegraph service freight conductors have instructions to take the numbers and the cars which they find there and report whether loaded, empty or partly loaded and direction going, so that the railway officials are in close touch with the movement of every car on their system. In addition to this new cars are being built as fast as the capacity of all car shops will permit, so that it will be seen that the carriers fully recognize the seriousness of the situation and are doing everything within their power to relieve it."

Grain Held Back.

The opinion is expressed that up to the present time this fall, the railways in Canada have met the demand for cars.

"It is evident, however, that a considerable percentage of grain is being held back by the farmers in the West. This undoubtedly, will have a serious effect on the situation. The manufacturer can assist very materially in overcoming the car shortage by keeping the equipment in their possession for the shortest possible period."

Here are a few 'don't' for the manufacturer:

"Don't pay demurrage. It doesn't pay you or the railways. Each and every car is worth from $2.00 to $2.-50 per day to the railways. It should be worth considerbaly more to you.

"Don't allow the shippers from whom you buy ray material to send you more than you can take care of without delay.

"Don't allow cars to stand under load until the free time allowed by the demurrage rules has about expired.

"Don't allow empty cars to stand on your siding after they are unloaded. Notify the agent to have them taken away."

MORE BUFFALO FOR THE PARK

Advice was received to-day at the head office of the Advertiing Department of the Grand Trunk that two more shipments of Buffalo had been received at Buffalo Park, Wainwright, Alta. One of these was from Roswalli, Montana, and the other from Banff Park, and were safely unloaded at Buffalo Park, on October 26th. These shipments comprise sixty-eight head and the total now in the park aggregates 576.

THE CASH GIRL IS COMING TO THE GRAND FRIDAY.

DIED AT THE AGE OF 94

Washington Morse, Seven-Day Adventist Minister, Passed Away in De Land, Florida—Was a Former Resident of Peterborough.

WAS WELL KNOWN HERE

Word has been received in the city of the recent death of Mr. Washington Morse in De Land, Florida, at the advanced age of nearly ninety-four. After having resided in this city eight or nine years, he removed to Florida sixteen months ago. He was a native of the "Green Mountain State," but became a pioneer in the settlement of Minnesota. In many phases the subject of this sketch was a remarkable character, not unworthy, his illustrious kinsman who "taught the lightning the English language"; or in simple phrase, invented the telegraph.

The late Mr. Morse was a staunch temperance man, who also passed his long and useful life immune from the filth of tobacco poison; this fact, in some degree, accounts for the clear, broad, intelligent mind which remained largely unimpaired to the last. For many years he was actively engaged as a missionary evangelist, while in superannuated life labouring as a colporteur; his exhortations and earnest prayers live in many memories, and his fascinating conversation is recalled with pleasure; his faithful life companion predeceased him at Muskoka lake in 1901. The bereaved sons and daughters are: Rev. F. W. Morse, Muskoka, Ont.; Rev. G. W. Morse, De Land, Florida; Judge W. A. Morse, Sauk Centre, Minn.; Chas. A. Morse, Sauk Centre, Minn.; Franklin W. Morse, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. Eva Morrison, Mankato, Minn.; and H. I. Morse, Farum, College St., this city.

The idea of utilitarian education was illustrated by this representative of former days, whose activity and industry with hand and brain and pen continued to the last month of his life.—Com.

WHO OWNED THE DOG?

Man Charged With Ill-treating It Was Not the Owner.

A resident of East City was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning charged with cruelty to a dog. The accused pleaded not guilty. It appears that the animal came to his place and remained around there for about a month. He advertised for the owner, but could not find one. When the defendant moved away the dog remained behind and the ill-treatment complained of was neglecting to see that it was fed. A neighbour kindly looked after the dog.

As no one seemed to know who the owner was, and as the dog was old and deaf, His Worship ordered that it be shot and P. C. Meagher was despatched to do it.

KETCHECUM PARTY

Return to the City This Evening—Had Good Luck.

The Ketchecum Lake hunting party is expected home this evening from their two weeks' hunt in the back country. Reports that have reached the city are to the effect that the party has had splendid luck and are returning with a goodly number of deer. Up to Friday last ten fine ones had been captured.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Sceptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is annulled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city:

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

GROWTH AND NATIONAL EXPENDITURE.

In the West Middlesex bye-election the Conservative argument against the Government was its extravagance as shown in the greatly increased expenditure then since the Government came into power thirteen years ago. There are some things to be looked at beyond the mere lump increase of expenditure.

In 1896 the revenue was $36,000,000 and the deficit $330,000. For the present fiscal year the revenue will be nearly $100,000,000 and there will be a surpus. between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000. When comparing the expenditures of to-day with those of 1896, they should also show that the revenue has increased in proportion.

Under intelligent Liberal administration the country has prospered and grown larger, commerce has expanded and the nation's business is many times what it was in 1896.

Did the Conservatives expect that the country would stand still at the figures of 1896?

Was the sum of $36,000,000 to be the acme of Dominion revenue for all time?

Was it expected that there would always be a deficit over and above running expenses?

Did the Conservatives contemplate that the Liberal Government would conduct affairs so prosperously and wisely that they would not only increase the expenditure, but hoist the revenue to the $100,000,000 mark?

Every dollar borrowed last year and this year went first to pay off Conservative debts incurred years ago and then into the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. This is a project upon which Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he would "stand or fall" according to the will of the people, and in 1904 the people endorsed the project and authorised the building of the road. Therefore every dollar expended upon this road is properly spent, and spent with the consent of the people.

A PUBLIC ABATTOIR.

There are a good many sides to the needs of a growing city like Peterborough. We want new industries, we want population, we want better streets, we want an isolation hospital and more general attention to the conditions that constitute a sound sanitary standing. A system of garbage collection would make for improvements in sanitary conditions, and there is little doubt but in the interests of pure food we need a public abattoir, which would be under proper inspection and the consequent rejection of animals diseased to an extent that would make their meat when slaughtered unfit for consumption, if not provocative of consumption. The city of Brantford is moving in this direction. The Expositor says:

The local board of health will recommend to the City Council the establishment of a municipal abattoir in this city, at which will be slaughtered all the live stock intended for consumption in this city. The change is mooted in the interests of public health, and it is claimed that not only will the protection thus secured be had without any increase in the price of meat to the consumer, but also that the seller will lose nothing as he will be able, by means of an abattoir, to secure a market for the offal which he now throws away. There sems no good reason why the recommendation should not be carried out.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The great and dignified Globe is guilty of this: "Premier Roblin does not seem to be gouin out of office as quickly as the Bourassa Tory Opposition had hoped." Ah, gouin!

It is fewer than forty years ago that the Canadian West shipped out its first grain. On the single day of November 1, 1909, from Port Arthur, there were shipped 1,416,636 bushels of grain—wheat, 894,022 bushels; flax 231,537 bushels; oats, 251,259; barley, 23,818.

The world's divorce statistics show that Japan has the greatest number in proportion to population, with the United States second, and Switzerland third. Ireland has the honour record of fewest, but Canada has the still greater honour of not being classified. "Our neighbours may retort," the Globe suggests, "that many of their divorces are for Canadians who take advantage of their laws." If these evil facilities were not available, Canadian couples, who develop matrimonial cross purposes might "make up" and live happy ever after.

It is not without reason that the Conservative party added the term "liberal" to constitute the hyphenated title by which it prefers to be known in Canada. It is certainly living up to the Liberal part of its title—it permits a wide freedom in policy. One wing, led by Mr. Borden, advocates a home naval policy for Canada; another led by Mr. Roblin, calls for the payment of good Canadian money into the Imperial treasury; another, led by Mr. Monk, stands for doing nothing whatever. Thus there is room for all shades of opinion, all characters; patriots, soreheads, and reactionists.

It is urged as a reproach against the people of Quebec that they wish to retain the national characteristics of their country of origin. They may justifiably retain a fondness for the mother-land, but they are so doing with a difference. Archbishop Bruchesi insists on purifying the stage. In old France the drama is tainted with contempt for Christian marriage, and its associations, and with a gross view of the problems of sex. Against this the Archbishop has set his face and the effect upon public morality will be a vast improvement. If Quebec seeks to retain what is good of old France and to discard what is bad it is doing no great wrong.

There is a demand that upon a question of national and imperial policy—the naval question—the wisdom of our trained and competent rulers should be distrusted, and the matter left to a vote of the people. In Calgary there is a deadlock over the erection of a city hall. The building is erected and practically completed outside; but the ratepayers have twice voted down a by-law to provide funds to furnish it. From the distance it is difficult to see to what extent the people are justified in refusing funds; but the fact remains that there is a lot of money tied up in a building which is useless times ratepayers cannot see further than the tax roll; they have not the larger outlook engendered by conditions, with which others, charged with the responsibility, have made themselves familiar.

DESTROYING THE MERCHANTS' BUSINESS.

Cobalt Citizen.

Toronto and Montreal wholesale houses are aroused over the indifference of the T. and N. O. Railway in drawing freight into Cobalt, and a letter received here this week from a large wholesaler indicates that there will be something doing before the commission at the next meeting if there is no relief in the meantime.

Cobalt business men who ordered goods six weeks ago, have spent some time in manufacturing cuss-words of the perfected type, that are now being showered over the heads of the Commisison because shipments of goods are not yet delivered. It means ruination to the man in business when he cannot get his fall goods on the shelves when the time for fall goods has about passed.

When only the Cobalt business man was injured, nothing was said or done by the outside, but when wholesalers had their drafts returned in some cases twice because there were no goods here to check up with, their wrath was raised. The manager of one house enquires of a customer here in rather a sarcastic manner, "When Cobalt expects to have a real railroad man at the head of the T. and N. O.?"

Cobalt suffered in silence till The Citizen took up the cudgel. Then came excuses from the Commission, that 200 cars of coal had held up the freight. A month has passed and it is to be presumed from the former statement of the Commission that those 200 cars of coal are still holding up the freight.

The situation has become so unbearable, that now no merchant takes chances on ordering goods by freight, but ships by express, till the express company has learned to also wear a stiff upper lip. The costs eat up the business. Matters could not be worse if the Commission had a contract with the express company to turn them over all the freight business possible.

And to inject more misery into the situation, one business man received word from the freight department that his freight had arrived, but that the goods could not be found. The Commission should hire some of the sharp eyed Cobalt youngsters to run through the yards and spy out the goods. Worn-out political campaigners have poor eyesight.

The Dunseath Transportation Company flatly refutes the statement made by the T. and N. O., that the reason freight is held up, is because no means of hauling have been provided after the freight reaches here. It also appears now for the first time, that merchants are presented with freight bills for payment, sometimes weeks ahead of the arrival of the freight, which gives the appearance that the freight is near at hand.

The Buffalo store has $4,000 in goods in transit for over one month, while the Quality Shoe store has $3,500 in fall shoes on the way since Sept. 29th.

HIGH SCHOOL TRAINING.

The Technical World Magazine for December discusses the question, "Making the High School Democratic," as follows:

To finish high school at the end of a four-years' course with not only a well-balanced education in the ordinary branches, but with a trade learned so thoroughly as to make the young graduate ready and fit to take it up as a calling, is the new opportunity that is being offered in a few of the progressive cities of America, England and Germany, to the boys and girls of the schools. The result is effected by an entirely new plan of work and study alteration, which carries the manual training idea and the industrial school idea farther than they have ever been developed, with far less expense and with far greater benefit to the student and to the community generally than any other method yet devised.

The criticism that our high schools are open for the boys and grils who can afford and who expect to attend college is no unfounded. It is really a serious arraignment of the present system of education in these institutions which are, in many respects the pride of our land. That they do not give sufficient practical training, sufficiently broad education, to meet the greatest needs of the nine out of most of the tens of our children, is the allegation, which seems to have only too much substantiation. It is a well-known fact that of the large number of obys and girls who enter our schools, only a very small proportion indeed finish the high school at all. It is thoroughly recognized by teachers everywhere that an incomplete school course is at least open to question as to the value it gives to children who must or who desire to work with their hands. Manual training in the school itself is only a partial solution of the problem, and is a source of great added expense wherever it has been installed in connection with the school system. There are those who have doubted its value of its results. But without entering into an argument on this point, the promoters of the new system show such progress and such results that they are convinced that their plan is afr superior to the older one.

Peterborouhg is laudibly aiming to became a great industrial centre. If this is to be accomplished with the greatest success and benefit to our population, we must equip our youths for active participation in one of the chief benefits which attend the presence of industrial establishments—employment for skilled labour. We must therefore give greater attention to technical education. In no other way can we hope to hold our own with the people of other countries whose children are receiving the highest benefits of technical education.

SOUND KIDNEYS AND NO BLADDER TROUBLE

Backache and All Distress From Out-of-Order Kidneys Simply Vanishes.

The most effective and harmless way to cure backache and regulate out-of-order kidneys or end bladder trouble, is to take several doses of Pape's Diuretic.

You will distinctly feel that your kidneys and urinary organs are being cleaned, healed and vitalized, and all the miserable symptoms, such as back ache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, inflamed or swollen eyelids, irritability, sleeplessness, or suppressed, painful or frequent urination (especially at night) and other distress, leaving after taking the first few doses.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or rheumatism, begin taking this harmless preparation as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Don't be miserable or worried another moment with a lame back or clogged, inactive kidneys or bladder misery. All this goes after you start taking Pape's Diuretic, and in a few days you feel and know that your kidneys, liver, and urinary system are healthy, clean and normal, and all danger passed.

GORE'S LANDING ITEMS

Examiner Special.

Gore's Landing, Nov. 16.—Mr. Jas. F. Fowlie is seriously ill at the home of his mother. We hope for a speedy recovery.

A furnace has been installed in St. George's church recently. Up to the present services have had to be cancelled only once, however, on account of the weather.

Repairs to the house formerly owned by Mr. David Stephens are in progress and it will be occupied when completed by Mr. J. F. Fowlie.

Extensive improvements are being made to Miss Anderson's property formerly the Simpson place. When finished the place will be one of the most desirable on the lake front.

Mr. J. D. Kelly, of Toronto, has been visiting at the home of W. S. Herald and enjoying a fortnight's shooting.

Mr. Thomas Harris is adding improvements to his residence, "The Cottage" by putting in a bathroom and altering somewhat the ground plan of the house.

Two real estate transfers have lately been reported. Mr. Chas. McBride has sold the property at one time occupied by his father to Mr. Robert Brooks, and Mr. James Brooks has purchased Mr. Thos. Ferguson's property. Both purchasers, we believe, intend taking possesion in the spring.

Work is being pushed rapidly forward on the McIntyre house on Close's Pont. We understand that Mr. McIntyre intends having a permanent roadway built to the mainland. At present the Point cannot be reached at high water except by boat.

Blacksmithing and Woodworking Business For Sale

The undersigned offers for sale his blacksmithing and woodworking business, situated on the side line between Peterborough and Norwood at Jermyn P. O. The blacksmith shop building is two stories, 28 x 42, with cement floor and cement forge. The upper story is the full size of the blacksmith shop (28x42). Attached to the blacksmith shop is the post office building, which may be entered from the blacksmith shop. Adjoining is a first class brick dwelling, with frontage 18 and 26 feet, with kitchen. It is an L-shaped house with cement cellar. Also verandah and beautiful lawn. There is a good stable, with cement floor, three stalls, with straw barn attached. The land comprises one-half acre. This is one of the best blacksmith stands in the county of Peterborough. The farmers all patronize this shop. My reason for giving up business is on account of having one of my legs fractured I am unable to continue the shoeing. For further particulars, write to

NO INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY TEAM FOR LINDSAY THIS YEAR

Last Year's Champions and Peterborough's Old Rivals Will Confine Their Attention to a Junior O. H. A. Team This Year---Favour a Lower Age Limit for the Youngsters, Too.

It's junior hockey for Lindsay this winter. That is if the amendment making their junior age limit nineteen years is carried. The intermediate championship will not be defended by a team from the town this coming winter.

An informal meeting was held on the rugby grounds on Saturday. Some of the men who have been backing the game for the past few years talked the matter over, and agreed that Lindsay could not round up a fast intermediate team this year. The younger material will be in the limelight and it is thought that a speedy and representative seven could be gathered from the boys under nineteen in Lindsay.

A representative from here will attend the O. H. A. annual meeting which will be held in Toronto shortly and will favour the lowering of the junior age limit.

As the mover of the amendment stated, the present age limit of twenty years permits boys grown almost to manhood to play. The teams winning the junior championship in the past few years have been equal in weight, and sometimes in strength, to the intermediate champions, and even the seniors.

Anyway, Lindsay will have a junior team.—Lindsay Warder.

CALLS TIGERS TO WIN OUT

Chaucer Elliott, Famous Football Coach, Thinks Hamilton Will Beat Varsity for the Canadian Title.

A CRITICAL REVIEW

(Written by Chaucer Elliott, coach of the Montreal football team.)

Montreal, Nov. 14.—On the showing the Varsity players made here yesterday against McGill, it is hard to see what chance they are going to have beating the Tiger team for the Canadian honours. McGill, which has been considered all season as only a second rate team, owing to being handicapped by a weak back division, made the Varsity men go all the time, beating them out by a score of 11-9, and McGill outplayed the intercollegiate champions on all occasions, and in each department.

On seven different occasions McGill made its yards on three downs by plowing and bucking through the Varsity line, and the McGill line did not have much difficulty in keeping the Varsity wings from going down the field.

Capt. Don Gilmour, who was one of the Montreal champions of two years ago, could plow through the Varsity line at will and had the honour of making both touch downs made by McGill team.

As a comparison between the two teams who are likely to play off for the Canadian championship, I can't see where Varsity supporters are building their hopes of beating the Tiger team. In comparing the individual players, I can't see any man on the Varsity back division who can play as careful and heady a game as Dave Tope, and a careful study of this great full-back shows he is only at his very best when he is pushed the hardest, and with Dave back at full again, and in his old-time condition, his brains are going to help a lot in that big struggle.

Comparing Half-Backs.

There is always some star coming out each year who is the wonder of the season, but very little notice is taken of the great Simpson, who, by the way, has won more games of football than any other individual who ever played the game.

Varsity has some good punters, it is true, but old Ben has something on his kick that makes it a very difficult ball for a back division to handle, and as far as kicking for single points, he has kicked more points than any other half-back playing the game, with his long low spiral kicking, as well as being one of the most brainy men playing football to-day.

Lawson, the big Varsity half-back, looks awfully good and the pick of the outfit, although he only played a short time down here. He is a good runner, and a very strong, hard man to bring down. He is a fair kick, but is not any too sure with his hands.

The other Varsity half-backs played sure but lacked judgment in their running, which will cost them a lot of ground against a real good team. Their great fault appeared to be in their inability to get away fast. However, they were sure, but they'll have to move a great deal faster than they did Saturday to get away from the Tiger wing line.

The Wing Lines.

I don't think there is any comparison in the two wing lines. Tigers ought to beat Varsity right on the line and never make a single kick at all. On line bucks Varsity showed no great ability in stopping such men as Gilmour, as most of their tackles in the close play were all high, and of a pulling nature, instead of being down low and underneath the man who was in possession of the ball.

I don't see any men to compare with Barron, Isbister, Grey and especially Wigle. The latter I consider one of the greatest line plungers I have ever seen go through a line.

The scrimmage will stand about equal, but Varsity may have a slight advantage in aggressiveness if not in defensive play.

The outside wings on both teams are sure to be down the field on all kicks, as there dont' seem to be any officials who stop them from moving before the ball is played. The rest of the line must stand still, but the outside wing man have always showed a tendency to run at will, regardless of when the ball is played. However, I think Tigers' ends will be as prominent in the game as the Varsity pair of floating wing men. However, I would fancy Lyon and Marriott as the better pair for a team, on account of their vast experience.

The two main reasons I have for claiming Tigers the better team are: First—I can't see how the Varsity wing line is going to hold the Tigers, and on the form shown in their game here, they won't have any chance of holding them. My second reason, and one on which I lay more stress than any other, is the fact that I consider Tigers the most brainy team in Canada to-day, and as they have had more experience than Varsity team, having had more real hard battles than any other team playing the game. The Tigers have won more than one game by their good generalship, and have always shown themselves a real good team when the pressure was the hardest on them.

Varsity team is surely very aggressive, but that fact is more due to the opponents not being able to hold them on the wing line.

Of course, as I have claimed before, their two outsides will be down the field as well as the quarter-back, but I can't see any chance of any other man going past the Tiger wing line. With Dave Tope in the game again, and Don Lyon in his position, I consider the Hamilton team stronger than it ever was at any time last season.

I also consider Hamilton backs, and especially Simpson, will work to better advantage than the Varsity back line, as they will surely have more protection.

Summing the whole situation up, I think the Hamilton team ought to win by a fair margin.

Neglected Colds Lead to Consumption

Unless a complete cure is effected the inflammation passes rapidly to the throat's bronchial tubes and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or a new nose—hence consumption is practically incurable.

In using Catarrhozone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages.

Catarrhozone
Guaranteed to Cure

The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists—germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills—it's pleasant, safe, and guaranteed in every case, 25c., 50c., and $1.00 sizes. Sold by all dealers. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

TOO GOOD FOR LINDSAY TEAM

St. Miques Were Better Trained and Faster and Had no Difficulty in Beating Scugog Fourteen.

SHOULD WIN OUT

St. Michael's College, Toronto, playing brilliant, offensive and defensive rugby, won the semi-final O. R.F.U. game here with the Lindsay fourteen on Saturday afternoon last by the score 24-3. Ideal weather conditions brought out a good-sized crowd to witness the game, which was not devoid of interest. In fact the crowd rather enjoyed the game despite the complete victory won by the visiting team.

The St. Miques Plungers.

Lightning-like plunges through the line won the game for St. Michael's. These bucks were great ground gainers and they disorganized the Lindsay team completely. There was no stopping them. First it was on one wing and then the other that the attacks came, Murray inevitably being at the fore front. Besides these great booting of the ball by W. Gonter, particularly, and splendid runs aided materially in bringing victory to St. Michael's and defeat to Lindsay. Then, too, St. Miques had a tricky interference play in the scrimmage which they worked time and again. Their men got away with a lot of interference throughout the game.

Meritorious Victory.

The visitors merit their victory, however, and played the better rugby. Their squad was trained to play the game with machine-like precision. Constant practice and frequent battles on the gridiron had given them a wealth of experience, a great advantage over the comparatively untried Lindsay rugbyists. As to weight the teams were fairly well matched, but the collegians using their avoirdupois to better advantage. They had three two hundred pounders amongst the team and they helped a lot? Well, yes!

A Weak Spot.

When they had recovered from an early and disastrous surprise the Lindsay line played pretty fair rugby, but the back division was weak. Capt. Green was up to form and played indefatigably, but Cotton and Frank Greene, were slightly off colour in watching particularly. Killen fumbled at times, too. This was through lack of practice, neither Killen, Cotton or Greene having been out more than a couple of times with the team. Cotton was used up early through being heavily tackled, and twice was put out through being roughly used afterwards.

Some Good 'Uns.

McGregor and Beecroft played great rugby on the line. Both boys tackled beautifully and more than looked after their men. Coulter was very good at quarter and the rest were kept busy handling their opponents and stopping bucks. The Lindsay bucks were futile in the first half, probably because St. Miques were quick to interpret the signals, but they gained ground on the second period. Murdie and McHugh led most of these bucks.—Lindsay Warder.

OUT-KICKED THE PARKDALE TEAM

Star Says Peterborough Were Superior to the Paddlers in That Respect.

Parkdale Canoe Club easily defeated Peterborough in the Senior O. R. F. U. game Saturday, but unless they take a big brace T. A. A. C. will beat them when they play off the tie next Saturday. Their kicking was their especial weak spot. Time and again Galvin, who essayed to do most of the foot-work, would never touch the ball with his boot, and in most cases his kicking was weak. Cromar made a few good runs, but his muffs at the early stages of the game were very frequent to say the least. The tackling of the line was good. Both sides made offsides all through the game, and kept the spectators guessing as to who really had the ball.

There was an odd play in the second quarter when Allen Campbell, the Peterborough quarter, ran over the line for what appeared to be a try. However, the field was so short that he had run into the fence that constituted the dead line before he could stop. The referee gave the visitors five points but didn't allow them to convert the goal.

Peterborough put up a good game on the line. Ecclestone shining conspicuously, but the backs were poor, except in kicking. In the latter department they greatly outclassed Parkdale.—Toronto Star.

FRED SIMPSON TO RUN RED HAWK

Hiawatha Runner Meets His Midland Rival in Toronto This Week.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—Manager Butler of Excelsior Roller Rink, signed Red Hawk, the Christian Island Indian, and Fred Simpson of Hiawatha, for a twelve-mile race at his rink Friday night. The race should be a clinker for Simpson has beaten Red Hawk at 5 miles, and the northern redman has in turn trimmed his Ojibway rival at 15 miles, so a race at the intermediate distance should be a very even affair.

RUGBY

All that Varsity money that was in evidence last week was put back in the bank this morning. The only hope now is that Ben Simpson chokes himself on a Latin verb during the next two weeks.—Toronto Star.

Cromar of Parkdale, showed a very pugnacious spirit all through the O. R. F. U. game, but fortunately he was restrained from doing any great damage. He was ruled off twice for fighting, and J. B. McArthur would not have been wrong to do it a couple of other times as well.—Toronto Star.

T. A. A. C. and the Parkdale Canoe Club will play off for the O.R.F.U. championship on Saturday on Varsity field, and looking at it from down this way the Athletic Club should win handily. With Beddoe on the hospital list the Paddlers are weak just where the Crimson team is strong, i.e., in kicking ability. McCrimmon for T.A.A.C., can boot the ball twenty-five yards further than Galvin on the showing the latter made against Peterborough on Saturday and more than DeGruchy and Meredith. The other T.A.A.C. backs can easily outpunt the remainder of the Canoeists' back field. With Barber and Cromar to carry the ball, the Paddlers will have a little the advantage, but this will be overbalanced again by the better bucking ability and tackling of the Crimson line. Dissette at quarter for Parkdale is a better player and field general than the T.A.A.C. have shown this season, but he can't pull the game out of the fire himself, and if his backs start fumbling McCrimmon's kicks as they did the punts in the Peterborough game, it will be Dr. Wood's protegees that will have the honour of getting beaten by Varsity in the Canadian championship finals.

"ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE"

Many of the historic posts of the Hudson's Bay Company in Alberta and British Columbia will be distributed next year through the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific, which is even now conquering the passage of the Rocky Mountains and the Coast Range.

One of the most notable of these old posts and which was used as a base for the supply of the posts in the Interior of British Columbia is Jasper House, situated about 200 miles along the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific west of Edmonton.

Jasper House was built about 1800 and the records of the Hudson's Bay Company show that it was established in the forest on the shore of a small lake surrounded by high rocks, except on the lake side.

In 1817 the factor in charge was Jasper Hawes. It is his Christian name which gives the name to this post, which, however, in the early years of its establishment was popularly called the "Rocky Mountain House," although the post of that name was afterwards officially established at the junction of the North Saskatchewan River and the Clearwater River in Alberta.

Jasper Hawes was celebrated for the great shock of yellow hair that he wore and the Indian and Half Breed hunters referred to him as "Tete Jaune", thus Yellowhead Pass, at the portal of which Jasper House is located, and beyond the Yellowhead, Tete Jaune Cache, where the parting of the ways came for many a party of Coureurs des bois of the Hudson's Bay Company, covering the rich fur country of the interior of British Columbia. Even as the Buffalo trails which deeply indented the prairie in every direction a few years since are being rapidly obliterated by the march of settlement and the building of railways, so will the land marks of early Canadian frontier history be only a cold record in the files of the fur trading companies.

SOCIAL EVENING AT PARK STREET CHURCH

A very pleasant social evening took place last night at the Park St. Baptist church when the young people of Park St. entertained the Young People's Society of the Murray St. Baptist church. The fraternal visit was much enjoyed by the large number of young people who were present.

An excellent programme was rendered, after which light refreshments were served.

The meeting was brought to a pleasant close by all present singing most heartily, "Blest be the tie that binds," and the Mispah, benediction.

The following programme was rendered:

CATARRH MUST GO

And Hawking, Spitting, Snuffles Must Go Too,

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) will give the sufferer from catarrh joyful relief in five minutes.

It is such a remarkable cure, and so positive in its action, that Wm. Madill goes so far as to guarantee it to cure catarrh or money back.

A complete outfit, which consists of a hard rubber pocket inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei, and a unique dropper only costs one dollar, and if an extra bottle is afterwards needed the price is only 50 cents.

Hyomei is a healing, antiseptic balsam, taken from the mighty eucalyptus trees in the health-giving forests of Australia, where diseases of the respiratory tract are unknown.

All the sufferer has to do is to inhale the antiseptic air of Hyomei over the inflamed parts where the germs are entrenched, three or four times a day.

It cures coughs, colds, asthma, hay fever and croup without stomach dosing.

MI-O-NA

Mount Pleasant, Nov. 15.—The sound of the hammer and the saw is heard in our village much against the wishes of the lovers of sleep in the morning, the fact of all the noise is that building is progressing so rapidly in union with the development of trade and the increase of customs and deposits in our banks, the high prices farmers receive for all their produce stimulates trade and gives employment to the labouring class at a fair wage being paid for their services, along with protection under a Liberal Government with Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the helm.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GEORGE WHIBBS.

One of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the township of Douro passed away at St. Joseph's hospital last evening at 8 o'clock in the person of Mrs. George Whibbs. The deceased lady had been in failing health for some time, and her death was not unexpected. She was 85 years of age, and for all but three years of her life she had resided in Douro. She was born in Ireland but at the age of three came with her parents to Canada, settling in Douro. She was a daughter of the late James Cuffe, her maiden name being Annie Cuffe. Fifty-eight years ago she was married to George Whibbs. He predeceased her by 41 years. The late Mrs. Whibbs was a woman of many estimable qualities, whose influence for good was great, and who did many acts of kindness in the community where she was so well known.

Five sons, one brother and one sister are left to mourn her loss. The sons are Rev. Father Whibbs, of Campbellford, and Messrs. Augustus, of Indian River, Thomas, and Patrick of Douro, and John of Lakefield.

The brother is Mr. John Cuffe, of St. Louis, and the sister is Mrs. C. O'Leary, of Emily.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at nine o'clock from the family residence, lot 10, concession 6, Douro, to St. Joseph's church, and thence to St. Joseph's cemetery.

A MOST REMARKABLE CASE

My face was paralyzed, I could not speak; five doctors failed to help me and I was in despair when hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used this wonderful restorative treatment and became well and strong in every way. I would not go back to my former condition for all the gold in the country," writes Mr. Wm. J. Brennan, Western Hill, St. Catharines, Ont.

JESSIE MACLACHLAN ACCORDED AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION

The music-loving public of Peterborough were accorded another rare treat last evening in the grand concert given in the Opera House by the celebrated Scottish soprano, Miss Jessie Maclachlan, and the Heather Male Quartette. The programme, consisting as it did almost entirely of Scottish numbers was received with the heartiest applause from the large and appreciative audience. The people insisted on encores, and the artists graciously responded to the imperative recalls. It was Miss Maclachlan's second appearance before a Peterborough audience, she having appeared here some years ago. Many who heard her on that occasion awaited with much interest her visit last evening.

From beginning to end Miss Maclachlan sang with immense power and great expression. Her voice has a remarkable range and quality. She is a ballad singer of great emotional power and sings with deep feeling and pathos. Her first number last night was "Auld Robin Gray," at the conclusion of which the applause was so long and persistent that she gave as an encore "Whistle and I'll Come Tae Ye, My Lad," which, sung as it was in a coquettish manner completely captivated her hearers. Her singing of "The Rowan Tree" and "Wi' a Hundred Pipers" was particularly appreciated, the former selection affording her a splendid opportunity to display her perfect voice control and wonderful emotional power. To this double number her encore was "The Last Rose of Summer." Miss Maclachlan's concluding numbers were two Gaelic songs, and "Cam' Ye By Athol," which won for her the same uproarious applause that had been given her in her preceding ones.

The Heather Male Quartette in their initial appearance in this city, was also well received, their singing being greatly enjoyed. After their opening number "Scots Wha Hae" they had won the hearts of the audience and each succeeding time their reception was most enthusiastic. Their voices blend perfectly and it was indeed a great treat to hear them. They sing with true expression and in a highly artistic manner. Three members of the quartette contributed solos, which were excellently rendered, each one possessing a voice of a most pleasing character. In place of a Scotch Reel, which was to have been given by the quartette, one of their number, Mr. Wm. Gillespie recited Robert W. Service's poem, "Fighting Mac," very creditably. By no means the least enjoyed number of the evening was the selection on the bagpipes by Mr. Archibald Pollock, of Campbellford.

The concert was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem, and "Auld Lang Syne," led by the quartette, and heartily taken up by the audience.

YORK COUNTY LOAN CHEQUES

Bank Officials Will Have Them Ready to be Issued.

The Bank of Ottawa has now received the cheques in payment of the first dividend to those parties who left their books with the Bank. There are over one thousand cheques and a large number of the claims have been transferred to third parties, which entails a lot of work for the Bank officials. In reference to the amount of dividend represented by the cheques, the liquidators have published a statement in the newspapers as to how the amounts were arrived at, which no doubt everybody has read. It will be impossible for the Bank to explain to each depositor just how the amount was arrived at, and the public should take this into consideration and not take up the time of the Bank officials by asking for special explanations in regard to their individual claims. A copy of the statement made by the liquidators is hung up in a prominent place in the Bank and can be read by any person who desires.

The Bank of Ottawa will be open this evening to accommodate those who cannot find time to call during the day.

Conquest Of The Mountains In The Canadian Rockies

The Technical World Magazine, Chicago has a leading article "War with the Mountains," showing how railway enterprise and engineering skill and even audacity have solved the problem of mountain obstacles to railway operations. It has the following reference to Canadian enterprise:

Up north of the Canadian border the great struggle is also under way—and on even a greater scale. The tremendous Canadian Pacific Company, with 11,000 miles of main track under a single management, which has long held an absolute monopoly of transcontinental traffic in Canada is roused to meet the competition of its new rivals the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern. Already Canada has more miles of railway in proportion to its populaton, than any other country in the world. And more new miles of track are actually under construction and contracted for than anywhere else on earth.

To meet all this coming competition the C.P.R. has roused itself like a giant. It is the greatest land owner on earth; it carries passengers in its own trains and on its own fleets of ocean steamers clear around the world. And to it, fittingly, are given the greatest problems in the continental fight with the mountains.

At the very crest of the great divide, where its tracks run on the bottom of the canyon of the Kicking Horse River, with huge peaks towering up more than 10,000 feet on every hand, it has just completed one of the most remarkable and picturesque feats of engineering in the world.

From Field to Hector—on the very roof-peak of North America—its old tracks ran for a distance of eight miles, with a grade at the highest point of 4.5 per cent.—a climb of 238 feet to the mile. To pull a train up this step ladder required four engines, one in front, one in the middle and two to push behind. And even with all this power at command trains could only creep up to the summit at from four to five miles an hour.

To cut down this steep grade seemed for a long time practically impossible. A tunnel through one of the great mountains was suggested, but it was found that the canyon so twisted and turned on itself that a train coming out at the farther side would find its progress entirely barred. None of the ordinary expedients of engineering would solve the problem and for a time even the company's experts were baffled. The plan finally adopted and carried out was unique in North America and constitutes one of the most remarkable railway constructions in the world.

Coming from the east, with Hector as the starting point, the new tracks cross the Kicking Horse, follow the courses of the stream for a distance and then, curving gently to the south run full up against the precipitous face of the Cathedral Mountains. The whole interior of this vast mass of rock has been honey-combed with a great spiral tunnel, more than 3,200 feet in length. Emerging twice from this mass of tunnels the track finally doubles on itself, to run back eastward, crossing the Kicking Horse again and coming up straight against the steep bulk of Wapta Mountain. Here another spiral tunnel of 3,000 feet has been bored and blasted, like a corkscrew through the bowels of the peak. The tracks finally emerge to the westward and double back again across the river towards Field.

The new line, including the tunnels measures twelve miles between Hector and Field; the old line but eight miles. But instead of the old grade of 4.5 per cent., a climb of 238 feet to the mile, the new tracks run over the crest at a grade of only 2.2 per cent., 116 feet rise to the mile. That means that instead of four engines pulling a train over the mountains at five miles an hour, two engines will be able to pull an even heavier train at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour. The distance between the two mountain stations has been lengthened by four miles, it is true, but at the same time the expense of running trains has been reduced by two-thirds and the element of danger entirely eliminated.

The total cost of boring the tunnels and blasting out a bed for the new tracks was upwards of $1,500,000 In the blasting alone more than 200 tons of dynamite were exploded. The new line was opened late in August.

The Scramble for LINENS Still Continues.

LAST WEEK we celebrated our FOUR YEARS' BARGAIN ANNEX SUCCESS. The biggest day's selling the Annex ever had was last week; more people waited on, more goods sold, more parcels delivered than on any previous Annex day. The economy of shopping in the Annex is demonstrated every week. Last week's selling has left us with many broken lots that will be cleared out this week. We are prepared for just as big a day this week as last, and purpose breaking all records during the fifth year of the Annex. Note the Seven Leaders out of the big list. See Red Dodgers. : : : : :

MR. LASTAR'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS THE DRINK HABIT

Mr. B. Lastar contributes upon his own responsibility the first of a series of letters dealing with the reasons that influence his sentiments in the matter of local option:

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Will you allow me space to refer to, what I consider, as a citizen of the city, who is taking an interest in the growth and welfare of the city, a very important question. I think it is my duty, if I c[an] help only a small part by giving [my] advice and experience in this l[ocal] option campaign, that is going [on] now in Peterborough. In the first [pl]ace, I am not going to defend drun[ken]ness, nor encourage people to dr[ink], nor even to say that the use of l[iquor] by men who cannot control th[em]selves, is beneficial to them; neith[er] will I deny that liquor has brough[t] misery and distress in many unfortunate families. Even as far as crime. I am in sympathy with those parties who are trying to limit misery, and try and help them by inducing them not to drink, but I am certainly opposed to the way those parties are trying to limit the drinking question, by voting for local option in Peterborough. I want every reader to consider the reasons without prejudices. I am not a preacher, nor a hotel man, who is making a living by preaching for, nor fighting against the question. I am an ordinary man, who would like to help and advise my neighbour, to the best of my ability, free of any charge or thanks, if I can do so. Taking the circumstances and time, we are living in here in Peterborough, this will not bring any benefit to the public generally. If we could bring a by-law to pass in the Dominion Government to prohibit the manufacture of alcohol, I am with you. To save the misery of only one man, will satisfy me to wipe liquor from the face of the earth. But that is a thing that is impossible, as a great part of alcohol is used for medicinal purposes, and is a great revenue to the Dominion Government. And, as long as alcohol will be manufactured, there will be drunkenness, but not by force and compulsion; but only in a peaceful way, by educating the people, and learning the ignorant. At the present time in Peterborough we have no miners, nor negroes, who are a danger to the public when they are intoxicated. But to tell you the truth, after travelling through Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, I have not seen a more peaceful and law-abiding people than we have, here in Peterborough, taking into consideration the size of the city. During my time of travelling, I have mixed with all classes. With the most miserable and poor creatures, and also with the higher classes. I was not travelling, just for pleasure over the world, but to make a living. And to make a living in a foreign country, you have to understand the language; and, not having any bank account you naturally would not get into the society of millionaires, and from what I learned then, prohibition would do no good for Peterborough, and would be a great loss financially. It would bring a certain amount of perjuries and would demoralise more people and bring more temptation to drink and crime, than we have at the present. There have been brought and are still bringing in here certain preachers who want to make a name for themselves, or to hold their jobs, as they otherwise might not have done; and by some who would like to go to heaven, and do not know the right address; who, with the assistance and under the disguise of the church, blindfold the people. They bring all kinds of professional preachers and speakers who, under the protection of the church, make all kinds of statements not, in many cases, absolutely false to serve their purposes. They are appealing to the people in the names of the innocent babies, and in the names of their wives and children to prohibit the sale of liquor in the open bar. They do not say anything about liquor in the house by the wholesale; but close the bars, the temptation of the public.

First, let us see. We will take up the question for the moral side, and later from the financial standpoint. They are accusing the open bar of all the crimes. First, in tempting little children by serving any one in the open bar. In the last seven years since I have been in Peterborough, have the children learned their bad manners and abuse and bad language over the open bars, and I say "No". And can any one conscientiously say that they have seen boys drinking over the bar. Such a thing has not been in an open bar. But you would ask, "but there are places where children (and especially boys) from 13 to 16 years, are learning bad habits, that are ending in crime. Yes, there are places, and I have referred the matter to many clergymen, both in Peterborough, and out, and also to some prominent church men, and to men who are high in the council, and who are doing the people's business. I asked them if they had ever gone to the pool-rooms, where boys from 13 years and up are running about, and some standing, looking on, and learning how to gamble; if they had ever listened to the language that is used in some instances. A sailor would blush to hear the words used by those little fellows. You would say that is only innocent game, they do not play for money. Yes, as far as the proprietor is concerned, there is no gambling. But the boys by themselves are playing for gain or loss, on the quiet. Some who are playing are betting on the others. Some are winning and some are losing, and once a boy sees others win some money, he is trying to get means to win what he has lost. Some in an honest way, and some under the guise of a good friend, and some get it from the parents under some good excuse. If that does not help them they are trying to steal it from their parents or from some employer. Their minds are no more at their lessons, nor at their work, but they count the minutes when their work is finished, when they can run bac to the pool tables. Is not that the place for educating crime and misery? And would anybody think for one minute that boys who are acquainted with the rules and regulations of the gambling tables, and from what they have heard from one another. Will they not find a means of getting liquor. Why, prohibition would be just what they want. They would not be able to get intoxicating drinks from the present bars, under the supervision of the authorities; but they certainly would find a blind pig, who will serve them with all kinds of liquors, starting with alcohol and finishing with opium and poison. Can any one deny those facts? Have you ever seen a drunkard, no matter how drunk he is, bring his child to a saloon in Peterborough, or those babies for whose sake they are appealing to the people to vote for prohibition, giving liquor and teaching him to be a drunkard. I say, and you have to agree with me, and say "No." But I have seen, and many others have also seen, who has visited a pool room that a father will bring his child, not thinking any harm, and let him stay there for hours, until he is through with his game, and the child begins to see and hear what he has never seen nor heard before. Those are the places where crimes begin in England and Canada, and also in Peterborough.

Is not this one of the 17,000 reasons the open bar, under the control of the authorities, and under the able license inspector and police, that we have here in Peterborough, should be open.

REPORT OF DAIRY INSTRUCTOR

Below is the complete report of Dairy Instructor R. A. Ward for the Peterborough district for 1909, presented at the dairy meeting at Peterborough on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd.

Gentlemen, it is with pleasure that I make this report of my eleventh season's work in Peterborough section, as Dairy Instructor and Sanitary Inspector.

It is gratifying to me to look back over those years and be able to note the change and improvements that have been made.

Improvement has been more marked for the last few years under our new laws and system of instruction.

A number of factors have contributed no doubt to these improvements but one I wish to make special mention of is of those meetings held in connection with the factory business meetings at the close of the season, and I am sure we all appreciate the assistance we have had from the Governments both at Toronto and Ottawa.

I have found the officers, patrons, owners and makers, almost without exception ready to co-operate with me in bringing about the necessary improvements, which have made the work more pleasant for me, and the success of it greater, more permanent and lasting.

The dairymen of Peterborough section I know must be well pleased with the results of the past season's operations.

A good demand for their product at a very uniform good price, coupled with a good supply of milk up to the closing day of the season.

I have had under my charge this season 36 cheese factories and one creamery and am very pleased to be able to state as a whole the milk has reached the factories this season in better condition than ever before.

I think it is up to us as instructors and makers to sit up and do some good hard thinking, for the thought has been forced to my mind for the last two seasons that the patrons as a whole were making more improvement than we were as a whole.

We cannot sit down and rest on past laurels won.

The strainer on the vat at the factory is a good indicator of the general condition of the milk.

The less sediment, dirt, and hard cream we find on it, the better the results in the manufacture.

The old rusty cans are nearly all discarded and the very few that are left should be.

Do not use rusty tinware of any kind in storing or handling the milk.

To every patron of every cheese factory and creamery let me say make provision for cooling, and the proper storing of milk and cream for the season of 1910.

I would say to the patrons of every cheese factory meet the owners of them on the question of expense, and have cool airing rooms installed.

The value of holding cheese at a cool temperature has so well proven that I need say no more.

The aim of the produce should be to produce a first-class article at the least cost possible.

I think it was H. H. Dean, B.S.A., who said "Breed, Feed and Weed." There is probably more in this than we see at first glance.

Good cows, liberally fed, properly cared for, and then if they do not show right performance at the pail weed them out.

I have noted and have been pleased to see more corn growing this year than usual.

With silos and alfalfa hay the cost of feed should be materially lessened.

For weeding there is nothing better than weighing and testing the individual cow, in fact the only thing, so I would advise to make use of the cow testing associations that have been placed within the reach of all.

Your cheese factories on the whole are very well equipped and managed, and kept quite clean and sanitary, but there should be a determined effort made to exclude the flies.

There is more trouble in the surroundings at the whey tanks than from any other cause.

Let me suggest that the tanks be kept clean and cement platforms installed connected with underground drains for loading the whey on.

Every cheese factory, to my mind, should be equipyped with alkali test curd or fermentation test lactometer and babcock test, and all milk paid for by butter fat test.

In my group of 36 factories there are 1 4that pay by the B. F. test.

The make and quality of the cheese on the whole for the season has been very good.

Probably the greatest mistake made in the manufacture was in the fore part of the season by not having the curd sufficiently firm in the whey resulting in dim color, short sandy texture, weak body and not as close as they should be.

I believe 90 per cent. of the faults in manufacture would be traceable to this one source.

We are liable to run into these conditions every year under certain conditions of weather and feed but this year it seemed to be more pronounced than usual.

Let me say to the makers keep close watch of curd while in whey, and if properly firmed when you have right amount of acid for removal, the quality of your cheese is pretty well assured.

I cannot close this paper without a word on the starter question.

I would like to see, and think that every maker should attend a dairy school, and if they did I do not think they would use ordinary sour milk as a starter, and take chances of all the wrong fermentations it may contain.

I most strongly advise that every factory be equipped for carrying a pasteurized starter prepared from a pure culture and then used intelligently and in moderation.

I have a few makers, but am pleased to tell you that they are very few, that are doing their patrons serious harm by the too free use of sour milk.

I hope and trust that there will be greater effort put forth by all next season than ever before for the uplifting and placing of this great industry, dairying, on sure and right footing where it rightfully belongs on account of its importance in the agricultural industry of this country.

—R. A. WARD.

SAVED FROM SUFFERING IN HIS OLD AGE.

Gin Pills cured him.

Annapolis, N.S., May 14, 1909.

I am over 80 years of age and have been suffering from Kidney and Bladder trouble for fifteen years. I took doctor's medicine but got no help. I want to thank you for sending me the sample box of Gin Pills, which helped me.

I have taken six boxes of Gin Pills altogether but got relief before I had taken near that amount. I had to get up some nights every fifteen minutes and had to use an instrument before I could urinate. Now, I can lie in bed four or five hours without getting up. I can say that Gin Pills have nearly cured me and shall always keep a box in the house.

Thanking you for your timely help, I am your sincere friend and well-wisher,

W. H. PIERCE.

And all as a result of sending for a free sample box of Gin Pills.

Do you suffer with your Kidneys or Bladder? Send to the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Dept. B. Toronto, and get a sample free by return mail. Regular size, at all stores, 50c. a box—or 6 for $2.50. 1

APPEAL DISMISSED

The Globe's Osgoode Hall report today contains the following of local interest:

Overend v. The Burrow, Stewart & Milne Co.—Appeal dismissed with costs. Appeal was by defendants from the judgment of Mr. Justice Anglin. This was an action by plaintiff, a retired hotelkeeper of Peterborough, against defendants, a manufacturing company of Hamilton, for an injunction, account and $2,000 damages for infringement of plaintiff's patent No. 53,318, for certain improvements in currycombs, whereof Francis Henry Burke, of Peterborough, horseman, was the first inventor. Defendant denied infringement, pleaded that the invention was not new or useful, and denied that plaintiff was the true inventor thereof. At the trial judgment was given for plaintiff for $20.80 for damages, and an injunction restraining further manufacture by defendants during currency of patent, with costs. Defendants appealed directly to the Court of Appeal.

Circuses Go Into Winter Quarters After Long Travels

The Tent Shows Have Concluded Summer's Business and Will Begin to Prepare for Next Year —A Few Remtniscences.

REST FOR THE EMPLOYEES

New York, Nov. 16.—The tent show people are back in town. The Bailey building at 27 East Twenty-second street, has begun to assume its customary Winter activity as the returning knight errantry of the Ringling and Barnum & Bailey Shows, and the aggregations in which C. C. Cole is interested, return to the city and report on the season's events.

When, in the early 80's, the theatrical Rialto started on its march northward, the old showmen refused to follow, and for thirty-five years they have clung to the ancient stamping ground. Joe Schmidt, who made the Opera Hotel down on Fourteenth street famous, quit working for a living last year, and went to Europe, while John Moje undertook to maintain the pristine reputation of the place, but tent showdom when it reached town Thursday gravitated naturally to the old spot.

The Buffalo Bill-Pawnee Bill Wild West Show went into Winter quarters in Trenton Thursday, and naturally Major J. M. Burke, who has been for over thirty-five years a resident of the district in which he slept last night, and is dean of the corps of all tent showmen, was on hand. Yesterday afternoon the major, sitting on the side of his big brass bed in room 8, said:

"The Bill Show," as the Buffalo Bill-Pawnee Bill Wild West Show is known, "than which there is nothing greater except the Bible, Magna Charta, Shakespeare, the Constitution of the United States, and love (the major is a bachelor), made the hit of its life this year. Even in Oklahoma where they grow Wild West shows as a regular crop, we turned 'em away. Every other year we worked for love and a sort of educational propaganda, showing our taller-citizens what we were doing for our dear brother, the Indian. This year we cut out the educational propaganda and went after the money. Strange to say, we got it. Intellect, philanthrophy and commercialism must be getting mighty contiguous.

"I got last night the first decent night's sleep I've had since the ides of April. I lay me down in the big brass bed I have occupied in the off season here for twenty-two years, and when the Fourth avenue line said 'Clang! clang!' and the Fourteenth street line said 'Bang! Bang!' as it went over the switches; when the policeman whistled, and the Subway rumbled and the kids began to yelp the morning papers, I knew I didn't have to catch an early train or conjure up a new story about the broncos, Injuns or the two Bills. The Lord giveth his beloved sleep, and supplies the proper amount of ruction as a soporific."

The "Two Bills' Show," as it has grown to be known, winters at Trenton this year, instead of Bridgeport, Ct., for the reason that the Bailey-McCaddon interest was purchased in Philadelphia last year by Colonel Cody and Pawnee Bill at the price fixed by Mrs. Bailey after some difficulty, which it is said, centred around Major Burke, who, for many years has been the chief advertising feature of the show. The three hundred horses of the Wild West Show will winter at Coatesville, Pa., as in the past.

Charitable Societies Have Not Had Many Cases This Season

The present fall has been a rather easy one on the various charitable societies in the city according to the statements of a few persons who are prominently connected with them. The open weather and the amount of work of an outdoor nature that has been offered has more than relieved the situation and the great majority of the labouring class have had plenty of work. Another department that has benefitted by the conditions is the City Charity Board. The demands are yet few and of a small nature, and it is many years since the relief officer has found the situation as favourable as it is at present. If as expected the approach of winter is as easy as it has been up to the present the working men will enter that trying season equipped financially better than usual.

BARGE SANK IN STORM

Frances Hinton Goes Ashore at Manitowoc in Lake Michigan and Her Crew Manage to Get Ashore—Ottawa Lost Because of Shifting of Cargo — The Ionic is Safe, According to Latest Reports.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 17.—Two boats are known to have been lost on the upper lakes during the present prevailing storm. One of them is the steel barge Ottawa, lost on Superior, the other the Francis Hinton, wrecked on Lake Michigan, near Manitowoc.

The Ottawa, belonging to the Canada Atlantic Transit Co., bound down with wheat from Fort Arthur, foundered off Passage Island, on the northeast end of Isle Royale, Monday morning, due to shifting of the cargo.

Capt. Alex. Birnie of Kirkville, Ont., and the entire crew were saved by launching the yawls. They rowed to Cooper Harbor and reached Calumet yesterday. The captain and several of his men are in a serious condition from exposure to cold.

The steam barge Francis Hinton, from Manistique to Chicago, with lumber, went ashore two miles north of Manitowoc, broke in two and is a total loss. The crew of eleven men escaped in a yawl.

The Northern Navigation Co.'s steamer Ionic, reported to have been lost off Isle Royale, as was the Ottawa, is reported safe by the steamer Mapleton, at Slate Island, near Passage Island, at 4 p.m. yesterday.

On the arrival of the steamer Assiniboia Monday at Port Arthur, Capt. Ryatt reported having noticed wreckage close to Passage Island on Monday morning. It was snowing heavily. This report gave rise to the fear that the Ionic had been lost.

Stranded on Sea Shore.

Sissoonsett, Mass., Nov. 17.—Abandoning their stranded vessel and making for port in a small boat, the crew of the schooner A. Arcularius, laden with iron oxide, reached Cuttyhunk yesterday in their little craft.

Claims Youth Was Insane.

Windsor, Nov. 17.—Richard Kraft, a Berlin youth, charged with attempted murder on May 6, was placed on trial yesterday afternoon before Justice Magee at Sandwich. He is accused of shooting Sergt Reid, Officer Lister and Janitor Qualby, who related the circumstances. Kraft had been arrested for theft of a bicycle, and fired at the men in escaping from the police station. Lister is not entirely recovered.

Mrs. Kraft, mother of the prisoner, gave evidence through an interpreter from Detroit. An effort was made to show that the prisoner is subject to epilepsy, and counsel for accused will attempt to show temporary insanity. This will be opposed by Drs. R. Bruce Smith, and H.R. Casgrain, jail physician, who assert Kraft is sane.

Mistaken For Burglar.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—While delivering milk at the Hub Hotel, Yonge and Alice streets, early yesterday morning, John Leitch, 207 Wilton avenue, driver for the J. V. Moore dairy, had a narrow escape from death. Mrs. Andrew Shore, mistaking him for a burglar, as he was putting the milk in the window at the rear, fired three shots at him from a revolver. Fortunately all went wide of the mark.

Pulled His Whiskers Out.

Windsor, Nov. 17.—Dennis Sullivan, farmer, is suing T. Ballard, hotelman of Harrow, for $1,000 damages, alleging that defendant ejected him from the hotel last October and pulled out a portion of his beard. A handful of whiskers is exhibited in court.

Cobalt Fines Aggregate $2,800.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Twenty-five convictions at Cobalt for running blind pigs have netted $2,800 in fines to the Provincial License Department, according to a telegram received from Inspector Morrison.

STATUE OF MACDONALD

Big Assemblage of Prominent Representatives of Local and Dominion Houses Marks Unveiling of the Statue to John Sandfield Macdonald—McKay and Whitney Deliver Eloquent Eulogies.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Despite the tempestuous weather, a large and representative gathering attended the unveiling of the monument erected by the Government of Ontario to the first Premier of the province, Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald.

The speeches took place in the Legislative Chamber. At their conclusion the Lieutenant-Governor declared the statue unveiled. At the same time the flags in which it had been draped were removed, disclosing the handsome $10,000 bronze statue on its pedestal of red granite backed by a semi-circular bench of the same material.

Among those present at the ceremony were: Mme. Langlois of Quebec, the sole surviving daughter of the late Premier; Alex. S. Langlois of Cornwall, and Eugene Langlois of Montreal, grandsons, and the thirteen surviving civil servants appointed by him, F. G. Glockmeyer, A. H. Sydere, Col. J. H. Delamere, Col. A. Brown, G. B. Kirkpatrick, Edward Jenkinson, F. C. Usher, J. P. Edwards, Dr Hodgins, C. H. Sproule, Messrs. Kent, Ross and Alley.

Representatives of the eastern part of the province, from which Hon. J. Sandfield Macdonald came, were: Sir James P. Whitney, Hon. Col. Matheson, Senator Edwards, Senator Derbyshire, D. B. Maclennan (Cornwall), John A. McDougall (Cornwall), James Leitch, J. A. Macintosh (formerly of Vankleek Hill), and Wm. Gibbens, editor of The Cornwall Standard.

Nearly all the Cabinet Ministers were present, with quite a sprinkling of members of the Legislature and Dominion Parliament and others.

Sir James Whitney opened the proceedings by sketching the life of Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald.

Although opposed to the scheme of confederation as planned, said Sir James, the task of organising and bringing into force the Provincial Government was performed with credit to himself and to the advantage of the people.

Mr. Macdonald was a man of great force of character and individuality. Party limitations and conditions galled him, and, as a rule, he went his own way and voted as he thought proper.

Hon. Alex. MacKay, leader of the Opposition, who followed, paid an eloquent tribute to the "force of character and tenacity of purpose" of the late Premier. He was "an independent man outspoken in thought, unimpeachable in character."

T. D. McLennan, the business partner of Hon. J. S. Macdonald, returned thanks to the Government on behalf of his friends and surviving relatives.

Galt's Divisions Wrong.

Galt, Nov. 17.—Ald. Webster startled the Council when he announced that all elections for several years past had been illegal. He produced the municipal act to show it was contrary to that measure to have more than 400 voters in a polling subdivision, or to unite more than two Parliamentary divisions. In ward one, there were 663 voters, in ward two, 865, in ward three 516, in ward four 220, and in ward five 683.

The mayor ventured the opinion that the irregularity might be serious in regard to money bylaws passed. Steps will be taken immediately to authorize the use of twelve polling subdivisions, as under Parliamentary elections procedure, the Attorney-General's Department must be appealed to.

New Western Railway.

Montreal, Nov. 17.—An application will be made to Parliament for a charter to construct a railway, extending from 100 to 200 miles from a port on the north shore of Lake Winnipeg, to connect with the proposed railway from the Pass to either Fort Churchill or to Nelson, somewhat to the south. Smith, Markey, Skinner, Pugsley and Hyde, Montreal, are solicitors of the enterprise, representing western men who dream of a land and water route from the City of Winnipeg to Hudson Bay, irrespective of the projected all-rail route.

Women Cremated Now Born Babe.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Nov. 17.—Harriet and Helen Smith, colored, aged 40 and 44 respectively, were each sentenced by Justice Morschauser yesterday to not less than one year and six months and not more than five years and six months, for manslaughter in the second degree. The two sisters were charged with burning in the kitchen range, the new-born baby of their sister Margaret.

Canada's Credit Good.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Byron E. Walker, president of the Bank of Commerce, has returned from a tour of Europe, lasting five months.

"There never was a time," he said, "when the English investor was so ready to consider favorably Canadian investments, and Canada's credit was never so good."

N. Y. Society Reporter Suicides.

New York, Nov. 17.—Ralph A. Goodenough, a graduate of Princeton University, and for several years a well-known society reporter on one of the New York papers, committed suicide yesterday by jumping from the parapet of the Washington Bridge, over the Harlem River. The body fell a distance of 125 feet, striking on the top of a tree and crashed through the limbs to the ground.

MONK STILL RUFFLED

Mr. Fielding Informs Mr. Bradbury of Selkirk That Any Effort to Put Up the Price Can Be Easily Dealt With—Free Entry of Cement or Prosecution May Result—Mr. Lancaster and the Railways.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—The Commons spent a quiet afternoon yesterday, the only matters of importance being the introduction of bills to amend the Railway Act by Mr. Lancaster and a statement regarding the cement merger by the Minister of Finance. There was evidence in Mr. Fielding's reply to the question put by Mr. Bradbury that Government action of some kind will be taken.

F. D. Monk is evidently still smarting under the attack made upon him by the Premier on Monday.

When Sir Wilfrid moved the adjournment of the House, Mr. Monk protested that the Government should be ready to proceed with its business, and he declared himself dissatisfied with the reply that there was no Government business to go on with.

Some interesting information was given at question time.

Bradbury (Selkirk) having requested information regarding the Government's attitude towards the cement merger, Mr. Fielding said that the Government had been made aware of it through notices in the public press. The allegation made that, as a result of the merger, the price of cement had gone up, was disputed. There were two ways of dealing with it. One was the abolition of the customs duties, and the Government proposed during the session to make the law dealing with this more effective. The other method was by prosecution under the criminal code, a matter which was in the hands of the Attorneys-General of the provinces.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier told Col. Worthington (Sherbrooke) that the Government did not consider that information being sought for by the Department of Militia regarding United States training on warships on the great lakes should be made public pending diplomatic action. However the question of the tonnage and armament of these vessels had relation to the Rush-Bagot agreement of 1817. The question of the admission of the vessels had been decided by the Governor-in-Council.

Mr. Paquet discovered that the board of management of the International Railway were paid $6,000 each, except M. J. Butler, Deputy Minister of Railways, who received nothing for his services.

G. A. Lancaster (Lincoln) introduced three bills to amend the Railway Act, proposing that the time of appeal from a judgment of the board of railway commissioners shall be limited to thirty days, and that it should be left to the judgment of the board whether an appeal should be allowed or not. He also wants it made clear that the Railway Board shall have the power of discretion to order the protection of level crossings by railways at the latter's expense.

On, Off and On Again.

Cobourg, Nov. 17.—The local option bylaw has been given its first reading by the Town Council and will be voted upon in January. Since the petition was first submitted by the Cobourg Citizens' League, 47 of those who had originally signed asked to have their names withdrawn. Monday night 11 of these requested that their names be re-signed, bringing the total number within the percentage required to demand a vote.

Thaw Visits New York.

New York, Nov. 17.—Harry K. Thaw was brought to New York yesterday to testify for his mother in resisting a suit for $7,000 for services rendered brought by Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, an alienist. At noon Thaw protested so vigorously with Dr. Baker of the asylum that he be permitted to lunch at a certain well-known restaurant that a large crowd gathered.

Sues Madame Steinheil.

Paris, Nov. 17.—Frederick H. Burlingham, the American newspaper man, at one time accused by Mme. Steinheil of complicity in murder, yesterday brought suit for $4,000 damages for alleged false accusation. Remy Couillard, the servant, who was also accused of the crimes by his mistress, threatens to institute a libel suit against her.

New C.N.R. Line.

Montreal, Nov. 17.—One of the most important links in the Canadian Northern Transcontinental Railway system will be opened the 26th of this month, with the using of the 265 miles between Ottawa and Quebec. It will furnish the shortest, most direct route between the two cities.

Fatal Fire In New York.

New York, Nov. 17.—At a fire in Glodehill's wallpaper plant on West 34th street late yesterday, one girl is believed to have been burned to death, and three firemen and a policeman are suffering from burns received rescuing the 175 employes. An explosion of chemicals started it.

Want Canadian Coal.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 17.—Cable advices have been received by the captain of the Makura, from Sydney, Australia, instructing the carriage of all the bunker coal that can be carried on the return voyage, owing to the coal strike in Australia. The message stated that the price of coal had risen from six shillings a ton to sixty shillings.

FEARED DISGRACE

Tried to Cover Wife's Suicide by Making It Seem to be Burglar's Deed.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Dr. Haldane Cleminson, who is on trial for the murder of his wife, held the court room spellbound yesterday while he testified in his own defence.

"About 5 a.m.," he said, "I awoke. I had a feeling of nausea. I touched my wife with my foot. She was cold and did not answer. I saw a six ounce bottle on a chair beside the bed, also a cloth."

Cleminson said he telephoned for a doctor and then returned to the bedroom. He thought his wife had committed suicide, and to hide the shame, thought of making it look to be the deed of a burglar.

"I scattered everything in the bureau in disorder and hid somethings that I wanted to make believe were stolen," he said. "I scattered burnt matches about the floors."

Sent Down For Seven Years.

Montreal, Nov. 17.—Black hand methods in Montreal received a severe setback yesterday when sentence of seven years each were handed out to two Italians, Casino and Mittige, who were arrested in September last for trying to extort money from some of their compatriots by the short route.

Canadian Regiment for Aldershot.

London, Nov. 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Lord Lucas announces that it is hoped a Canadian battalion will be present at the next manoeuvres of the British army.

The Governor-General's Foot Guards of Ottawa expect to make the trip.

Good Glasses Are Worth All You Pay For Them.

The constant increase in Eye defects is partly due to improperly fitted Glasses. Here is no guess work with us, we give your eyes a thorough examination, and fit the Glasses only when absolutely necessary.

We are not travellers, but permanent residents of the city, and all our Glasses are positively guaranteed. We do not make it a practice of remaining for a few days in a town, and then leaving for parts unknown.

We have never sought to delude the unwary by advertising cut-rate on Glasses. Those who do resort to this way, either deceive the public, or sooner or later cause to grief themselves. Any business, to be a lasting success, must be conducted at a fair rate of profit; expert, service and enduring articles can also be furnished at or below cost. B.-P. TELLS OF SCOUTS

HE MEANS TO INSTIL PLUCK INTO THE YOUNG IDEA.

Gen. Baden-Powell Declares That "Slackers" Are Made Not Born, And That If Grit Is Fostered It Will Save the Nation From Degeneration—Boys Have Lived Up to Their Code.

"A noticeable change has come over the nation of late years," Gen. Baden-Powell said while in conversation with a London writer, "and the aim of the scout movement is to counteract that change by preventing the rising generation from developing into 'slackers'."

Later he remarked: "Few British boys, or girls for that matter, are 'slackers' by nature. A 'slacker' is made, not born. British boys and girls, and the boys and girls of most other nations too, are born, as a rule, with any amount of 'grit.' To foster it, however, environment must be considered; also the lads must be brought up and educated rationally."

Amusement has been expressed at the extraordinary success that has attended Gen. Baden-Powell's scheme. Yet there is little to be surprised at. Read the biography of any man of our own period, or of the past, who has achieved phenomenal success in generalship in any walk in life, and you will find that in every instance he had remarkable pluck and determination, worked extremely hard, and possessed perhaps the most precious gift a man can have, the gift of being able to organize.

Now, B.-P. has these three attributes and one or two more as well. First and foremost he is a "man" in the best sense of the word, and through life he has worked hard. What he is "made of," so far as pluck is concerned, that little affair at Mafeking some years ago has shown us. When the siege of Mafeking was "on," the majority of the 300,000 boys now enrolled as scouts were tiny toddlers, some of them running about, as likely as not, with pinafores and jammy mouths instead of in slouch hats and haversacks. But since then they have heard all about B.-P. and his gallant defence, and that knowledge probably has much to do with their enthusiasm in their scouting work. They know their chief to be a man who understands what he talks about, a man who has seen a lot of life and a lot of fighting and who doesn't know what fear means.

And that is the kind of man that boys—and girls—idolize.

Every boy who becomes a Scout has to promise on oath that he will "be loyal to God and King," to his officers, his country, and his employers; that he will do his best to help anyone needing help; that he will never under any circumstances break his word of honor; that he will be a friend to all, no matter of what rank or class; that he will never kill any dumb thing unnecessarily or cause needless suffering; that he will at all times be courteous and considerate; and that he will be thrifty, but never mean.

The belief that boys would really obey this scout law, as it is called, was laughed at by sceptics two years ago, when the movement started. B.-P., however, has proved who was the better judge of boy nature. When asked by the writer if the boys really obeyed this law, his answer was:

"Yes, they have thoroughly acted up to what they promised on their honor to do. Their conduct has been splendid. I have always maintained that boys as a body have both moral and physical pluck. If they grow up lacking either, the fault rests usually with those who had charge of them during their impressionable years."

In addition he explained that it is wrong to think, as some do, that the movement is meant to foster militarism, or that it will foster it. Every man who has been in action, he said has seen too much of the horrors of war not to wish to prevent war. Others have objected to the movement on the ground that sectarian religion is not considered. Its organizer is a firm believer in the religion of Christianity. He thinks that all have an equal chance of salvation, no matter to what sect they belong, provided they act up to what they believe to be right.

At one time boys thought that if they joined the scouts they would be laughed at, for there always are people who laugh at anything and everything that they have not seen before. But to-day the scouts are assured of their position, and if anybody tries to jeer at them or tease them they are amused. They know, too, that on the day of their rally at the Crystal Palace the King would not have telegraphed congratulations had they been a useless corps.

Constipation.

No one need expect to be healthy if the bowels are allowed to become clogged up. A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule with everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Costiveness or constipation clogs the bowels, chokes up the natural outlet of impure matter, and retains in the system the poisonous effete waste products of nature, causing bad blood, dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, foul humors, pimples, boils, blotches, piles, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters has built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for constipation and all the diseases which arise from it.

Constipation Cured.

Mr. Burns Woodcock, Nashwaak Bridge, N.B., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians, but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is to-day in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters."

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had cleans and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Gardiner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Maine.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

GLORIES OF MARBLE HOUSE.

Suffragist Audiences See Mrs. Belmont's Newport Mansion.

From all parts of the country came the suffragist faithful, architects and art lovers to attend the lectures given recently at Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's palatial Newport mansion. Interest was doubtless rife in the cause of woman's rights upon these occasions, but curiosity to see the interior of this beautiful home was the motive which led many of the audience to part with $5 in return for a card of admittance.

Marble House is one of the show houses of this country and faces on one side Bellevue avenue and on the other the famous Cliff walk. It was built by the late Richard M. Hunt, who also designed The Breakers and Belcourt, and is famous throughout the world as a work of art. Mrs. Belmont has been asked many times to permit its interior to be photographed, but has never consented and has kept close guard over the rare antiques she collected when she made a trip around the world in her late husband's yacht.

The lectures, the first one by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Suffrage association, on "Why Women Should Vote," and the second by Professor Charles Zueblin of Chicago university on "Woman's Place In Public Life," were given in a large tent erected on the lawn beneath the marble terrace at the rear of the mansion. Several hundred auditors were accommodated in this way, and the lecturers spoke for about an hour. Governor Pothier of Rhode Island introduced Professor Zueblin, and Mayor Boyle acted in the same capacity for Dr. Anna Shaw.

Mrs. Belmont occupied a seat on the platform at both lectures and made short speeches on woman's suffrage. Suffragist literature was sold by young girls at tables scattered over the lawn.

The lectures were given by Mrs. Belmont for the purpose of arousing interest in the suffrage cause and in order to raise funds for the suffragists. All the money received for entrance fees was turned over to the National Suffrage association.

For one hour before the lectures the lower floor of Marble House was open to the inspection of ticket holders. They entered by the front door the large hallway, from which the house takes its name. It extends upward for two stories and is built throughout of yellow African marble. Statuary and valuable bronzes stand about, and through the marble arches and massive bronze doors in the rear one looks out across the lawn and high hedge guarding it from the strollers on Cliff walk to the wide expanse of ocean.

On the right of the hall is a Gothic museum, said to be the most beautiful Gothic room in the world. It contains a collection of priceless antiques which Mrs. Belmont has collected from churches, cathedrals and monasteries in her travels abroad. Next to the museum is a Louis XVI. drawing room, which is used as a ballroom when the occasion requires. It is hung with tapestries and valuable paintings, and over the fireplace at one end is a large clock, which, like all others in the house, was especially built for the room in which it stands.

An immense dining room is on the left of the hall. The carpet for this room was especially woven, and the figures in the border are worked out in threads of pure copper. The chairs are of solid bronze, and the whole room is paneled, the color scheme being a dark, rich red. Behind the dining room is a library, which in style the morning room. Blue is the color followed here, and a view of the ocean may be had from its windows. The walls are lined from door to ceiling with valuable editions of books, and there is also a handsome collection of rare bindings.

Outside at the rear of the house which is pure Grecian in style, a white marble terrace stretches away 100 feet to the balustrade at the edge of the lawn. This is surrounded on each side by a thick grove of trees giving absolute seclusion from the public eye to Marble House.

MRS. LAKE'S SECRET.

She Kept It Well, Though She Loved to Talk Things Over.

By BELLE MANIATES.

[Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

"Ethel, don't you go up to the house," said the moon faced woman coming out on the porch of the farmhouse. "I will only harrow your feelings."

"It seems like shirking to let you go for me," said Ethel Sturgis, "but I do dread to see the familiar things again."

"I'll go to town and get that new auctioneer and drive him to your house to tag the things. Tomorrow I'll go to the auction and finish the business, and you won't have to go."

"You have been so kind to us, Mrs. Lake," said Ethel wistfully as the comely, good natured woman slapped the reins over the broad backed horse and drove down the road.

Then the girl returned to the house and vigorously applied herself to household tasks. She dared not be idle long enough to think and remember. It was two years since she and her father had left the little town in the east and bought the farm that was to bring them prosperity. Things had gone very wrong from the start. A cloudburst, the Hessian fly, her father's illness and the failure of a bank brought about the loss of the farm.

All they had left was a forty acre piece. Their household goods were to be auctioned on the morrow to enable them to buy the stock and implements for their little remnant of land. Their kind hearted neighbor had invited them to remain at her house while the sale was in progress, and she insisted that they continue to accept her hospitality during the construction of the little cabin her father purposed to build on the "forty."

Toward evening Mrs. Lake returned from her expedition.

"We got them all tagged, Ethel," she said cheerfully. "That auctioneer's a dandy. I got him interested in your pa, telling him what chunks your bad luck had come to."

Ethel winced. She knew her neighbor's propensity for "talking over" things, and she felt that she would rather realize less from the sale than have her private affairs discussed with a stranger.

"If only you could have brought yourself," continued the loquacious woman, "to have taken Austin Hobart. He's so well fixed and so kind. He's just wild over you."

"I wouldn't marry a man for those reasons," said Ethel.

"Well, he isn't so bad looking—one eye just a mite off and his legs aren't quite true. But you can't have everything. Sometimes I think you have had a love affair and been crossed, Ethel, to let such a fine chance go by."

The girl smiled faintly.

"I told the auctioneer about you and how you helped your pa and kept his spirits up, and he said you must be plucky."

Ethel wondered vaguely if she had confided in him regarding Austin Hobart also. "It doesn't matter, though," she thought sadly. "Nothing does now."

The next day when Mrs. Lake returned from the auction she was in a state of jubilance and excitement.

"Oh, Ethel, the things brought twice what your pa thought they would. Here—Mr. Sturgis, the auctioneer sent you this check."

Walter Sturgis took the check and glanced at it eagerly. His face flushed, and he looked curiously at his daughter.

"How much is it, father?" asked Ethel, extending her hand for the check.

But he had stowed the check carefully away in his pocket, and, naming the amount, he left the room.

"Oh," she exclaimed thankfully, "that will buy the implements, a team, a cow, wagon, two hogs and some chickens. Why did he do things, Mrs. Lake? Were the neighbors all there?"

"Yes, and lots of town folks. What do you think brought the most?"

"Why, I suppose father's bedroom set. Or perhaps the buggy, you know."

"No, not it—it was your little writing desk."

"My desk! Who bought it? Why was it left up?"

"Austin Hobart was bound to have it, but a fellow from town got it. He bid in a way that you could see he'd keep bidding till kingdom come, so Austin finally quit."

"What sort of a looking man was he?" asked Ethel.

"Oh, a fat, pudgy, homely man."

"Probably some secondhand dealer."

"Maybe; and he bought all the best things—all your parlor and bedroom things, all the very things you would have chosen."

"I am glad a stranger got them. It would make me feel queer to go in to call on the neighbors and see them using our things."

Early the next morning Mr. Sturgis went to town. He came back looking more cheerful over his purchases than he had looked in months. Ethel was left alone very often during the next week, Mrs. Lake taking advantage of having some one to leave in charge of the house. One afternoon Mr. Sturgis asked Ethel to go over to the "forty" and select a site for their cabin. He declined to accompany her, as he had to go to town. Mrs. Lake was in the midst of breadmaking, so Ethel saddled a horse and rode toward the "forty." Suddenly a disagreeable thought struck her.

"If Mrs. Lake has sent Austin over here to see me, I'll never forgive her."

She rode slowly, with her eyes glued to the horse's mane, wondering if she had been wise to reject Austin's love and protection. She didn't raise her eyes until she turned in at the "forty." Then she stared in amazement. Here stood a trim little home with a neat, broad porch and blinds.

"This is what Mrs. Lake and father have been so mysterious over," she thought, with sudden enlightenment. "But how could it have been built in so short a time?"

She dismounted and went up the steps. A card lay on the steps and some advertising matter. "Oh, I see—one of those portable houses! I wonder if the door is open."

It was, and with its opening came another surprise. Here were all her household goods arranged as they had been in the old house. She passed through the living room, dining room, kitchen and then into her father's bedroom. She opened the last door. All her personal things were here and many more beautiful new furnishings. What did it mean? Then she grew faint. She knew—Austin! Had he dared? She could not take them unless—

She heard a knock at the door, and she felt that if what to decision of her life awaiting her. Could she? A moment elapsed before she summoned courage to open the door.

On the threshold stood a tall, lithe limbed man.

"Will!" she said faintly.

He clasped her to him.

"It took you two years to forgive."

"Dearest, I got your note only ten days ago. It was in the secret drawer to your desk. You forgot to mail it."

"How could I! But how did you come by it?"

"I am the new auctioneer. I didn't know you lived in these parts till Mrs Lake took me to tag your things. She told me how you would miss your desk, and I made up my mind to bid it in. Casually I opened a secret drawer and found the letter. I had all the things bid in. The next day your father came to see me, and we fixed up this surprise."

"Then these things are yours?"

"No—ours. We are going to live here with your father."

"Will, did Mrs. Lake know too?"

"Yes; she was our right hand man."

"I have misjudged her. I never dreamed she could keep a secret."

THE SMOKING VASE.

A Parlor Trick That Is Sure to Mystify All Beholders.

Take a transparent glass vase with a cover and place the cover on the vase. Then throw a handkerchief over the whole and give it to some one to place in a corner of the room.

Now take a saucer and burn a little incense in it and utter this command: "Smoke, enter thou into yonder vase!"

Then you ask somebody to draw the handkerchief off the vase. To everybody's surprise, smoke will be seen gushing from the vase.

How is it done?

This way: Before exhibiting this trick you should rub the inside of the vase thoroughly with a sponge that has been dipped in powerful ammonia. On the inside of the cover you should place a few drops of muriatic acid or sulphuric acid. Now, when you cover the vase and have it taken into the corner the gases formed by these two chemicals unite and produce the appearance of smoke.

You must be very careful not to place the cover anywhere near the vase until the time comes for covering the vase and throwing the handkerchief over it or your trick will be spoiled.

ARITHMETIC PUZZLE.

Surprise Your Friends by Naming Numbers Thought Of.

Ask a friend to think of three different numbers under 10 and to write them down. Now tell him to multiply the first number he thought of by 2. Then multiply the result by 5. Then add 20. Then add the second number he thought of. Then add 5. Then multiply the result by 10. Then add his third number and subtract 250 from the result. Finally multiply his answer by 3 and tell you the result.

When he has done this you must divide his answer by 3, and the answer you will get will give you his three numbers in the order he chose them, and you can then tell him, much to his surprise, the numbers he thought of.

If you follow out this plan it will seem easier. Suppose he thought of 1, 2, and 3:

Well, 1x2	2
Multiply by 5	5
	10
Add 20	20
	30
Add second number, 2	2
	32
Add 5	5
	37
Multiply by 10	10
	370
Add third number, 3	3
	373
Subtract 250	250
	123
Multiply by 3	3
	369
Then you divide by 3	3
Which gives you his three numbers	123

Printers' Marks.

The interrogation mark or "point" (?) was originally a "q" and an "o," the latter placed under the former. These were simply the first and last letters of the Latin word "questio." So, too, with the sign of exclamation or interjection (!). In its original purity it was a combination of "I" and "o," the latter underneath, as in the question mark. The two stood for "Io," the Latin exclamation of joy. The paragraph mark is a Greek "p," the initial of the word "paragraph." The early printers employed a dagger to show that a word or sentence was objectionable and should be cut out.

The Wit of John.

Dot (meeting Johnny)—I have found you out.

Johnny—What am I?

Dot—Nobody.

Johnny—Goodness gracious! I am discovered!

Pa—You naughty boy, you've been fighting again!

Johnny—No, pa, I was only trying to keep a bad boy from hurting a little boy.

Pa—That was a noble act, my son. Who was the little boy?

Johnny—Me.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Miss Morning Glory.

Miss Morning Glory, awake all night,
What did you do when the day was gone?
"I watched the fireflies, light on light,
Pricking the black of the quiet lawn.
I saw the finger nail moon go down,
And here and there in the world I heard
Wind on the leaves like fairies' feet
And near in the treetop a hidden bird
Putting a question, drowsy sweet.
Long after this the sky grew dim,
And stars went flickering out as slow
As bedroom candles that burn too low.
All the wee noises were hushed and still.
Then I knew in my heart that night was done.
And, sure enough, on the misty hill
Flame of the big red sun!
There, little morning girl, run away.
Now you see why I wake instead
While you are lying asleep. Good day!
It's time I went to bed!"

AN AMUSING TRICK.

How Thirteen Matches May Be Lifted by Grasping One.

Procure a box of matches, out of which select fourteen as perfectly cut as possible. Take one of these and lay it on the matchbox, placing it so one of the ends protrudes over the edge, as shown in the accompanying illustration. Then lay twelve matches across it in the manner shown, being careful to make both sides even.

When you have done this, lay the fourteenth match right on the top of the bottom one, only it will not rest on the latter, but on the twelve upper ones, being careful not to let it protrude over the edge of the box. Then carefully catch hold of the bottom match, lift gently, and if you have done the trick correctly you will find that you have been enabled to lift thirteen matches with one.

Flower in a Soap Bubble.

A pretty experiment is that of placing a flower inside a soap bubble. To accomplish this feat, which is often mystifying and always amusing, put water in which a good deal of soap has been dissolved into the bottom of a tray or shallow pan to the depth of about an eighth of an inch. In the center of the tray place the rose or water lily or whatever flower is chosen for the experiment. Over it then clasp a tin funnel. Now slowly lift the funnel, at the same time blowing gently through its small end. When you have blown a large enough film you can disengage the bubble by turning the funnel at right angles. A great variety of objects, from china dolls to Easter eggs, may be in this way filmed over with a gay sphere of iridescence.

CANNED TIME SAVERS.

Ways of Reducing Size of Butcher's Bill.

It is only within the last week or two that the unrelenting butchers have announced one more advance in the price of meat.

This has come to be so much of a habit with the dispensers of juicy steaks and toothsome chops that the woman with a limited income finds herself impelled to turn her head away when she passes the butcher's window.

If there are more than one or two to eat, enough meat for dinner is more than likely to make appalling inroads into a dollar.

All there is about it, one must learn to plan a little.

An expensive serving of meat will not be missed in a dinner that begins with a delicious hot soup and is followed by several hearty vegetables.

This always reads well enough in the paper.

It is easy enough to write glibly "Begin your dinner with a delicious plate of soup," but the housekeeper who knows what it is to put on her apron and get the dinner, at which she later presides, knows that soups are not as easily made as talked about.

It is really a good deal of trouble to get the soup bone, make the stock and then to add vegetables or seasoning in just the right proportions or to complete all the necessary steps in the preparation of a cream soup.

But this suggests one of the shortcomings of the modern housekeeper. She is really not prone enough to take advantage of the conveniences that are constantly being provided for her. She is for the most part a little apt to be conservative, to her own hurt.

In this matter of the soup for dinner, for instance, why is it that more women do not make use of one of the excellent varieties of canned or condensed soups which are on the market?

In many households, where a soup course would be appreciated before dinner, it is omitted because of the time that it takes for the housewife to prepare this course.

But nowadays just as good results can be gained from a little can of condensed soup, which can be purchased for 10 cents and be prepared for the table at a moment's notice.

Any housekeepers who do use condensed soups would not know what to do without them, though in many a home it never occurs to the housekeeper to resort to this labor saving device.

To the woman who is trying to plan economical menus the advent of the handy little can of condensed soup is an immeasurable boon.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

The use of olives is considered beneficial if you have weak lungs. Many persons who cannot take olive oil will find the olives an agreeable substitute.

There is need both of less talk of nerves and less talk for them. What is more boring than incessant discussion of the subject of one's poor nerves? asks a writer. Nothing has been more overworked, and it is time that it should be tabooed as a topic of conversation.

A most excellent cleanser for the hands may be made by melting or softening cold cream and adding to it lemon juice and powdered pumice. An ounce of cream to a teaspoonful of pumice and a teaspoonful of juice is a good proportion, and the pumice must be put in before the juice.

There is more speedy relief from hot wet cloths than the dry heat from a hot water bottle, but it is a tedious task to keep cloths hot. If you wring a soft cloth out of warm water and place it over a hot water bag filled with hot water it will cause a steaming cloth, which gives almost instant relief to severe attacks of earache, toothache or neuralgia. It is quite an improvement over the dry heat.

After having done an unusually hard day's work or undergone some unaccustomed strain, such as is likely to leave the muscles sore and stiff, mix fifteen drops of tincture of arnica thoroughly in one-half glass of water and take one teaspoonful of the mixture every hour until relieved. This will give much quicker relief than when applied externally. It is also one of the best remedies to promote absorption, remove soreness and prevent inflammation in any wound or bruise on the soft parts of the body.

Sydney's Big "Ad."

With nearly half a hundred newspaper correspondents, representing leading newspapers on the continent, at Sydney, during the past few days awaiting the arrival of the Roosevelt from the Arctic waters, an enormous amount of matter has been sent over the wires to all civilized countries about Peary and the North Pole discovery. Incidentally, it has been a great advertisement for Sydney.—Moncton Transcript.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

It takes Sir Mackenzie Bowell to knock the Osler theory into a cocked hat. At seventy years of age, he was Premier of Canada, for several years after that he led the loyal Opposition in the Senate of Canada, and to-day, at eighty-six, he is as frisky as a three-year-old, and as full of snap as a bunch of steel springs. He is of the kind that has done much for the making of Canada.—Calgary Herald.

THE PRAIRIE WOMAN.

One hand upheld to shield her eyes,
She gazes far into the West,
Where rosily the daylight dies
And singing breezes croon of rest.
The stillness of the prairie lands
Creeps in across the endless miles,
And statuelike the woman stands
And dreams, perchance, of other whiles.

The plains, as level as a sea,
With wind-blown billows dip and rise;
No wide outspreading, friendly tree
Shows anywhere beneath the skies.
No good broad highway skirts the yard,
No neighbor is within her call;
Her fortune some would tell us hard,
Yet she—she minds it not at all.

What dreams come to her of the days
When she moved in a world of life,
Of fashions, shops, and teas and plays
And petty joy and petty strife?
No dreams that are not overborne
By this vast vision that is hers
Of prairie land that night and morn
With newer being breathes and stirs.

O, prairie woman! Brave and lone,
You are the boldest pioneer.
God send you come into your own
And reap reward of peace and cheer.

WANTED TO BE SURE.

Senator Melvin-Jones Wouldn't Take Mayoralty on a Fluke.

The man who stands foremost as the greatest living authority on the agricultural implement business in Canada, both in the manufacture and marketing of the products, is Hon. Lyman Melvin-Jones, president and general manager of the Massey-Harris Co. The commander of this gigantic industrial corporation began his career as a traveling agent for the Harris Co. at Brantford. He knows the implement business from the moulding shop to the finished machine. His principal invention is perhaps the open-end binder, which enables a machine to cut any length of straw. Mr. Jones was more intent upon the success of his invention than he was in the pursuit of money. It is generally conceded that, had he applied for a patent at the time, it would have made of him a millionaire many times over, for makers all over the world copied the invention and stole the fruits of his genius.

In 1879 Mr. Jones went to Winnipeg to manage the Western business of the Harris Co. of Brantford. He remained in the prairie capital ten years, becoming an alderman and later mayor. The first time that he ran for office he was elected by a majority of one vote. His opponent demanded a recount, which was held before a judge, who declared Mr. Jones the choice of the citizens by a single ballot, over which there was some doubt.

"Are you perfectly certain that I have a clear majority?" asked Mr. Jones.

"No! I am not absolutely sure on that point," responded the court, "but I believe the intention of the voter was to mark his ballot in your favor, and this is the reason I have for declaring you elected."

"Well, I will not accept the seat unless I have a majority that is beyond doubt," rejoined Mr. Jones, and he resigned. A new election was held, and his friends, admiring his firm, manly stand, returned him to the mayoralty by a majority so large that there was no longer any doubt as to who was the choice of the people. One day a friend met him and asked him candidly why he had not accepted the verdict of the judge.

"My life would not be worth living," observed the new chief magistrate. "Every man in Winnipeg would be coming along and asserting that he was the fellow who gave me the one vote which put me in office. I could not stand that."

NO DROUGHT IN NORTH.

Nature of the Country Keeps Moisture in Clay Belt.

There are no droughts up in Ontario's new clay belt. The forests and streams forbid that, and the irrigation problems of Western Canada will never trouble this northern Ontario land. The wild flowing Abitibi passes out of the lake eight miles to the eastward and upon its waters a canoe could pass northward 170 miles to James Bay. To the west seven miles is the Frederick House. All along the line are streams or rivers.

The rainfall has been abundant throughout the season that is near its end. Frost comes early but even the frost's approach has been driven back for days around Englehart and New Liskeard by the extensive clearings and the drainage. At these and other places where cultivation has been progressing for a few years the temperature is several degrees higher than in the woods that fringe them.

This new land has advantages that neither the West of to-day possesses, nor the older part of Ontario, when the axe, "first woodland music of civilization," was heard in its unbroken forests.

There are two crops up here in the twelvemonth where the west has only one. The spruce trees have a commercial value so high—between $3 and $4 a cord—that their sale pays for the clearing of the land, and provides money for the sowing of the crops. There is profitable work for winter as well as summer.

Older Ontario had this double crop but what section had a railway pass along the virgin forest. Mostly the trees, bigger far than here, had to be felled and burned where they fell, for lack of the transportation to a market. The timber market of Northern Ontario is at its doors in the navigable rivers and the colonization railway that the older province has sent up.

There is for none of the pioneers of Northern Ontario the need to hit a trail through the woods and bear upon his back a bag of corn, 30, 40 or 50 miles, as more than one of Ontario's M.P.P.'s has done in the olden days. A kind Providence has smiled upon this northern land.

Cochrane is moving rapidly, but there is always a delightful sensation of being on the border land between the old and the new; the tried and the untried; the land that has been bound to man's use and the land that lies virgin to the far northward; the railway that runs straight south 500 miles to a city of 300,000, meeting here a narrow stumpy trail to the farms of the pioneers in the woods around.

When the giant Cree Indian was brought in from the Hudson Bay outpost, 1,000 miles away, chained and strapped, he was in charge of a white man, named Clark, who had been brought up on the shores of Lake Abitibi, 40 miles to north and east.

He was a full grown husky man, a Hudson Bay factor, and the train that bore the two south to Hamilton Asylum was the first this white man hunter had ever seen.

The Way of the Mounteds.

In the Busy Man's Magazine for October, Kate Simpson-Hayes relates the surprise of an American new-comer when he had his first glimpse of the manner in which the law and order are enforced in the West. The writer says:

"A year ago, traveling through Alberta, I met a keen-looking American from Nebraska, and I asked him how he liked living under the British flag? His answer was:

"'Pretty d—— well,' he said, without elegance or hesitation. He left his plow (a ten-furrow affair, worked by steam) and, leaning up against a fence, told me this:

"'I was down near the boundary line last year with a bunch of horses, when a mounted policeman came along, all alone, in chase of a half-breed horse thief. He sort of expected to find him in a breed camp a bit off, and I went with him to see just how them red-coats would make a pinch. The fellow got off his horse, walked into camp, where there were about twelve or thirteen ugly-looking chaps sitting around, and says red-coat:

"'Here, you come along with me,' settling his hand quite polite like on a chap's shoulder.

"'There was a fellow grabbed a Winchester; another a Colt's; another let a yell out of him, but the red-coat just said:

"'Look here, you fellows, sit down quick, for I'm going to take this man with me.'

"'He did.'"

Preferential Trade.

The newspapers of the Australian Commonwealth want a preference established upon an Imperial as distinguished from a commercial basis. We may perhaps be excused for being unable to comprehend how a preference in trade can be established upon any other than a commercial basis. A preference to be of any value must be a preference which prefers. Canada took the lead in establishing a preference because she preferred the trade of the Empire to the trade of the world, not that British trade is intrinsically of any more value than the business we do with the United States or with any other nation, but because Britain is our best customer and the only nation which does not seek by the imposition of artificial barriers to hamper trade under the delusion that it is harmful and ought to be restrained to the utmost possible limit.—Victoria Daily Times.

Canada Will Lead.

The Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire at Sydney, N.S.W., voted against confining the preference to goods carried in British bottoms, between British ports. Well, just as Canada was the pioneer in giving a preference, so must Canada be the first to get the full benefit of the preference. By and by, when Australia gets educated up to the Canadian point of view, it will realize that it pays better to get its goods from England by a British route instead of, as now, by German or French steamers.—Ottawa Free Press.

VARICOCELE CURED

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

WHEELING THROUGH THE TAIL OF A COMET

EDMUND HALLEY

HALLEY'S Wanderer of the Skies Is Approaching the Earth, Which in May Next Will Pass Through Its Train and Likely Be Swept by Star Dust * * *

Three Phases of Halley's Comet as It Appeared in 1835

ONCE more Halley's famous comet has been seen through the great 40-inch refractor at the Yerkes Observatory by Professor E. E. Barnard exactly a month from the time he obtained his first glimpse of the celestial wanderer after its absence of seventy-four years. His observations were made on October 17 and 19, but apparently the comet is gaining in brilliancy, for it was also observed on the morning of October 17 by Professor Wendell, of the Harvard Observatory, with the 15-inch equatorial, and by L. Campbell with the 24-inch reflector of the same observatory. It will doubtless soon come within range of smaller telescopes and be visible to the unaided eye in the spring.

As the comet draws nearer to the earth a vague feeling of alarm may be felt by those who regard these celestial visitants with superstitious awe. For them mystery still clings around

"The blazing star,
Threatening the world with famine, plague and war;
To princes death; to kingdoms many curses;
To all estates inevitable losses;
To herdsmen rot; to ploughmen hapless seasons;
To sailors storms; to cities civil treasons."

The comet of 1066, one of the earlier returns of Halley's comet, was regarded as a presage of the downfall of Harold of England at the battle of Hastings. In the Bayeux tapestry, on which Matilda of Flanders had drawn all the most memorable episodes in the eventful career of her husband, William the Conqueror, the comet appears in one of the corners with the inscription, "Isti Mirantur Stellam," which proves that it was considered a veritable marvel. It is said even to be traditionally reported that one of the jewels of the British crown was taken from the tail of this comet.

Although comets are no longer regarded with superstitious awe as in olden times, yet they are apt to cause unnecessary alarm. For instance, even in our present enlightened day a letter was recently inserted in the Observatory, addressed to the editor by an alarmed Britisher, who feared the present appearance of Halley's comet might be an ill omen in connection with the possible invasion of England by the Germans. Some alarm has also been aroused by the statement that in all probability the earth will pass through the train of the comet on the morning of May 19, 1910, and that on that occasion the head of the comet will be about only 12,000,000 or 13,000,000 miles distant.

Swept by Star Dust.

According to the calculations of Frank E. Seagrave, an astronomer, of Providence, R. I., he finds by computations as delicate as trigonometry and the micrometer can make them, that on May 19 the comet will cross the plane of the earth's path. It is likely that the earth will be enveloped in the train of the comet and for a short period our planet may be swept by star dust.

"There need be no scare over the approaching event, however," Mr. Seagrave reassures us. "Nothing will happen. The end of the world will not come. It will be nothing more than we passed through on June 30, 1861, when the earth cut through the comet of that year. The nearest it could ever come to the earth would be 6,236,000 miles."

Regarding the actual experience concerning the comet of 1861, Sir Robert S. Ball recounts it as follows in his usual entertaining way:—

"In the year 1861 a fine comet appeared. It is not so well remembered as its merits deserve, because it happened, unfortunately for its own renown, to appear just three years after the celebrated comet of 1858, which was one of the most gorgeous of its kind in modern times. But in 1861 we had a novel experience.

"On a Sunday evening in midsummer of that year one disaster arising from the collision. A clergyman tells us that on midsummer he was always able in ordinary years to read his sermon without artificial light. On this particular occasion, however, the sky was overcast with a peculiar glow, while the ordinary light was so much interfered with that the sexton had to provide a pair of candles to enable the clergyman to read his sermon. The expense of those candles was, I believe, the only loss to the earth in consequence of its collision with the comet of 1861."

Year of Comets.

Nevertheless, despite our escape from harm in 1861 and the reassuring statements of such an authority as Professor S. W. Burnham, of Yerkes Observatory, who tells us we need not feel alarmed, for the comet "is not going to hurt anybody on this earth," yet in all probability there are many who will doubtless cast suspicious glances in its direction when it is bright enough to shine resplendent in the evening sky next spring, if not sooner. At present it is no use trying to see the celestial wanderer except by means of a telescope, as it is too faint as yet to be seen otherwise.

As it draws nearer, however, and increases in brightness, adorning itself with a glittering train when it approaches the neighborhood of the sun, it will prove a source of keen delight to those who can regard it from the true standpoint of scientific knowledge, but to the uninformed it may doubtless prove truly alarming. When the comet appears with its

Ten million cubic miles of head
Ten billion leagues of tail,

the first question the uninitiated will probably ask will be, "What great calamity does this mean?"

The greater number of inquirers will be more occupied, however, with the physical effects likely to result than with the supernatural form of the apparition. Do you think we shall have a cold or dry winter, or must we anticipate foggy weather, rains or inundations? Does it announce an abundant harvest, as was remarked in connection with the comet of 1811, resulting in the excellent quality of the so called "comet wine" of that year?

Dry Fog.

Of meteorological phenomena attributed to comets because their causes have remained unknown mention must be made of dry fogs, such as those of 1783, 1822, 1831 and 1834. The appearance of this singular phenomenon in 1783, accompanied by its long duration—for it was visible more than a month—has been accounted for as resulting from the immersion of our planet in a comet's train.

It is not impossible for our globe, as we have seen, to traverse the gigantic trains of certain comets nor to penetrate to a certain depth the vaporous atmosphere of some among them. Apart from these encounters we may suppose that cometary matter may be introduced into our atmosphere by the power of attraction. Pursuing its course in the same region as the planets, projecting its substance far beyond its own sphere of attraction, a comet can scarcely fail to abandon fragments of its tail, which the mass of the earth, for example, may afterward appropriate. At any rate, such was the opinion of Arago with regard to the dry fog of 1783.

This fog had not the qualities of an ordinary fog. It was not damp and moist like the clammy fogs of London. The general color of the air was that of a dull, dirty blue; distant objects were enveloped in a blue, misty haze and at the distance of a league were indistinguishable. The sun, without brilliancy and obscured by mist both at its rising and setting, could be looked at without dazzling the eyes at noonday. A singular circumstance mentioned by Arago in connection with this fog was the fact that it seemed to possess a certain phosphoric property, a light of its own. "I find, at least in the accounts of some observers," he remarks, "that it diffused, even at midnight, a light which they compared to that of the moon at its full and which sufficed to make objects distinctly visible at a distance of more than two hundred yards."

The Dust and Ashes.

Was the earth plunged in the tail of a comet, or had it met with the fragments of a cometary appendage abandoned in space? But why, then, was the comet itself not visible? Could the dust and ashes projected to a distance and scattered far and wide have been the cause of this phenomenon? Some scientists assumed, in order to explain the dry fog of 1783, that it was caused by the diffusion of volcanic cinders, as in the more recent case of the eruption of Krakatoa in August, 1883. The descriptions of extraordinary optical phenomena, such as wonderful ruddy glows at sunset and sunrise, or strange hues in which the sun and the moon were occasionally tinted, were collected from numerous places all over the world.

Everywhere remarkable appearances were noted in the sky that winter, from Lake Superior to Tierra del Fuego, from the Gulf of Guinea to China, from Panama to Australia. Strange halos were often seen, occasionally blue or green moons, and the sun was glorified by a corona that had its origin in our atmosphere. Wherever there were inhabitants with sufficient intelligence to note the unusual reports were received of extraordinary manifestations witnessed in the heavens.

When we reflect that an explosion on an insignificant islet in the Straits of Sunda has sufficed to adorn the sunsets of every country on earth, what may we not expect as a result of our passage for a short period through the train of Halley's comet? Will it be in the nature of a peculiar glow in the sky, as in the year 1861, or a rain of fire, celestial fireworks outrivalling the marvels recorded at the magnificent display of meteors in the year 1833, when the shooting stars were said to have fallen as thickly as snowflakes?

According to the ephemeris of Halley's comet, as calculated by Mr. A. D. C. Crommelin and Mr. D. Smart, the position of the comet on May 19 will be right ascension 0h 20m. 16s. and declination 13 deg. 38m. The comet will then be in the neighborhood of the constellation Gemini, and as the sun sets at fourteen minutes after seven and the comet between half-past eight and nine o'clock, the probability is that the splendor of the comet will fade in the twilight. There will be, however, a fine opportunity to observe the comet, under the most favorable conditions possible, at the total eclipse of the sun, which takes place May 8, 1910. On that occasion, when the blinding glare of the sun is hidden for a few moments by the dark globe of the moon coming between the sun and the earth, it may be possible to see Halley's comet during totality. If so it should provide a magnificent spectacle, for this is the most favorable of all conditions for seeing a comet.

View of the Comet.

What is the cause of the doubt about this event? It is due simply to the fact, that the track of eclipse runs across the ocean, and only touches at the north-eastern extremity of Tasmania.

"A hardy mariner," to quote Professor H. H. Turner's remarks on the subject, in an address given before the British Association for the Advancement of Science at its meeting at Dublin on Friday, September 4, 1908, "who should care to take up a suitable position on May 8, 1910, and was favored with a cloudless sky, would be sure of a magnificent view of the comet during totality. But an astronomer who wishes to set up an instrument on terra firma must be in Tasmania, and there it seems possible that the comet may have set below his horizon before totality is reached."

Nevertheless, the prospect is so fascinating that the writer is now making arrangements to journey to Tasmania next spring for the express purpose of witnessing this wondrous sight. Three times she has been enabled to observe the marvellous glory of the corona at the total eclipses of the sun which occurred in 1896, 1900, and 1905, but to see Halley's comet near the sun on a similar occasion in all its glory is simply irresistible.

According to the ephemeris of Mr. A. D. C. Crommelin and Mr. D. Smart, the comet must be looked for in the constellation Taurus during the month of November, this constellation being near the well known group of stars Orion. On November 20 it will pass very close to the bright star Aldebaran, the leading brilliant in the constellation Taurus. During January the comet will pass through the constellation Aries and Pisces, and on March 21 will pass near Algenib, in the constellation Pegasus. After about April it will be a matter of some uncertainty how long it will be possible to see the comet as it approaches the neighborhood of the sun. It will certainly cease to be visible much longer in the evening, but will reappear in the morning early in May, still in the northern hemisphere, and still in Pisces, where it will be till about May 14. After that the comet will pass into the southern hemisphere and remain there until it disappears altogether, which may be in June or July.

The comet will be nearest to the earth—that is, about twelve million miles, and therefore at its maximum brilliancy—about May 18, but the moonlight will to some extent spoil the view of the comet, so that, all things considered, the best view will be on May 21. After leaving the constellation Pisces, about May 14, the comet's path will be through Aries, Taurus, Gemini, the head of Orion, Canis Minor, Hydra, Sextans, the feet of Leo and Virgo, where it will probably be last seen, but the long days and short nights and the full moon on May 22, with no true night at all during many weeks, will seriously interfere with cometary observations.

After the comet has whirled around the sun, having attained by that time its maximum speed of 1,878 miles a minute, it will begin its return journey to the regions beyond the outermost planet Neptune, not returning for another seventy-four or seventy-five years. On its way it will pass near a number of bright stars, which will be visible to observers living in the Southern Hemisphere, at the Cape, in Australia or in New Zealand, and can be seen by them for a long time. The bright stars along the pathway shining like beacon lights marking the celestial milestones of the comet's track will be Aldebaran, in Taurus; Betelgeuse, in Orion; Gamma Geminorum and Procyon, in the constellation of Canis Minor.

HOW ICE CRYSTALS FALL.

HALOS and similar optical phenomena of the atmosphere have usually been explained as due to the reflection of the sun's rays from the polished sides of minute ice crystals. It has been necessary to suppose that these reflecting surfaces are always nearly or quite vertical, and this position has been accounted for on the ground that it is the position of least resistance as the crystal falls through the air.

Recently a French experimenter observed the fall of models shaped like ice crystals through liquids, and reported that they did not assume the required position, thus failing to support the orthodox theory. A German observer, Wilhelm Schmidt, however, testifies to its accuracy by first hand observation. Being up in a balloon, he found himself in a cloud of falling ice crystals, in which he saw, as in a vertical mirror, a blurred image of the sun, which proved that the crystals were falling with their reflecting surfaces vertical or nearly so, the blurred character of the image indicating that there was a slight oscillation of each crystal. The original reflection theory of halos would thus appear to be the true one, after all.

EVAPORATION IN ELECTRIC BULBS.

EVERY one has noticed electric lamps that seem to have been smoked inside. The smoky coating is a fine deposit of carbon from the filament, which begins to evaporate when heated too hot. Carbon is very refractory to heat and does not melt until it reaches the extremely high temperature of about 4,000 degrees; but long before this it begins to part with its substance in the form of vapor, just as camphor does, for instance. Some other substances which melt far sooner than carbon do not vaporise in this way when solid, and may thus be raised to a higher temperature without spoiling the bulbs. This is why the lamp with tungsten filament, for instance, is more efficient than the ordinary carbon incandescent. The inventor who can find a method of treating carbon so that it will not evaporate as long as it stays solid will be in a fair way to make his fortune.

I.C.R. Still Has Friends.

Moncton, N.B., Nov. 17.—The recent attack on the Intercolonial Railway made by Lord Northcliffe has caused many patrons of the I.C.R. to rally to its defence in a spirited manner that is causing the management a good deal of satisfaction. Letters from prominent business men who have traveled extensively are being received daily, these being expressions of appreciation of the train service generally and particularly of that given between Montreal, St. John and Halifax by the Maritime Express. These letters are from men who traveled on nearly every railway on the continent of America, and who consequently have a keen appreciation of the comforts that tend to reduce the weariness of travel. Their opinions are, therefore, likely to be made widely accepted than those of Lord Northcliffe.

Fake Detective Jailed.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Hamilton Knox, who has been passing himself off as a city detective to gain admittance to various institutions, was sent to jail for 30 days in the Police Court yesterday for theft of a card case at the Central Y.M.C.A.

William Mather was also sent to prison for four months for theft of thirty-two flasks of whisky, to which he pleaded guilty.

Prominent Attorney Disbarred.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 17.—I. J. Dunn, assistant city attorney of Omaha, who nominated W. J. Bryan for President at the Democratic national convention of 1908, was yesterday adjudged guilty of contempt by the Nebraska Supreme Court and was indefinitely disbarred from practicing in this court, because of language used by him in a brief in a city case.

Sale Prices Increase.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The first of the successful tenderers in the fourth sale of lots on the Gillies' limit by the Ontario Government, as announced below, shows aggregate receipts of $372,462.50, as against about $300,000 for the total of the three former sales. The price received for the individual lots also shows a satisfactory increase over the former occasions.

Masked Highwayman Near Kingston.

Kingston, Nov. 17.—A masked man, at the point of a revolver, held up the three women occupants of the toll-house on the Bath road early Monday evening, and after firing two shots into the floor as a further means of intimidation, secured the dollar or so that was in the toll box.

School Inspector Knight Resigns.

Lindsay, Nov. 17.—The resignation of James H. Knight from the position of school inspector of East Victoria, which he has filled for 39 years, is announced, owing to his ill-health. He is 73 years of age. He was the dean of school inspectors in the province.

Had Weak Back.

Would Often Lie in Bed for Days Scarcely Able to Turn Herself.

Weak back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know of the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles.

They begin by heaping the kidneys to flush of all the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages and carrying away the uric acid, the chief cause of rheumatism, from the blood.

Mrs. Arch. Schnare, Black Point, N.B., writes:—"For years I was troubled with weak back. Oftentimes I have lain in bed for days, being scarcely able to turn myself, and I have also been a great sufferer while trying to perform my household duties. I had doctors attending me without avail and tried liniments and plasters, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was about to give up in despair when my husband induced me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after using two boxes I am now well and able to do my work. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all that you claim for them, and I would advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

LET PEOPLE APPROVE.

Lansdowne Announces That Lords Will Reject Budget.

London, Nov. 17.—In the House of Lords yesterday, Lord Lansdowne, leader of the Opposition, gave the formal and expected notice of his intention to move for the rejection of the budget bill when it comes up next Monday. His motion, he said, would be expressed thus: "I move that this House is not justified in giving its consent to this bill, until it has been submitted to the judgment of the country."

Lord Lansdowne's motion undoubtedly assures a general election in January.

The terms of Lord Lansdowne's motion were communicated to Premier Asquith and discussed by the Cabinet council. The Unionists anticipate that 300 peers will support Lord Lansdowne, while the supporters of the Government number only 40.

On the rejection of the budget bill, it is expected that the Premier will move in the House of Commons a resolution strongly condemning the peers' action, affirming the sole right of the House of Commons to deal with matters of taxation and declaring the peers' attempt to force a dissolution to be unconstitutional.

Another Big Merger.

New York, N.Y., Nov. 17.—The control of the Western Union Telegraph Co. passed yesterday to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and a long step was taken toward the merging of the telephone and telegraph companies into a corporation with a capitalization of nearly $1,000,000,000.

Theodore Vail, president of the telephone company, said: "There is much to be gained by the joint construction and maintenance of plant, and by its common use to the greatest possible extent, but the greatest advantage will follow the placing of the millions of telephone subscribers in close and reliable connection with the receiving and despatching offices of the telegraph companies."

Official denial was given of reports that President Cowry, and Assistant General Manager Barclay would resign from the Western Union. It was reported that William H. Baker, formerly vice-president and general-manager of the Postal Telegraph Co., would become general manager of the Western Union.

Extra Expenditure Small.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—A statement of Governor-General's warrants issued since the last session of Parliament on account of the current fiscal year was presented to Parliament. The total is $176,009 and the amount of the expenditure was only $38,971. The principal item is for the repairs to the Sault Ste. Marie Canal rendered necessary by the breaking of the gates last August. The amount of the warrant was $125,000 and the expenditure under it to date has been $37,771. For the representation of Canada at the International Exhibition at Brussels next year $25,000 was provided and for temporary customs provisions at Quebec following the destruction of the custom house by fire, $10,000.

Grieved Over Fire Horror.

New York, Nov. 17.—Loss of his son and nine employes in the fire which destroyed his comb factory in Brooklyn last week is believed to have been the cause of the suicide yesterday of Robert Morrison, head of the firm which conducted the establishment.

Morrison's lifeless body was found in the bathroom of his house, where he had turned on the gas.

Local Option In Essex.

Leamington, Nov. 17.—Seven towns and townships in Essex County will vote on local option at the January elections. Contests will take place in the towns of Leamington, Essex and Kingsville, and in the Townships of Colchester South, Maiden, Sandwich South and Tilbury West. Nineteen hotel licenses may be affected.

Empire Pageant In 1910.

London, Nov. 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Arrangements have been announced for the Empire pageant in 1910 at the Crystal Palace. The festival lasts three months, and will be carried out on a grand scale. The proceeds will be devoted to the King's Hospital fund. Canada is being represented by Earl and Countess Grey.

Won't Take Over Mines.

Sydney, N.S.W., Nov. 17.—The Assembly, by a vote of 39 to 25, yesterday rejected the proposal of the Labor faction that the Government take over a sufficient number of the coal mines to supply the public requirements during the continuation of the strike.

Jewish Lawyers In Russia.

WAS NOT IN THE CITY WHEN INSPECTOR ARRIVED AT OFFICE

Former Local Manager of Union Life Assurance Company Charged With Fraudulently Converting Money of the Company to His Own Use---Failed to Send in to Head Office His Weekly Returns---Case in Court To-day.

Arthur Baxter pleaded not guilty at the police court this morning to having fraudulently converted to his own use twenty-four dollars of the Union Life Assurance Company, on or before the fifth of August last. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared on behalf of the accused and elected to be tried summarily. Several witnesses were heard, who swore to having paid sums of money on policies to Baxter.

The Evidence.

Julian Dingman swore that he lived on Lake St. He was insured in the Union Like Assurance Co., and has been for some time. On the twenty-third of July he paid prisoner three dollars and produced a receipt signed by Baxter for the same.

John T. Robinson is also insured in the Union Life Assurance Co., and of three dollars per quarter. He paid that sum to Baxter and received a receipt from him. On that occasion he did not receive the company's receipt, the prisoner giving one of his own.

Another witness was called whose husband carried insurance in the Union Life for one thousand dollars. The quarterly payments were thirteen dollars. She paid that amount in the office on July 28th last. The receipt was signed by A. Baxter.

Hyman Jacks paid prisoner $5.10 on an insurance policy in the Union Life for five hundred dollars. It was a half yearly payment and was made in the office of the company on July 21st. When asked for a company's receipt, Baxter told him that he had no blanks and wrote one out himself.

Mr. T. J. Heath, Inspector for the company, stated that he visited the Peterborough agency on August 6th, the prisoner being then in charge as agent. He notified him on the fifth that he was coming. On going to the office upon his arrival he found the key in the lock. On going inside he found no one there. He waited for some time and inquired if anyone had seen him. He was told that he had been there the day before. He then went to his boarding house and learned that he had left the previous day. Returning to the office he found various papers lying there. His ledger book showed that his collections for that week had been about twenty dollars. From an inspection of the books, in addition to the twenty-five dollars mentioned, thirty-five dollars was missing in Industrial branch. He received a salary of twelve dollars a week and twenty premiums on new business.

The court adjourned at one o'clock until four this afternoon, when the case will likely be concluded.

Writ Of Habeas Corpus Was Granted To Angus MacDonald

Chief Justice Falconbridge granted a writ of habeas corpus, returnable on Friday, in the case of Angus MacDonald, sentenced by Police Magistrate D. W. Dumble of Peterborough, to a term of two years, less one day, in the Central Prison, on a charge of theft and assault. The ground of application for the habeas corpus is that the warrant of commitment does not allege that Macdonald was convicted. He was remanded for three days and it was contended on his behalf that that period should be counted in the term of his sentence. It is also alleged that there is a question whether there is any such person as the "keeper" of the Central Prison, to whom the warrant is directed, the statutory name of the chief officer there being "Warden."

Clydesdale Boy Makes Gallant Rescue Of Little Boy From Drowning

Examiner Special.

Purdyville, Coe Hill, Oct. 20.—On the river at Purdyville the eight year old son of Mr. Purdy was playing on the logs that was in the river. The boy stumbled and fell in the water, just as the children was passing on the way from school. Willie Hogan, aged 12, son of Patrick Hogan, of Clydesdale, who was going to school in Purdyville, went to his rescue, but having his coat on could not bring him out. He swam to the shore, took off his coat and went in a second time. Reaching the little fellow who was going down for the third time, he brought him safely to shore and carried him to the elder Mr. Purdy's house, when they brought him back to consciousness. The little fellow was none the worse for his dip after a few days in bed. As a reward for his bravery, Mr. Purdy gave Willie Hogan a new suit of clothes and a pocket knife.

Reception By Young Men's Guild A Splendid Success

The Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's church scored a big success in their reception to the men of the church. In spite of the weather, a large number assembled in the lecture hall and enjoyed a good programme.

Mr. Ernest Reid occupied the chair and after one or two items of necessary business called upon Misses Tully and Dawson to render an instrumental duett, which was well received. The musical numbers were all of a very high order as follows:

Miss Olive Howell—"When May Comes in."

Mr. Gordon Wright—"Promise Me"

Mr. Lewis Acheson—"Skippers of St. Ives."

Rev. J. G. Potter—"Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

These numbers were all encored with the greatest enthusiasm.

The address of the evening was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Riddiford of Park street Baptist church, who complimented the Guild on the successful event and eulogized their object in taking such a deep interest in the practical work of the church as well as in the measure of sport in which they had indulged. He held before them the highest wisdom by which the life of young men was made strong and highly successful.

The Rev. J. G. Potter, Richard Lees and Andrew McFarlane, honourary members of the Guild, gave words of encouragement.

The thanks of the Guild were tendered all who took part by neat speeches from Messrs. Cornish and Rutherford.

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served and a very interesting and delightful meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

Board of Trade Committee To Take Up City's Wharfage

The secretary of the Lakefield Board of Trade's letter to the Peterborough Board of Trade, was read, asking for the support of their petition for increasing the length of the wharf at the village. Mr. McClellan explained that Lakefield has 535 feet of wharfage and they now want it extended in the form of an L to the G.T.R. track He thought charity began at home, and Peterborough had only 300 feet at the Wolfe St. wharf Mr. W. H. Denham suggested that a petition be sent to Hon. Mr. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, that the plans for the wharf between Hunter St. and C.P.R. bridges be gone on with A splendid wharf can be secured in this locality, but a retaining wall is required along the river front. The Wolfe St. wharf has been outgrown by the traffic and vessels were tied up three and four deep at times. Mr. Denham suggested a committee to consider the question, and Mr. O'Connell's committee, composed of Mr. Hughes Charles, Mr. Travers, Mr. Larmonth and Mr. O'connell, convener, was asked to take up the matter in addition to the other duty appointed to them.

CURED WHEN DOCTORS FAILED

Mr. Felix Villeneuve, Clarence Creek, Ont., writes: "I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and inflammation of the bowels and liver trouble and doctors could not help me much. Could not sleep, water contained sediment, had frequent desire to urinate and often passed blood. Had dreadful headaches, one side almost paralyzed, and was deaf in left ear for eight years. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cured me and I am very grateful. I want to thank you."

BOARD ENDORSES CONSERVATION POLICY

NOT IN FAVOUR OF PROPOSED GENERAL HOLIDAY

Board of Trade Does Not Sympathize With Plan to Have Civic Holiday Celebrated on Identical Day Throughout the Country.

OPINIONS SIMILAR

The question of Civic Holiday being celebrated generally on the same day throughout the Dominion, was introduced at the meeting of the Board of Trade last night, by a letter from the Secretary of the Board asking the opinion of Peterborough's Board in regard to it. The idea did not meet with very favourable opinions from the various members, who expressed their opinions in regard to it, and in a motion by Messrs. D. Hughes-Charles and J. H. Larmonth the Board did not approve of it. Mr. W. S. Dodd, of the C. P. R., stated that he thought neither railway line would be able to give proper service if Civic holiday were celebrated on the same day throughout the country. He thought it would be unwise and other members held similar views.

WIRES AT PARK

People May Walk Through But Not Over the Grass.

Victoria Park will be open this winter and the Horticultural Society has decided not to put wires around the entire park. Instead they are stringing them along the walks in order to prevent people from crossing the grass. The citizens will thus be enabled to use the walks, but they are requested not to cut across on the grass. Yesterday the wires were put up and to-day they are down in places. The society consider that the privilege of walking through the park should be appreciated and not abused and in future anyone found tearing down the wires will be prosecuted.

MR. BAILEY TO THE BOARD OF TRADE

At the meeting of the Board of Trade the following letter was read from Mr. W. A. Bailey:

Peterborough, Nov. 9.

Sir,—Fortunately, I am not a citizen, so cannot attend the meeting, but I might be allowed to make a suggestion. The name should be changed. Peterborough is associated with an old conservative city in England. After recent events here the name does not sound quite decent. It is a beautiful district, and it is a pity to spoil it.

Yours truly,
W. A. BAILEY.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Miss May Ward, the spirited little actress who is playing part of "Daisy" in "The Cash Girl" Company, related the following story at a rehearsal the other day, of an experience the Prima Donna of her show had a few years ago, when she was a clerk in one of the largest department stores in the country. One day she was showing a line of clocks to an Irishman who wanted to present one to his wife on the third anniversary of their marriage. "I exhausted all of the stock except some Cuckoo clocks on a shelf nearby." She said, The Celt asked to see them. I took them down, thinking at last I would make a sale, After telling Pat the price, he asked if it struck the hours. Instead of answering directly, I wound the time piece and set the hands a few seconds to twelve. As the door opened Patrick's eyes bulged with interest, but when the chirping ended he plainly showed his disapproval, but I pretended not to notice it and said: "Well, how do you like it?" Pat thought a moment, and then replied, earnestly: "It's all right, except one point. It's enough trouble to remember 'whin' to wind it without having to think of feeding the bird."

Dominion Government's Work in Conserving Waters of Trent Canal System Receives Unanimous Approval of Peterboro's Board of Trade—Is Appreciated by Representatives of all Manufacturing Concerns.

AN INTERESTING MEETING

The Dominion Government's policy of conserving the waters of the Trent Canal system, as successfully carried out was emphatically endorsed by representatives of a number of Peterborough's leading industrial establishments in their statements at a general meeting of the Board of Trade last night. The subject under discussion was "The Appropriation for Conservation of Trent Canal Waters to our North, and" among those who took part in the discussion were Mr. J. H. Larmonth, of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., Mr. W. H. Denham, of the Quaker Oats Co., and Mr. E. G. Patterson of the Canadian General Electric Co. All these gentlemen expressed their extreme satisfaction with the work done by the Railway & Canals department in the conserving of the waters for navigation purposes and incidentally for power purposes. During the last year in particular as a result of the Government's policy, in this regard, the flow of the water in the Otonabee River has been very uniform and in consequence has meant a great deal to the various power concerns in the city and to the manufactories dependent upon them. The work has been in progress during the past five years and Mr. McClellan has asked the deputy-minister Mr. M. J. Butler that the usual grant be again made this year to continue the work. The Board of Trade as a result of last night's meeting supports the request of the Superintendent of the Trent Canal by the motion passed at the conclusion of the discussion.

An Interesting Meeting.

Last night's meeting was presided over by the President of the Board, Mr. Georeg A. Gillespie. The discussions were interesting and well handled to such an extent that the chairman expressed his pleasure upon the fine attendance and the enthusiasm displayed by the members. Mr. McClellan was the first speaker. During the past five years, he said, it has always been a question of conserving the water in the back lakes to tide us over the dry season. Dams have been built and the work has been progressing yearly. It requires from $16,000 to $30,000 annually to carry on that work in the back country. "I have asked for it again this year. I thought it would be better if the endorsation of the Board of Trade would support the request this year and strengthen Mr. Butler's hands.

Mr. E. G. Patterson.

Mr. Patterson referred to the conditions last September when owing to the low water in the river the C. G. E. works were unable to run on full time. He heartily endorsed any motion the Board would make. The Dom. government have adopted a policy of conserving water for power. In Ottawa the light and power companies had not enough water to run all night and the Premier had given his word that the water would be conserved. The Board of Trade and the City Council should make strong representations to the member for this constituency and also to the Minister demanding extra money for the building of dams during the coming year.

Mr. W. H. Denham.

Mr. Denham remarked that if the water was conserved in the back lakes it would increase the water power all along the Otonabee river 40 per cent; that is in the spring, owing to the freshets there was enough water to provide 5000 h.p., but in the fall this dropped to 2000 h.p. Conservation means that a full flow can be obtained the whole year round. Good work has been done by the canal department so far. In fact, during the past year no trouble has been experienced through a lack of power and from the system that was now employed no difficulty might be again felt. The conservation of the water is needed for new industries, and Mr. Denham said that it would not be necessary to go outside the city for power. He felt that appreciation should be expressed for the work already done. "While the policy may be to continue in the work we cannot show too strongly our appreciation of what has been done and we hope that more will be undertaken."

Mr. W. H. Moore.

During the past year, Mr. Moore stated two important dams had been constructed, one on the Burnt River and the other on Gull River. Eel's Creek and the Mississauga river could be dammed. In the spring there was possibly five times as much water flowing in the river as at present. It was impossible to keep back a great portion of the water, but by auxiliary help of the dams a large amount of it could be held back. There is a wonderful chain of lakes in the back country on the Trent Canal system and until the work of conservation was completed the flow would not be entirely satisfactory. Since Mr. McClellan took charge of the work there had been a wonderful improvement

WORKMAN HAD RIGHT LEG FRACTURED

Frenchman Employed on the New Waterworks Dam Injured Yesterday Afternoon—The Cement Bucket Dropped on Him.

IN NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

A young Frenchman whose home is in Montreal, and who is employed on the construction of the new water works dam, met with an unfortunate accident yesterday afternoon, as a result of which he is now lying in Nichols Hospital with a bad fracture of the right leg.

On account of the icy condition of the cable wires and ropes a rope slipped and allowed the big bucket which carries the cement to drop suddenly, hitting the Frenchman heavily upon the leg.

The Dan Spence ambulance made a hurried call, and the injured man was removed to the Nichols' Hospital, where Dr. Frederick set the fracture.

May Ward In "The Cash Girl"

A New Theatrical Offering — At The Grand Friday Evening, November 19th.

Clever May Ward, the Dresdon Doll Comedienne will be with us soon at the head of the big musical comedy success "The Cash Girl." Miss Ward is a bright and talented little woman and associated with her in the musical scenes are her Dresden Dolls, a name given the chorus of vivacious soubrettes, who dance, sing, look pretty and represent a superb ensemble numbers of fetching show girls. The play posseses some catchy musical numbers and the comedy is bright all through the show. Among the song hits are: "I'm a Detective," "The Tale of an Old Rag Doll," "The Girl in the Looking Glass," "I rather Like You,' "Please Dont Tease," and "Oh Mr. Moon." "The Cash Girl" is from the prolific pen of George Toten Smith, who has long since won an enviable reputation as a writer of popular successes. The music is of the fascinating kind, and was composed with the lyrics by George W. Meyer, who is noted for tunes that possess a happy swing. The Company is one of extravagant scenic display, representing fifty people, mostly girls, funny comedians and a chorus of attractive girls who lend life and a pleasing atmosphere to the production. "The Cash Girl" is a big hit from curtain to curtain, and decidedly the newest thing in modern theatricals and will be seen at the "Grand" Friday, Nov. 19th.

NOTICE

On account of the big advance sale for "The Wolf" at the "Grand" to-morrow (Thursday) Evening, patrons will please remember that seats ordered and not paid for will be held until 7.30 p.m. only, unless special arrangements are made.

CARNIVAL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Prize Winners at the Auditorium Roller Rink Last Night.

The carnival at the Auditorium Roller Rink last night was, in spite of the weather, a great success and was largely attended. The costumes were varied and most of them very ambitious and the result was a highly picturesque scene. The judges Mr. C. G. Graham and Mr. Lord, of the Canadian General Electric Works, had a somewhat difficult task in selecting the winners, but finally decided upon the following as the most worthy of the prizes. Ladies' prize, fancy costume, Miss Gibbs; ladies' prize, comic costume, Miss Lebar. Men's fancy costume, Mr. Milburn; men's comic costume, Mr. Wright.

"A MAN IS AS OLD AS HE FEELS"

Is an old saying, but nevertheless true. When the arteries begin to harden by the deposit of mineral matter from the blood, the resiliency of the blood vessels is destroyed and the circulation becomes poor and sluggish.

Keep the blood rich and pure, and the circulation good by supplying to it Iron and other necessary elements in the form of VINOL. If aged people in this vicinity only realized how VINOL would restore their strength and vitality we would be unable to supply the demand. McDermid & Jury, druggists; Peterborough, Ont.

WATER CONSERVATION

What Has Been Done--What is Being Done--What Can Be Done in the Conserving of the Waters of the Trent Canal System.

In order that the readers of the Examiner may fully understand the meaning of the conservation of the waters tributary to the Trent Canal, and also appreciate the possiblities in this regard, in so far as its important bearing on the industrial progress of Peterborough is concerned, the Examiner has obtained figures showing the area of the basin of the Trent Canal.

It must be understood that there is tributary to the Trent Canal, a vast watershed extending back north to the Muskoka district. In this area are many large lakes and rivers, in which a vast amount of water can be stored until such time as it may be required on the Trent Canal, for navigation, power, or other purposes. Some years ago the only interest taken in these waters was by the lumbermen. Crude slides and dams existed at the outlet of various lakes, and these were controlled by the lumbermen. The dams were of assistance in driving logs from the back country, but when the lumbermen took out their drives in the early summer, the stop logs were left out of the few dams that were in existence, and the natural flow of the rivers came down without in any way being interfered with. The result was that in the early summer there was a surplus amount of water, whilst in the fall and winter there was no reserve water to replenish the lakes and rivers forming the Trent Canal System.

Several years ago, mainly through the efforts of Hon. Mr. Stratton, a member of the Government of Ontario, when the preliminary arrangements were made, and of Mr. R. R. Hall, the member of West Peterborough, in the Dominion House, the Dominion Government was induced to take over from the Ontario Government, the lakes, rivers, and streams, forming the Trent Canal watershed, with a view to having the regulation of the waters of the Trent canl and its tributaries all under one management. Immediately after the transfer of these lakes, rivers, and streams from the Ontario Government, the Department of Railways and Canals, commenced to construct new dams, some of them of concrete, on the tributary waters. Each year since the taking over of the tributary waters by the Dominion Government a number of dams have been put in. The good effect of this policy is already being felt. The Superintendent of the Canal finds it invaluable in giving a more even and steady flow throughout the entire year. However, even with the dams already built, there was a slight shortage of water last winter.

What is required is a still further aggressive policy in the matter of constructing new dams. This can be carried out only by procuring from the Dominion Government, the necessary money. There could be five or six dams built each year for the next six or eight years, and there would still be additional places back north to build dams, to be used in conserving the waters of the Trent Canal watershed. An idea of this can be gleaned from the following table, which shows the extent of area of the different tributaries to the Trent Canal:

	Acres
Gull River Basin	40,864
Burnt River Basin	22,950
Nogie's Creek Basin	1,671
Massassaga Basin	7,009
Eel Creek Basin	2,683
Squaw River Basin	341
Jack's Creek Basin	4,198
Deer Bay Creek Basin	2,547
Buckhorn Lake	955
Chain Large Lakes	89,079
Total	172,317

By reference to the above table it will be observed that the total area of the Trent Canal Basin, above Peterborough, including the tributary waters, is 172,317 acres. The lakes forming the main canal from Balsam Lake to Peterborough constitute a basin of 89,079 acres. That means, therefore, that the basin of the waters tributary to the Trent Canal is as large in extent as the basin of the main line of the canal extending from Balsam Lake to Peterborough.

That it is worth while using every effort in an endeavour to properly conserve the water in this very large basin, goes without saying. The water power along the Canal will be increased and benefits of a substantial nature will accrue to the City of Peterborough and to the navigation interests of the whole system, couth of Balsam Lake.

Committee To Wait On Council Re Industrial Commission

Mr. Daniel O'Connell, in addressing the Board of Trade last night, in reference to the resolution that had been passed at the former meeting supporting the appointment of an industrial commissioner, might have said: "We've got to keep the ball a-rolling". He did not use these words, but the idea was the same. He congratulated the Board upon the impetus that had been given to a deep interest in civic affairs, and said that if any result was to be obtained the ball must be continued rolling. It will not do to stir up enthusiasm, to begin the work and then before anything material has been achieved to lean back on our oars The same activity as displayed at the meeting must be in evidence. The resolution rests on the shoulders of the members of the Board of Trade, and it will not do to allow it to become quiescent again. The first step is to take the resolution before the Council and represent the views of this Board as vigorously as possible, that it is the unanimous wish of the citizens of Peterborough that action be taken, and the citizens expect that it will be treated with respect and will be acted upon as soon as prudence and conditions will allow.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles seconded the motion. The following committee was appointed with power to add to its numbers to wait on the City Council in regard to the Board's resolution. Messrs. D. O'Connell, convener; D. Hughes-Charles, J. H. Larmonth and R. W. Travers.

A REALLY CATHOLIC CATHOLIC; HON. WM. HARTY'S BROAD VIEWS

Kingston, Nov. 15.—Among the gifts towards the Jubilee fund of the Queen street Methodist church was a cheque for $100 from Hon. Wm. Harty, a prominent Roman Catholic. In the letter accompanying the gift, Hon. Mr. Harty says. "Christianity has a big enough platform to hold us all and under that banner you can always count upon my readiness to aid you and your fellow churchmen in any endeavour to improve mankind under the wide principles of the Golden Rule."

"THE GIRL SCOUT"

A GRAND PICTURE

The enterprise of the management of the Princess is indicated by the stirring picture "The Girl Scout," which is the feature of the bill today and to-morrow. The picture is a remarkably interesting one from a Canadian standpoint inasmuch as it was posed for by A and B. Batteries Canadian Artillery at Barriefield, near Kingston, and deals with vividly exciting incidents in the South African war. A troupe of actors was brought over into Canada, and with the assistance of the crack Canadian artillerymen the "Girl Scout" was prepared. It is undoubtedly one of the most interesting film stories ever shown here and should be seen by everyone, the local militia men in particular, as they are familiar with the Barriefield camp and its surroundings.

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

AN INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION.

The Brantford Expositor has the following reference to the public meeting, at which the resolution at the head of this column was unanimously adopted:

"At a public meeting held in Peterborough it was unanimously decided to request the City Council to appoint an industrial commissioner, to devote his whole time to the industrial advancement of the city. Brantford has made an economical beginning in the same direction, with results of the most satisfactory character. The showing which Mr. Dowling will be able to make at the end of his first year of office will surprise most people."

It is to be hoped that the resolution, printed at the head of this column will not be allowed to degenerate into the proverbial evanescence of the "New Year's resolution," nor take on the leisurely pace of the Isolation Hospital policy, of the City Council. The resolution as it stands is not worth the paper it is written upon—not worth wind enough to blow it away—unless it is acted upon and that promptly. Of course the present Council with only a month and a half of life is not expected to undertake to act decisively upon the resolution, but it might do much to pave the way by seeking to unearth a suitable man for commissioner, and have a good deal of work done to permit their successors to take the promptest possible action. Apropos of this Mr. D. O'Connel, who has taken, and is taking, a most public-spirited and intelligent interest in the matter, did well to impress upon the Board of Trade meeting last night, the importance of "keeping the ball rolling." The appointment, on his motion, of a committee to bring the matter anew to the attention of the City Council is timely.

NOT A SAFE GUIDE.

Our good Conservative contemporary in a general way demonstrates that it is not a safe guide in presenting arguments to mould public opinion. Sometimes it specifically shows its unfitness in this regard. In comment on the result of the North Essex bye-election it described the Liberal candidate as having resigned from the Ontario Legislature "to carry the constituency for the Laurier Naval Policy." Now, the readers of the Review who accept such a statement as gospel, will be surprised to learn that the Liberal candidate has not been a member of the Ontario Legislature at any time during the past half dozen years. Ex uno disce omnes.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Ottawa is not a very promising field for local option. Dr. Amyot says that the city water is populated with colon bacilli, an indication that the water is thickened with sewage, and making it necessary for the water to be boiled to make it safely palatable. How could the people be expected to patronize a water waggon carrying such morbific wares?

"THE BRITISH FLAG OUR TALISMAN."

We do not always appreciate the importance to be attached to British connection; we do not always appreciate all that it implies. We sometimes—some of us—do not realise the tremendous symbolism of the British flag the common property of every section of the Empire. In speaking on the address on Monday Sir Wilfrid Laurier, with his accustomed eloquence, spoke in answer to Mr. Monk, the Conservative leader of Quebec, in the Commons, who held that it was not the duty of Canada to contribute anything whatever to the naval forces for the defence of the Empire, Sir Wilfrid said:

"I hold in my hands at the present moment a letter which I received a few days ago from a friend who was a visitor in the city of Rome, which will show what are our rights and privileges as British subjects. My honourable friend (Mr. Monk), knows that there is in the city of Rome a Canadian college built a few years ago by the priests of the Society of St. Sulpice of Montreal, and maintained by them for the education of young Roman Catholic students in theology. At the date of my friend's letter, on the 16th of October, the city of Rome, like many other cities in continental Europe, was in the throes of a violent emotion occasioned by the execution of Prof. Ferrer in Barcelonia, Spain, and riots were imminent at different points of the city. The Spanish embassy at the Vatican had to be guarded by a strong detachment of the Italian army, threatened as it was by an infuriated mob. Streets and squares were filled by an unfuriated mob, swearing vengeance, yelling and hurling threats at convents and religious communities of all descriptions. My friend asked the reverend father superior of the college if he was apprehensive of danger. Mark the answer, which I commend especially to my honourable friend from Jacques Cartier (Mr. Monk):

"'No,' said the reverend father superior. 'I will hoist the British flag if we are attacked. The British flag is our talisman here.'

"Sir, it is impossible not to be struck by the similarity of events which occurred something like 1,900 years ago with those which are occurring in our own day. Nineteen hundred years ago at a time when the empire of Rome had reached the summit of its power, Paul of Tarsus in the course of his labours as an apostle of Christ, was attacked by a mob and his life was imperilled. He bethought himself of his Roman citizenship and he had only to utter the words: 'I am a Roman citizen,' and his life was safe. The fact was his talisman and at once he was safe from the mob. Now, in our day, only last week, a disciple of Christ in the city of Rome, once the mistress of the world, whose name carried with it a mission like that of Paul of Tarsus, is also attacked by a mob. He bethinks himself that he belongs to an empire, which, for power, majesty, and prestige, can rival the empire of Rome in its palmiest days. And, as his talisman, he unfurls the British flag; it floats to the breeze over the famous city as his talisman, and the result is that all danger passes away and the mob is awed.

"I have to make this remark to the honourable member for Jacques Cartier — Wherever there are rights, wherever there are privileges, there are likewise duties and responsibilities and, so long as we enjoy the rights and privileges of British citizenship, so long we must, we shall, we will assume and accept all the responsibilities that appertain to that position.

"These are the sentiments with which we should approach this question. I say 'we.' What do I mean? I means Canadians of all origins, of all races, of all nationalities. I mean Canadians from the east to the west. I mean Canadians above all of the province of Quebec, who claim the honour of being descended from a race which has always stood foremost in chivalry, in honour, and in ideality."

CANADA'S FISHERIES.

(London Advertiser.)

Canada can boast of the most extensive fisheries in the world. The waters of no other country contain the principal commercial food fishes in so great abundance. The value of last year's catch by Canadian fishermen in Canadian waters, according to the annual report of the department at Ottawa, just issued, amounted to $25,451,065. It is slightly below that of the two previous years.

The value of the catch is not the only evidence of the importance of the industry. The Canadian fishing fleet last year numbered 1,114 vessels, with 39,965 boats, giving employment to 71,000 men. The proportion of inshore to deep-sea fishermen in eight to one. In the canneries and fish houses on shore there were employed 13,753 persons, and the value of the vessels, boats and equipment engaged in the fishing industry aggregates nearly $9,000,000..

Nova Scotia leads the provinces in the value of the catch, its total being a little over $8,000,000. British Columbia comes second, with $6,500,000; New Brunswick third, with $4,750,000; Ontario fourth, with a little more than $2,000,000; Quebec fifth, with $1,380,000, and Prince Edward sixth, with $1,378,000. The relative value of the principal commercial fish was salmon $4,814,250; lobsters $4,200,279,-cod, $3,881,409; herring, $2,471,963; mackerel, $1,326,810; halibut, $1,045-316; whitefish, $819,626. About 16,000 miles of nets were used by Canadian fishermen, valued at $3,500,000, and the total capital invested in the industry is placed at $15,500,000. Fisheries protection and salaraies cost the Government last year nearly a million dollars, and the revenue from fines and license fee totalled $82,715.

The policy inaugurated last year of stimulating the transportation of fresh fish from the Maritime Provinces to Montreal and Ontario cities, the report says, has been attended with success, and examination of the customs returns seems to demonstrate beyond doubt that importations from the United States, are being replaced by Canadian fish. In 1906 Ontario and Quebec imported 1,988,572 pounds of fresh sea fish; last year the importations fell to 1,180,-543 pounds. The belief is expressed that with present transportation facilities it should be possible to obtain fresh fish in abso

SOMETHING CHEERING.

(Toronto Saturday Night.)

There is something cheering in the news that Canada is not to be stampeded by the recent actions of the United States Congress regarding tariff matters. The Hon. Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways, in a speech at Strathroy the other night, stated that Canada would proceed in a dignified manner, finding new markets and so legislating that the results will be in the interests of Canada regardless of the United States.

This is, as a matter of fact, the only attitude at all possible with the United States. The American is a keen business man. He is also self-reliant. He believes thoroughly in the homely proverb which says something about the Lord helping those who help themselves, and at the same time the American's business tenacity abiltiy and fixity of purpose are such that he has every respect for the other fellow, when it happens, as in this case, that the other fellow has the best of the situation.

Canadians should always remember that they are excellent customers of the United States; that they are in proportion to numbers the best market that the United States now has; and that they buy from them about twice as much as they sell to them. The United States Government may enact tariff legislation against a good many countries but when it comes to enforcing such legislation against a country which happens to be its second to best world market it's quite another matter.

A fawning attitude never has gained individual or nation any great amount of respect and consideration and least of all the respect and esteem of a people whose forefathers like our own, cut their first homes out of forest wastes and dug their first furrows with rifles on their shoulders.

BOARD ENDORSES WATER CONSERVATION

Mr. J. H. Larmonth.

Mr. Larmonth endorsed all that had been said. He was glad that Mr. McClellan received credit for the work. "We have never had as much satisfaction at the power house as we have had during the past year and this has been due to the even flow of water in the river." The conservation of the water has meant an additional 1000 h.p. at night during the past year. The dams of course resulted in the conserving of the water, but they must be handled right to bring about the best results. According to his estimate the flow of the river should average 6000 h.p., just double that which is being obtained now. With the conservation scheme worked out to completion Peterborough would not be in need of power very long.

The concluding discussion of the meeting was in regard to the most effective means by which the Board's views could be conveyed to the Government. Mr. Daniel O'Connell suggested the preparation of complete data be obtained as regards the work already done with the object of conserving the waters of the Trent Canal system, the expenditure already made, the expenditure still required, etc., and that this be presented by a proper representation of a committee from the Board. He moved that a committee be formed and the matter be given immediate attention. Mr. McClellan said that Mr. Butler had been pursuing the policy of conservation during the past five years and he considered that an endorsation of this policy was all that was required, and that its continuance be asked for.

Mr. O'Connell wished to go further than that. "We should show our appreciation of what has been done, but we should go further. The question of water power is of great importance to Peterborough and we consider it so important that we wish them to continue the policy of conservation and ask that they be more generous in future. Ald. Duffus seconded the motion strongly, endorsing Mr. O"Connell's idea.

Mr. Patterson stated that there would be a loud cry from other power centres, if it were emphasized that Peterborough wanted the conservation of the water for power purposes.

Mr. O'Connell's motion was changed a little, eliminating the section regarding a representation to the government, but the following committee was appointed to collect data to be presented to the Minister, Hon. Geo. P. Graham in reference to the Trent Canal—Messrs. D. O'Connell, chairman, D. Hughes-Charles, R. W. Travers, J. H. Larmonth and Mr. W. H Moore, with power to add to their numbers

Motion of Appreciation.

The following motion was unanimously passed:

Moved by J. H. Larmonth, seconded by W. H. Denham,

That the members of the Board of Trade of the City of Peterborough, desire to place on record their sincere appreciation of the manner in which the water in the Trent Canal, above Peterborough, has been regulated and conserved under the direction of the capable Deputy Minister and Chief Engineer, Mr. M. J. Butler, C.E., affording as it has, a regular flow at all times during the year, thereby enabling the various companies to supply electrical energy to the manufacturers in such a satisfactory manner as to enable them to operate their factories and mills without interruption for want of power.

We also approve of the policy of the Department in building new dams and renewing old dams on the Gull River, Burnt River, Mississauga Creek, and other tributary waters recently taken over from the Ontario Government, by the Dominion Government, and we hope that it may be the determination of the government to continue this satisfactory policy of conserving the waters.

We wish to thank the Honourable Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Mr. Butler, for the great interest they have taken in pushing to completion th Trent Canal, and also in conserving the back waters, for the purposes of navigation, power, and the lumber interest, and also in improving and beautifying the canal, and we hope that they may be long spared to fill the honourable positions they now occupy, which we consider will not only be for the welfare of the Trent Canal and this section generally, but will be to the benefit of the whole Dominion at large.

MARVELLOUS HEALING POWERS

The most severe test to which a healing ointment is ever put is the cure of eczema. So successful has Dr. Chase's Ointment proven in the cure of torturing itching eczema that many people refer to its effects as magical and marvellous. After the first few applications it positively stops the dreadful itching and then gradually and naturally heals up the sores.

WHAT TO SELECT FOR CHRISTMAS

If you wish to buy for yourself, or your home, or your friends, something that will be a permanent pleasure, buy a picture.

Of all gifts a picture is the one that wears well. It adorns the home and it pleases the eye, and it grows into the life.

In spending money for oneself or for one's friends, it is a satisfaction to know that the investment is well made; that it is spent for something that has a use, as well as is a pleasure in itself. This is where a picture has its great charm and advantage. It adorns a house and it charms with its presence.

Some very beautiful, artistic, and meritorious pictures may be seen at Pillsworth's Picture and Art Store, 430 George street, and if you will call when you have a few minutes or better an hour or so to spare, their practical picture and art salesman will be delighted to show you their magnificent line of frames and unframed pictures and if you are not delighted with having seen so many beautiful works of art we shall feel much disappointed. There are so many beautiful things in nature and art which can only be made manifest by a picture.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Butter—Firmer; receipts 2623; creamery specials 30c to 31½c; extras, 29c to 29½c.

Cheese—Firm, unchanged; receipts 2546.

Eggs—Firm; receipts 3439. Western extra first, 33c to 35c; first, 30c to 32c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Firmer—Hogs Active and Steady at Buffalo.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Liverpool and London cables for cattle are firm, at 12½c to 13½c per lb. for live cattle, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted lower, at 10c to 10½c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—The railways reported 136 carloads of live stock at the City Market since our last report, consisting of 2186 cattle, 1090 hogs, 2257 sheep and lambs, and 66 calves.

Exporters.

The World made diligent enquiry, but failed to hear of any export cattle being sold on this market, excepting a few bulls; notwithstanding the fact that one morning paper stated that there were several loads of exceptionally fat shipping cattle offered at $5.75, and sold at $5.90. No such cattle were on sale, and no such prices were paid on this market.

Butchers.

George Rowntree bought for the Harris Abattoir Co., including the northcountry, 1200 cattle, which proved be more than two-thirds of the fat cattle exported above. Mr. Rowntree reports the following prices: Steers and heifers, $4.30 to $5.35; cows, $3.60 to $4.60; bulls, $3.30 to $4.

"It will be seen that no such price as $5.75 was paid for any picked bullock rather on either of the markets." About $5.35 was the highest price reported for any butchers' cattle, excepting one lone animal at $5.50.

Stockers and Feeders.

H. Murby reported light receipts of stockers and feeders, especially reported of good quality. Mr. Murby brought two loads, and reports prices unchanged, as follows: Best steers, 900 to 1000 lbs., at $4 to $4.25; steers, 800 to 900 lbs. each, at $3.90 to $4.05; good steers, 700 to 800 lbs. each, at $3.75 to $3.85; common stockers, $3 to $3.25.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a strong market for cows of good to choice quality. Those delivered to-day were generally of medium quality. Prices were unchanged, ranging from $35 to $55 each. Napoleon Dumas, the leading cow dealer of Montreal, was on the market.

Veal Calves.

Good veals calves are in demand and sold at high prices, especially those fed by the mother cow. John H. Wickson bought one of the latter kind at $7.25 per cwt. The prices for the general run were $5 to $6.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Some 1267 sheep and lambs sold at follows: Export ewes, $3.75 to $4.00; culls and rams, $3.75 to $3; lambs, $6.50 to $6.75. Selected lots of choice ewes and wethers sold up to $6. J. H. Wickson got 10 of the latter class at $6 per cwt. We give this latter quotation to show where the $6 price ranges in, and to show that it is no criterion to go by in selling the general run of lambs.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris quotes the market easy at these quotations: Selects fed and watered, $7.65; and $7.40 f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 16.—Cattle—Firm; prime steers, $6.75 to $7.

Veals—Receipts 50 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts 2000 head; fairly active; steady on heavy, 10c higher on light; heavy, $6.20 to $6.25; mixed, $6.25 to $6.30; yorkers, $7.20 to $6.30; pigs, $5 to $7.20; roughs, $7.25 to $7.40; dairies, $6 to $6.15.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 4000 head; active; sheep steady; lambs 5c higher; lambs, $5.25 to $7.20.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Beeves—Receipts 238; none for sale; feeling steady. Exports to-morrow 2620 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts 197; steady; prime veals sold at $9.75; grassers and western calves, nominal.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 1650; sheep steady; lambs steady to strong. Sheep, yearlings, $5 to $6.50.

$7.75 to $8.40; yearlings $6.25; lambs, $7 to $7.60; culls, $5.

Hogs—Receipts 3058; none for sale; nominally steady at $6 to $6.25.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Cattle—Receipts 7000; market steady; steers, $5.60 to $8.30; cows, $2.60 to $4.75; heifers, $3 to $6; bulls, $3 to $4.75; calves, $5 to $8.25; stockers and feeders, $3.75 to $5.25.

Hogs—Receipts 24,000; market 10c to 15c lower; choice heavy, $6.10 to $6.17½; butchers, $6.05 to $6.15; light mixed, $6.25 to $7.00; choice light, $7.00 to $7; packing, $5 to $6.10; pigs, $5 to $7.40; bulk of sales, $7.00 to $6.10.

Sheep—Receipts 10,000; market steady; sheep, $4.25 to $5.60; lambs, $6.60 to $7.60.

Pope's Episcopal Jubilee.

Rome, Nov. 17.—The episcopal jubilee of Pope Pius X. occurred yesterday. Many messages of congratulation and well-wishes reached the Vatican. The pope desired to spend the day quietly.

The rumor is persistent that Monsignor Falconio, apostolic delegate at Washington, will be created a cardinal.

Accidental Death.

Brantford Nov, 17.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Mark Boudler, killed by a falling semibestack at the malleable iron works, returned a verdict of accidental death.

Wilcox's Majority is 66.

Windsor, Nov. 17.—A. P. E. Panet, returning officer, opened ballot boxes yesterday afternoon and found Oliver Wilcox elected by 66 majority.

Says It Was Fake Pistol.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—"A single and a married woman can play hell with a married man." Thus did T. C. Robinette, K.C., plead for W. Robertson, who was charged in yesterday morning's Police Court with pointing a revolver and threatening to kill Miss F. A. Warnica. He declared that it was only a fake pistol that had been used, and produced a massage instrument as the one used. Robertson was fined $10 and costs.

Troops Called to Cherry.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 17.—Troops were called for yesterday to prevent any untoward demonstration at the St. Paul coal mine, when the bodies of the three hundred men entombed by last Saturday's disaster, are brought to the surface. Fire is still raging in the mine.

Canadian Northern Earnings.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The gross earnings of the Canadian Northern Railway for the week ending Nov. 14, were $369,900, compared with $364,500 for the corresponding period last year. From July 1 to date the earnings were $4,821,700, an increase of $750,000 over the same period last year.

A REAL LID.

American Writer Describes Visit to Toronto on a Sunday.

The following story of "Hugh Allen" is being published as syndicate matter in a number of United States newspapers:

Did you ever spend Sunday in Toronto?

If you haven't, don't.

Take my tip on it, and don't.

You can get to Buffalo between 9 o'clock and noon, and it's a good idea to do it. Buffalo isn't the best town in the world, but—

Well, Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" is like 42nd and Broadway in comparison to Toronto on Sunday.

I spent two days in Montreal and one Sunday in Toronto. There's a startling difference. Like—well, say, like between day and night.

Montreal is a wide open town. You can laugh and smoke and talk French and sing and drink Scotch whisky at mahogany bars and get into a limit game most any hour of the day or night, seven days a week, there.

But, Toronto—

Well, I came into the town early in the morning — Sunday morning. There's a hotel alongside the depot, but I figure I'l go farther uptown and see a little of the city on the way.

I take a car and ride for blocks through the business section of the city. Everything is closed up. Tight-en'n the proverbial dram.

Banks are closed, of course, and wholesale groceries — you'd expect that. But so are restaurants and drug stores and news stands and souvenir postal card emporiums—everything.

"Restaurants?". the conductor echoes. "Well, if you get off at the second block ahead, and walk four blocks to the right, and round the corner to the north a little way, there's a place that's usually open."

I express a small part of the astonishment.

"Why, you're lucky to be riding on the cars; you couldn't used to."

I make my way back to the hotel by the depot. After breakfast, I look for a newspaper and some cigars. They size me up like a secret service man does a visitor to the President. Then they look cautiously around. The coast seems clear. They whisper for details and cautiously sneak cigars and papers across to me.

"We're not supposed to do this," the man says in a stage whisper. "Not supposed to sell stamps, even, on Sunday. They round up about 15 or 20 places every Sunday for selling papers and things."

"What's the chances for buying a drink?" I hasard, my curiosity aroused.

"No chance," he said.

"But what if a snake bites me?"

"Well, you might engage a room at the hotel and try to fix it up with the bell boy."

"But at Montreal—"

My informant is English. "Oh, that's a French town," he observes. "there's all kinds of graft in that town. They've got some of their councilmen up now before the royal commission for paving graft. Toronto is clean."

Yes, Toronto is clean, all right. Nice, pretty streets and parks. Good government and all that. And Montreal's streets look like a big green cheese after the rats have been in it.

But if I lived in Toronto and had to stay home Sundays, I'd be tempted some day to go up in my room, draw all the blinds down, close the ventilator, bribe everybody to secrecy, and try to smoke a cigarette.

Navy Chaplain In Canada.

Rev. Paul Bull, C.E., R.N., better known as Father Bull, chaplain general to the royal navy, who was in Toronto recently on his way to the Brotherhood of St. Andrew convention at Providence, R.I., is a picturesque personality and has had a stirring career. In 1897 he went to India to minister to the troops there. For four years he was chaplain of a camp of 2,500 boys, and is a natural expert and enthusiast on boys' work. For two years he was chaplain to the forces at Aldershot and to the Guards in London. During the Boer war he was chaplain to Gen. French's cavalry division, and has been through twenty-five battles.

His address at St. Luke's Church, Toronto, was sane, sensible, with flashes of wit, and at times epigrammatic.

He has no use for boy preachers, "who come to us sometimes in England from America to our intense disgust. If you encourage a boy," he said, "to preach to other boys or to his elders, what you do is to imperil his modesty, make him a mass of conceit and perhaps of hypocrisy. If you play only upon a boy's emotions you run the risk of shattering his soul. If you put a fair and reasonable idea before a boy I believe he will live up to it."

Poisonous Fish.

Poisonous fish are rare here, but common in the tropics. A Japanese fish, fugu, has deadly poisonous roe. Roe of pike and meat of sturgess are poisonous when spawning. The bile and liver of many fish are poison. But most fish poison is due to decay.

To Boom Trade.

F. C. T. O'Hara, Deputy Minister of Trade at Ottawa, has set the Department at work compiling an index of Canadian manufacturers, exporters and producers generally who desire to extend their trade abroad. A circular is being sent to the members of all Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and trade associations, asking for a detailed list of articles manufactured or produced by each.

Nothing of this kind has ever before been attempted in Canada, and it will entail great labor in the Department in indexing this information to make it readily available when required, but it is to be hoped that it can be made the basis of a permanent list which will be immediately available at all times in the advancement of foreign trade and commerce of Canada.

When the information is furnished the Department, all the Canadian trade commissioners in the various parts of the world will be notified immediately.

Cure Neuralgic Agony

No affliction is so painful, so hard to bear as Neuralgia. It may strike any organ—one nerve, or, perhaps, a whole set of nerves may be affected. Physicians who have had large experience with this malady say local applications are best.

A well-tried treatment consists of rubbing the affected parts thoroughly with Nerviline. The rubbing should be continued until the skin shows a warm healthy glow. This invariably relieves the pain.

Protection against relapse is best secured by wearing a Nerviline Porous Plaster over the weak spot. No greater healer than a Nerviline Plaster is known. —it draws out congestion, absorbs deleterious secretions through relaxed pores, acts as a sure preventive against muscular aches, rheumatism, sciatica, stiffness, lumbago, and neuralgia.

Remember this: Nerviline treatment has for nearly fifty years been curing chronic cases—it will cure you, too—give it the chance. 25c Bottles of Nerviline and Nerviline Porous Plaster 25c each. Sold all dealers.

The Englishman.

Just as there is no being more disliked in his own country than the Oxford man who displays what is (most unfairly) described as the Oxford manner, so there is nobody who does more harm to our good name abroad than the Englishman who carries his insular conceit all over the continent—his evident belief that the people, the country and the institutions under his condescending review are obviously and painfully inferior to those he has left behind him. That is the sort of optimism which has to be knocked out of a man before he becomes a tolerable citizen of the world.—London Outlook.

CAT TRIES TO HATCH EGGS

Shelbyville, Ind.—A rooster, owned by Mrs. John Leech, drove a sitting hen from her nest and tried the job himself. A cat ousted the rooster and is now taking the hen's place on the eggs.

Substitution, however, is dangerous where our health is concerned. There can be no excuse for a dealer offering something which is said to be "just as good" when "Fruit-a-tives" are asked for.

"Fruit-a-tives" have proved their great value in all cases of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness, and in troubles arising from disorders of the Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and skin.

They are the only remedy made of ripe fruit juices, and they tone up Liver and Kidneys, and regulate the Bowels, often more effectively than fruit itself. Thousands swear by them.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c.—At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

WEDDING BELLS

CAMERON—CONNAL.

The marriage of Miss Elisabeth Henderson Connal, only daughter of Mr. Peter Connal, and Mr. Wm. George Cameron, of New York City, was solemnized this afternoon at half-past two at the residence of the bride's father, 270 Brock street, Rev. Robert Potts, pastor of St. Paul's church, officiating.

The ceremony took place in the beautifully decorated drawing room in the presence of only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Gladys Cameron, and preceded by two little flower girls, the bride leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away, entered, and took her place beside the groom. The bride looked very charming in a gown of white liberty satin, with trimmings of bebe Irish lace, and wearing the conventional bridal veil. She carried a sheath bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The little flower girls, Margaret and Janet Connal, nieces of the bride, looked winsome in dresses of white and carrying baskets of daisies. The bride and groom were unattended.

After the ceremony, when hearty congratulations had been bestowed on the young couple the guests sat down to a dainty luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron left on the 4:38 train en route for New York city, Mrs. Cameron travelling in a suit of walnut lady's cloth, with an amethyst draped toque.

POST CARD COLUMN

Toronto, Nov. 13, 1909.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—A New Orleans despatch in your issue of the 9th contains the statement that J. C. Wilson, of that place threw himself in front of a street car, and allowed himself to be run over in order to prove his faith in Christian Science.

If such an event occurred, it not only proves Wilson lacking in common sense, but in any true understanding of Christian Science teachings.

Christian Scientists everywhere repudiate entirely any such reckless and foolhardy action.

Yours sincerely,
C. B. MUNRO.

"ALL CHARLEY'S FAULT" COMEDY DELIGHTED LARGE AUDIENCE

Was Presented by Talented Young People at St. Peter's Hall Last Evening—A Highly Pleasing and Entertaining Performance.

BE REPEATED TO-NIGHT

"All Charley's Fault," a farce comedy in two acts, delighted a large audience at St. Peter's hall last evening. It was presented by a number of talented young people who did credit to themselves in the excellent manner in which they enacted their roles. The audience was kept in one continuous laugh, the mirth making piece being full of ludicrous situations ,and those taking part did not fail to make the most of their lines, resulting in a bright and altogether pleasing performance.

The Play.

The story centres around a young man of wealthy parentage who in order that he might spend his nights in dissipation, informs his father that he is studying music under a leading New York professor. The father who is ambitious to attain high social position, has his son invite the professor to his home and announces it in the social column of the newspapers that the great celebrity is to be his guest. In the meantime a telegraph messenger boy and the son's friend disguises himself as the professor and comes to the house. The real professor also arrives on the scene and a great complication of affairs ensues. However, the tangle is finally unravelled by "Charley" the young son, making a clean breast of everything. The scenes are laid in a beautifully furnished New York home and the play occupies a period of one day.

The Cast.

Mr. James O'Brien in the part of "Charley," gave a splendid delineation of the role, and Messrs. Herb. Callaghan as Harry Dodsworth, Charley's friend, and Egbert Kelly, as a messenger boy, afterwards disguised as professors, provided the greater part of the fun. Their laugh provoking "mix-ups" were greeted with enthusiastic applause. Mr. Stanley Lewis and Miss Currie White as servants, were also responsible for a good deal of the comedy. The other participants gave an excellent interpretation of their roles. The cast was as follows:

General Blake, a retired merchant, ...James J. Doris Charley, his son ....James O'Brien
Harry Dodsworth, his friend .....Herb. Callaghan
Professor Krieger, a professor of music .....Leo. Derocher
No. 1999, W.U.T. Co., a messenger boy .....Egbert Kelly
Chips, a coloured waiter.....Stanley Lewis
Miss Margaret Blake, Miss Eleanor Blake, General's daughters, Miss Derocher, Miss G. Clancy.
Kitty, in the General's employ .....Miss Carrie White

Special Features.

Before the curtain went up, twelve members of the conservatory orchestra under the direction of Mr. Rupert Gliddon, rendered two selections, "Farewell of the Gladiators," and the "Glowworm," most acceptably.

During the acts Miss Lavina Hallihan sang very sweetly "Heart of My Heart." This number was greeted with persistent applause and she graciously responded with an encore. Mr. Harry Quinlan was also heard to advantage in an excellent rendition of "The Deep Blue Sea." His encore number was "Tipperary."

The comedy will be repeated this evening and should be greeted with a crowded hall.

RULES OF TREATMENT OF STREET CAR CONDUCTORS

Always stand a few hundred yards from the car, taking care not to signal until the car has pased. The motormen are skilled mind readers.

On entering the car place your hand bag or lunch box on the right, your overcoat on the left, your hat opposite open your paper and seat yourself at an angle of forty-five degrees; cross your legs, taking care that they reach the centre of the car at least, nd do not budge. The other passengers will manage to squeese on top of each other somehow.

If your shoes are soiled, wipe them on the conductor's pants. He hates to be respectably clad. If you are a lady don't forget to prod him in the ribs with the point of your umbrella; the poor man is armour-plated, and no feeling—in fact, he likes it.

Any bad coins you may possess, pass them on to the conductor when he is busy; he does not mind having the supposed value stopped from his large salary at the end of the month.

Always have your fare to seek when the conductor reaches you; yours is the only fare to collect.

Should the car, for some reason, carry you a block too far, take the conductor's number and report him at once. It is unpardonable.

Smokers on the back platform should always block the entrance. It makes excitement for ladies and others while geting on and off the car.

"End-seaters" should under no circumstances be expected to move over only on rainy days. They have paid their fare.

Never thank the conductor for any courtesy shown you. He is not human and might look upon you as a "joke."

Never ask the conductor for a transfer when you are paying your fare; wait until he has been through the car a few times. He knows you, when and where you "paid up," and exactly to where you want to transfer.

Always remember that you are a ratepayer and that the conductors and motormen are only householders and slaves—your enemies.

If you give your seat to a lady don't collapse if she says "Thank you."

Always "knock" your own local service in the presence of strangers. It makes you solid with them, and by all means don't forget to roast the general manager. It will surely improve the service.

STOMACH AGONY

Abolish the Cause, and Misery and Distress of Indigestion Will Vanish.

Can indigestion be cured? Hundreds of thousands of people who suffer from belching of gas; biliousness, sour stomach, fulness, nausea, shortness of breath, bad taste in mouth, foul breath, nervousness, and other distressing symptoms, are asking themselves that question daily.

And if these same doubting dyspeptics could only read the thousands of sincere letters from people who once suffered as badly as they do now but who have been quickly and permanently cured by the use of Mi-o-na, the mighty dyspepsia remedy that cures by removing the cause, they would go to Wm. Madill's this very day and get a large box of Mi-o-na tablets, and start themselves on the right road to health at once.

The price of Mi-o-na tablets is only 50 cents, and Wm. Madill guarantees them to cure indigestion or money back.

Thin or lean or scrawney people will find Mi-o-na a maker of flesh and blood, because it causes the stomach to extract more nutritious matter from the food, which quickly enriches the blood.

BE CAREFUL IN THE SELECTION OF YOUR WALL DECORATIONS

HOME FURNISHINGS THAT BLEND WITH OUR PAPERS

Great care should be taken in the selection of your wall decorations. If your room is already furnished you should decorate the walls to blend with the surroundings, both in point of colour and pattern.

If your room is not furnished, the difficulty of selection is lessened to a minimum, because we have selected our stock of Rugs, Carpets and Draperies to harmonize perfectly with our papers, and vice versa. This is a point worthy of your consideration.

We have just received some very natty lines of "cut-out" borders, Tokhos, pressed papers, upper and lower thirds and crown effects.

Thirty Lawyers In Suit To Recover A Million Dollars

Mrs. Elizabeth Noble's Devotion to Cats and Dogs The Basis of Relatives' Contest—Was 94 When She Died—Individuals Got Small Share In Will.

THE DIVISION OF MONEY

Taunton, Mass., Nov. 17.—Her remarkable devotion to dogs and cats is the chief feature on which the contesting relatives of Mrs. Elizabeth Noble, of Mansfield, this State, are seeking to-day to break the will of the millionaire widow of ninety-four who left a large share of her fortune to an anti-cruelty society.

Along this line it is claimed that one of her dogs sadly afflicted with mange was treated regularly to a bath in the only tub the house afforded, by Mrs. Noble.

As the trial progresses it is promised that numerous other incidents of this sort will be related to prove that Mrs. Noble was mentally unsound when she made the will which disposed of over a million dollars.

Clarence J. Shearn, the New York attorney, who represents Mrs. Elizabeth M. Johnson, of New York City, one of the contesting relatives, in cross examining Charles C. Haggerty, a Taunton lawyer, who was named by Mrs. Noble to act with R. R. Moore, president of the New Amsterdam Bank of New York, as executor, sought to learn the condition under which the will was drafted.

Mr. Shearn developed that several yellow sheets attached to the will when it was filed, telling how Mrs. Noble desired to have her personal belongings disposed of, were given to him by a Mrs. Morse, a relative, several months after they had been written and signed.

Mr. Haggerty explained that although the sheets were in Mrs. Morse's handwriting, he had such confidence in her that he placed the documents in his safe and later attached them to the original will, which was held by him for safe keeping. Mr. Haggerty denied that he had told Fred Stoddard, of Taunton, that he had filled in one of the dates, March 24, 1906, subsequently so as to avoid trouble for the heirs.

Under Mr. Shearn's questioning Mr. Haggerty told of an unsigned and undated paper in Mrs. Noble's handwriting giving a list of her household furniture which she desired to dispose of. He said it was under a flower pot in which a fern was growing on a table in the bay window. Although he had been keeping the aged woman's accounts since 1903, Haggerty said he did not know how much Mrs. Noble was worth until after her death.

Mrs. Noble was ninety-four at the time of her death. She was eighty-three when she made the will which gives $890,000 to five charitable institutions and $350,000 to relatives. That she was of unsound mind when she made her will and the two codicils she added to it is the contention of the relatives and heirs, who are represented by twenty lawyers.

Charles C. Haggerty and Robert R. Moore, executors of the will and estate, with the five charitable and benevolent institutions, recipients of Mrs. Noble's favour, are represented by ten attorneys who are defending the instrument.

The institutions to benefit, should the will be upheld, are the New York Society for Improving the Condition of the Poor, the Children's Aid Society of New York, the New York Ladies' Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the American Humane Education Society of Boston, and the State Association of Young Men's Christian Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

ENDS INDIGESTION IN A FEW MOMENTS

Gas, Heartburn, Headache and All Misery in Stomach Vanishes.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Eat what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of Indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, belching, Gas on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no Indigestion or Sleepless nights or Headache or Stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapepsin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on the Stomach or sour odours from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.

WEDDING BELLS

GREENLEESE—HALL.

A pretty, late autumn wedding was celebrated in St. Paul's church this morning when Miss Helen Mary Hall daughter of Mr. James A. Hall, sheriff of the County of Peterborough, was united in the sacred bonds of matrimony to Mr. Fuller Baird Greenleese, son of Mr. George W. Greenleese, of Montreal. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robt. Pogue. The wedding was a very quiet one and was witnessed only by the bride's immediate relatives. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bride entered the church with her father, who gave her away. She looked quite charming in her travelling suit of amethyst and wearing a hat of amethyst marabou The bride and groom were unattended. During the service Miss Helen Davies sang, "O Fair! O, Sweet! O, Holy." Mr. John Crane played the organ accompaniment. The bride's flowers were mauve chysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Greenleese left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train for a trip through Quebec and returning will reside in Montreal.

MINT MAKING CENTS AT LAST

Small Coin Is Turned Out of San Francisco Mint For The First Time Since Its Beginning

IS NOT IN FAVOUR

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—The coining of over a million pennies at the local mint in 1908 made a new record in the history of the United States mint and its branches, for never before since the coinage of pieces of this denomination was begun in 1793 had such coins been struck anywhere but at the parent establishment at Philadelphia. There was no need for the making of coins of this denomination in the West until within recent years, as the demand for cent pieces was confined almost exclusively to the Atlantic and Middle Western states. In the West and Southwest this monor-coin had no purchasing value, was not recognized and was seldom seen in circulation. Indeed, even at the present time there are many Western localities in which cent pieces are not accepted.

In Colorado, for example, if a person tenders a five-cent piece to a postmaster for two two-cent stamps, he receives in exchange together with his stamps, not a one-cent piece, but a one-cent postage stamp. There are no cent pieces in the money drawer of the postmaster, and he doesn't desire any. In a Denver store a certain commodity is quoted at, say, 17 cents a pound. The purchaser must take either 15 cents' or 20 cents' worth Nothing less than five cents' worth is sold. Apples may be worth four cents or five cents, but one apple is also five cents just the same. Now, the people of the Centennial State are going to have a chance to become acquainted with the little bronze cent, for it is the intention of the government to strike cent pieces at the new Denver mint this year.

California has had as little use for the cent piece as other parts of the West. For many years no coin of less denomination than ten cents had a purchasing value there, and in the gold days nothing less than twenty-five cents would buy anything, miners frequently throwing a handful of small silver pieces out into the street as useless weight to carry, the "two-bits," or quarter, being the minimum.

Coast People Quickest.

Times have changed, and the people along the Pacivc coast have been quicker to adopt the cent than those in the Rocky Mountain district. Now the coin is used in such quantities that it has been found necessary to manufacture cents on the ground, and thus savp the expense of shipment across the continent from Philadelphia. For the calendar year of 1908 the United States mint report shows that $11,180 worth of cents were struck off at the San Francisco mint, and $323,270.87 worth at Philadelphia. Following the custom of placing a distinguishing mark upon the coins struck at the different mints, the new cent pieces made at the San Francisco and Denver mints will respectively bear the mint letters S and D. The cent piece is the most profitable coin Uncle Sam turns out at his mints, the profit on the manufacture being estimated at something like 85 cents on the dollar when the coins do not return for redemption. The number of these coins that do come back for redemption is infinitesimal in comparison with the millions coined every year. The coining presses of the Philadelphia mint are always making cent pieces, The coinage of gold and silver pieces may stop temporarily, but the manufacture of cents seems to go on forever.

SCIENCE IN THE CRIMINAL LAWS

Punish Offenders According to Physical and Mental Classes—Views of Mr. W. P. Archibald of Kingston—Different Treatment.

Kingston, Nov. 17.—In an interview Mr. W. P. Archibald, the Dominion parole officer, said:

"The habitual and the professional criminal represents a degree rather than kind. The former is inferior to the latter mentally, in culture, and in knowledge of social forms, and he usually follows some trade or calling to mask his criminality. The latter takes up criminality as a business. To him it is a profession or a fine art, and he is susceptible to divisions and specialties. He is a student of the ways of the world and of men, generally polished in manners, and I have often found him even aesthetic in tastes.

The instinctive criminal, or, as Lombroso prefers to call him, the born or congenital criminal, is truly a social parasite. It is not always possible to estimate, the congenial element, but the conclusion is irresistible, that he is originally morbid. His pathology may not be microscopic, and the degeneration which consigned him to a low plain of humanity, if revealed at all, will only be revealed under the searching eyes of the microscope. Generally, the sensual impulse and those centring about him are hyper-developed. For the gratification of his exaggerated impulses he will proceed to any extreme, and life and property separating him from the accomplishment of his desires are but barriers to be overcome.

The Accidental Criminal.

"The occasional or accidental criminal is largely a negative creature, who yields himself to temptation. The stimulus of opportunity generally exceeds his resistive force or power. Save for this great weakness he would pass muster as an unusual personage. He is neither a victim of self-exaltation nor exaggerated instincts. Physical necessities may be operative in the production of this type of criminal, and the common jail, by the facilities it offers through direct contact and association with thieves and criminals of a recidivist type, is always ready to give this class of criminals instruction in the theory of criminality, and often succeeds in transforming the occasional into the habitual criminal.

"The victim or subject of an uncontrolled passion is another dangerous type of criminality. Smarting under som real or fancied injury he will seek to assume the office of the avenger, and visits with violence the doer of the wrong to himself or his friend. He cannot be said to possess from nature criminal instincts, but under the stimulus of anger his power of self-control is gone and resistance is overcome.

The Criminal Insane.

"Not concluded in the above classification are the criminal insane. Kingston Pentitentiary has a ward devoted exclusively to this dangerous class, and when prisoners in the other pentitentiaries give evidence of this type of insanity they are transferred to this institution for treatment. The delusions and hallucinations, that to him are realities stern and resistless, may impel him to the commission of crime, or he may be in a state of alienation and considered harmless until, as the result of a concealed and unsuspected delusion, his resistive forces yield before the fancies and impulses of his morbid mind, and he lays violent hands on those about him, often committing the most revolting of crimes, proving disastrous to a whole community. Criminals of this class should be cared for before they develop the dangerous symptoms which precede all such crimes of this character. For obvious reasons the insane criminal occupies a place peculiarly his own, and he should be described by the alienist rather than the criminologist.

HASTINGS NEWS OF LATEST DATE

Examiner Special.

Hastings, Nov. 15.—Ideal Indian Summer is paying us a welcome visit and one is reminded of the words of the poet, "Winter's herald greets us are the ice crowned giant meets us."

Mr. Dave Cook with his helpers has just completed an engine stand on the south side of the river which was much needed as the engine could not otherwise do its proper work. The job was well done and is giving entire satisfaction.

Dr. Wade has returned from his home where he has been resting in the hope of recuperating his strength after his recent illness. The doctor is much improved, having almost entirely regained his health.

On Thursday evening a number of the ladies of the Presbyterian Church met in the school room of the church to tender a farewell to the Misses Tucker who are moving to London Ont. After a short time spent in social intercourse an address was read and the presentation of a handsome set of china made. The Misses Tucker replied in suitable terms thanking the ladies for their kindness and expressing regrets at having to part from them. They will be much missed having been energetic in the different departments of Church work.

Messrs. A. Anderson and J. Fitzgerald have returned after having spent six weeks in company with some others picking apples.

Once more we are called upon to chronicle the demise of one of our oldest citizens in the person of Mr John Dodd, who has been a resident of Hastings for over thirty years. He was in his 71st year and had been complaining for the past year or more. He leaves to mourn his loss besides his widow, four sons and two daughters. Interment took place on Wednesday in the Trent Valley Cemetery.

A very painful accident happened to Miss Grace Logan, daughter of Mr James Logan on Saturday last. In attempting to lift a pail of hot water which was set on a high bench she unfortunately spilled the contents over her face and neck. Although suffering extreme pain nothing serious is anticipated.

Miss Maude Beavis of Lakefield visited at the home of her uncle, Mr Nelson Beavis on Thursday last.

An accident, which might easily have resulted more seriously occurred to Miss Warner, daughter of Mr. Russel Warner one day last week. While driving out from Hastings, the horse took fright at a traction engine, and became unmanageable. She and her sister who accompanied her were thrown out of the rig but escaped without serious injuries.

Messrs. Gibson and Huycke have become installed in the jewellery business lately purchased from Mr. J. H McClelland. Mr. McClelland remains with the new firm until the close of the present year

Mr. Thos. Lynch has purchased the butcher business of Mr. George Barrie and takes possession at once. Mr Barrie is leaving town to engage in farming operations in Asphodel

Some of the hunters have returned and report a fair degree of success.

Miss Marchand of Havelock has been in town visiting friends.

The re-opening of the Methodist Church took place on Sunday, Nov 14th, when the Rev. J. J. Wilson of Lindsay preached at both services. The reverend gentleman is an eloquent speaker and preached two very effective sermons. At the morning service the building was comfortably seated, while in the evening it was literally packed to the doors, numbers having to go away who could not gain admission. The choir rendered most excellent music assisted by Miss Mallory of Lindsay, Miss Free of Campbellford and Mr. Asa Huycke of Peterborough. The collections, which were liberal are in aid of the Trust Fund.

ECZEMA AND PILES CURED

Magistrate and School Commissioner Healed by Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk by its healing power has earned the praise of men and women in the highest stations of life. One of the latest prominent gentlemen to speak highly in Zam-Buk's favour is Mr. C. E. Sanford, of Weston, King's Co., N.S. Mr. Weston is a Justice of the Peace of the county, and a member of the Board of School Commissioners. He is also deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick. Indeed, throughout the country it would be difficult to find a man more widely known and more highly respected.

Some time back he had occasion to test Zam-Buk, and here is his opinion of this great balm. He says: "I had a patch of eczema on my ankle, which had been there for over twenty years! Sometimes also the disease would break out on my shoulders. I had taken solution of arsenic, had applied various ointments, and tried all sorts of things to obtain a cure, but in vain. Zam-Buk, unlike all else I tried, proved highly satisfactory, and cured the ailment.

"I have also used Zam-Buk for itching piles, and it has cured them completely also. I take comfort in helping my brother man, and if the publication of my experience of Zam-Buk will lead other sufferers to try it, I should be glad. For the cure of piles or skin diseases, I know of nothing to equal Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk also cures burns, cuts, ulcers, blood poisoning, ringworm, scalp sores, chapped hands, cold sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. Rubbed well on to the chest in cases of cold it relieves the tightness and aching. All druggists and stores sell at 50c box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 3 boxes for $1.25.

JESSIE ALEXANDER CONCERT

Speaking of Miss Jessie Alexander who appears in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Friday night in the first of a series of popular concerts, the Toronto Saturday Night says:

Since she was last heard in Toronto, she has added a few more touches to perfection, and her lighter pieces were especially excellent. Her mastery of dialect is wonderful. Altogether, Miss Alexander's recitals were treats intellectually and acoustically of rare flavour. The admission will be 25c.

FIVE STAR PITCHERS WHO HAVE HIT THE TOBOGGAN

Chesbro, Lundgren, Altrock, Tannehill and Hughes are Sinking into Oblivion--Season of 1909 Marked Them Passing.

Every baseball season sees the decline of some great ones of the diamond. This season has been noteworthy because of the number of once great pitchers who have been stamped as passed in the fast game.

Jack Chesbro, Carl Lundgren, Nick Altrock, Jesse Tannehill and Tom Hughes, five falling stars, have flashed across the baseball sky to sink into dimness or darkness or retirement.

Greatest among them is Chesbro. He reached the zenith of his fame in 1904, when he pitched the New York Americans to within one game of the pennant. He really pitched the pennant away, as well, because it was a wild pitch that gave Boston the deciding game. In that season Jack, the mainstay of the club, pitched 53 games, and won 41 of them.

Chesbro's Great Record.

That year he established the record of consecutive games won for pitchers in the American League, with a string of 14. Ed. Reulbach has just escaped passing it in the National organization, the Giants clipping his wings after 14 wins. Early in the season Ed. worked like one of the backsliders.

Chesbro was born in 1874 in North Adams, Mass. He joined the Springfield Club of the Eastern League in 1895, and in 1896 he went with the Roanoke, Va., team. Richmond got him the next year, and the following year the Pittsburgs fought him. He was the leading pitcher of the National League while with the Pirates in 1902, and the Pirate fans idolized him.

He joined the Yankees in 1903 and the next year he made himself the most talked-of pitcher in the country with the great work touched on in the foregoing.

Jack is well fixed financially, and if no big league club wants his services — and none of them are at all likely to take a chance on him—he will retire. He has a fine farm in Massachusetts, and will spend the rest of his days as a country gentleman, with a wealth of stirring memories.

Lundgren of Toronto.

Carl Lundgren was one of the stars of the champion Cubs. He attracted attention by his pitching in 1904, and his work in 1906, when the Chicagos wrested the championship from New York, was of the stellar order. In 1904 Lundgren won 17 games and lost 9, and in 1906 he captured the same number and lost but 6.

He had fallen behind the Cub speed this spring, and Frank Chance sent him to Toronto. He couldn't show there, and he dropped out. He is now pitching independent ball in and around Chicago. Lundgren was a college star. He created a furore by his work for the University of Illinois, which he entered in 1898, with Jake Stahl at the other end of the battery. He signed with the Cubs in 1902.

Tannehill is Independent.

Tannehill broke into fast company in 1895, with the Richmond Club. The first week he was there he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Roanoke. Pittsburg got him in 1896 and he was with the Pirates until 1903. The Yankees got him that year, and in 1904 they traded him to Boston for Tom Hughes.

He gave Griffith cause to lament the swap, for it was largely by his great work that Boston got its second pennant. In that year Tannehill won 21 games, lost 11 and tied 1.

Washington let Tannehill out several weeks ago. He was tagged for the American Association, but he refused to go down the league ladder. He has announced that he will pitch independent ball. His bank roll is not strained, and he can worry along without swinging his salary arm. He is 34 years old.

Tom Hughes Has Hopes.

The great year of Tom Hughes just shipped to the American Association fold by Cantillon, was when he pitched the Boston Americans in line for their first pennant in 1903. He was a terror for the American batsmen that season, landing 21 ont of 28 games. Next year he went back, and the Yankees took a chance on him. They traded him to Washington the same season for Al Orth.

Hughes is 36 years old. He started as a pitcher with the Omaha club in 1900. The Chicago Nationals speared him that fall, and he was with them until 1902, when Baltimore secured him. Boston got him the same year. He has a few years of first-class minor league ball left yet, and he has a hope of making the majors anxious to call him back next season.

Altrock Another Leaf.

Nick Altrock was shipped by Cantillon to Minneapolis last month. He was in the forefront of the fight with the White Sox in 1906, when they snatched the pennant and amazed the baseball world by taking the world's championship.

Altrock is of the centennial year. He was a passenger on the stork express in '76; stopping place, Cincinati. His baseball debut was in 1898, with the Grand Rapids Club, in the Inter-State League. Two years later Syracuse, of the Eastern League, bought him. In 1901 he was with Toronto and Los Angeles. The Milwaukee club got him in 1902, and Boston bought him of the Brewers. Collins let him go and Charley Comiskey, having a valuable bunch, bought him in 1903.

In 1906 Altrock pitched in 34 games He won 20 of them and tied one. Altrock is not all in, but his work will shine better in the American Association than in the big show.

The Eccentric "Rube."

The Athletics almost contributed a down-and-outer to the list of dropping stars. Rube Waddell, turned over to the St. Louis Browns, was of little further use to the Athletics, and Connie Mack knew it. He has given signs of going to pieces a big leogue pitcher ever since he started in for the Browns, and next season will probably find him sliding down the scale.

Rube, in his prime, was a great strike-out pitcher, although he never beat the mark set by Charles Sweeney, of Providence, 1884. Sweeney fanned 17. He did, however, set the existing record for the total strike-outs for a season in 1903. He fanned 301 batsmen that year.

KEENE CLUB IS IN LINE

They Elected Officers at an Enthusiastic Annual Meeting Last Night.

Vice-President—J. R. McIntyre.
Secretary-Treasurer—W. E. Gillott.
Manager—Dr. V. H. McWilliams.
Executive—Jos. Dickson, V. McCarthy, W. A. McIntyre.

It was also decided to enter a team in the Peterborough City Hockey League and Dr V. H. McWilliams and R V McDougall were appointed delegates to attend the annual meeting of the league, which is being held in Peterborough Wednesday, Nov 17th.

47,183 REQUESTS

Attendance at Yale-Harvard Game Will be in Large Numbers.

Boston, Nov. 17.—More than 12,000 Harvard enthusiasts who applied for seats for the Crimson-Eli game on Saturday will be disappointed.

Expectations of a great gridiron battle brought in 31,183 Harvard applications for 35,000 seats in the stadium, and as Yale has been allotted 16,000 tickets, only 19,000 were left to satisfy the Crimson rooters.

The total number of applicants was 47,183.

Harvard's confidence in the ability of her team to defeat the Blue will be strikingly shown here to-morrow when a great crowd of enthusiasts, headed by a band of sixty pieces, will march down to the stadium to cheer the team in the last practice of the year. The gates will be opened for them for a little while.

President Lowell of Harvard Declares For Stronger Devotion to Athletics.

Boston, Nov. 17.—"More athletics as well as more scholarships should be a part of all men," declared Abbott Lawrence Lowell, Harvard's new president, at the dinner given by the Harvard Club to last year's victorious teams and crews. President Lowell said:

"Athletics and other things go together. Athletic exercises never hindered the intellectual development of the Athenians. While, as president of Harvard University, I am desirous of bringing about more scholarship, I am equally desirous of bringing about an even stronger devotion to athletics.'"

Referring to the new brooms, which were displayed as emblems of victory, Dr. Lowell said: "I believe that there is no more valuable thing that any man can acquire in life than the habit of victory, and I think it is appropriate that Yale should be habitually beaten because it habitually takes defeat in such a manly way."

ARE HARD AT WORK

Ottawas Expect to Make Much Better Showing Against the Tigers in the Play-Off on Saturday.

"WE'LL WIN," SAYS CLANCY

That the Ottawas intend to play a different style of game when they go up against the Tigers Saturday, was quite evident from the way Coach Tom Clancy worked the men out at Varsity Oval yesterday. All the players with one or two exceptions were out and although the weather was very chilly, the players worked well. It was the senior line against the Intermediate half back division and vice-versa, the practice showing that the men are rapidly regaining their old form.

When they last played the Tigers at Hamilton, Ottawa resorted to a kicking game. Punting so often against such a kicker as Ben Simpson, however, availed little, for Simpson, as a rule, booted the ball back for gains, the magnificent protection, which the schoolmaster got from the men on his own line, giving him plenty of time. Then Art Moore and "Dutch" Burton did more running than they should have been allowed to do and when Ben Simpson got tired booting, he called on Full Back George Smith to fill the breach. Ottawa backs, young and inexperienced, with one exception, wore down under the strain and before the game was half over, one could see that Ottawa had made a mistake in kicking so often.

What the Ottawa team lacked most to date, is variety of its plays. It has often been remarked that there is nothing to it but two bucks and a kick. Such football is out of date. On the other hand, Tigers have a great assortment of trick plays. Their signals work to perfection and they are always pulling off something new. That's the modern Canadian game.

At yesterday's work out a number of new trick plays were tried out. Line plunging was a feature of the practice, the wings being used oftener than ever before with the result that big gains were made. There are few better line-plungers in the country than Kilt, Phillips, Ferguson, and Sheriff, so why not use them?

A back line can't be called upon to play the whole game. Consequently, Tigers will find themselves up against a vastly improved team when they again clash with Ottawas Saturday. There will be more than two bucks and a kick to Ottawa's repertoire on this occasion.

Tom Clancy himself went into the Ottawa scrimmage yesterday, the veteran giving the younger players many valuable pointers on the game. All the men worked with a willingness and there was a noticeable improvement all round. Williams, McCann and Gerard on the back line, showed up particularly well, while Johnstone at full back caught everything that came his way without a break and booted the ball for great gains. The team looks fifty per cent. better than it did against Tigers at Hamilton.

T. A. A. C. TO HAVE STRONG LINE-UP

Crimson Will Have a Very Fast Forward Division Against Parkdale Saturday.

Saturday's game at Varsity Athletic Field ranks in the first flight of this season's important contests. Parkdale or T. A. A. C., whichever wins, will capture the senior O. R. F. U. honours, the cup emblematic of the senior championship, the Denison trophy, and the right to meet Varsity, Hamilton, or Ottawa in the Canadian final two weeks later. Both teams are of undoubted senior calibre, the unmerciful beatings administered to Peterborough's strong outfit leaving the question of just how good they are to be determined definitely in the Dominion championship game. Parkdale have strengthened up their only weak spot—their back division—while the Crimson have stiffened up their line, till now it compares favourably in weight and reputation with even that of the Hamilton Tigers. With McGiffin, Burkhart and Norris for the outside wing positions; Holden (185), Veals (195) and Mara (218) for middles: Crooks (190) and Forbes (223), for insides, Haverson (175), Robertson (178), Drummond, (200), and Maguire (183), for the scrimmage prove themselves a team of no little extra wing, with Cory (165) at quarter, the Paddlers, if they win, will prove hemselves a team of no little class.

It will be a red-hot game, and Messrs. Hendry and Griffith will have their hands full.—Toronto Globe.

RUGBY

Hamilton Spectator: On the showing of the Tiger intermediates on Saturday, Hamilton now has three teams in the running for the junior honours, and either of the two junior teams is strong enough to just about win out, and the second team, on its showing, should improve enough to hold its own, providing Kid Smith is declared eligible. The seniors should win all the way, and the chances for three Canadian championships coming to Hamilton are unusually bright. If such a thing happens, and it is quite within the range of possibility, this town would amply prove its claim as being the centre of rugby for Canada.

Anonymous letters from Hamilton have been received by some of the Ottawa players, threatening them all sorts of vengeance in the coming big play-off. Letters postmarked Dundas, Orillia, Petrolea and Toronto have also been received.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—It is no longer a secret that Bert Stronach, Ottawa's dashing outside wing, will not be able to take part in Saturday's game between Tigers and Ottawa at Rosedale. The big fellow just crawled out of bed yesterday afternoon after laying up for a whole week. One of his knees is in very bad shape, and he says himself he does not see how he can possibly play. Stronach's absence will depreciate Ottawa's chances considerably.

The team is working dead earnest to be fit for the fray at the Oval. Everybody was in line with the exception of Stronach. The backs were going particularly well, fumbling being a conspicuous absentee. A couple of new plays have been developed and worked with great success yesterday. It is probable Ottawa will work every trick in their repertoire against Tigers Saturday and not depend on the one-style game they adopted in Hamilton. Gerard and Williams will alternate in the kicking and if it happens to be a very windy day, Gerard, who is a colossal punter, will be given the ball exclusively when playing with the wind.

The man to take Stronach's place has not yet been chosen, Dick McGee played his wing against Argonauts and may fill in against Tigers.

Jimmy McQuaig, the side scrimmager, who was booked for the West last week has been induced to stay over and will be in his old position next Saturday.

Toronto, Nov. 17.— It is expected that at least ten thousand spectators will witness Saturday's big game at Toronto between the Ottawa and Hamilton teams. Hundreds of applications for tickets have already been received and thousands will likely follow, both the Ottawa and Hamilton clubs being besieged with requests for accommodation at Rosedale.

Arrangements for the big match are in the hands of Bobby Robinson, of Hamilton, who is secretary of the Interprovincial union, D. J. O'Donahoe, Secretary of the Ottawa football club, and President Thompson of the Hamilton Tigers. These football experts will meet at Toronto on Thursday evening to complete arrangements. In the meantime Bobby Robinson is working day and night so as to have everything in readiness for the Rugby battle. There are four thousand, five hundred reserved seats at the Rosedale field, then there are no less than five thousand "rush" seats in the bleachers, and in the stand in the north side of the field In addition there is standing room for three thousand more. The largest crowd ever at Rosedale attended the Toronto-Tecumseh match there in August last, when twelve thousand paid admission. It is an ideal field for such a great Rugby struggle. The gridiron will be roped off Saturday, and every arrangement will be made for handling the crowd. A squad of police from the Toronto force will be employed for the occasion and if necessary some of the soldiers will also be on hand. Every precaution is being taken to guard against interference from the crowd, against which the players will be perfectly safe.

The executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club will meet to-night at 7.15 for the purpose of winding up the business of the club for the season. Every member of the executive is asked to be present sharp on time.

HOCKEY

Dr. McWilliams will represent the Keene Club at the annual meeting of the City Hockey League in the Oriental Hotel parlours to-night. The Otonabee village fans and players had an enthusiastic meeting last night, and made arrangements for the coming season, selecting Dr. McWilliams as their delegate to the meeting. Lakefield will also likely have a representative present, although the Cementville club has not yet held its annual meeting. Three or four local clubs will be represented and the prospects for the season just now are of the brightest.

HONOR FOR MR. G. T. BELL.

His New Gavel Is a Unique and Interesting Piece of Furniture.

Everyone who has ever come in contact with the genial presence of Mr. George T. Bell, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, will be pleased to hear the story of the closing incident of the fifty-fourth annual convention of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents recently held at Toledo, Ohio. At this convention Mr. Bell presided, and it is interesting to note that he is the first Canadian to be elected president of the association, which is the oldest organization of railway men in the world. This fact, together with the great personal popularity of Mr. Bell with the delegates, were considerations which contributed to the making of the customary presentation of a gavel to the retiring president of the association an affair of more than usual interest and significance.

The Grand Trunk Railway being a great international road with lines in several of the New England States, is a member of a number of the territorial passenger associations there, and it was thought fitting that the New England Passenger Association should make the presentation to Mr. Bell. Then came the problem of securing for the Canadian president a gavel which would be at once emblematic of cordial international relations among railway men, suggestive of future as well as present transportation achievements, and significant as a personal gift. The thing was ingeniously done. The association includes representatives of railways and steamship lines in Canada, Mexico, and the United States. So part of the head of Mr. Bell's presentation gavel was formed of Canadian oak, a part of the fine new steamer Hamonic of the Northern Navigation Co., which is connected with the G.T.R. Blended with the oak is a bit of ebony taken from a railroad tie once used on a line of road in Mexico. The handle was made from a piece of wood which was part of the first successful aeroplane. It was furnished by the Wright brothers, and is suggestive of future transportation achievements in the air. Some time ago Mr. Bell noted at a meeting of the association that in the year the organization was formed the first band of steel of the suspension Bridge, joining Canada and the United States, was laid across the gorge at Niagara. The gavel was therefore bound together by a strand of steel from one of the cables of this bridge; and there was embedded in it a rivet from the Victoria Tubular Bridge at Montreal, the last rivet of which was driven in 1860 by the King, then Prince of Wales. There is also on the gavel a band of silver from the Drummond mine, in memory of Dr. William Henry Drummond, "humanity's friend," as he is fittingly referred to in the presentation committee's address, and a near friend also of Mr. Bell. Both gavel and case—the latter being made from British Columbia fir and Mexican ebony—were artistically put together by the firm of Tiffany, New York.

Drifting Westward.

Returns of the homesteading in the west last year indicate a total of 39,-081 entries, covering 5,252,960. Of these homesteaders 4,038 were from Ontario. This number is exceeded only by the United States, whence came 10,522, and England 5,649. The drift from Ontario to the west is creating an acute situation in the province in regard to population. It is expected that the settlement returns for the present year will show an improvement in the number of immigrants settling in Ontario, but so far these substitutes have not equalled the number of Ontario's own sons who have gone prairie-wards.

Hamilton has attained a population of 67,000 according to the figures just made up by the assessment department. But The Hamilton Herald declares that the city is merely marking time, and cites the figures for the past five years to show that in the past year the increase is practically nothing.

Boys Aero Club Planned.

An aero club is in process of formation at the Broadview Boys' Institute, Toronto. An organization meeting will be held soon.

The club will be affiliated with the International Aero Club, which has its headquarters in New York City. The international club has as members a number of wealthy and prominant men, who have set out to encourage boys to form aero clubs and study the science of aviation. When clubs are formed the international supplies descriptive literature, dealing with the scientific side of aerial navigation. Several boys' clubs have already been formed in different American cities.

All boys under 18 years of age are eligible to join the club. Mr. Atkinson, superintendent of the institute, wishes to hear from all boys interested in the science.

Coal Along Peace River.

Ten thousand acres of rich bituminous coal have been located on the Peace River, just across the border of British Columbia, by a syndicate which includes several prominent capitalists of Eastern Canada.

Small seams of coal have been found at intervals along the Peace River, well up towards the mountains, but nothing of the extent and the quality of this area.

THE ITCH RELIEVED INSTANTLY

And After Using Two Bottles of D. D. D. He is Entirely Well.

Instant relief from that awful itch! A few drops of a soothing liquid — and the itch is gone as if by magic.

Just a drop or two on the skin and no more of that torturing, endless, nerve-racking pain.

Can you imagine how it will feel—that itching agony swept away in a moment?

You can know the relief if you just try the simple D.D.D. Prescription—as Mr. Martin did. Mrs. Horace Martin, of Sharbot Lake, Ont., writes:

"My husband had eczema for seven years. He spent hundreds of dollars but could not get cured. He was almost wild with the pain and itching.

I saw D.D.D. Prescription advertised in the paper. I sent and got a bottle and it gave my husband relief at once. He has used a second bottle and is entirely cured.

The two bottles of D.D.D. which my husband used have done him more good than the $500 he spent before."

DECLINE IN POULTRY

In the Globe's market report of Monday, appears the following:

On many of the markets last Saturday supplies of poultry were heavy and the sudden warm weather caused a falling off in the demand and a consequent slump in prices. At Hamilton turkeys were quoted 5c per lb. less than a week ago, at 10c to 12c. It is said that in the country at present there is a large quantity of turkeys being held back for higher prices, which the farmers hope to realize when Christmas trade commences. The slump this week in some sections shows the dangerous outcome of a possible over supply.

Hamilton, Nov. 13—Special—The decline that was looked for in prices of poultry came this morning when turkeys were quoted 5c per lb. less than they were last week. And other lines of poultry were considerably cheaper. Mild weather and a big supply brought about fair prices.

New life for a quarter. Miller's Compound Iron Pills. —Wm. Madill, Druggist.

The Earwig.

There is no insect which has puzzled naturalists as to its proper classification more than the earwig. Some have asserted that it belongs to the beetles, of which it is an "aberrant type," others that it is connected with the grasshoppers. Even about its very name there has been endless discussion. Some have thought the name earwig is the result of the creature's supposed habit of getting into the ears, while others are equally certain that it is derived from the original name, which they say was earwing, from the fact that the wing when spread resembles the human ear. At all events, one thing is certain—the earwig as we know it now is a survival of an early type of which almost every other member has become extinct.

Appropriate.

A family of children, after the usual Saturday night romps, gathered in the drawing room for music and singing. As bedtime drew near the mother said:

"Now, children, choose one hymn to finish up with, and then you must all say 'Good night.'"

"Let's have 'Ere Again Our Sabbath Close,'" suggested a bright little girl of about seven years of age.

"Well, I think that would be more suitable tomorrow evening," replied the mother.

"Oh, but you always air our Sabbath clothes on Saturdays, mummy!"—London Tatler.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

Its Effect Upon the Customer to Whom It Was Made.

A business man of Dayton, O., tells this story of some commercial friends of his:

A customer who bought in a small way from the wholesalers and whose credit was not of the sort known as gilt edged visited the city and purchased a $2,800 bill of goods, paying $2,500 in cash and giving his note for the remaining $300.

After the transaction had been closed and the paper and currency had changed hands the customer said:

"Now, after a deal of that size it is customary to give a purchaser a present. Come across with it."

"We'll throw in a pair of suspenders," laughed the salesman temporizingly.

"A pair of suspenders, eh! Say, quit fooling. I really mean it. I expect you to do something in acknowledgment of my patronage."

The salesman went to the manager with the problem, and the manager said:

"Well, if he feels that way about it we might encourage him a bit. We'll do something that ought to please him greatly. Give him back his $300 note. Make him a present of his paper. That will make him a cash customer and raise his credit and save him money besides."

The salesman went back, pleased to be the bearer of such joyful tidings of liberality in business.

"Well, sir," he said, "we've arranged about that present, all right. Here," with a flourish, "is your note. We give it back to you."

The customer did not seem enthusiastic. Instead, without looking at the note he asked:

"Is it indorsed?"

"No," said the salesman in astonishment.

"Then I guess you better gimme the suspenders," said the disappointed customer.—Chicago News.

HOW A HORSE GALLOPS.

The Natural Way and the Conventional Pose in Art.

How does a horse gallop? Owing to the rapidity of action it cannot be seen by the human eye. However, just as the individual spokes of a rapidly revolving wheel can be made visible by a flash of lightning, so the action of a galloping horse can be and has been analyzed by instantaneous photography.

The statuette of Kysonby, the thoroughbred, has been made from photographs taken at the instant when all four legs are off the ground. The back is arched, the hind feet are directed forward, the fore feet backward, so that all are tucked under the animal's body.

When the limbs again touch the ground the first to do so is one of the hind feet, which is thrust far forward so as to form an acute angle with the line of the body and thus serve the purpose of a spring in breaking the force of the impact of the hoof when the horse is going at top speed.

In the conventional mode of representing a galloping horse all four legs are off the ground at once, but the front pair are extended backward in such a way that the undersurfaces of their hoofs are directed skyward, the body being at the same time brought near the ground. This conventional pose appears to have been derived from a dog running, when the front and hind pairs of legs are respectively extended forward and backward, with the soles of the hind feet turned upward.

This pose, it is thought, was adopted to represent the gallop of the horse by the goldsmiths of Mycenae between 900 and 1000 B. C., whence it was transmitted by way of Persia and Siberia to China and Japan, to return in the eighteenth century as the result of commercial relations to western Europe.—Chicago Tribune.

Dress Hints.

Brown eyes and a brown dress go well together.

Stripes narrower than an inch wide tend to make one look slim; wider than an inch they increase one's breadth.

Garments that are to be hung out to air can be put on hangers rather than pinned to the line. This prevents sagging or marking with clothespins.

Never rinse lace in blue water with the idea of improving its color. Real lace should be finally rinsed in clear soft water or, better still, in skimmilk, which will impart to it a soft, creamy color.

School Days.

In Prussia a child has to be sent to school at the age of six.

In some of the public schools of Connecticut a course of agriculture has been introduced in some of the higher grades.

Japanese children between the ages of six and ten have to attend elementary schools for thirty-two weeks a year.

Several French schools are using machines which suck dust from the leaves of books, spray them with disinfectant and dry them with hot air.

When Valor Balks.

A couple of Kansas men were talking of fearlessness the other day. "All this talk," said one of them, "reminds me of a peace officer I knew a number of years ago in western Kansas. This officer was entirely fearless—in fact, the kind of chap who would have charged hades with a single bucket of water. To look down into the barrel of a gun in the other fellow's hand was as placidly accepted an affair for him as to light his pipe. He was sent for one day.

"'What's the matter?' he asked.

"'Cowboy in that room,' said a citizen, designating the place. 'He's wild and dangerous. He's locked himself in, and we're afraid he'll break out and do us harm.'

"So this officer opened the door of the room and looked in. The cowboy had a six shooter in one hand and a stick of dynamite in the other and calmly remarked that he would turn them both loose in case the officer came into the room. The officer considered the thing for a minute. Then he backed away and as he did so remarked:

"'Let him sleep it off. They is times when a man who ain't afraid is a blind fool.'"—Kansas City Journal.

Too Attentive.

"People who write begging letters are entirely too persistent," said a charity official. "They remind me of a summer resort episode. A young man went there for his two weeks' vacation. He put up at a cottage. He paid about $9 a week. Well, when he came to depart this young man said to the boarding mistress:

"'Madam, you have been most attentive to me during my stay here.'

"'Thank you, sir; thank you very much,' said the lady.

"'Yes,' continued the young man, 'you have been most attentive, and not only you, but everybody—everybody in the house. If I may say so—has been most perseveringly attentive to me day and night, and, madam, to show my appreciation I am going to offer you a small present.'

"'How very kind!' said the landlady, and a bright, expectant smile lit up her face. Then the young man thrust into her extended hand a packet of insect powder and retired hastily."

Puzzling Orchid Imitations.

Orchid imitations are a puzzle to flower scholars. The whole appearance of the flower is suggestive of some insect, sometimes to quite a remarkable degree. It does not seem easy to find any real purpose that could be served by this resemblance, yet no one imagines that it can be accidental. Any one who knows of the bee orchid, a native of Europe, and came upon it for the first time would at once recognize it. It seems to be a large, velvety brown backed bee variegated with yellow. The two petals might serve well for the wings of the insect. In the center of the lip of the fly orchid there is a small blackish spot like the body of a fly. The two lateral petals are slender and curiously like the antennae of an insect. The whole illusion is complete and suggests to the casual glance that a few flies are hanging on the stem of some plant which has cast its flowers.—Chicago Tribune.

Why She Posed.

As a New York photographer bowed a sallow, tottering woman of middle age out of his studio he closed the door gently and turned to a waiting customer.

"That beats the Dutch," said he. "There's a woman who has been in bed two weeks and whom doctor supposes she is there at this moment. She is convinced that she is near death, and as she hasn't had any picture of herself taken since she was a child she got out of bed despite a friend's protest, dressed and came here to sit to me in order that she may leave a photograph to her husband, who is a traveling man and now in the far west.

"When a woman will she will. But that's a queer gimmick with the big shadow, all right."—New York Globe.

Absentminded Traveler.

A well-known Toronto cigar traveler, one of the best known in the trade, got on a Belt line car, Toronto, and on paying his fare asked for a transfer to a Bloor west car. At the corner of Spadina and Bloor he folded his paper and got off the car via the front door. At the time he was thinking of something else and having got off the car in the front he walked to the rear and got on again.

As soon as he was seated he unfolded his paper again and began reading. By the time the car got to St. George street the conductor came around and having looked at the traveler refused to take it. The traveler was up in the air, with the conductor, and with the railway in general, until he found out his error and meekly paid up.

GOVERNMENT GIVES DETAILS OF PLANS FOR NAVAL DEFENCE

Recommendations of Defence Conference are Brought Down in the Commons---Navy Will Cost About Two Millions a Year--Force Needed to Handle Ships Will be About 1400 Men at First.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The official report of the Imperial Defence Conference, held at London, in July and August, was submitted to Parliament yesterday. Canada was represented at the conference by the Ministers of Militia and Marine, and also present during the proceedings were Sir Percy Lake, Inspector-general of the Canadian militia, and Rear-Admiral Kingsmill.

It will be seen that the Canadian representatives would not agree to the suggestion of the British experts, and it is evident that the Canadian plan will be limited to the expenditure of two million dollars a year. This will allow two cruisers of the improved "Bristol" class to be placed on the Pacific coast, and one cruiser and four destroyers on the Atlantic coast.

The summary of expenditure, at British rates, on the Canadian plan of $2,080,000 per annum, is: Three Bristols; building and arming, $5,-065,000; annual maintenance, $298,-680; interest and depreciation at 3 per cent., $379,500; personnel, $402,-000; total $1,080,000. Four destroyers: Building and arming $1,600,000; annual maintenance $214,000; interest and depreciation at 3 per cent., $134,-000; personnel, $110,000; total, $458,-000; grand total, $1,538,000.

That this plan is in conflict with the British idea of a naval unit will be observed from the Admiralty memorandum to the Imperial Conference which is in part:

"If the problem of naval defence were considered merely as a problem of naval strategy, it would be found that the greatest output of strength for a given expenditure is obtained by the maintenance of a single navy, with the concomitant unity of training and unity of command. In furtherance, then, of the simple strategical ideal, the maximum of power would be gained if all parts of the Empire contributed, according to their needs and resources, to the maintenance of the British navy.

"It has, however, long been recognised that, in defining the conditions under which the naval forces of the Empire should be developed, other considerations than those of strategy alone must be taken into account. The various circumstances of the overseas dominions have to be borne in mind. Though all have in them the seeds of a great advance in population, wealth and power, they have at the present time attained to different stages in their growth.

"A simple contribution of money or material may be to one Dominion the most acceptable form in which to assist in Imperial fence. Another, while ready to provide local naval forces, and to place them at the disposal of the crown in the event of war, may wish to lay the foundations upon which a future navy of its own could be raised. A third may think that the best manner in which it can assist in promoting the interests of the Empire is in undertaking certain local services, not directly of a naval character, but which may relieve the Imperial Government from expenses which would otherwise fall on the British exchequer.

"The main duty of the forthcoming conference as regards naval defence will be, therefore, to determine the form in which the various Dominion Governments can best participate in the burden of Imperial Defence, with due regard to varying political and geographical conditions.

"In the opinion of the Admiralty, a Dominion Government desirous of creating a navy should aim at forming a distinct fleet unit; and the smallest unit is one which, while manageable in time of peace, is capable of being used in its component parts in time of war.

"Under certain conditions, the establishment for local defence of flotillas, consisting of torpedo craft and submarines, might be of assistance in time of war to the operations of the fleet, but such flotillas cannot co-operate on the high seas in the wider duties of protection of trade and preventing attacks from hostile cruisers and squadrons. The operations of destroyers and torpedo boats are necessarily limited to the waters near the coast or to a radius of action not far distant from a base, while there are great difficulties in manning such a force and keeping it always thoroughly efficient.

"The fleet unit to be aimed at, therefore, should in the opinion of the Admiralty at least consist of the following one armored cruiser (now Indomitable class, which is of the Dreadnought type); three unarmored cruisers (Bristol class); six destroyers, three submarines with the necessary auxiliaries, such as depot and store ships, etc., which are not here specified.

"Such a fleet unit would be capable of action not only in the defence of coasts, but also of the trade routes, and would be sufficiently powerful to deal with small hostile squadrons should such ever attempt to act in its waters.

"Simply to man a squadron, omitting auxiliary requirements, and any margin for reliefs, sickness, etc., the maximum numbers required would be about 2,300 officers and men, according to the Admiralty scheme of complements.

"The estimated first cost of building and arming such a complete fleet unit would be approximately $18,500,-000, and the cost of maintenance, including upkeep of vessels, pay and interest and sinking fund, at British rates, approximately $3,000,000 per annum.

"As the armored cruiser is the essential part of the fleet unit, it is important that an "Indomitable" of the "Dreadnought" type should be the first vessel to be built in commencing the formation of a fleet unit. She should be officered and manned as far as possible by colonial officers and men, supplemented by the loan of Imperial officers and men who might volunteer for the service. While on the station, the ship would be under the exclusive control of the Dominion Government as regards her movements and general administration, but officers and men would be governed by regulations similar to the King's regulations, and be under naval discipline. The question of pay and allowances would have to be settled on lines the most suitable to each Dominion Government concerned. The other vessels when built would be treated in the same manner.

"All requirements might be met according to the views of the Dominion Governments, in so far as the form and manner of the provision made are concerned. But as regards shipbuilding, armaments and warlike stores, etc., on one hand, and training and discipline in peace and war, on the other, there should be one common standard."

"It was decided to limit the plan to an expenditure of $2,000,000 a year, the Admiralty suggested that one Bristol, the Broadica, and two destroyers should be omitted, in which case only 1,408 officers and men would be required. Two Bristols would be required. Two Bristols would then be placed on the Pacific, and one Bristol and four destroyers on the Atlantic coast.

Pending the completion of the new cruisers an arrangement might be made for the loan by the Admiralty of two cruisers of the Apollo class, so that training might be proceeded with at once. The vessels would be fitted out and maintained at the expense of Canada, and the officers and men provided by volunteers from the royal navy, paid by the Canadian Government, until they could be replaced by qualified Canadians. The Admiralty would be willing also to lend certain officers for organizing duties, and arrangements would be made to receive Canadian cadets at Osborne and Dartmouth.

Deprecates Sensationalism.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Deprecating the tendency of the newspaper profession of yesterday towards sensationalism, Col. Mr. Watterson is on his way home after an extensive European trip.

RIGHT TO BOYCOTT

Mine Workers' Chieftain Says It Is the Greatest Weapon In the Hands of Workingmen to Secure Fair Treatment — Is Used by All Other Organizations and Should Be by Labor Also.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—It has been freely conceded by the delegates of the A. F. of L. that the present convention is likely to go down in history as the most memorable in the annals of the federation. The fact that three of their leaders stand in imminent danger of losing their liberty has imparted to the proceedings a dramatic touch which has been plainly in evidence since the first session. Yesterday's afternoon proceedings, which up to a certain point had been characterised by unusual sluggishness, were enlivened by a speech from Vice-President John Mitchell, one of the "martyred three," which roused his hearers to a pitch of enthusiasm never approached at any former stage of the convention.

The committee on boycotting, in concluding its report, made an impassioned declaration of the inalienable right of the worker to use his prerogative of the boycott, and it was in emphatic concurrence with this declaration that the representative of the mine workers arose and delivered his speech.

"No amount of physical or mental suffering will convince me that I have not the right to spend my money where I will. Speaking generally, the boycott properly used is the best weapon in the hands of organized labor. I deny emphatically that any merchant or manufacturer has a right to claim my patronage. It is my own to bestow, and any attempt made by the law to the contrary must be opposed to the utmost limit.

"I propose, when I come from jail, to declare again that I shall not purchase any product of the Buck Stove Co. I make this declaration, not to tickle the ears of those present, but as a record of my inward convictions."

Further, he declared that the whole injunction proceedings should prove a lasting lesson to the working men of America. If all working men had been true to the union cause, there would have been no non-union cause, there would have been no non-union product on the market. He believed that the time would come when every working man would demand the union label. Hitherto, the difficulty has been that they have not insisted on that hall mark of union produce.

The declaration which John Mitchell so heartily concurred in was contained in the boycotting committee's report, submitted by Delegate Lynch, and it most emphatically upheld the system of boycotting as the most effective weapon in the hands of unionism. In part it was as follows:

Under present conditions the boycott is a necessary, legal and moral weapon, and one that as the president well said, there should be no hesitation to resort to when other remedies fail and the occasion demands the usual drastic antidote.

"Lawyers' associations, medical associations, scientific bodies, even fraternal societies, all forms of human endeavor—all resort to the boycott to achieve their legitimate, and, in some instances, illegitimate ends. Why, then, should not the labor unions have that right?

"We say that when your cause is just and every other remedy has been employed without result, boycott; we say that when the employer has determined to exploit not only adult male labor, but our women and children, and our reasoning and appeal to his fairness and his conscience will not sway him, boycott; we say that when labor has been oppressed, brow-beaten and tyrannized, boycott; we say that when social and political conditions become so bad that ordinary remedial measures are fruitless boycott; and, finally, we say we have a right to boycott, and we propose to exercise that right.

"In the application of this right to boycott, to paraphrase the president, we propose to strive on and on."

The report of the committee and the above declaration were adopted unanimously.

Prisoner Suicides.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—Deprived of his hypodermic syringe, and with a five-year sentence to serve, a criminal sentenced a couple of days ago, under the name of Lamonte, hanged himself in the jail yesterday while waiting to be sent to the penitentiary. He went into Powers' shoe store some weeks ago and made a bold daylight attack on the clerk.

Sent to Central.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 18.—Richard Kraft, charged at Sandwich Assizes with attempted murder, and convicted of shooting with intent to wound three policemen, was sentenced to 23 months in Central Prison.

Peter Shea of Detroit, who shot Harry Norrie at Windsor Roller Rink last April, was also charged with attempted murder, but was acquitted by the jury after fifteen minutes deliberation. Norrie had visited the rink to pick a quarrel with Shea.

Arrested In New Hampshire.

Dover, N.H., Nov. 18.—Malcolm C. MacLennan, formerly a Presbyterian clergyman and later the Halifax, N.S., manager of an insurance company, was arrested here yesterday charged with the embezzlement of $3,000 of the company's funds. MacLennan said that he would return to Halifax without extradition papers.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Hogs Slow and Easier at Buffalo; Other Markets Steady.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Liverpool and London cables for cattle are firm, at 12¾ to 13½c per lb. for live cattle, dressed weights; refrigerator beef is quoted lower, at 10c to 10½c per lb.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific market this morning offerings were 1100 cattle, 900 sheep, 300 lambs, 1100 hogs and 100 calves. Cattle prices show an advance of ¼c per pound, attributed to the smaller run, colder weather and improvement in demand. There was also a firmer undertone to the market for sheep and lambs on account of the smaller supplies. Sheep sold at 2½c, and lambs at 5½c to 5¾c per pound. The demand for calves was good at prices from $3 to $10 each. A weaker feeling developed in the market for hogs, and prices declined 25c per cwt.

Theft of $7,000 From Registered Mail.

Rose Isle, Man., Nov. 18.—A robbery of the registered mail has just come to light. Two packets, containing two thousand and five thousand dollars respectively disappeared from registered mail of the C.N.R. Hartney train on Nov. 1. They were addressed to Fairfax and Belmont, Man. The mail clerk was momentarily absent from the car while transferring some mail to the Winnipeg train at Leary Siding.

Clever Escape From Policeman.

Tilbury, Nov. 18.—Breaking away from a constable with whom he was standing at the M.C.R. station waiting for the train which was to convey him to jail for a term of three months, Joseph Wilson jumped on a train which was moving out in the opposite direction. Passengers notified the conductor who decided he could do nothing because the man had paid his fare.

Regrets Inactivity in Canada.

London, Nov. 18.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Welcoming Principal Lloyd of Saskatchewan, the Bishop of London Tuesday night said he was sorry to say the church had not been in time in the country districts in Ontario, in which he stayed when in Canada. The church was well planted in the cities, but she had been forestalled in the country districts. His own brother's family had attended service in a little Wesleyan chapel because there was no church within eight or nine miles. They must not make the same mistake in the great Northwest.

Banquet to Judge Sutherland.

Windsor, Nov. 18.—Hon. Mr. Justice Sutherland, was last evening tendered a complimentary banquet by the citizens of Windsor, under the auspices of the Board of Trade. W. C. Kennedy, chairman of the board, acted as chairman. After the royal toast, Mayor Wigle, proposed the health of the new justice. The toast to Canada was proposed by Judge McHugh and responded to by Hon. Dr. Beaume, A. H. Clarke and Oliver J. Wilcox.

Weighted Himself; Jumped In Lake.

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 18.—Clayton Tyler, 50 years old, proprietor of the Crystal Lake Hotel, at Crystal Lake, New York, yesterday morning rowed in a boat to the centre of the lake, tied a heavy weight around his waist and jumped overboard.

Irish Land Bill Passes Lords.

London, Nov. 18.—The Irish land bill was passed in the House of Lords last night, with some change in the amendments recently proposed by the Lords, to which the House of Commons on Nov. 5 refused to agree.

Deluge In Hayti.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Nov. 18.—The rainfall here during the two weeks' ending Nov. 14 is officially recorded as twenty-nine inches. The total precipitation at interior points is given as thirty-eight inches.

Early Snowstorm on Mars.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Nov. 18.—Director Lowell of the Lowell Observatory, reports the first apparent antarctic snowfall of the season on Mars. This is said to be exceptionally early for the first Martian antarctic snow.

Need Not Serve Negroes.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 18.—The Iowa Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision holding that a private business concern under the Iowa statute can legally refuse to serve a negro.

The "Bandage Rush."

This novel type of student warfare was introduced at McGill a few days ago by the students of the first and second years in the Faculty of Applied Science, and it was voted a great improvement over the style of "rush" that had hitherto been in vogue at the University. It was played as follows: Two goals were erected on the field, as for football. One of these was placarded the "Freshman's Morgue," the other the "Sophomore Morgue." The members of the two classes gathered around their respective goals and at a given signal made a concerted rush for the centre of the field, where they grappled and then the fight was on. Each man was equipped with a large supply of strong bandages. The idea was to take a member of the opposite side, tie him up, and then drag him to the morgue with as much haste as possible, and the side which had the largest number in their morgue when time was called was declared the winner. In this case the Sophomores won an easy victory.

The Last Dream.

I searched through all the garden close,
I questioned ev'ry budded rose,
Asked of each buzzing bumblebee,
Plead with the silver willow tree.

But where it vanished none could say—
The dream that I lost yesterday—
Till, when he heard my wistful sighs,
Love showed it me within his eyes!

—Charlotte Becker in Puck.

YOU TAKE IT MIXED WITH AIR.

A Powerful Destroyer of Disease Germs, Which Cures Every Type of Catarrh, Bronchitis and Throat Trouble, Asthma.

Ever since Adam, the air of the pine woods has been known to possess marvellous healing properties. In fact, doctors claim that people living in the balsamic atmosphere of the woods never contract consumption or catarrh.

A new remedy that embraces all the healing curative powers of the pine woods has at last been realized. It contains the balsams, the ozone, and many other antiseptics that make it an absolute cure for all catarrhal diseases.

For years doctors have been looking for just such a remedy, and claim the newly-discovered Catarrhozone is the most effectual, the most scientific cure for catarrh, bronchitis and winter ills they have met.

USED IN ALL HOSPITALS.

So powerfully healing is Catarrhozone that simple colds in the head and coughs can be cured in less than an hour. Chronic catarrh is eradicated from the system in the most thorough manner. It doesn't matter whether the catarrh affects the nose, throat or stomach, it can be completely driven from the system by using fragrant, healing Catarrhozone.

The remotest parts of the lungs and air passages often contain germs of catarrh and consumption which cannot be reached by the ordinary treatment, but the searching vapor of Catarrhozone carries its antiseptic healing power right to these isolated spots. So thoroughly does Catarrhozone reach all diseased surfaces that it cures for all time, and no relapse need ever be feared.

CATARRHOZONE A SURE CURE.

No matter how long you have suffered from disease of any portion of the breathing organs, it matters not how many disappointments you have sustained from the hundred and one remedies you may have tried, an hour's use of Catarrhozone will afford better results than you could obtain from months' use of other remedies.

You can readily understand why this is possible—it is because you breathe it right to the parts that are diseased; immediately the droppings in the throat will lessen, irritation and soreness grow less, the stuffiness and difficulty of breathing will disappear almost as if by magic, and in the majority of cases a very short time is sufficient to effect a radical cure. Druggists sell Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (guaranteed), price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

The Monkey and the Pie.

An Indian faker had a monkey that he had brought up from babyhood, says an English writer. The pair were fast friends, the monkey being a faithful attendant on his master and as good as a watchdog. One day the faker made a pie for dinner and left it to cook on a charcoal fire while he went for a walk. As the cooking proceeded the savory smell was too much for the monkey. It raised the crust and tasted the chicken. Finding the food very tasty, it ate more and more until nothing but the crust remained. Then it remembered its master, who would shortly return hungry and ready to enjoy his meal. What was to be done? The sharp eyes of the monkey detected some crows not far away, so without loss of time it lay down on the ground as if dead. By and by a crow came along and pecked at the monkey, which seized the bird in a twinkling, strangled it, stripped off the feathers, placed it in pieces in the dish, covered it over with the crust and then contentedly awaited the return of the faker, to whom the whole incident was related by an eyewitness.

Left Handed Vituperatives.

Most counties in England have their idiomatic expressions to denote left handedness, and they are often prefixed to the unfortunate left handed child's name. In London the term is kack handed, the word being also equivalent to awkward. In Lancashire it is k-pawed, in Yorkshire gallock or gawk handed, an expression dating back to at least the seventeenth century. In Derbyshire are used the terms keg handed, cork handed and corky handed, while in the Teesdale district cuddy handed is common and in Nottinghamshire wallet handed.

In the south of England special terms to denote left handedness are also found. In Dorset it is scrame handed and in Devonshire coochy handed. In Scotland we find gawk handed and in the west cawry handed. In Ireland a left handed man is called a kitbogue. Tim Healy used this word in a speech at East Wicklow, in which he said that Mr. O'Kelly could fight with his left hand and had already given his opponent some "kitbogues" that would spoil his political beauty during the contest.—London Chronicle.

Bursting Balloons.

The greatest danger of a high ascent in a balloon is concerned with the changing density of the atmosphere. On the ground the atmosphere presses on the balloon with a weight of about fifteen pounds for every square inch of its surface. As the balloon rises, however, the air grows thinner and its pressure becomes in consequence less and less. As the pressure of the outside atmosphere decreases the balloon expands, and if the ascension is made too rapidly or without sufficient care the gas inside the silk envelope will expand until the balloon bursts. But the bursting of a balloon in midair is by no means necessarily a fatal catastrophe. Every balloon is provided with a "ripping cord" which, when pulled, cuts a long rent in the envelope out of which the gas speedily escapes. The silk bag is then carried by the air into the upper portion of the netting, where in the majority of cases it forms a parachute and brings everything safely to earth.

Doubtful Praise.

Mr. Faxon was the oldest patron of the "select boarding house" in which he lived, and his landlady sometimes referred people to him for a recommendation of her table. His wish was to praise the food highly, as he could conscientiously do, but one day he overstepped his mark.

"I'm dyspeptic, sir," said a man who had gone to Mr. Faxon to make inquiries about the boarding house, "and my food has to be simple and well cooked—no high seasoning, no indigestible compounds."

Mr. Faxon looked at him with a bland and reassuring smile.

"My dear sir," he said in his most impressive manner, "you need have no fears. All I have eaten in the ten years I have been under Mrs. Brown's roof would not interfere with the digestion of the most delicate baby, sir, in the land."

Defined.

FIRE INSURANCE

The following legend taken from an enterprising Seedsman's Catologue is not without a bearing on Fire Insurance :—

"Two years ago an Ontario Market Gardener saved four cents an ounce on the cost of half a pound of Cabbage Seed. In the fall he admitted that he was over $100 to the bad on the crop because the bargain seed had lacked vitality. Thirty-two cents saved—one hundred dollars lost. WAS IT WORTH WHILE?

Brussels Team Ordered To Play Off Game In Havelock

Special to The Examiner.

Havelock, Nov. 17.—Mrs. McWilliams, and son, Mr. Clarence McWilliams, of Marmora, visited her daughter, Mrs. Clarke and Miss Minnie McWilliams on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Holcombe, of Marmora, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Holcombe Sunday.

Mr. Rolie Graham, of Peterborough, spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster spent Sunday with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Ross Macpherson, of the Bank of Toronto staff, was changed from this branch to Barrie and left for that town on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Macpherson during his stay in town made many friends, who regret his departure, but send their best wishes with him.

Dr. and Mrs. Kindred were in Hastings on Sunday and in the evening assisted in the music at the Methodist church

Mr. and Mrs. Shipman, of Goderich, former residents of town, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Firm Haig last week, where they attended the opening of parliament.

Messrs. Reynolds and Johnson, of Norwood, visited friends in town on Sunday.

Miss Cooke, assistant High School teacher, spent Sunday with friends at Norwood.

Mr. Wm. Dineen returned home from Peterborough Saturday where he has been confined to St. Joseph's hospital, undergoing treatment for his eye. His many friends were indeed glad to see him back again, and to know that his eyes were improving.

Mr. Chas. Armstrong, proprietor of the Armstrong house, has had a pool table installed, and will wait on the town council in reference to the granting of a license, at the next meeting, Dec. 6th.

Mr. Newton Wesse is again able to be around after a severe attack of pneumonia.

A special meeting of the town council was held on Monday, Nov. 15th, in the council chamber, at 7.30 p.m. Present, Reeve Knox, Councillors Philip Wood, McMasters and Young. Several matters of interest were brought up at the meeting, but it was decided to leave all over until the regular meeting, which will be held the first Monday in December. Council adjourned

The school board will hold their regular monthly meeting to-night, (Tuesday), in the school.

Miss Julia Choate, of Peterborough, was in town on Tuesday.

Miss Edith McWilliams, of Marmora, was in town on Tuesday, the guest of her sister, Miss Minnie McWilliams.

Miss Mildred McDonald, of Peterborough, is the guest of her aunt, Miss Marie Dineen.

Mr. and Mrs. Dingman, of Trent Bridge, having sold out their departmental store to Mr. Capt. Coon, of town, have decided to spend the winter months in Peterobrough and left for that city on Tuesday.

Mrs. Mackenzie, of Toronto, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Darling.

Word was received to-day that the Brussels team will come to Havelock on Friday of this week, Nov. 18th, to play off the tie. Brussels refusing to play off here a few weeks ago, have now been ordered to come and do it now. This will no doubt be exciting, unless they again refuse to come, and the citizens will turn out in large numbers. Havelock team will be somewhat handicapped, having lost one of their star players in the person of Mr. Ross Macpherson, of the Bank of Toronto, who has been changed to Barrie.

Mr. Bradshaw, of Peterborough, organizer for I.O.F., is in town this week in the interests of the order.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barnett and baby have returned home after a month's vacation with friends in Peterborough

Dr. Harry Andrews, of Toronto, is spending this week with friends in town.

Mr. John Althouse, of Seymour, sold by public auction to-day, (Tuesday, Nov. 16th), his farm stock and implements. G. A. Hay, auctioneer.

Rev. Mr. Holdsworth is spending the week on business at Port Hope.

Anniversary services will be held in the Methodist church on Sunday next. Special music will be rendered by the choir on the occasion.

The concert in the town hall on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid, of the Presbyterian church, promises to be a high class one. The leading entertainer of the evening, Miss Tuete, elocutionist, of Belleville, comes highly recommended. Local talent will also assist.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dafoe left on Monday for their home in Cobalt, after spending the past two months with relatives in town.

Miss Carrie McKelvie is visiting with friends at Tweed.

Mr. Gracey, of Deseronto, has been sent to fill the position of junior clerk in the Bank of Toronto. Mr. Oscar Burkell has been promoted to the position of teller in the vacancy caused by Mr. Macpherson, and Mr. F. Coghill has taken Mr. Burkell's place on the ledger.

Her Daughter Took Very Sick As Result Of Catching Cold.

Mrs. Dennis Delaney, Friar's Head, N.S., writes: "At the close of the year 1907, our youngest daughter, five years old, took very sick as the result of catching cold. She became very weak and could not move around at all. We consulted doctors and gave her various kinds of medicine but they did not seem to relieve her any. On the advice of a friend I procured a bottle of your valuable remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using the first bottle noticeable improvement was the result and after using three bottles she was entirely cured. I can certify that it was through your valuable remedy that she regained her strength and would advise every mother having young ones similarly afflicted to obtain your valuable remedy. For myself I would not be without a bottle in the house."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree combined with Wild Cherry bark and other pectoral remedies. It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. Price 25 cents at all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Col. John Sneed's Conversations on Domestic Problems

By CASPER S. YOST,

Author of "The Making of a Successful Husband" and "The Making of a Successful Wife."

Copyright, 1909, by C. S. Yost.

I.—Should the Man Smoke at Home?

COLONEL JOHN SNEED, having dined with satisfaction to himself and pleasure to his wife, lighted a cigar and strolled around the corner to the modest cottage in which his son-in-law had recently established himself.

"Where's William?" he inquired after he had paternally pecked at the pretty lips presented to him and accepted the comfortable seat in the living room. "Hope he's at home."

"Yes, he's at home, papa," the daughter replied, and a rosier flush came into her cheeks as she added, "He's just gone to the woodshed for a moment."

Colonel Sneed noticed the heightened color, and his curiosity was aroused.

"It's a pretty warm day," he remarked, with a twinkle in his eye. "I don't reckon he's goin' to build a fire, is he?"

"No, papa, it isn't that. I told—he thought—I—I—he went out there to smoke."

"What," exclaimed the colonel—"goes to the woodshed to smoke! What in the world! Why don't he get on the roof or sit on the gatepost? Why don't he come into the house or—say, little girl, is this some of your doin's?" And he looked at his daughter sternly through the incense that arose from his cigar.

"Well, well, papa," she replied falteringly. "I don't want him to smoke in the house, and I thought we ought to begin right and"—

"Huh!" grunted the colonel. "That's a fine way to begin. Turn your husband out of doors just because he wanted an after dinner smoke, force him to roost with the chickens while he contemplates the vanity of life in general and of matrimony in particular! Go and tell him to come here—no, wait a minute, little girl. Just let him keep on roostin' for a little bit while I tell you somethin'.

"This world, honey, wasn't fitted up as a habitation for cherubims and things of that sort. It was made for mortal men and women, and you can't turn a man into an angel without callin' in the undertaker. I believe everybody ought to be good, but there's such a thing as bein' too good to be interesting. It's the little faults I'm talkin' about, you understand—the failin's that all of us have, more or less of, and wouldn't be exactly human without. I don't know whether it's exactly right to call 'em blessin's, but it seems to me that they act kind of like safety valves and keep us from doin' worse things. Anyhow, it's been my experience, an' I've been here a long time, honey, and kept my eyes open—it's been my experience that a man who don't appear to have any faults had better be watched. The natural born cussedness 'll pile up inside of him until some day he'll bust out and 'stonish the natives. That's why I say, honey, that it won't do to bottle a man up too tight. Unless you have an outlet for the meanness that's in him you're likely to have trouble, and I don't know of any better outlet for masculine depravity than a good cigar.

"TURN A MAN INTO AN ANGEL."

"Now, little girl, you've married a man. I've been watchin' William pretty close since I came home, and I'm tolerably well satisfied that he's the real thing. He's got some rough edges that might be sandpapered down with benefit to himself and to you, but I want to give you a straight tip, little girl, and that is that the smoothin' out process will go a whole lot easier when he's got a good cigar between his teeth. There's somethin' about burnin' tobacco that makes a man more susceptible to impressions from without and more readily influenced by reflections from within. Let him have a mild Havana, fix him up comfortable in an easy chair, and he's in shape to submit to most any kind of a domestic operation that is prompted by love and reason. He ain't doped. Smoke don't steal away a man's brains. On the contrary, it stimulates his intelligence and opens his eyes to a better appreciation of the beauty and goodness around him, while at the same time it softens his heart and soothes his nerves. It has a tendency to make a man more amiable and more amenable, and after a good many years of observation, my dear, I am pretty well satisfied that there's nothin' that'll promote matrimonial harmony like a good cigar smoked at home. You never heard of a man with a cigar in his month breakin' up the furniture or draggin' his wife around the room by the hair of her head, did you? No, I guess not! Nor it don't induce him to sneak out into the kitchen and kiss the cook, either. Its influence is always in the direction of virtue. Many a crisis, domestic and otherwise, has been prevented by the contemplative restraint of a good cigar. You needn't smile, little girl. That's no joke. Of course you can always get too much of a good thing. Too much tobacco will work harm in time, but so will too much ham and eggs, and the man who smokes at home isn't half as likely to overdo it as the man who has to go out in the woodshed or to the corner saloon or to the club.

IN SHAPE TO SUBMIT.

"And that brings me around to the main point that I want to press into your pretty little head. You've got your hair fixed mighty nice this evenin', honey. New style, ain't it? Uh huh! Looks fine. But, as I was about to say, the best place for a man to smoke his cigar is at home. Now you've got Bill out there in the back yard tryin' to get some satisfaction out of his smoke, and he isn't gettin' it. Smoke, for the most part, is a mental process, and its enjoyment is measured a good deal by the surroundin's. Bill's puffin' away out there and wonderin' why it burns so slow. All the time he's thinkin', and you oughtn't to blame him if his thinks ain't the kind you'd like to have workin' around in his brain. He ought to be sittin' here and lookin' at you just as I am and wonderin' to himself how in the world he was lucky enough to get such a dear, delightful little wife. Instead of that he's probably thinkin' that it's mighty tough that a man can't smoke in his own house. If he has to go away from the house to do his smokin' he'll gradually go farther and stay longer, and the first thing you know you'll find yourself sittin' up at the front window at 2 o'clock in the mornin' trying to figure out what's happened to Bill and wonderin' whether you ought to get out a rollin' pin or a mustard plaster.

ALL THE TIME HE'S THINKING.

"No, little girl; mind what your old daddy says. Don't try to make a seraphim out of Bill. Keep him at home. Make him think that home is the sweetest and pleasantest place on the face of this green earth, and let him smoke anywhere he doggone pleases."

Be Sociable Anyway.

There never was a road yet that didn't run in two directions, and unless you stand still you've got to travel one way or the other. There's a considerable crowd goin' both ways on this highway of life, and that bein' the case it's just as easy and a whole lot pleasanter to have company. Whether a man's goin' to heaven or goin' to the devil it's better to be sociable. I never did have any use for the fellow who flocks by himself to practice either his virtues or his vices. Now, I take it for granted that you want to go in the right direction, and, if so, you'll find the only real crowd that's goin' your way is in the church. They're in the church primarily, I guess, because of its promises, but apart from that they're in it because Jordan, as the old song says, is a hard road to travel, and they need the help of the church to get them over the stony places. That's just why you need it and just why you can't afford to go along without it. Don't get in the habit of goin' in lieu of Sunday mornin's.—Colonel John Sneed

NAPHTHA.

The Natural Products and Those Obtained From Petroleum.

Naphtha is an inflammable liquid which exudes from the soil in certain parts of Persia. Subsequently the use of the term spread to include some volatile oils found in Europe and even America. The product of the oil fields of southern Russia is usually called naphtha, although it differs in no way from the ordinary grades of petroleum.

Naphtha properly includes the lighter oils which pass off first in the distillation of petroleum, the gravities ranging from 90 to 62 degrees Beaume. Pennsylvania crude oil contains from 8 to 20 per cent of naphtha. In the refining of such naphtha several products are obtained by fractional distillation. Those which pass off first—namely, rhigolene and cymogene—are gases at ordinary temperatures and are seldom saved. The next product is known as gasoline, a material largely used in machines and for illuminating purposes. After this come stove naphtha and gas naphtha, the latter being the base of much of the illuminating gas now made.

Petroleum naphtha is often treated with [illegible] to deodorize it. Nearly the may also be made in the distillation of wood and coal tar.

THE DIGESTION.

Treatment That Will Be Found More Helpful Than Medicine.

Digestion is seldom improved by the taking of medicines, declares an old family physician. "We all know plenty of old bodies of both sexes who have taken medicine enough to float a battleship—taken it as a sort of pious duty," he says, "but these old bodies hang on to life in spite of their dosing, not through it.

"A large glass of water taken in the morning directly after rising and cleaning the teeth are worth all the aperient mixtures in the world. The juice of one or two oranges, taken as long before breakfast as possible, is excellent for cleaning out the digestive tract and giving the appetite a fillip. It is well to follow the morning tub with ten minutes or so of exercises which will stimulate the stomach and liver. Stand upright, with the hands above the head, then bend down, keeping the knees straight, until the tips of the fingers touch the floor. Repeat this eight times, then put the hands on the hips and bend from side to side. This massages the liver and stimulates the digestion. For breakfast eat porridge and brown bread and some fruit. Prunes are the best if there is a tendency to constipation. A glass of water taken just before going to bed is excellent for flushing out the stomach and keeping the digestion in order."

The Way It Seemed.

"The longest days of the year are in June, pa, but when are the shortest?"

"Sometimes in July and sometimes in August, depending upon when your mother takes her vacation."—New York Press.

Foresight is very wise, but foresorrow is very foolish, and castles are at my rate better than dungeons in the air.—Sir John Lubbock.

Heart Trouble Cured.

Through one cause or another a large majority of the people are troubled with some form of heart trouble.

The system becomes run down, the heart palpitates, you have weak and dizzy spells, a smothering feeling, cold clammy hands and feet, shortness of breath, sensation of pins and needles, rush of blood to the head, etc.

Wherever there are sickly people with weak hearts Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will be found an effective medicine.

Heart Trouble Cured.

Mrs. Wm. Elliott, Angus, Ont., writes. "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I suffered greatly from heart trouble, weakness and smothering spells. I used a great deal of doctors' medicines but received no benefit. A friend advised me to buy a box of your pills, which I did, and soon found great relief. I highly recommend these pills to anyone suffering from heart trouble."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BALFOUR CHOOSES

Premier's Plans Are Matter of Conjecture—He May Ask King to Create New Liberal Peers—Mr. Balfour Says Protection Is Only Relief From Lloyd-George's Proposed Taxation Scheme.

London, Nov. 18.—Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Education, speaking at Hull last night, made the important announcement in behalf of the Government, that it would refuse to entertain any negotiations or compromise with the peers over the budget.

Beyond this announcement all is conjecture regarding the development of the political situation. Some prominent Liberals still are of the opinion that Premier Asquith will resign on the rejection of the budget. Others believe that he will ask the King to create a large body of Liberal peers, recalling that the Irish Church disestablishment bill was allowed to pass the Lords on Gladstone's threat to create new peers.

The Liberals in the election campaign will evidently concentrate their whole attack on the House of Lords, in which they will have the energetic assistance of the Irish party. John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish party, speaking in Dublin last night, declared that they refused to throw themselves into the arms of the tariff reformers or to break up the House of Lords, Ireland's deadly enemies. The Nationalists had long waited to strike a blow at the Lords.

Mr. Balfour's speech at Manchester last night satisfied his followers, inasmuch as it adopts tariff reform as the party cry, but it cannot be regarded as an election manifesto, since it fails to define what he understands by tariff reform. As to his exact views on tariff reform, Mr. Balfour was silent, except to say that he would not touch tariff reform "if it were to increase the ordinary cost of living of the working classes."

The striking point in Mr. Balfour's speech was the admission that tariff reform is the only practical alternative to Chancellor Lloyd-George's budget—an important admission, which seems to indicate that the leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, has at last been won over to acceptance of tariff reform as a plank in the Unionist platform.

The rest of the speech was mainly a repetition of Mr. Balfour's denunciation of the budget, which has figured in previous Unionist speeches, and a special appeal to his audience by the representation that tariff reform would be especially beneficial to the cotton industry, which was seriously threatened by European, American and Japanese competition and the growing difficulty of obtaining sufficient supplies of raw material. Mr. Balfour contended that German and American prosperity had grown contemporaneously with the imposition of high protective duties.

Panama Canal Plans.

Panama, Nov. 18.—The latest for the Panama Canal provide for a six-mile cut from the Atlantic coast near Colon to Gatun, where a great dam and triple flight of locks are being built. The dam is really an artificial mountain thrown across the Chagres Valley and will dam that river up to a height of 85 feet above the sea level, causing a vast lake to form which will cover the greater part of the Isthmus. This lake will have an area of not less than 165 square miles, and will reach as far as the cordilleras near the Pacific side, where a passage is being cut through the mountain range at Culebra.

Talbot, M.P., Seeks Brother's Burial.

Reno, Nevada, Nov. 18.—The spectacle of a woman fighting for possession of the body of a man she killed was seen in court when Lieut.-Col. Talbot of the Canadian Parliament obtained an injunction preventing Mrs. May Talbot from sending the body of her husband to San Francisco for cremation.

Mrs. Talbot, a former opera singer, shot her husband on Oct. 26. The petition for the injunction obtained by the dead man's brother was based on the ground that Talbot desired the burial "according to rites of his religion."

Charged With Robbery.

Kingston, Nov. 18.—Charged with highway robbery, Hiram Smith, aged 18, an Austrian, is under arrest. John Scott of Cataraqui has identified him as the person who on Saturday midnight held him up at the point of a revolver, and relieved him of $6. Smith denies the charge. He had a revolver and cartridges in his pos-

HAD A BITTER STRUGGLE.

Ottawa's Crew Battled With Waves For 18 Hours.

Calumet, Mich., Nov. 18.—The steel barge grain carrier Ottawa, lost in Lake Superior on Monday, was valued at $150,000, covered by insurance.

The cargo was worth about the same.

About six o'clock Monday morning it was noticed that the cargo was shifting, causing a heavy list to port. This placed all on board in great peril for hours, but the condition could not be remedied, as it would be necessary to take off the hatches to do anything, which would mean the swamping of the steamer by the seas, which ran fifty feet high. All the boats excepting one had already been reduced to splinters.

Shortly before ten o'clock the boat commenced to turn on its side, and although the yard was quickly dropper over the side, she had almost turned before the last of the crew could be taken off. Two firemen who stuck till the last by the furnaces, escaped only in their underclothing. The captain also had to jump into the boat, suffering internal injuries.

The captain and his crew of sixteen men reached Copper Harbor in an open yawl, after sixteen hours of terrible experiences, battling for life with mountainous seas. They were blown most of the way across Lake Superior, being carried at least fifty miles by the gale. The weather was bitterly cold, and at periods the snow was blinding.

F. D. Monk Would Have a System of Segregation of Convicts.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—In the House of Commons yesterday a resolution by F. D. Monk, Jacques Cartier, which asked for the appointment of a select committee of the House to inquire into the question of proportional representation was carried.

Mr. Monk also moved a resolution which called for "a judicious classification and segregation of the convicts in our penal institutions and reformatories." The placing together of all classes of convicts was highly detrimental to the reclamation of younger offenders. He asked for the appointment of a special committee to obtain reports.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth replied that hardened criminals were dealt with in the six penitentiaries. The younger and new offenders was sent to jails, reformatories and provincial prisons. There more than in the penitentiaries would be room for better methods.

The best way would be to have a meeting of wardens and inspectors from the penitentiaries for an interchange of ideas. The result would probably be better than a commission.

MAGISTRATE WANTED TO GIVE SUSPENDED SENTENCE BUT CROWN WOULD NOT CONSENT

Arthur Baxter, Former Local Manager of Union Life Assurance Co., Sentenced to Three Months in the County Jail for Fraudulently Converting to His Own Use the Funds of the Company.

HAS ANOTHER NAME

Arthur Baxter, charged with fraudulently converting to his own use, twenty-four dollars of the Union Life Assurance Company was yesterday afternoon sentenced to three months at hard labour in the county gaol. Mr. F. D. Kerr was present in the interests of the prisoner. No evidence for the defence was offered, saving the accused, making a statement in which to his way of figuring, he was only in the company's debt a little over six dollars. He had been working hard since leaving the city and was willing to make restitution.

His Worship had intended to allow the prisoner to go on suspended sentence, but Crown Attorney R. E. Wood pointed out that such could not be done without his concurrence. Mr. Wood refused to take the responsibility and the magistrate passed the above sentence. In doing so he remarked: "It isn't that any punishment would be too severe that I wanted to show leniency, but I hoped to help the man to a better life."

Not Arthur Baxter.

Before giving his judgment, Mr. Wood stated that he hoped His Worship would not be influenced by the fact that Baxter had a wife and child. He was prepared to prove, he said, that Baxter's right name was Arthur Page and that his wife, Nellie Page and her child were living in Vancouver. Baxter, he further stated, had been living with another woman here.

SHOULD THE MAN SMOKE AT HOME?

The Examiner is commencing a new feature to-day that should be most popular with its readers. On Page 4 of the present issue will be found the first of a series of highly humourous articles from the pen of Mr. Casper Yost, who will be remembered as the author of the highly successful series "The Making of a Successful Husband," and "The Making of a Successful wife." The new articles are entitled Col. John Sneed's Conversations on Domestic Problems." The first of the series deals with that most important of all subjects to a married man, 'Should the Man Smoke at Home?" Col. Sneed points out in no uncertain manner that a man should be allowed to smoke anywhere he pleases. The good wives of Peterborough may have a different opinion, but the Colonel's views are worthy of notice. Readers of the Examiner should not miss one of these amusing articles.

IMPORTANT MEETING

Manufacturers' Committee of City Council had Number of Important Matters on Their Slate —Hamilton Co's Request.

INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS

The Manufacturers committee dealt last night with a number of important matters that have been collecting on file. As has been the policy during the past year this committees doings have not been chronicled by the press. Last night there were a number of important communications read and dealt with in the usual way. It may be that the result of the work will be manifested by the landing of a factory or two in the near future, and it may be said that the number of communications is such that the average citizen would consider that an industrial commission following them up would have an extremely busy time. The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co. have made application for the lengthening of their fixed assessment term from three to ten years. The assessment had been for three years. They also asked for several other concessions, which the committee decided not to act upon for the present. They will, however, recommend the extension of the time for fixed assessment.

THE EXAMINER TROPHY
Emblematic of the championship of the City Hockey League and held now by the Lakefield team, champions for 1908-9.

ACKERMAN & SONS CONTEMPLATE AN ADDITION TO THEIR FACTORY

A Definite Understanding Will be Reached Early in December and Proposition May be Made to Council---Ask for Fixed Assessment of $20,000.

Owing to the large increase in their western Business, and anticipating more extensive demands for their goods each year, Messrs. B. F. Ackerman and Sons have for some time been contemplating the erection of a large addition to their factory. They have applied to the Manufacturers' Committee for a fixed assessement for ten years at $20,000. To the Examiner Mr. Ackerman stated that he was not in a position to present a definite proposition. The Company is stock-taking at present and when this is completed a definite statement will likely be presented to the Council. Mr. Ackerman expects this to be about December 10th. If the plans are carried out the staff will be increased by about forty hands, and the total number will be about 120 working the whole year round. They will manufacture more heavily in their line of articles now on the market, and one or more new lines for which there is a growing demand will be turned out. The Committee will recommend that this request be granted.

Gladman-Ray Party Return Home With Twenty-four Deer

The Gladman-Ray Hunting Club returned on Tuesday night from their annual hunt in the Gladman limits on the Chawanaga River, about seven miles from Chawanaga station, and twenty-seven miles from Parry Sound. Those comprising the party were Messrs. Chas. Gladman (Captain), Sam Ray, C. Curtis, A. Curtis, D. Evans, J. Bradley, N. Bradley, T. Bothwell, W. Bothwell, J. Bennett, J. Metherall, P. Kerr, M. McFadden, B. O'Dette, D. Best, J. A. Morrow, Parry Sound; G. Metcalfe, J. Pentland, and Judge Roger, Dr. Cole, Toronto, and Sam Long, (chef). Twenty-four deer were captured by these hunters, and a more successful and enjoyable hunt has never been held. Outside of one-half day of rain, they had excellent weather. The deer were plentiful, and everyone had two weeks' good sport.

One of the members of the party tells a real, genuine bear story, of how one of their number, Mr. Wm. Bothwell, had a rather exciting experience with Mr. Bruin. Mr. Bothwell was stationed on a rock near a small lake at the end of a trail. A chase of seven deer were coming along at a great rate, when just about ten or fifteen feet away, a big black bear rushed out from a thicket. Mr. Bothwell was so astounded that he forgot himself, and although he fired several times, both bear and deer got away.

The party is indebted to the C. P. R. for the excellent accommodation provided, both going and returning. They had a car exclusively and every one was made comfortable.

Illinois Mine With Its 300 Bodies Still Burns Fiercely

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 18.—After four days the St. Paul coal mine, in which are still entombed the bodies of 300 or more miners as a result of last Saturday's fire, to-day refused to yield up the dead. The interior of the mine is burning almost as fiercely as ever. No definite plans were reached for extinguishing the fire or entering the mine. While the two companies of state troops were present to prevent possible disorder they remained idle in their cars, except for guard duty about the mine.

After the experts had decided that no immediate descent could be made into the gas and heat filled cavern, James Witherell, a miner, stood over the mouth of the shaft and advised the crowd of weeping women and sullen men that the 300 miners had been buried alive by some "college men," who knew nothing about mining. The crowd stood quietly, only now and then applauding, although the militia was not present.

These men were buried alive," shouted Witherell. "They were alive Monday night, but they died when these mine experts shut off their air. I tell you they were crucified."

TO REOPEN BARRACKS

Work at Salvation Army Barracks Nearing Completion and Services Will be Resumed There Shortly.

CELEBRATE OCCASION

It has been learned that the Salvation Army Barracks, which have been undergoing extensive alterations, will be reopened on Sunday, December 5th. From the information received the general secretary of the Army in Canada, Gen. Gaskins, will come to Peterborough for the reopening, which will be appropriately celebrated. While the principal features will be held on Sunday the 5th, there will be services on Saturday and on Monday night. The meetings will be concluded by a banquet. The Barracks have undergone alterations which had been growing more imperative every month. The details of the re-opening celebration have not been announced as yet but it is expected that the event will be one of the most important in many years in the history of the local corps.

NOW SOLD IN CANADA

In Less Than Three Years, Parisian Sage, the Splendid Hair Tonic, is Sold All Over Canada.

There is a reason for the phenomenal sale of Parisian Sage in Canada during the past three years.

And the reason is plain to all. Parisian Sage does just what it is advertised to do.

Ask Wm. Madill about it, he will tell you that they rigidly guarantee it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

There is no reason whatever why any man or woman should fail to take advantage of the above generous offer.

But one thing that has made Parisian Sage so famous is its peculiar power to turn the harsh, unattractive hair that many women possess into luxuriant and radiant hair in a short time. Women of refinement the country over are using it and it never disappoints.

Sold everywhere, and in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, for 50 cents a large bottle.

INDUCTED TO-NIGHT

Rev. F. J. Sawers Will be Formally Placed in Charge of St. John's, Lakefield.

Lakefield, Nov. 18.—The induction of Rev. F. J. Sawers, M.A., will take place at St. John's church, Lakefield, to-night A party of Peterborough friends and fellow clergymen of Peterborough will be here to attend the induction. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt of St. Luke's church, Peterborough, has been commissioned by His Lordship the Bishop to induct Rev. Mr. Sawers to the cure of souls. Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's, Peterborough, has been requested to be the special preacher for the occasion and Rev. H. R. Trumpour of All Saints', Peterborough, will also be in attendance. After the ceremony the congregation wil tender a reception to Rev. Mr. Sawers.

PROMINENT PEOPLE

QUEEN ALEXANDER CIRCLE OF A. O. F.

There was a large attendance of members and their friends at the open meeting of Queen Alexandra Circle, A. O. F., held last night in the S. O. E. hall. Games and music were enjoyed, and a very pleasant evening was spent by those in attendance. Several speeches were made and all were pleased to see so many present.

Avoid alcoholic and capsicum tonics which burn hair and scalp. Use Bearine, a bear's grease pomade, which feeds the roots and makes hair grow.

GANANOQUE MAN OUT OF TROUBLE

Had Rheumatism, But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured It.

Hugh Abernethy on His Feet Again—Cure is Easy, Simple, Natural and Permanent.

Gananoque, Ont., Nov. 17.—(Special).—That Rheumatism can be cured surely, simply and permanently is the good news that Hugh Abernethy, a well known resident of King Street, is spreading among his neighbours.

"I had suffered from Rheumatism and stiffness of the joints," Mr. Abernethy states. "My muscles would cramp. I could not sleep, and I had terrible headaches. I took many different medicines, but nothing did me any good until I tried Dodds Kidney Pills. Six boxes put me on my feet again."

Others who have taken Mr. Abernethy's advice" and used Dodd's Kidney Pills are also loud in their praises of the old reliable Canadian Kidney remedy. For Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism and other blood diseases by curing the Kidneys. Sound Kidneys keep the blood free from impurities, such as uric acid in the blood, you cannot have such painful and dangerous diseases as Pain in the Back. Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and Heart Disease.

Keep your Kidneys strong and well with Dodd's Kidney Pills and you can face the cold, wet days of fall without a fear of Rheumatism.

OPTICAL WORK

At Payne's Drug Store by Messrs. H. Sellars and C. VanZant.

Mr. H. Sellars and Mr. Van Zant, opticians, have been doing a good business at Payne's drug store, corner of Simcoe and George Sts., during the past week. Examinations are free of cost and satisfaction is guaranteed. The results of their work in Peterborough they claim are sufficient testimonial of their ability. They do all kinds of optical work. Their prices, they say, will please everybody.

THE BEST HERITAGE

Good health is one of the first requisites to success. Prolonged application to any subject cannot be sustained without well fed nerves.

If nervous energy could be secured by a large cash payment, every person would make a big effort to find the money.

By reason of well directed study, assisted by practical experience, a way has been found to supply energy to jaded and overwrought nerves, without its costing a fortune.

Pure fresh air, exercise, and eating the simplest foods will produce this desired result.

Among foods for human consumption none contain the necessary elements to sustain life in greater quantities than milk and wheat.

Orange Meat which is made from the whole wheat, thoroughly steam cooked, malted, flaked and toasted, contains the necessary elements to sustain life in greater proportions than any other cereal.

ORANGE MEAT and milk is a perfect food.

EGGS ARE DEAR

The Price Has Gone Up Recently and Prospects are Not Encouraging.

It is not a very agreeable task to report what a George Street grocer stated yesterday to a representative of the Examiner in regard to the egg market. "Eggs can't be got," he said in answer to a reporter's query. He explained that they were very scarce and as a result were becoming dearer every day. Thirty cents was the price paid last Saturday, but this grocer stated that he had paid 32 cents a few days ago. Just what the farmers will demand next Saturday is difficult to tell, but it is safe to say that it will be over the 30 cent mark.

TO NAIRN CENTRE FOR A PRISONER

High County Constable Cochrane has returned from Nairn Centre on the Sudbury Railway after a long trip to take charge of Alfred Simpson, an Indian from the Alderville reserve, who went back to the north shore to work. The charge is a breach of the criminal code and Simpson will be given a hearing before Magistrate Edmison to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Mr. Cochrane found quite a difference in the climatic conditions in the Sudbury district. Snow lay on the ground to the depth of six inches and the weather was quite cold. The trip which required more than three days' travelling, was anything but an enjoyable one.

A FRIEND TO WOMEN

What most women require to make them strong and healthy, and to restore good complexion and a well rounded form is more blood, more rich, red blood, such as is added to the system by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Headache, indigestion and the weaknesses and irregularities which accompany exhausted nerves soon disappear when this great restorative treatment is used.

THE BUSINESS BOY

Don't laugh at a boy who magnifies his place. You may see him coming from the postoffice with a big bundle of his employer's letters, which he displays with as much pride as though they were his own. He feels important, and looks it, but he is proud of his place. He is attending to business. He likes to have the world know that he is at work for a busy concern. The boy who says "we" identifies himself with the concern. Its interests are his. He sticks up for its credit and reputation. He takes pleasure from his work and hopes to say we are in earnest. The boy will reap what he knows, if he keeps his grit and sticks to his job. You may take off your hat to him as one of the future solid men of the town. Let his employer do the right thing by him; check him kindly if he shows signs of being too big for his place, counsel him as to his habits and associates, and occasionally show him a pleasant prospect of advancement. A little pride does an honest boy a heap of good. Good luck to the boy wh says "we."

ANOTHER BIG SHUBERT SHOW

"Two Women and That Man," an Alaskan Drama, Will be the Offering at the Grand on Tuesday Next.

"Two Women and That Man" is a drama of the far North, telling a vivid story of life in the Klondyke during the rush for gold to that country in 1898. The story chiefly concerns Neil McClain, a young miner, who marries a dance hall girl. Two years after his marriage his wife leaves him and is reported drowned at Caribou Run. McClain, after mourning his wife for dead, falls in love with the girl, Alaska, the daughter of San Mixer, keeper of a general store. His attentions to Alaska are opposed by Mixer, but the girl favours him, so much so, that she decides to marry. She leaves Mixer's home, and goes to McClain's cabin with a prospect or, Rainbow Rawlins. As they are about to take the sled team to the mission up the river, McClain's wife, Kate, returns. As can be imagined this makes a most delicate and intense scene. The action of the play from then on is cleverly worked out, working out a most stirring and virile romance. Incidental to this numerous characters are introduced in the way of miners, prospectors, etc. A character of compelling interest is the part of Tagish Jim, a Chilcat Indian, who speaks the genuine Chilcat language all through the play. The stage pictures are all on a large scale, each of the four acts giving an excellent picture of the country in general. The entire action of the play takes place in Alaska, in fact the whole piece breathes of Alaskan atmosphere. The Company presenting the play is guaranteed as the same seen at the Majestic Theatre, New York, where much favourable comment and success was met with. The sale of seats will open on Saturday, Nov. 20th, and, with the prices as advertised, no doubt a big house will greet the appearance of this, another big Shubert success.

FINED TWO DOLLARS

Young Man Assaulted a Fellow Workman —Appeared in Court To-day.

For assaulting a fellow workman a well known young man was fined two dollars at the police court this morning and had to promise the magistrate that he would leave the complainant alone. It appears that there is ill feeling between the two persons and it reached a climax the other day when they were engaged at their work, the accused going over and starting a fight with the informant He was given ten days in which to pay his fine.

Wheat Prices Will Go Higher Europe Must Come To Canada

Examiner Special.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 18.—James Carruthers, of Montreal, the biggest grain exporter in Canada, is in the West to find if the supply this year from the Canadian West will hold out or not. He believes the wheat is being held up, and is going to make a trip through the West to find what the farmers are doing.

"I feel," said Mr. Carruthers, "that wheat prices are bound for higher levels. I base my belief on a number of points which are now affecting the market. European stocks are at a low ebb. Prices have been so high for the past two years that foreigners have accumulated no suplus but have only taken enough wheat to satisfy immediate demands.

"Now, in spite of manipulation, wheat prices eventually come to a supply and demand basis and that is the prime factor we must look at to determine the future trend of the market. The Argentine crop will play a great part. We have seen during the past week what damage reports from that country will do to prices. They have been responsible for a big bulge. Should these reports be substantiated later, it will have a livening effect.

"Then another thing, look at the situation in the States. Europe figured on being able to get a big lot of wheat from below the line. But it doesn't look at present as if they were going to get much. Prices there are at least six cents higher than those which would make the grain available for export. Yet premiums on cash wheat keep well above the December option, with no signs of breaking. This means that Europe will have to come to Canada for her supply and eventually put our prices higher.

"In Chicago I talked with several big traders and they all take this view. I'm also inclined to believe that the United States Government reports have somewhat overestimated the crop there.

And now we're coming to the greatest factor of all, the farmers. They hold the key to the situation, and you may rest assured that prices will have to stay at least as high as they are now to make them loosen up."

Three Persons Burned To Death And House Totally Consumed

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Collingwood, Ont., Nov. 18.—Jim Dand, his wife and his mother-in-law were burned to death this morning on a farm located in Poplar Side Road, a few miles from Collingwood. Neighbours saw the fire about 5 o'clock and went over to help, but found the flames had made such headway they could do nothing, the roof falling in within a short time. One body has been recovered so far. It is supposed an overheated stove caused the fire. A fierce northwest wind raged all night. Dand was an elderly man. His barn was burned only a few weeks ago.

The Publicity Commission Has Scored For Brantford

Brantford, Nov. 18.—Brantford has secured the Brandon Shoe Company, which was recently put out of business by the disastrous boiler explosion at Aylmer. When Publicity Commissioner Dowling read of the accident next day he immediately telegraphed the firm. Negotiations followed, culminating in the announcement to-day that the company will come here. About thirty thousand dollars has been subscribed locally in stock. The factory will be erected within six weeks. Fifty hands will be employed in the manufacture of shoes.

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

AN INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER.

The meeting of the Manufacturers' committe last night revealed both the necessity and the opportunity for fruitful employment of the activities of an Industrial Commissioner as called for by the resolution at the head of this column. It transpires that the committee had before it several industrial concerns, seeking a place in which to establish new or branch factories. If the resolution means anything it means that those actively and substantially interested in the growth of Peterborough, as represented by industrial expansion, recognize the need of the employment of some person who will devote his whole time to serving the interests of the city. It is also recognised that a person of this kind can do more than can be done by the machinery, now at the disposal of the City Council or Board of Trade. It is, therefore, important that there should be as little delay as possible in carrying out the spirit and letter of the resolution printed at the head of this column, by the prompt appointment of a commissioner, such as it calls for. It won't do to trifle with the matter. If there is delay it stands to reason that many opportunities for securing new industries will pass us by, and be seised by more enterprising cities, with less advantages to offer; simply because they have their energies concentrated in an official such as Peterborough has decided upon, but has not yet got. Brantford has an industrial commissioner in action. Welland has the same, and we may be sure that they will not be idle, and that they are actually working upon the same industrial proposals that our Manufacturers' Committee is academically discussing—with a minimum of means to give their desired effect. They can co-operate, and they, and all other organised civic agencies, backed by the body of citizens, must, co-operate with the Industrial Commissioner we have decided to appoint. We must not let the impulse to action end in a simple resolution; we must give it effect.

Some reasons Why "Pandora" should be in your kitchen

Pandora range would look well in your kitchen—it's so handsome.

Its perfectly-ventilated steel oven would bake the bread and roast the beef better than your ordinary oven does.

Its special flue construction would save you fuel.

Its large ash-pan would save you carrying out ashes so frequently.

Its enameled steel reservoir would be handy at preserving time.

Its emery rod attachment would enable you to sharpen all your dull knives.

But the McClary agent would like to tell you several other reasons. Just give him a chance. 21

"LET THEM RAVE."

The Mail and Empire is doing its best or worst to create the impression that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers are working for Canadian separation from imperial connection, and the establishment of Canadian independence. Of course there is no ground for such an assumption, and no necessity for disproof since it deals with politics and comes from the Mail and Empire. Mr. J. Castell Hopkins is an imperialist of the most robust, if not most, rabid type, and would scent treason to the imperial idea much more readily than the Mail, whose imeprialism is of the "so-much-the-worse-for-British-connection" variety. Mr. Hopkins, writing in the National Review, of London, England, says this tribute to the Liberal leader:

"He, (Sir Wilfrid) has had great difficulties of a racial and religious character, and also great opportunities in an imperial and national sense, from his curious dual position in Canadian politics—a Frenchman thinking, speaking and acting for an English majority. He has of late years, and despite inevitable contradictions, done much in conciliation, much in promoting national harmony, much in helping empire duty. To Canadians in 1900 he gave a memorable device, 'Union, peace, friendship and fraternity.' To the people of Quebec three years before he had said: 'Your convictions are immortal. Your convictions are not only immortal, but their base is eternal. Let your convictions be always calm, serene, and superior to the inevitable trials of life, and show to the world that Catholicism is compatible with the exercise of liberty in its highest acceptance.' Whether he has done all that he could or should have done in paths thus hewn out by the power of oratory, must be left to the retrospect of history, to the altitudes of a wider and older and higher period. Some facts have been given here and many more might be adduced upon both sides of the question, but there is only space to add that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been a great Canadian in the sense of personality and oratory and idealism, a great politician in tact and forcefulness, and knowledge of his people, a great leader in his faculty of winning and holding opposing elements in harmonious action."

Sir Wilfrid has not only smoothed the upward path of Canadian progress by promoting the harmonizing of discordant and jarring national elements, but has worked his way into a position of prominence, and has made the name of Canada respected at home, and abroad. He has been a mighty force in Canadian unification of ideas and ambitions, and in Imperial solidification. Let the Mail and Empire and the Little Canadians it speaks for, rave.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If the plentiful herds of "blind pigs" at Cobalt could be commercialized we should not have to pay 17 cents per pound for pork chops and 25 cents for bacon.

In his speech at Lachine, says the Toronto News, Mr. Monk performed an excellent service for Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Government. In contrast with the utterances of the French Conservative leader, the Prime Minister appears as a devoted and aggressive Imperialist.

The test, however, of the Government's programme (naval) will, the Toronto News says, come when the details are submitted to Parliament. If, as the Premier suggests, Mr. Monk has greatly overestimated the probable expenditure on naval account, the enterprise will not be remarkable either as a Canadian navy or as an auxiliary arm of the Empire. We must, however, make a beginning, and for Sir Wilfrid Laurier's vigorous assertion of the duty of Canada in the circumstances we should all be grateful.

CANADA'S GREAT MERGER.

(London Advertiser.)

The coal and steel merger is the biggest thing of the kind that has happened in Canada. The Dominion Iron and Steel Company had a capitalization of $34,368,863; the Dominion Coal Company of $23,000,000. The new company will have a capitalization of $70,000,000. It will be by far the greatest industrial concern in the country. It almost reaches the proportions of a United States trust.

The merger will put an end to a long-standing feud which has been costly to both parties. The coal mines and iron deposits are almost contiguous, and economies in the production of steel ought to be effected by a single administration. Will the public share in the advantages of the new arrangement? The people of Canada have paid out millions to establish an iron and steel industry. The Dominion Iron and Steel Company alone drew $1,067,528 in bounties last year. It has been subsidized also by a range of compartively high duties. The taxpayers have, therefore, a right to demand that the power of the big corporation shall not be abused. They must not be mulcted in future to pay dividends upon watered capital. The steel bounties have served their purpose, and ought not to be renewed when they expire a few years hence. The industry throughout the country is now firmly established. It has passed the stage of infancy and it can thrive on a reduced allowance of public "pap." The concentration of the interests of Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel is justified by special circumstances, but it is to be hoped the merging process will not be carried further. The Canadian people want no reproduction of the conditions across the line, where the steel industry is practically under a single control. They will watch jealously the new development and they will exepect Parliament to protect them.

A PROHIBITION FIASCO.

(Toronto Globe.)

When the Ontario Government decided not to issue liquor licenses in Cobalt the policy was warmly commended as a material advance for the cause of prohibition. The besetting evil of mining camps was to be eliminated, and an effective restriction was to show the way toward better conditions. The new town was springing into existence; there were no vested interests to consider and no established practices to dislodge. All conditions were favourable for an experiment that would show what could be done in the direction of practical restraint. The eyes of the Province were on Cobalt, for everyone believed that the Government was sincere.

Experience has proved lamentably disappointing. Instead of prohibition there has been virtual free sale of intoxicating liquor. The officials of the Government, whether acting under instructions or not, have allowed the sale to continue without even the restraints of a license system. The only interference with the sellers is by a system of periodical raids and fines. The revenue collected goes largely to the Province. Under a license system the municipality would derive the greater part of the revenue. These fines are so systematized that a large number of the recognized sellers are brought to court at once. In fact that the business is allowed to continue during the intervals between raids shows that there is no serious intention of enforcing the law. Premier Whitney and his Ministers simply laughed in the face of the prohibition party of Ontario by announcing an important measure and absolutely failing to keep their promise. Prohibition must not be judged by Cobalt. It is the Government that is on trial in that town.

KIDNEYS ACT FINE AND BACKACHE GOES

A Few Doses Regulate Disordered Kidneys and End Bladder Misery.

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vaniah, and you will feel fine.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick-feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination(especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

Feeling miserable and worried is needless, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realise it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means clean, active, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

WHY THEY LIKE CANADA

Under the heading "Canada and the South," the Evening Times of Grand Forks, N.D., publishes the following:

"Within a year 75,000 American farmers, most of them from the middle west, have sought homes in Canada, where land is cheap. Now comes a belated complaint, or injury, from the south of our own country, as to why these 75,000 did not seek sunnier climes. The south has cheap land, it announces, and needs energetic farmers to till them.

"There are, at least, two reasons why. Canada advertises judiciously and persistently. Canada hasn't a great deal to brag of in the way of climate but its government governs. The south, on the other hand, advertises, but not in the way to attract settlers. The average western farmer is a man of peace. He is also a man of ideas and opinions. He wants to live in a land where he may enjoy one and express the other without becoming a pincushion for buckshot and other well-known southern arguments. Night riders and feuds are worse than blizzards. It is better to raise wheat in peace, than cotton, tobacco, sugar cane, and rice amidst an armed neutrality in which the armed part is more certain than the neutral."

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Peterborough People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Booth's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Peterborough cures are the proof.

Mrs. R. Duncan, of 115 McDonnel street, Peterborough, Ont., says:

"Some thirteen years ago I suffered with a severe attack of LaGrippe that had up until this spring left me in a weakened and miserable condition. The kidneys had been disordered through this and became so inactive that doctors had pronounced Bright's disease and termed my case incurable. My back was very weak and the pains across the kidneys were most excruciating. I was unable to sleep through the night, the desire to urinate was so frequent and irregular. The urine was highly coloured and contained a quantity of whitish sediment. I became so discouraged through my years of suffering that I had no care for anything. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at Jury & McDermid's Pharmacy and I tried them. The first box convinced me of their merits. I used three boxes of Booth's Kidney Pills and have been entirely cured. I am like a new person, well and strong, and can sleep through the night and awake refreshed and ready for the day."

Blacksmithing and Woodworking Business For Sale

The undersigned offers for sale his blacksmithing and woodworking business, situated on the side line between Peterborough and Norwood at former P. O. The blacksmith shop building is two stories, 33 x 42, with cement floor, and cement forge. The upper story is the full size of the blacksmith shop (Unfl). Attached to the blacksmith shop is the post office building, which may be entered from the blacksmith shop. Adjoining is a first class brick dwelling, with frontage 18 and 35 feet, with kitchen. It is an L-shaped house with cement cellar. Also verandah and beautiful lawn. There is a good stable, with cement floor, three stalls, with straw barn attached. The land comprises one-half acre. This is one of the best blacksmith stands in the County of Peterborough. The farmers all patronize this shop. My reason for giving up business is on account of having one of my legs fractured I am unable to continue the shoeing. For further particulars, write to

LONGBOAT AND SHERRING IN A FIVE MILE RACE..

Hamilton, Nov. 17.—(Special).—At last arrangements have been made for Tom Longboat and Billy Sherring, the famous Marathoner, to hook up in a five mile race. It is to be run at Chatham on the 30th of this month and is probably intended as a feeler out as to how the public will take to the professional racing game this season. Ever since Sherring, the hero of Athens, the first Canadian to win an Olympic Marathon, turned professional, efforts have been made to match him with Longboat. The five-mile is undoubtedly a preliminary to a real race, the full Marathon distance, later in the season, the intention being to pull off five, ten, fifteen, twenty and twenty-six mile races in different Canadian cities. Montreal will get one of the big races.

VARSITY NOT STALE

Dr. Barton, the Physical Director, Denies Report That They Lost in Montreal Because the Men Were Overworked.

ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

Dr. Barton, director of physical work at Toronto University, takes issue with the statement advanced by The Varsity, the University organ, that the Intercollegiate champions lost to McGill because they were stale.

"The boys are not stale," he says. "Captain Newton undoubtedly has overworked, both mentally and physically, for he has been tireless in his efforts to do the best for the team.

"But all the rest are in good shape. Mr. Griffith has been handling them carefully. Down at McGill the boys played a steady game, taking no chances, and saving themselves as much as possible for the Dominion championship match. They were not beaten because of not trying, however, for they did. The field was very soft, handicapping both teams, but especially ours. McGill deserve credit for their victory. They played particularly well on the line.

Must Play to Form.

"Varsity will be in good shape to meet the Interprovincial winners. There isn't much doubt that the Tigers will defeat Ottawa. If the students play anywhere near to form they will win out in the final. It will only take one or two of Lawson's fumbles to lose it, but he will surely put up a careful game. The team will try to keep things going evenly this week and next, avoiding the possibility of accidents or of over-training.

"In my opinion, condition will win the game.

"Over-training is worse than under-training, and Tigers certainly are not likely to be over-trained. The interval allowed for injuries in the Intercollegiate Union, is only two minutes, as compared with five in the Interprovincial. Varsity players, therefore, have to be in better condition to allow for shorter rests."

O'BRIEN AFTER ALF KAUFFMAN

Philadelphia Jack is Looking for a Match With the Big Fellow.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, the pet of society pugilists, after camping on the trail of big heavyweights without success in arranging a match, finally comes forward with a bold defi to all experts in the handling of the stuffed mitts who rank in the big set. While O'Brien is willing to take on Jeffries or Johnson, so he says, he directs his bold challenge more emphatically at Kaufman, the heavy-weight pugilist from the coast.

O'Brien says he is tired of hearing Kaufman complaining of not being able to get on a fight and he is willing to make any kind of match the Californian desires. Philadelphia Jack's first move in coaxing Kaufman to step into the ring with him was to post a forfeit of $1,000 to fight the westerner any number of rounds at any place.

In explaining the conditions of the proposed fight, O'Brien said: "I am not afraid to box any man in the world. The $1,000 forfeit goes to bind any kind of match with Kaufman, and I will make the conditions to please him, so that he will not have any excuse to refuse the match. When Al and I were to have met in San Francisco, his manager backed out and took on Johnston instead. Kaufman is here now and this is my offer. I will guarantee to stop him in 20 rounds if he will go that distance or will bet him I can outpoint him in six rounds. He has a big advantage over me in weight, but I consider myself a candidate in the heavyweight class.

"All he has to do is to cover my forfeit and I will talk business at once, if Kaufman does not want my name I am willing to meet Jeffries in a six-round bout in Philadelphia or elsewhere, or I will be pleased to sign for six to twenty rounds with Johnson. I have had a long rest and feel confident that I can go along now better than ever. At least I am ready to try, and the first good man can have my game."

RUGBY

No officials yet for the Tiger-Ottawa game Saturday.

The Rough Riders may be forced to practise indoor for the rest of the week, owing to the bad weather.

Parkdale seniors are after Maynard, of Varsity II., the star half of that team.

If Petrolea win from St. Michaels' Saturday the final junior O.R.F.U. game will be played in Petrolea.

In the junior Interprovincial, Galt and Tigers III. meet at Hamilton in the first home and home game in the junior semi-finals.

The total number of applications for seats for the Yale-Harvard game was 47,183. The seating capacity of the stadium is 35,000, of which number 16,000 has been allotted to Yale.

In the past three years Tigers and Ottawa have met seven times, and the Hamiltonians have been victorious on four occasions, each team winning their home games.

We are just afraid that Parkdale seniors will not have their team work down very well on Saturday when they go up against the T.A.A.C. seniors at Varsity Field.—Toronto News.

Despite rumours to the contrary, Bert Stronach will play with the Ottawas in the Interprovincial saw-off here on Saturday. Stronach has not been at practice since the match at Hamilton.

There are some who say that the senior O.R.F.U. play-off between Parkdale and T.A.A.C. will be more brilliant than the Big Four play-off at Rosedale. Be that as it may, the crowd will undoubtedly take the longest route Saturday.—Toronto News.

OUTSIDER'S OPINION

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—May I take the liberty to urge upon your numerous readers to attend the lecture to-night on the subject "Christian Science." Perhaps there are some citizens in Pe-Peterborough, as well as elsewhere, to whom the mention of Christian science may act as an old rag does to an infuriated bull, simply because they know no more about it than what prejudice has done to inflame their minds against it. But I venture to hope that only a very small ratio take this attitude and that the masses are desirous of having an open ear for the truth.

The gentleman who is to lecture is a very able exponent of Christian science. His voice has been heard in many of the principal cities of the world, and his lucid addresses have been the means of teaching many that Christ's mission was to the whole man, body and soul. Prof. Herman S. Hering has the honour of being the son of the late Dr. Constantine Hering, whom Hahnemann called "The Father of Homoeopathy in America. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania from the department of Mechanical Engineering.

In 1899 he gave up his profession for the purpose of devoting himself entirely to Christian Science work, and was a practitioner reader, and teacher in Baltimore.

In 1906 he was called to Concord, New Hampshire, to become the First Reader of the Christian Science Church of that city, and has recently completed his three-year term of office there. Much more might be said of Prof. Hering's abilities, but this ought to suffice.

It is certainly right and fair that Christian science be understood. Is it not wholly inconsistent with the teachings of the Bible to tell our children of the glorious promises contained in the work of God, and then to tell them, that night and day, they are surrounded by bacteria, microbes, and all sorts of diseased germs? That though man is supposed to be at the head of creation, having dominion over all things, he is in constant danger from cold, fatigue, and accidents? If "the price of wisdom is above rubies," surely it is worth while to do a little searching for that wisdom. OUTSIDER.

Americans Still Pouring Into Canada's Great West

Steady Increase in Immigration to Prairie Provinces—New Arrivals are Being Evenly Distributed Over the Different Provinces.

IDEA OF THE INCREASE

Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—The influx of American farmers into western Canada has apparently reached the stage of a continuous performance, and the proximity of winter does not seem to cause any reaction. Indeed, the tendency is progressive, if the statistics of the past three months be a criterion. The number of immigrants who came across the boundary in August was 3,879, as compared with 3,091 in August, 1908; in September there were 4,652, as compared with 3,239 in September, 1908; and in October there were 8,250, as compared with 3,179 in October, 1908. The total for the three months is therefore, 13,781, as compared with 9,509 last year an increase of 4,572 or 48 per cent. The increase for October alone is 2,071, or 65 per cent., and it is the feature of the Government returns which carries the greatest significance. It indicates that the movement is not only prolonged to an unusual degree, but it is showing a relatively greater activity now than at any other time in the past. When it is considered that no less than 5,250 persons from the western States took up their residence in this country in one month in the fall, a calculation as to what will take place in the spring is almost impossible. It is natural to expect a fairly heavy immigration during the first six months of the calendar year. Past experience has also shown a diminution in the arrivals after midsummer. July and August have usually been good months for the movement, but their record has not been remarkable. From September to the close of the year the movement has sagged, with a decided lull in the holiday season and a resumption of activity in January. This year of grace is striking out along a new line. Not satisfied with what was accomplished in the sphere of colonization up to harvest time, 1909 has undertaken to keep alive the enthusiasm for the remaining months. Last year the dwindling away began with the close of September. There are indications that both November and December will show up well by comparison, although it is not to be supposed that the mark set by October will be passed. Winter can usually be counted on to arrive about the middle of November, and immigration is naturally light in the cold weather.

MISTAKES OF LIFE

Judge Rentoul addressed the Bartholomew Club, London, recently, on "The Fourteen Mistakes of Life," which, he said, were:

To attempt to set up your own standard of right and wrong.

To try to measure the enjoyment of others by our own.

To expect uniformity of opinion in this world.

To look for judgment and experience in youth.

To endeavour to mould all dispositions alike.

Not to yield in unimportant trifles.

To look for perfection in our own actions.

To worry ourselves and others about what cannot be remedied.

Not to alleviate if we can all that needs alleviation.

Not to make allowances for the weaknesses of others.

To consider anything impossible that we cannot ourselves perform.

To believe only what our finite minds can grasp.

To live as if the moment, the time, the day, were so important that it would live forever.

To estimate people by some outside quality, for it is that within which makes the man.

Bridgenorth Church Reopens After Great Improvements

Special to The Examiner.

Bridgenorth, Nov. 17.—As announced in the Examiner some weeks ago, the Young Ladies' Guild held their bazaar in the Foresters' Hall. They had it beautifully decorated, with Autumn leaves, flowers, etc. Besides the beautiful and useful fancy articles which they had made there were cream candies of every variety, grapes, ice cream and a lunch which would have compared favourably with many a "tea." The net proceeds of the evening were $110.00.

For some weeks the church has been closed, owing to the thorough renovation and decorations that were going on. A splendid roof of steel shingles has taken the place of the cedar one, which was showing signs of old age. The seats in the rear part of the church are elevated allowing a full view of the pulpit. The whole church, inside and outside, from the ceiling to the basement, has been repainted, the pews and wainscoting being done in dark oak. The Ladies' Aid saw to the carpeting of the aisles, pulpit, and choir platform, and the young ladies of the Guild installed a gasoline gas plant, so that we now have one of the most chaste, neat and beautifully lighted churches to be seen any where.

The re-opening services were held on Sunday, Nov. 14th. The sermons, morning and evening were preached by the Rev. D. S. Houck, of Wellington, Chairman of the Picton District, who was the pastor of the church when it was dedicated some twenty years ago, and were appreciated by all. A statement of the cost and an appeal for contributions were made by the pastor, Rev. S. Crookshanks. The total cost, he said, was over $750.00. To meet this there was on hand about $250.00, leaving a balance to be provided for of $500.00. The congregation was asked to put $250.00 on the plates. A free-will offering was taken at both morning and evening services. At the close of the evening service it was found that the offerings for the day were $308.61, which showed how thoroughly the congregation appreciated the excellent work that had been done.

Messrs. Johnston and Edwards of Peterborough, did the decorating.

CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH

Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, Ont. writes: "My three boys had whooping cough and we could get nothing to help them until we used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. This was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

KEEP RECORD OF INDIVIDUAL COWS

To what class does each of your dairy cows belong? A business man bends his energies towards making every dollar expended earn as much a it possibly can. From some October records received from members of cow testing associations it would seem that many cows are not expected to earn anything above the bare cost of feed from now till next spring. But here and there are cows in another class altogether, giving as high as 750 lb. milk and 23 lbs. fat in October, not freshly calved but cows that freshened in April or May. Supposing the ordinary factory patron divides his cows into just two classes, those that pay, and those that do not pay. Is he even then in a position to place each cow unerringly? Has he records to show how much milk or fat each cow gives month by month, and how much her feed costs? Such records are not only very easily kept, but are invaluable if determining which cows are paying the best profit and which are just on the pension list. With this information at hand it will be but a natural step to let one or two go off to the butcher, thereby saving unprofitable labour, while the grain they would have consumed may be used in further development of those that are naturally fitted for turning it economically into milk and butter fat. Keep records, keep no drones, but keep only such cows as prove themselves by the records to be in the top class, producing plenty of milk from a reasonable amount of suitable feed.

"THE CASH GIRL" NOT COMING

Date of the Visit of the Big Musical Show Has Been Changed.

Owing to a change in the route, made necessary for business reasons, "The Cash Girl" Company, which was billed to appear at the Grand to-morrow night, will not be seen here until some date later on in the season. People who have purchased tickets for to-morrow night's production, may have their money refunded by calling at the box office.

"ALL CHARLEY'S FAULT"

Again Presented to a Large Audience Last Evening.

The farce comedy, "All Charley's Fault," was repeated to a large audience at St. Peter's hall last evening. WEDDING BELLS

CLARKE—HUTCHISON.

At the George St. Methodist church parsonage at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the wedding was quietly celebrated of Mr. Alexander Wellington Clarke, of Millbrook, to Miss Ethel Hutchison, of Millbrook. The bridesmaid was Miss Edith Hutchison, of Cavanville, and the groom was assisted by Mr. Walter Mitchell, of Millbrook. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Pearson.

OTTENOT-CUNNINGHAM.

Mr. Edward Ottenot, of Buffalo, N. Y., was united in marriage to Miss Ella M. Cunningham, of Peterborough, at the George St. Methodist parsonage at 3.30 p.m. yesterday by Rev. E. A. Pearson. The young couple were attended by Miss Ella Argue and Mr. Fred Sanderson, of Peterborough. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ottenot left for their home in Buffalo, where they will reside in future.

The Maish Comfort

Laminated Cotton Down.

Winter is here again with the snapping cold days and colder nights. When you go to bed the house is cosy and warm. You damp the furnace or stoves down and before morning the house has cooled down considerably and perhaps the air is quite chilly throughout the house. "Well, that's alright", you say ; but have you kept this cool air from penetrating your bedding and cooling you too ? Have you planned on this feature when going to bed by throwing a "Maish Comfort" over you ?—a comfort light as air, yet warm as the heaviest quilt your great-grandmother pieced together and filled with heavy, soggy cotton batting We have all the new designs in all qualities of Silk and Silkoline filled with the "Laminated Cotton Down" at prices ranging from $1.00 to $15.00.

WILL SEND INSTRUCTORS

From Farm and Dairy.

The Department of Agriculture is arranging to send its Instructors to annual meetings of cheese factories and creameries. It is to be hoped that the producers, generally, will take advantage of this opportunity to get into closer touch with the excellent system of instruction which is now carried on by the Department in co-operation with the Dairymen's Association. Much has been done to improve the sanitary conditions in factories as well as bettering the method of cooling and caring for milk upon the farm. The uniformity and quality of the Canadian cheese is the strongest evidence of the results following this work. We must, however, continue to improve if we are to maintain the place which we now hold in the best markets.

The proprietors or managers of factories and creameries should make application for assistance by writing direct to Mr. Frank Herns, London Chief Dairy Instructor for Western Ontario, or Mr. G. G. Publow, Kingston, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario.

Speakers will be sent upon the conditions indicated :

(a) That a well-heated and lighted hall or other suitable place be provided for the meeting, free of cost to the Department.

(b) That some responsible person connected with the factory concerned will send printed or written notice to every patron of the factory as well as to other farmers in the locality who would likely be interested in attending a meeting devoted to the betterment of conditions surrounding the dairy trade. This notice should contain place and hour of meeting, and such other particulars as will give a clear idea of the nature of the meeting.

(c) That a copy of the program be sent to the Chief Instructor concerned; either G. G. Publow, Dairy School Kingston, for Eastern Ontario; or Frank Herns, Bank of Toronto Chambers, London, for Western Ontario.

(d) That the speakers sent will be given one half to three quarters of an hour at least in which to address the meeting and direct the discussion along such lines as he considers of most profit.

(e) The following order of business for the meeting is suggested :

1. Reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting and the adoption of the same. 2. Address by a representative of the Department. 3. The Report of the Factory for the past year. 4. Discussion of the annual Report of the Factory. 5. Additional business.

(f) That an official of the factory concerned will provide transportation, except by rail, for the speaker, and also entertain him while at the place of meeting.—G. A. Putnam, Director of Dairy Instruction.

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous and who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of a vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly, no one need know of another's trouble, while the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

NOVEL ARRANGEMENT

From Farm and Dairy.

The following simple arrangement has proved to be a great convenience in our house. A pipe has been laid under the wood house into our wash room, the outside end of the pipe emptying into a ditch near by. A pail with a funnel shaped bottom made to fit this pipe completes the convenience. On wash day when it is desired to empty the washing machine, we simply pull the plug and let the water run into this pail through which and its connections the water runs to the afore-mentioned ditch and thus saves all labor of lifting the dirty water to the sink or carrying it out in pails as is so commonly done.

We have a cistern pump in this wood house and also the spring water on tap. With these conveniences our wood house proves to be a very handy place in which to wash.—Mrs J. S. Williams, Northumberland Co.

A FEW POINTERS

From Farm and Dairy.

If breeders would learn to cull closer, success would come much quicker.

No flock of fowls, regardless of breed will bring a profit to their owners unless they are properly cared for.

Clover is a tonic for the fowls and promotes digestion and largely assists the elements for egg production.

Grit is necessary. Keep a box of grit before your fowls now and do not neglect it. It is their teeth.

Most hens prefer the trap nest to lay in; as a rule they are semi-dark and this just suits biddy.

Eggs are now higher in price and you can well afford to spare a little extra time now with the poultry, in feeding and care.

There is a way to realise a profit from your poultry during the winter months, but it is not the way of the average farmer.

Don't close up everything tight, just because cold weather is here; fresh air and sunshine are two necessities for perfect health of the fowls, but drafts must be avoided.

New resolutions will soon be in order and why not begin now to think what new ones you will make in the poultry yard? If you begin to consider now, your new resolutions will contain no mistake, but will be for future advancement.

RUGBY

The Executive of the Western District of the Interprovincial decided that the Tiger-Dundas intermediate game last Saturday won by the Tigers, should be replayed. The replayed match would be considered as a sudden death game to decide the championship.

The winners of the Tiger II. Dundas game will meet the winners of the Ottawa II. Grand Trunk game for the privilege of meeting the R. M. C. team, Intercollegiate winners, for the Canadian intermediate championship.

Parkdale senior are after Rankin, the inside wing of the Varsity seconds, and McPherson, captain of the Varsity thirds, to play with them in their engagement with the Crimsons at Varsity Field Saturday. The junior Paddlers want Gerald Green, the captain of the intermediates, to play for them against T.A.A.C. juniors, 'tis rumoured.

The semi-final game of the O.R.F.U. junior series will be played in Toronto on Saturday between St. Michael's College and Petrolea. Jack McDonald and Hugh Ritchie, of Varsity, will be the officials. The final, with the winners of Group No. 2, will be played on the grounds of the winner of the St. Michael's-Petrolea game.

Ardent supporters of the Ottawa football team were somewhat shaken in confidence by the score of the game in Hamilton. 30 to 5 looks, and is a big licking. Take the circumstances of that defeat, however, study out just how well Ottawa was holding Tigers till that disastrous fourth quarter when both outside wings were lost together with the full back at the same time. Leave out that fourth period when the teams were on equal footing, and stack up the Ottawa team that played through the previous three quarters, and compare the relative strength with Tigers. Which team had the edge? Leave out the third period and there was nothing to it but Ottawa. Of course, every team is subject to bad periods, and Ottawa may have another next Saturday. So might Tigers. They are playing on neutral ground, and will not be within twenty five per cent. of their strength of the day they beat Ottawa in Hamilton.

One might also study the betting. Tigers are offering 3 to 2. In Hamilton the odds were out to twice that amount. That shows pretty well the pulse of the Tiger supporters and they hope out form to a nicety up there. Tigers will have a big crowd in Toronto Saturday, so will Ottawa. That equal division of support is going to affect both teams. Under the blare of their own horns, Tigers play like mad. With support from the opposition they aviate. That was evident in the game with Ottawa at Varsity Oval, Oct. 9th. Tigers must have all the support or they can't play. They are great front runners and against a weak team will roll up a thousand points if time admits. In adversity, they fail. Perhaps things will not break so well next Saturday as they did in Hamilton. It is not probable Moore will shine as he did on his own field. That was the first time he ever showed any form against an Ottawa team. Then those backs are not apt to handle the ball with such precision as they did in Hamilton. And again Tigers will not show the slugging propensities at Rosedale they did under the mountain. They were real bad in front of that crowd of theirs.

The reticence from the Ottawa camp is ominous. There seems to be little said but lots of determination in evidence. There is no use making comparisons of the teams. Each is as good now as it ever was. The better team will win on Saturday be it Tigers or Ottawa.—Ottawa Free Press.

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

THREE NEW TEAMS IN CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE
THE ANNUAL MEETING WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

C. G. GRAHAM,
Re-elected President of the City Hockey League last night.

Six Clubs Were Represented and Prospects are Very Bright—Players Drafted by O. H. A. Team Will be Eligible in the City League — Officers Re-elected.

At least six clubs will fight it out in the City Hockey League this winter, and the organisation has never started a season under more encouraging auspices.

The annual meeting of the City League was held last evening in the Oriental Hotel parlours, and was the most successful and enthusiastic in the history of the League. Six clubs were represented, paid their entrance fee, and were admitted into the League. Three of these are new teams representing respectively Keene, the Collegiate Institute and the Chieftains A. C. last year champions of the junior City League, who have decided to take a step upward this season. The old clubs in line are the Strathconas, T. A. S. and West Ends. Several important changes were made in the rules and a motion was put through that should prove of the greatest benefit to hockey in general in Peterborough, i.e., a resolution that permits City League players to participate in games for the senior O. H. A. team without affecting their City League status.

President C. G. Graham was in the chair, and there were present Dr. McWilliams and Mr. McDougall, representing the Keene Club; W. J. Metheral, Strathconas; Jack Oldham, West Ends; Jack Deannard and Jos. Picard, T. A. S.; W. Gibson, Collegiate Institute; Art Hall and Harry Munro, Chieftains, and Secretary-Treasurer F. D. Craig.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed, after which Secretary Treasurer Craig read the following report:

Report of City Hockey League for the Season of 1908-09.

It affords me much pleasure in presenting the Secretary-Treasurer's annual report to be able to say that the season of 1908-09 may be considered as having been very successful. Five teams competed for the Examiner Trophy, and it was the happy fate of the Lakefield Hockey Club to carry off the championship, a feat upon which they are the more entitled to hearty congratulations when their plucky fight for the title in other years is taken into consideration. Since the inception of the League the Lakefield team has always been a contender in the struggle, and I am sure that in congratulating them once more on this occasion I am but voicing the sentiments of every other team in the League and the great mass of hockey fans as well. New clubs in the League last season were the Belmonts and the West Ends, both of which with new players made a creditable showing.

I am glad to be able to report that the grade of hockey displayed in the City League last season was fully up to the high standard set in other years. The games were for the most part warmly but cleanly contested and the public saw good hockey all through the fight for the championship. The League also lived up to its mission of supplying players for the Peterborough senior team, and, during the season Ray. Dusty, and Long, of the Strathconas; Derocher, of the T. A. S., and Quinn, of the Lakefield team, were of service to the seniors. The officers of the League and the management of the O. H. A. team worked in harmony, and the result was beneficial to both. I would suggest that an effort should be made this year to preserve that harmony by making it possible that any City League players that may be called upon to help out the seniors may still be eligible in the City League. Any rule that would prevent this privilege would be a detriment to the interests of hockey in Peterborough, and would not prove of any material interest to the City League.

From a financial standpoint I regret to say that the results were not as gratifying as they have been in other years. As will be seen from the financial statement, the gate receipts only totalled $196.20, as compared with $210.70 in 1907-08, while the total receipts of monies in trust for the League amounted to $226.20, which, after the expenses had been paid, left $72.75, to be divided among the five teams of the League. The League account shows a balance of $8.95.

The falling off in the revenue of the League, in regard to gate receipts, is not to be attributed to any lack of interest on the part of the public. The chief reason is undoubtedly the number of season tickets that were sold by each team, prior to the opening of the schedule. There were four local teams in the race, and as each club was given 75 tickets to sell at 50c, there were three hundred people from whom no revenue came into the hands of the League during the season, and the gate receipts naturally suffered. The present system of selling season tickets helps the clubs at the beginning of the season as it gives them a revenue when perhaps it is most needed, but the clubs would undoubtedly fare better on the whole if the practice was done away with entirely. In any event it seems but reasonable to suggest that the number of tickets should be reduced. However, this is a matter for the clubs themselves to decide.

The season was brought to a fitting close by a banquet in honour of the champion Lakefield team. This was held in the Oriental Hotel, and was the most successful affair of its kind in the history of the League. This was due in no small measure to the kindness of our president, Mr. C. G. Graham, and of our Hon Vice-President, Mr. G. N. Graham, who enabled the League to arrange the banquet at a cost that was decidedly low in view of the completeness of the arrangements made.

It is a pleasure to be able to report that the entire season was completed without the slightest unpleasantness, that there was not a protest during the year, and that after the schedule was drawn up not another meeting of the Executive was needed, the season being completed smoothly and satisfactorily.

There is every reason to hope for a good season this year if the officers are given the same sincere cooperation by the teams of the League that they have been accorded in other years.

Respectfully yours,
FRED D. CRAIG,
Secretary-Treasurer.

The question of allowing City League players to participate in O. H. A. games for the Peterborough team was discussed and it was the general feeling that no hindrance should be placed in the way of the Peterborough Clubs using City League players, if necessary.

It was moved by Dr. McWilliams, seconded by Secretary Craig, that players in the City Hockey League, if required to assist the Peterborough O. H. A. tem be allowed to play such games without interfering with their status in the City League.—Carried.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Patrons and Patronesses — Mayor and Mrs. Rush, Dr. and Mrs. Gibson, (Lakefield), Dr. and Mrs. Wightman, Dr. and Mrs. McWilliams, (Keene), Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Merrell.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.

Hon. Vice-Pres.—Mr. R. A. Morrow.

President—C. G. Graham, (re-elected.)

First Vice-President—E. N. McWilliams (re-elected.)

Second Vice-President—John Oldham.

Secretary-Treasurer—Fred D. Craig, (re-elected.)

It was decided on motion of Messrs. Oldham and Metheral to do away with the system of season tickets as suggested in the Secretary's report. It has been found that while the custom gave the Clubs a revenue at the beginning of the season they really lost in the end, and it was deemed advisable to do without season tickets at all this year.

On motion of Messrs. Hall and Deannard, the Secretary was authorized to have the players' certificates issued.

Mr. Deannard moved, seconded by Mr. Gibson, that the certificates be issued to the teams at the meeting of the League at which the schedule is drawn up.

On motion of Mr. Deannard, seconded by Dr. McWilliams, the president and Secretary were appointed a committee to wait upon the management of the Brock Street Rink to make arrangements for the use of the rink for games.

Mr. Metheral moved, seconded by Dr. McWilliams, that the City League games be played on Wednesday nights this year, instead of on Thursday nights as was the case last year.—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. Craig and Metheral the account of Mr. John Thirnbeck for services in taking tickets last winter during the League season, was ordered to be paid.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at the call of the President to draw up the schedule.

E. N. McWILLIAMS,
Who was re-elected to the office of First Vice-President of the City Hockey League last night.

FRED A. CLARKE,
A life member of the executive of the City Hockey League and who is greatly responsible for the success of the big organization.

CANADA'S EXPENSES ESTIMATED AT ABOUT NINETY-TWO MILLIONS

Naval Fund is Included in the List--Harbours and Rivers Estimates---Over One Million Set Apart for Tren Canal Purposes.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister, laid on the table of the House of Commons yesterday afternoon the main estimates of expenditures for the year which will close March 31, 1911, or, in other words, the 1910-11 fiscal period. These call for a total expenditure, exclusive of any supplementary estimates which may be brought down, of $127,670,993. Of this, $91,891,578 will be chargeable to consolidated fund and income, an increase of $10,752,940 over the current fiscal year. The remainder, $35,779,415, will be charged to capital expenditure an increase of $5,294,675.

The capital expenditure will include the large sum of $31,981,415 for railways and canals, of which $27,000,000 is for the National Transcontinental Railway, an increase of $7,000,000 over the current year.

The total amount to be voted for Canada's naval service will be $3,676,500. For the navy proper, the vote will be an even three million dollars, the expenditure to include "the purchase, construction and maintenance of ships, the maintenance and upkeep of dockyards at Esquimault and Halifax, and the establishment and maintenance of training schools."

Other items included in the naval vote are $320,000 for hydrographic surveys, including a survey of the Hudson Bay, $281,580 for the fisheries protection service, and $75,000 to provide for the construction of a steamer for surveying the Gulf and River St. Lawrence.

Following is a statement of the proposed expenditure, under various heads, as proposed and compared with the sums voted for the current fiscal year:

	1909-10.	1910-11.
Civic government	$4,237,983	$4,436,983
Administration of justice	1,267,983	1,307,983
Penitentiaries	508,850	528,300
Arts, agriculture and statistics	948,500	1,114,000
Immigration	915,000	915,801
Militia and defence	4,815,150	6,876,700
Railways and canals	23,901,739	31,981,415
Public works	11,416,346	13,607,125
Mail subsidies, etc.	1,567,800	1,647,200
Ocean and river service	1,025,880	954,960
Lighthouse service	2,231,247	2,266,660
Fisheries	753,680	772,200
Indians	1,336,021	1,424,514
Customs	2,067,500	2,167,500

The principal increases in the militia vote come under the following heads: Transfer of amount to be voted for ordnance, arms, stores, equipment, etc., from capital account to income $1,300,000; annual drills, $312,300; pay allowance, $200,000, and salaries of civil employes, $75,000.

The miscellaneous votes include $15,000 to provide for the expenses of the conservation commission.

The following are some of the Ontario estimates: Kingston Penitentiary, salaries, etc., $151,200; Royal Military College, Kingston, $110,000; Trent Canal, $1,780,000; to pay damages to property by flooding $30,000, both chargeable to capital; $62,500 improvements chargeable to revenue Welland Canal, including $40,000 for Port Colborne improvements, and $80,000 for elevator, $138,500 chargeable to capital; $30,000 for repairs chargeable to capital, Port Arthur and Fort William, $800,000; Tiffin Harbor, $120,000; Victoria Harbor, $145,000; public works, chargeable to income; Chesley, public building, $15,000; Essex, postoffice, $15,000; Goderich, public building, $10,000; Harriston, public building, $15,000; Kingston, postoffice, $25,000; Kingston Military College improvements, $15,000; Leamington, public building, $15,000; Listowel, public building, $15,000; Mitchell, public building, $15,000; Mount Forest, public building, $15,000; Niagara Falls, armory, $50,000; Sarnia, armory, $20,000; Seaforth, public building, $15,000; Uxbridge, public building, $20,000; Wenend, public building, $10,000; Whitby, public building, $15,000; Windsor, public building, $5,000.

Harbors and rivers chargeable to income: Cobourg extension of breakwater, etc., $75,000; Colchester, wharf in Lake Erie, $10,000; Collingwood harbor extension, etc., $75,000; Goderich harbor improvements, $80,000; Gravenhurst, wharf, $4,000; Picnic Island channel, $45,000; Port Burwell harbor, $50,000; Port Stanley harbor, $9,0000; Providence Bay wharf and warehouse, Manitoulin, $3,650; St. Lawrence channel between Kingston and Brockville, $60,000; Ronleau harbor improvements, $200,000.

$63 I.C.R. Employes Fired.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Mr. Paquette was informed by Hon. Mr. Graham, in the House yesterday, that 503 employes of the I.C.R. had been dismissed since the appointment of the new board of management.

Mr. Graham informed Mr. Jamieson that $18,118,133 had been expended to date by the N.T.R. Commission, exclusive of sums paid to contractors for construction of roadbed under contract. There were 1,434 employes of the commission, at a monthly salary of $108,133.

E. N. Lewis introduced two bills, one to provide that there be a load line on ships on the great lakes, and the other to insist upon the installation of wireless telegraphy on vessels.

Meeting Would Be In Contempt.

Port Arthur, Nov. 19.—James Conmee, M.P., called a public meeting for last evening to discuss the power issue, and invited the mayor and council to be present to speak on behalf of the Hydro-Electric Commission agreement, as opposed to his project for the Ontario and Michigan Power Co.

The mayor issued a letter declining to attend, and asking the people not to take part, as being contempt of court while the case was being under appeal.

The Real Candy Kids!

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Four little boys were arrested last night, charged with breaking into James Brown's confectionary store at 90 West Queen street Sunday last and stealing eight boxes of chocolates. Entry was made by a side window. The boys are: William Coomb, 13 years; Tom Patton, 13 years; Charles Chilton, 10 years; and John Black, 11 years.

Huyler's candy store on Yonge street was also entered Sunday and a quantity of candy stolen.

One Killed In Wreck.

Fort William, Nov. 19.—David Vance, brakeman, was instantly killed and J. J. Sheridan, engineer, is at McKellar Hospital with a fractured skull as the result of a wreck on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Crest, a small village 21 miles west of Fort William. While the train was running down hill at a high rate of speed a flat car with a ditcher caboose and engine left the rails and plunged head first down the embankment.

Pelican's Adventurous Voyage.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 19.—A 2,000 mile voyage under jury gear amid gales and through the treacherous waters of Hudson Strait and the Labrador coast, ended here yesterday, when the Hudson Bay steamer Pelican put into port. The steamer's propellers and rudder were broken shortly after she sailed from Fort Churchill.

First Nickel Steel Bridge.

Pittsburg, Nov. 19.—The American Bridge Co. has obtained the contract for the new municipal bridge over the Mississippi River at St. Louis. The contract calls for 17,000 tons of nickel steel, and it will be the first bridge of all-nickel steel in history. The cost of construction will aggregate about $1,750,000.

DEATH OF R. W. GILDER

Was Author of Several Volumes of Poetry and a Pillar of Literarture on This Continent—Succumbs to Angina Pectoris—Had an Active Career in Journalism and Literary Production in N.Y.

New York, Nov. 19.—Richard Watson Gilder, editor in chief of The Century Magazine since its foundation in 1881, and widely known as an author and lecturer, died unexpectedly of angina pectoris last night at the home of his sister, Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer. All of his children, with the exception of his daughter Rosemond, who is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis at the house of a friend, were at the bedside.

Richard Watson Gilder, A.M. (Harvard); L.H.D. (Princeton and Yale); LL.D (Dickinson and Wesleyan), was born at Bordentown, N.J., in 1844. When twelve years old, he was writing, setting the type for, and publishing The St. Thomas Register, at Flushing, L.I. Four years later he united with two young men in the production of a campaign newspaper supporting Bell and Evarts for Presidential honors. His interest in politics carried him into the great civil struggle then raging, and while still in his teens, he enlisted with Landis' Philadelphia battery, and served during the campaign of '63, when Pennsylvania was invaded by the confederate forces.

The death of his fatehr cut short a subsequent novitiate in the law, and thrown on his own resources, Gilder became first a railway paymaster and later editor of The Newark Morning Register, a daily, and "Hours at Home," a New York monthly published by Scribners. As The Register was losing money, Gilder sold out his interest, but the acquaintances he had made stood him in good stead, and when Scribner's Monthly was started, absorbing "Hours at Home," Mr. Gilder found himself, at the age of 26, in a position of honor, and high literary influence. For eleven years he was managing editor of Scribner's under Dr. Holland, and after Dr. Holland's death, the magazine underwent a further re-organization and change of ownership, Mr. Gilder became, in 1881, editor in chief of The Century Magazine, a position he held until his death.

Mr. Gilder published six books of verse among which are sonnets and lyrics that have found a setting in the American anthology, and have been rated by critics as sure to pass into the heritage of language. His best works are "The Celestial Passion," "Lyrics," "The Worlds," "The Great Remembrance," "In Palestine," "Poems and Inscriptions," "A Christmas Wreath," "A Book of Music."

Want Correspondent Fired.

Brantford, Nov. 19.—Brantford Trades and Labor Council are asking the Department of Labor for the removal of J. C. Watt, local correspondent to The Labor Gazette, on the ground that he is out of touch with labor conditions. He has been assessment commissioner here for three years. The council passed a resolution of sympathy to the American Labor leaders in convention at Toronto under sentence.

Convictions Quashed.

Berlin, Ont., Nov. 19.—Convictions by Police Magistrate Weir of the landlords of the Grand Central and American Hotels, charged a second time with selling liquor after hours, were quashed by Judge Chisholm yesterday. The evidence of Provincial Inspector Ayearst's two detectives, Gordon and Green, was discredited, owing to the contradictory stories they submitted. The hotelkeepers each had been fined $100 and costs.

Regulating Railway Rates.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Cost accounting must be applied to railroad accounts if supervision of rates by public officers is to be intelligent and fair. This was the position taken yesterday by Associate Justice O'Brien of the Supreme Court of Minnesota, in addressing the convention of the national association of railway commissioners.

War Against Church.

Rome, Nov. 19.—Pope Pius in an address to the French pilgrims whom he received yesterday, declared that France was making war against the church with an aim of undermining the basis of Christianity.

Is Not Resigning.

Quebec, Nov. 19.—Replying to rumors, Hon. Mr. Turgeon stated yesterday: "I have no intention of giving in my resignation, whether as legislative councillor or as president of council."

Boy's Leg Mangled, He Dies.

St. Thomas, Nov. 19.—Montague Shaw, a fourteen-year-old boy, died last evening in Amasa Wood Hospital, as the result of injuries received yesterday at the M.C.R. stone quarries, Hagersville. He was driving a horse, hitched to a stone dump-car. He slipped under the wheels and one leg was so crushed it had to be amputated.

Nitrate Steamer Blows Up.

New York, Nov. 19.—Cable advices received here yesterday tell of the destruction of the Norwegian steamer Bismarck by fire, and explosion in the Harbor of Iquique, Chile. No mention of loss of life is made. The steamer is of 3,050 tons register, was built in England this year. She was loading with nitrate.

Archbishop to Censor Plays.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—"We are going to submit all our plays to the archbishop for his approval before we put them on," was the statement made by Frank Charlebois, manager of the Academy, when asked as to how his plans for the future would be affected by reason of the archbishop's pastoral condemnation of the class of plays produced there.

"Your Sight is Priceless"
Good Glasses Are Worth All You Pay For Them.

The constant increase in Eye defects is partly due to improperly fitted Glasses. There is no guess work with us, we give your Eyes a thorough examination, and advise Glasses only when absolutely necessary.

WE are not transient, but permanent residents of the city, and all our Glasses are positively guaranteed. We do not make it a practice of remaining for a few days in a place, and then moving for parts unknown.

We have never resorted to deluge the unwary by advertising cut-rates on Glasses. Those who do business in this way, either deceive the public, or sooner or later come to grief themselves. Any business, to be a lasting success, must be conducted on a fair rate of profit; expert service and enduring articles cannot be furnished at or below cost. Intelligent people appreciate this fact, and this is one of the principal reasons why we have been so successful in the Optical Business.

Colonel John Sneed's Conversations on Domestic Problems

Copyright, 1909, by C. S. Yost.

II.—The Disillusionment of Matrimony.

ON his way downtown the other morning Colonel Sneed stopped at his daughter's house to deliver a lemon pie recipe intrusted to him with some misgivings by Mrs. Sneed. The front door was ajar, and, assuming the prerogative of a father, he entered without ringing the bell.

Young Mrs. Rollins was not expecting a visitor at that hour. Her attire was decidedly negligee. She had evidently slipped into the first thing that came handy when she arose and had deferred until a later and more convenient season most of the essentials of a woman's toilet. It is unnecessary to go into details.

"Good mornin', honey," said the colonel as he bent down for the affectionate salutation, and then as his eye took in her deficiencies he exclaimed:

"Why, child, what's the matter? Not sick, are you?"

"Oh, no, papa," replied his daughter, with a laugh. "I'm all right. But you shouldn't call on a lady so early, daddy, dear. I haven't dressed yet."

"Uh, huh; I see," he assented. "Makes an almighty lot of difference, don't it? Never caught you lookin' that way before you was married. Does—does William—was you wearin' that garb, honey, when he left you this mornin'?"

"APPEARANCES COUNT FOR A WHOLE LOT."

"Why, of course, papa. I can't dress before breakfast like I was going to a ball, can I? I have to do all my housework, and"—

"Yes, I know," interrupted the colonel, "but—but have you got the habit of goin' around like that?"

"I'm afraid I have, papa. But what is one to do? It takes time for a woman to dress. I have to get breakfast for Will. I can't cook or attend to any housework in my nice clothes, and even if I could it would take me so long to put them on he'd be late to the office. You know I'm without a servant just now, but if I had one I don't see how I could dress for breakfast. Besides, papa, all women go the same way in the morning."

"Yes, honey, I know the argument, but have you ever had your photograph taken in that mornin' costume?"

"Why, no, papa. Of course not."

"And if you had," went on the colonel, "would you want Bill to put it in a silver frame and sit it up on his desk where he could see it all day?"

"The very idea! I'd like to catch him making a show of me that way."

"Well, little girl, that's about what he does in fact. He carries a photograph of you all the time. It isn't on his desk, where other people can see it. It's fixed in a golden frame in his mind, and every once in awhile through the day it slips around in front of his mind's eyes, and he takes a long look at it. It isn't always the same picture he sees. Most of the time it's you as you would like to be seen, fixed up your prettiest, but sometimes it's you as he saw you last, as you looked when he left you in the mornin'. You know, dearie, you're mighty apt to remember a person by the appearance at partin', and the oftener Bill carries away with him a vision of breakfast time dowdiness the oftener it's goin' to pop into his view durin' the day until after a while it's goin' to throw out the other picture entirely.

"Appearances count for a whole lot in this world, and I believe they count for more in a man's feelin's toward a woman than in anything else. In nine cases out of ten it's appearances alone that attract a lad and a maid. That's part of the Almighty's scheme for bringin' men and women together. Every girl wants to look her best when her beau's comin' around, and that's right, that's nature. Didn't you rig up in the nicest clothes your pa's money could buy for you when Bill was doin' his courtin'? Didn't you prance around before a lookin' glass for an hour at a time tryin' to get everything just so and look your prettiest for him? Of course you did. And he's still carryin' some of those pictures around in his head, and once in awhile he gets them out and wonders why there's such a difference.

"There isn't any real difference, honey. It's just appearances. You haven't lost any good looks since you married. You're just as pretty and as sweet and as good as you were then—maybe a little more so. When you're all fixed up in the evenin' I have to admit that Mrs. William Jackson Rollins don't play second fiddle to Miss Sallie Sneed. You're all right then, little girl; you're all right now. But appearances have just as much to do with keepin' a man as they have with gettin' him, and the mornin' appearance has more influence than the evenin', for it stays longer; it goes downtown and spends the day with him.

"Now, I'm not sayin', my dear, that a woman ought to rig up in her best clothes before breakfast and go through all the funny business of a reception toilet. I don't mean that—not by a whole heap. That would be no more right than for Bill to go down to work in a full dress suit. There's a time for all things, as Shakespeare or Solomon remarked some time back, but I don't know of any proper time, honey, for dissolute kimonos, untied shoes and unkempt hair. These wrapper things the women have got to wearin' nowadays ought to be prohibited by law, if that would do any good. They were designed, I reckon, for the hours of luxurious ease and for loungin' around in a boudoir. Maybe they ain't so bad. But they wasn't cut out for workin' garbs. They're as much out of place in the kitchen as a velvet gown. Yet it's got so that half the women in this country fall out of bed every mornin' into more or less soiled and bedraggled kimonos. I think I'd be willin' to see a war with Japan just to get even with her for this kimono habit. It's a lazy dress, and I tell you, honey, it's downright demoralizin'—that's what it is. It's so easy to get on it makes a woman careless about everything else. Instead of bein' neat and trim as she ought to be in the mornin', whether she's doin' her work or overseein' it, she gets to lookin' dowdy and slouchy. You can't help it, little girl; it's the influence of the garb. And I'd be willin' to bet a horse against a second hand burro," and here the colonel pounded on the arm of his chair with his fist, "that kimonos have had a good deal to do with what they call the matrimonial unrest. A man goes off downtown leavin' his wife lookin' like she'd just escaped from a fire sale, an' the first thing he puts his eyes on at his office is a stenographer in a clean shirt waist. If you think he don't notice the difference you're badly mistaken, my dear. Maybe he don't make eyes at the typewriter girl, maybe his love is so strong it don't affect his feelings the least bit, but all the same he notices it. And I wouldn't take the risk, honey. But—my, my"—the colonel was looking at his watch—"I can't stay here all day preachin' to you. I've got to get down to the office. So goodby, little girl, and—say, I'll be over this evenin' to see how you look."

A STENOGRAPHER IN A CLEAN SHIRT WAIST.

It Pays to Do Right.

I've noticed—and I don't sleep except when I go to bed—I've noticed that the people who come nearest to bein' happy in this world are the ones who come nearest to doin' right. To do right all the time, to do the square thing by your friends and your enemies, by everybody as well as by yourself, is a pretty hard proposition, and there's mighty few—I doubt if there's any—that succeed entirely. But it's been my experience that it pays to try, and the dividends seem to be exactly in proportion to the success. We're all lookin' for happiness. We've got a good many different ideas about what it is, but whatever it is we want it, and if we've got hoss sense we want the brand that'll last the longest an' keep the best. That brand is especially prepared and reserved for those who do right, or as near right as they can. Nobody else can get even a smell of it. And there's no institution or agency that'll help a man to do right like the church. It's got the right of way on the straightaway track. It's got the road all surveyed and charted. There's lots o' people in the church that we don't like, and there's lots o' people in the church, no doubt, who don't like us. But take it all round the fact remains that the church people are the best people, not only in the spiritual but in the material sense. Don't forget that.—Colonel John Sneed.

Canada's Foreign Trade.

The foreign trade of Canada is expanding, there being another increase in both exports and imports for the month of August. Imports, however, are increasing much faster than exports. This is also true of the trade of the United States. It is argued there that the excessive imports mean that the trade is heavily discounting a return of enormous buying from the public. They did the same in 1895, also two years ago from the panic, and they over-discounted. Here, the large imports are no doubt being greatly encouraged by the flotation of so many Canadian securities in London, as well as the assurance that the future commerce of this country will be the greatest in its history. Usually the countries that have no occasion to rely on foreign capital for their industries, show excessive imports over exports. Great Britain in fact never has an export excess, while France in 1908 imported $165,000,000 more than it exported. The growth in Canada's exports are attributable in a large measure to increased production of wheat with an accompanying export supply. For instance, from the Harvest of 1900 the Dominion exported 9,359,000 bushels of wheat, from the 1905 harvest 41,906,000 bushels, and of last year's harvest 45,879,000 bushels. Exports of last year's harvest included also ten millions of bushels of wheat in the shape of flour, making a total for the year of about 56,000,000 bushels, or about 18,000,000 bushels less than the total quantity of wheat inspected for sale in the three prairie provinces.

Old Tree Gone.

Vancouver's historic old Balm of Gilead tree, to which Lewis and Clark are said to have tied their canoe in 1805, and which marked the landing point of the Hudson Bay Co. of fur traders in 1824, has fallen a victim to the waters of the Columbia River. This old tree, which stood on the bank of the river at the foot of Main street, was the starting point for all early surveys in Clark county and the western portions of Washington state. It marked the point where the city limits joined the military reservation. The tree was held in veneration by Vancouver people and people all over the Pacific Northwest who took an interest in matters of historic interest. The tree was about five feet in diameter at its base and was 75 feet high, being fully 50 feet across at its crown. A copper railroad spike is said to have been driven into the tree, and it was from this point all surveys began. This spike is now grown over, but it is likely that it will be chopped out and kept in the archives of the city.

Trying Out.

"Arctic travel and transportation are still experimental, are they not?"

"I suppose so, since they are still trying it on the dog."—Pittsburg Post.

MR. HERMAN DYING OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

Gin Pills passed the Stone

513 James St., Hamilton.

"Four years ago I was taken down with what the doctors called Inflammation of the Bladder—intense pains in the back and loins, great pain and difficulty in urinating. The pain was greatest in the region of the bladder, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony, and I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor. Doctors could do nothing to help me. My wife read in the paper about Gin Pills and sent for a box.

From the very first I felt that Gin Pills were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once, and the attacks were less frequent. In six weeks the Stone in the Bladder came away and the pain stopped entirely. I have had no return of the trouble and have not lost a day's work on account of it. I cannot express myself strong enough when I speak of what Gin Pills have done for me. When I remember how I suffered, and how now I am healthy and well and strong and able to do a full day's work, I feel I should speak and tell other sufferers of my experience and of the wonderful merits of Gin Pills."

JOHN HERMAN.

You don't have to buy Gin Pills to test them. Simply write The National Drug & Chemical Co. Dept. B. Toronto, and a free sample will be sent you by return mail. FIRE INSURANCE

The following legend taken from an enterprising Seedsman's Catalogue is not without a bearing on Fire Insurance :—

"Two years ago an Ontario Market Gardener saved four cents an ounce on the cost of half a pound of Cabbage Seed. In the fall he admitted that he was over $100 to the bad on the crop because the bargain seed had lacked vitality. Thirty-two cents saved—one hundred dollars lost. WAS IT WORTH WHILE?

Eggs—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 3402.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs Active and Higher at Buffalo.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Liverpool and London cables for cattle are firm, at 12¾c to 13¾c per lb. for live cattle, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10c to 10½c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—The railways reported 177 carloads of live stock for Wednesday and Thursday at the City Market, consisting of 2185 cattle, 4481 hogs, 3624 sheep and lambs, 171 calves and 4 horses.

Exporters.

There were no export steers offered, consequently there were none sold for export.

T. Connors bought a load of export bulls, weighing from 1320 to 1900 lbs. each, at $3.25 to $4.75 per cwt.

Butchers.

George Rowntree bought 760 cattle for the Harris Abattoir. Butchers' steers and heifers, at $4.20 to $5.25; cows, $3.75 to $4.60; bulls, $3.50 to $4.75 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. Murby reports a fairly brisk trade, with larger receipts of stockers and feeders than usual. All of good quality were bought up by good time, and even the common light stockers were disposed of more readily than usual. Mr. Murby bought 350 cattle at following quotations: Best steers, 900 to 1000 lbs., at $4 to $4.50; steers, 800 to 900 lbs. each, at $3.50 to $3.90; good stockers, 600 to 700 lbs. each, at $3.75 to $3.25; common stockers, $2 to $2.25.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a strong market for a large delivery of milkers and springers, several buyers from Montreal, Ottawa and Cookstown, as well as many dairymen and farmers in the vicinity of Toronto. The many sales reported below show that prices ranged from $35 to $75 each.

Veal Calves.

Moderate receipts of veal calves sold readily at $5 to $6.50, and a few extra quality at $7 to $7.50 per cwt. More good to choice veals would have sold.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were large and prices firmer. Export ewes, $5.50 to $6, culls and rams, $3.50 to $5; lambs, $6.50 to $6, or an average of $6.75 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices were unchanged for to-day, but Mr. Harris and in fact all the dealers' prospects are for lower quotations. Selects, fed and watered, $7.65, and $7.40, f.o.b. cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Nov. 18.—Cattle—Receipts, steady; prime steers, $6.75 to $7.

Veals—Receipts, 75 head; active and 25c higher, $5 to $8.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 2200 head; active and 15c to 20c higher; heavy, $7.35 to $7.40; mixed, $7.35 to $7.35; yorkers, $7 to $7.35; pigs, $7 to $7; roughs, $6.25 to $6.50; dairies, $5 to $6.15.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2500 head, active; sheep, steady; lambs, 25c higher; lambs, $5.25 to $7.50; Canada lambs, $7.25 to $7.40.

New York Live Stock.

Disaster Ends Manslaughter Case.

Cherry, Ills., Nov. 19.—An extraordinary closing of a manslaughter case was revealed yesterday in connection with the disaster of last Saturday. Stephen Timko, a miner and former deputy marshal, was under indictment for killing another miner in a riot. Witnesses of the shooting worked in the St. Paul mine, and all are dead.

Was Thrown Down Stairs.

Victoria, Nov. 19.—Because George Oliver, the Socialist leader, smote Geo. Bell, a prominent Liberal worker, in the heat of an argument at the Liberal rally Tuesday night, Oliver was taken and thrown bodily down the stairs of the hall.

Would "Union Label" Houses.

Brantford, Nov. 19.—Brantford Trades and Labor Council propose having houses labeled, and suggest that carpenters and builders devise some sort of label with which to mark their work.

Burned by Gas Explosion.

Hagersville, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Gieves, a nurse in this village, was badly burned by an explosion of natural gas yesterday in her house. Children partly turned on the gas in the heater and when Mrs. Gieves went to light it, the explosion occurred, severely burning her face and arms.

Mrs. Stetson's Name Dropped.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 19.—The name of Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, formerly first reader of the Christian Science Church of New York, was yesterday dropped from the rolls of the Christian Science Church by order of the board of directors, following a three days' conference with Mrs. Stetson.

Should Build Factories In Ontario.

London, Nov. 19.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Geo. H. Gooderham, M.PP., has pointed out to English manufacturers, who intend exhibiting at Toronto, the necessity of their establishing factories in Ontario, as without doing so they will derive little or no benefit from the exhibition.

College Professor Suicides.

Campaign, Ill., Nov. 19.—The body of Prof. Wilfred C. Wheeler of the chemistry department at the University of Illinois, was found on the campus of the institution yesterday. A small bottle found near by indicates that he had poisoned himself.

"Dunham" Is Safe.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 18.—Relatives of Captain Pratt, in Walkerville, had their fears dissipated yesterday morning by the receipt of a message from Ashland, Wis., that the steamer Dunham, Pratt in command, had arrived there without the loss of a man. It had been reported that the steamer had been beached to prevent her sinking and that the crew were in danger of losing their lives. The Dunham was built in 1906, and has a length of 480 feet.

Offered Bribe; Goes to Jail.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 19.—Geo. H. Warren of Malden was sentenced to serve three months in the house of correction and pay a fine of $5, after pleading guilty to a charge of bribery, involving weights and measures of Malden, $5 to refrain from prosecuting a coal company, in which Warren was interested, and which was charged with giving short weights.

Government Seizes Bleached Flour.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 19.—Open defiance by millers of the U. S. Government's warning to cease the manufacture of bleached flour on the pain of seizure, has led the Secretary of Agriculture to notify inspectors to seize all of the bleached flour in the country. Fourteen consignments, comprising several hundred carloads, were taken in the west Tuesday.

Ten Years For Stabbing.

Cobalt, Nov. 19.—For an almost unprovoked assault on James Stevens, a section hand, Vicario Scaleo, an Italian, was yesterday sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, the full penalty that can be imposed.

The trial yesterday revealed the fact that Stevents and another man were fighting when Scaleo sprang in and struck Stevens seven or eight blows with a knife, all of which were serious, and one dangerous. He then calmly went on his way, and was arrested with the bloody knife up his sleeve.

Magistrate Atkinson said that stabbing must cease in the north country, and gave the warning that every case that comes before him would be dealt with as severely as the law allows.

Must Pay Up or Legation Will Close.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The Alsop claim of more than $1,000,000 against Chile, pending for upwards of 35 years, has assumed a critical stage. Unless a final settlement is made within a few days or the claim referred to The Hague for trial, the United States legation in Chile will be closed.

Ask Railways to Conserve Fuel.

Washington, Nov. 18.—In view of the rapidly diminishing fuel supply of the United States, the great railway systems of the country are to be urged to adopt measures for economy of fuel, thus assisting in the great work of conserving the natural resources of the nation.

Expert Licenses Renewed.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—E. A. Lancaster was informed in the House yesterday that no new licenses to export electrical energy have been granted this year. The old ones have been renewed to March 31 next.

A Surprise For the Hunters.

"If the lair of a leopard is known," says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, "stones will generally dislodge the lurker. I recall one occasion when a leopard was supposed to be located in a cave near camp. The guns were placed around in positions commanding the exit, and a few stones were then thrown in. There was no result at first, but as more and larger stones crashed in there came a faint humming and then a roar like the sea under the cliffs. In a moment the air above the cave's entrance grew dark with—bees! As one man sportsmen and gun bearers fled for the camp. A few were slightly stung before they could reach their tents and pull the flaps over the entrances, which the bees for some time besieged. Incredible though it may sound, it is the truth that, although the camp was full of native servants, horses, etc., none of those who had remained behind and were not concerned in the attack on the bees' cave were stung. It was a considerable time before the bees beat a retreat, but during all the time that they stayed in the camp it was the tents of their aggressors exclusively round which they angrily buzzed."

The Crab in the Whale's Ear.

When the whales were still frequent along the lines of passenger travel across the Atlantic nothing was more common than to see the great beasts hurling their bulk clean out of the waves and, after a flight through the air, falling back into the sea with an enormous splash, a spectacle never failing of interest to the ocean tourist, but not due to any sportive disposition on the part of the leviathan of the deep—quite the contrary. The breaching of the whale is no fun for the beast. It is a frantic effort to rid himself of the torture of camacha. There is a marine crustacean which pesters whales to the verge of endurance, and there seems reason to believe that some whales have been driven insane by these tiny parasites. It is a crab of about the size of that which is found in the oyster. When it lodges on the whale it infests the inner surface of the eyelids and the ear. By swift rushes on the surface the whale is able to clear its eyes, but the crab in the inner ear cannot be dislodged by any such means.

"Ox Eyes" For Two.

The drawback of fancy names for dishes is their tendency to be deficient in prosaic information. Would you order "angels on horseback," for instance, if you did not know what sort of thing it was? And to appeal to the waiter to interpret is humiliating. A correspondent recalls his own fate in the matter of "ochsenaugen" (ox eyes). Having repeatedly seen them on the menu among the pudding class during a tour in Germany, he and his wife eventually ordered them. "Two portions?" asked the woman waiter. "Oh, yes, two portions." It proved that two portions of ox eyes meant six fried eggs—as the final course of a hearty meal. And, as the wife had the moral courage to refuse to eat more than one, the cowardly husband, unwilling to give away that he had not known what he was ordering, had to worry down the five others.

A Startling Hat.

A lady's hat which would no doubt create as great a sensation today as it did at the time of its first appearance in 1352 was that worn by Blanche de Bourbon, queen of Castile, wife of Peter the Cruel. It cost £35 and was made in Paris. The hat itself was composed of de chypre and relieved with great pearls, garnets and enamel work. Children, carved in the whitest of ivory, were depicted picking acorns of pearls from the oak and scattering them to the swine below. Birds were singing in the trees, and at the foot were bees stealing honey from the flowers springing up from the verdure.

Fresh Air For Sleeping.

A person requires twenty cubic inches of fresh air at each respiration, or on an average of 400 per minute, and in ten hours' sleep he consumes 180 cubic feet of air. The air of a bedroom ten feet square, having its doors and windows closed and occupied by one person, would become unfit for respiration in four hours. In the case of two occupants the time would, of course, be reduced to two hours.—New York American.

Troubled With Backache For Years.

Now Completely Cured by the Use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Thousands of women suffer untold misery every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of needless suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way they have cured thousands of others, and they cure to stay cured.

Mrs. W. C. Doerr, 13 Brighton St., London, Ont., writes:—"It is with pleasure that I thank you for the good your Doan's Kidney Pills have done me. Have been troubled with backache for years. Nothing helped me until a friend brought me a box of your Kidney Pills. I began to take them and took four boxes, and am glad to say that I am cured entirely and can do all my own work and feel as good as I used to before taken sick. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all you claim them to be, and I advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

More Than You Expect in Soap

You who are used to ordinary soaps will be surprised when you first try Taylor's Infants' Delight Soap.

No other soap compares with it for every toilet purpose—the bath, massage, shampoo, or for washing baby's rose-leaf skin.

For we make this soap of pure cocoanut oil from the isle of Ceylon, and vegetable oils from France.

We clarify and blend these oils and mill them by our own special process. Nothing is left undone to make this soap supreme.

Infants' Delight Soap

is the product of forty-four years of conscientious effort and costly experiment. Over a million Canadian families find it superior.

Its use prevents chapping, roughness and other skin complaints.

Containing a small amount of boracic acid, it combines the healing qualities of this much used antiseptic and cleanser with the stimulating and nourishing action of pure vegetable oils and essences.

It makes a rich, creamy lather, cooling and delightfully refreshing.

Prove for yourself that a cake will outlast any ordinary soap. See how delightful it is to use three times a day. Get a cake from your dealer today.

BILIOUSNESS

Caused by a Disordered Liver
Cured by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The liver's work is to secrete the bile—that exceedingly bitter fluid which is often called gall. This bile is stored in the gall-bladder and at the proper time it is poured into the upper part of the intestines. There it helps in the digestion of the fatty and oily parts of the food, and regulates the action of the bowels, causing them to move often enough to clear the system promptly of indigestible food.

When the liver gets out of order, as it does with a surprisingly large number of people, the flow of the bile becomes irregular, and the quality of the fluid is changed. The bowels consequently become irregular also, being constipated and loose by turns; the food is only partly digested; the bile gets into the blood, acting there as a poison and demoralizing the whole system. A sudden dizziness is felt on rising, spots sometimes float before the eyes, the tongue is furred, there is a bitter taste in the mouth, and a most disagreeable feeling of sickness and lassitude.

This is Biliousness.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills get right at the root of the trouble and speedily relieve it.

They first put the disordered liver right, so that it supplies a normal quantity of healthy bile. This opens the bowels and clears out the clogged-up system. The blood is purified, the stomach cleansed, all the disagreeable symptoms disappear and the whole delicately adjusted mechanism of the body moves smoothly again.

On the first appearance of bilious symptoms take Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. J. C. McCulloch, a railway conductor of Westport, Ont., writes:

"It is with pleasure I write to inform you that your Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have proved of great value to me. I suffered from biliousness, caused by the improper action of my liver. I tried remedy after remedy but without any lasting good. Having heard of your pills curing such cases as mine, I decided to give them a fair trial. They proved satisfactory, restoring to me perfect health."

At the End of The Summer

The Game of Golf That Richard and Marcia Played.

By TEMPLE BAILEY.

Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

Marcia, in a red sweater, made a bright spot on the other side of the green.

Richard waved to her, and she waved back, dropping her bag of golf clubs and standing on tiptoe so that he might see her clearly above the bushes. When he came up to her he said:

"Such energy! It's only 7 o'clock."

"I hoped to be early enough so that I could go around the course alone." The words were severe, but her eyes twinkled.

"You know you'd rather go with me." Richard built up a tee of sand neatly and topped it with his round white ball.

"I've made my drive," Marcia said, "and my ball is lost over there somewhere in the bushes; so, if you please, I'll follow my nose and find it."

And away she went. And Richard, putting all his skill into his drive, sent his ball halfway to the first hole. Then he picked up his bag and marched in leisurely fashion after Marcia.

"Found it?" he questioned.

"No."

"That's a woman's trick—to lose a ball."

She whirled around on him. "Just as it is a man's trick to lose his heart!" she blazed.

He grew white. "I didn't think you'd say a thing like that," he said and turned and left her.

She went running after him. "Oh, Dick, Dick!" she cried. "I didn't mean it." He tramped on, unheeding, and at last she came up to him and laid her hand on his arm. "Really, I didn't mean it," she pleaded.

He stopped and looked down at her gravely. "I'll admit it wasn't very nice of me to make that remark about the ball," he said, "but there's a difference between making fun of a girl's game and making fun of a man's love."

"Yes, there is," she admitted. "And I'm sorry, Dick."

Of course he forgave her, as he had forgiven her all summer, ever since that first night when he had been presented to her in the ballroom of the big hotel and she had divided his waltz with some one else. But she had begged pardon so prettily that he had felt almost as if he were the offender.

"But this is the end," he said sternly. "Let's have it out right here, Marcia."

"Have what out?"

"All of it. We are going home tomorrow, and, try as I will, I can't get an opportunity to ask you to marry me."

"Oh!"

"You've held me off and parried and run away, but it's got to be settled here and now." And with that this very fierce young man sat down on a hillock and motioned her to another.

"Oh, my goodness!" said Marcia faintly, but she did as she was told.

"Of course I know I'm not worthy of you and all that. I haven't much money, but I've got health and strength and the will. I've got ambition, and I'm going to win out in the fight of life, and I'll make a place for you if you'll let me. And I'd do anything to save you from Doring."

Her head went up. "I like Mr. Doring," she emphasized. "He's very polite—and—and"—

"I'm not," said Richard bitterly. "Oh, you needn't rub it in! But you keep me so stirred up. I'm not half bad when I'm normal."

Her laugh had a tremble in it. "No, you're not half bad," she agreed.

He turned to her eagerly. "Marcia, you don't love—Doring?"

She arose quickly. "He is worth a million."

Richard stood up also. "As if that would make a bit of difference to you," he said. "You may have your faults, Marcia, but I don't believe you are mercenary."

She was fingering her cleek nervously. "But—but I am mercenary, Dickie, boy," she said very low.

He stared at her. "Marcia," he said sharply, "you wouldn't marry Doring for his money?"

She looked up at him suddenly. "Oh, I don't know—I don't know! I've always been poor, and I've never had pretty things, and I want them. I want to go into the ballroom all in chiffon and pearls instead of in my old white dresses and my little chain with the gold heart. Think of it, Dickie—I've never had any jewel but that, and I want jewels. Every girl wants them, and Mr. Doring could give them to me."

But Richard was not listening. He took out his watch. "Marcia," he said in a practical way, "have you had your breakfast?"

She looked up surprised. "Why this change of subject?" she faltered.

"Because you're tired and nervous, and I don't think you are capable of saying what you think," he said. "I am going to take you over to the inn. We'll breakfast on the bluff, and Cecile will make us an omelet and some perfect coffee, and we shall have a basket of white rolls. Will you go?"

"Why, of course," said Marcia uncertainly. "But it was such a funny thing for you to think of breakfast—right after you proposed to me."

"You've heard of bread and cheese and kisses," said Richard flippantly. "Well, this is a case of adoration and omelet. Come on, Marcia, mine."

"I'm not yours."

"You're going to be," said Richard, and he picked up their bags and started.

The inn was a little French place where delectable meals were served to those who tired of the regular hotel fare and where, it was whispered, certain gay souls sat somewhat late at night.

This morning Cecile, the trim landlady, met them at the door with radiant welcome. They should have the omelet and coffee—such coffee! And away she went, smiling, while they settled themselves at a table on the porch. Through the window they could see into the dining room, where there was one table not yet cleared of the half empty bottles, as well as other evidences of a midnight feast. Half sprawled across the table lay a man asleep.

Marcia, peeping through the window, said, "He evidently doesn't know it's morning."

Richard nodded. "Let's wake him up." And he began a silvery tattoo with his knife on the glasses.

The man yawned, stretched and raised a face red and sodden.

Marcia caught at Richard's arm. "Why," she whispered, "why, Richard—it's—Doring!"

But before Richard could answer Doring stumbled out on the porch, gave one look at Marcia and fled.

Then Marcia looked at Richard. "You knew," she said, "that he was here?"

He laid his hand on hers. "I knew," he told her, "that he was no fit mate for you, Marcia. And I wanted you to see. What would his money amount to if you had to put up with that?" He pointed to the wine bottles in the other room.

She shuddered. "I—I didn't really intend to marry him—because I don't love him, Richard."

"And you didn't mean what you said about wanting money?" he questioned eagerly.

Her eyes met his bravely. "Yes, I do like money, Dick. But I wouldn't sell myself. I couldn't marry without love."

"Neither would I," said Dickie boldly. "So when are you going to marry me, Marcia?"

She laughed. "In the spring perhaps."

"As if I'd wait," said Richard masterfully. "After breakfast we'll go back to the links. And if I win the game you'll have to marry me in October, and if you win I'll wait until spring."

So back through the clear September air they went and played nine holes. And Marcia did her best. But a woman is only a woman, and Dick was famed for his good game. And so, after all, the wedding came at the end of the summer.

Safer.

"Your political antagonist is calling you every name he can think of," said the agitated friend.

"Don't interrupt him," answered Senator Sorghum. "It is better to have a man searching the dictionary for epithets than going after your record for facts."—Washington Star.

STRING NAMES.

An Amusing Pastime For Little Folks When It Rains.

It was a rainy, gray day, and the children had tried and given up all their usual games. Finally Mary, who had been playing with a piece of fish line that Dick had dropped from his pocket, exclaimed, "Oh, see what I've discovered all by myself!"

The children, Tommy, Sarah and Dick, gathered round her quickly.

She sat at the dining room table with the twine in her hand.

"Oh, dear, I'm afraid I haven't enough!" she said as the others pressed near. "Tommy, do run and get the ball of string."

When that was brought she cut several lengths of it, each about a yard long. Then she made some short pieces, an inch or so long. The children kept begging her to tell them what she was going to do, but she smiled and said nothing. At last the string was prepared.

"Dick," she said, "you are the littlest. How do you spell your name?"

"D-i-c-k," he said, slowly and wonderingly.

She took one of the pieces of string and very deftly on the surface of the table made it into the shape of his name in handwriting.

For the dot of the letter "i" she took one of the short pieces, doubled it up into a ball and put it over the letter.

The children were delighted and spent the rest of the afternoon till the table had to be cleared for supper in forming their names and even making whole sentences. The last thing they wrote was "Mary," in honor of the inventor of this new game.—Youth's Companion.

Whale and Elephant Meat.

There is something unpleasant about the thought of eating whale meat, but it is said that the reality is very palatable. Japan has quite a trade in canned and salted whale meat, and there is to be a campaign to educate the European peoples to like it. Some whaling companies have distributed from their headquarters samples of canned whale meat, and those who have eaten it describe it as tenderer than beef and much like it in taste.

Whale steak seems no queerer than Frankfort sausage made out of an elephant, which is what some German people have been eating. An enterprising butcher over there, hearing that an unruly elephant in the Ghent zoological gardens was to be killed, engaged the carcass. He made 3,800 pounds of sausage out of it and sold every pound at good prices.

Friends.

"Dear friends," said the philosopher, "are scarce items in this world. They are too few to be counted."

"What d'ye call a friend?" he was asked.

"A friend," he replied, "is one who would lend you money if you wanted it and to whom you would lend money—if you had it."—New York Times.

IF your baking goes wrong, investigate — find the cause. Look to your stove, your yeast, your baking methods.

If you succeed in pinning the trouble down to the flour—then take up the flour question in dead earnest.

Consider that flour, to be successful from a baking standpoint, must be fine to produce light bread or pastry, pure to make that bread or pastry wholesome, and rich in nutriment to make it nourishing.

Ogilvie's Royal Household has these three qualities in the greatest degree.

Ogilvie's Royal Household is milled by the most modern methods, and made only from Manitoba Hard Wheat which contains the highest percentage of nutriment.

Royal Household Flour never disappoints.

ONTARIO FRUIT GROWERS' CONVENTION

From Farm and Dairy.

The fiftieth anniversary of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association was marked with great enthusiasm and a large attendance. An excellent number of addresses were given and discussed at the convention held in Toronto, Nov. 10 and 11. The only living charter member of the association, Mr. A. M. Smith, of St. Catharines, was presented with an illuminated address and a purse of money in recognition of his work to the fruit industry of Canada, and of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the organisation.

The association passed resolutions respecting legislation that have to deal with the development and progress of the fruit industry. A new Fruit Pest Act was proposed to cover the present Acts respecting these things, and in addition to include certain injurious insects and fungous diseases that have become prevalent since existing Acts were framed The proposed Act will control all leading injurious pests of the orchard including San Jose Scale, codling moth, little peach, black knot, yellows and crown gall. This proposed Act will repeal the present Acts respecting yellows, black knot and noxious insects. Pear blight and pear psylla may be added to the Act on the recommendation of the association.

The association will submit to the Government a recommendation to amend the Pharmacy Act by adding white arsenic to the list of poisons that may be handled by grocers and others outside of druggists and chemists. A committee was appointed to draft and submit to the Dominion Government an Act to cover the adulteration of all chemicals used by fruit growers.

In his opening address President E. D. Smith reviewed the progress of fruit growing during the past half century. He said that the future of apple growing lies in producing perfect fruit. The Ontario Government should establish short courses in apple packing in all fruit districts. The compulsory care of orchards and training in packing and marketing fruit will work wonders in improving the apple industry of the whole country.

SMALL FRUIT CULTURE

Small fruit culture in Ontario during the past 50 years was dealt with by Mr. A. W. Peart of Burlington. He traced the history of small fruit culture by periods of 10 years, the most recent of which was marked by much progress. He estimated the area in small fruits for 1909 at 9,000 acres. He said that the outlook for the future is promising. Better systems of distribution, an increase of population, the advancing tide of immigration towards the north-west and other factors are creating a demand for our fruits, both fresh and canned the potentialities of which are unlimited.

The advisability of growing small fruits in young apple orchards was discussed by Mr. L. A. Hamilton of Lorne Park, and the overplanting of strawberries was dealt with by Mr. Robert Thompson of St. Catharines. These papers will be reported at length in a later issue.

CHERRIES

"Sweet Cherries for South-Western Ontario," was the subject of an excellent address by Mr. F. C. Stewart of Homer. He pointed out that the soil for this class of fruit should be light and dry. The varieties recommended were Gov. Wood, Alton, Napoleon Biggareau, Black Tartarian and Windsor. Mr. A. E. Sherrington of Walkerton dealt with sour cherries These papers will appear later.

GRAPES

The premature marketing of grapes was the subject of an interesting discussion. The general consensus of opinion was that this is a mistaken policy. Grapes picked before they are ripe hurt the market. How grapes are grown in New York State was told by Mr. D. K. Falvay, Westfield, N.Y.; "Is Grape Growing Profitable at Present Prices?" was ably discussed by Ontario's well-known vineyardist Mr. Murray Pettit, Winona. The speaker claimed that there is no profit in grapes at 10 or 12 cents a basket, which was the prevailing price this year.

PEACHES

The question of pruning peaches was dealt with by Messrs. J. W. Smith of Winona, Wm. Armstrong, Queenston and others. From these address and discussions that they incited it would seem that our growers are now adopting the low-headed trees in preference to high headed ones. Practical principles for profitable peach production were referred to by Mr. C. E. Bassett of Fennville Mich.

PEARS

Much valuable information was given on pear culture by Mr. W. F. Fisher of Burlington and Mr. J. R. Cornell of Newburgh, N.Y. These papers will be referred to at further length in another issue. Mr. Cornell pointed out that cultivation, fertility, light pruning and intelligent spraying are necessary in the production of this crop.

APPLES

The marketing of apples was discussed by Mr. R. J. Graham of Belleville, who stated that there is a splendid opportunity for popularizing Canadian apples in the British markets. Mr. C. E. Bassett told of the advantages of co-operation, and stated that such were obtained not only in the selling end, but also in the buying of supplies needed by growers. Mr. S. E. Todd of Guelph showed, by the use of charts, that most of the district bordering on Lake Huron could be made into one large orchard. In his report of a survey made there during the past season he showed that it pays to spray, fertilize, cultivate and organize.

In a practical address on spraying, Mr. Max Smith of Burlington stated that it costs to spray three times during the season with lime-sulphur and arsenate of lead about 33 cents per tree, by using a power sprayer. By the use of this combination, Mr. Smith has had excellent results. The value of lime sulphur as a summer spray compared with Bordeaux mixture was discussed by Mr. L. Caesar of Guelph. These papers will be reported in a later issue. A number of other addresses and discussions that took place also will appear later.

Everyone Thought She Was Going Into Consumption.

Gained Ten Pounds in Two Weeks by the Use of Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mrs. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"I was completely run down, my blood was out of order, and I used to get so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not eat, was pale and thin; every one thought I was going into consumption. I tried everything and different doctors until a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle used when my appetite began to improve. I used six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed ninety-three pounds. It just seemed to pull me from the grave as I never expected to be strong again. I will tell every sufferer of your wonderful medicine."

The blood reaches every portion of the body to distribute nutriment and remove effete matter and waste products. Clearly then, any influence, good or bad, affecting the blood, must necessarily affect the entire system for good or evil as the case may be.

Get pure blood and keep it pure by removing every trace of impure morbid matter from the system by using Burdock Blood Bitters. It exerts a curative influence unapproached by any other remedy.

For sale by all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

They Help Your Stomach Out

And Save You a World of Wretchedness

A stomach that cannot digest a good meal is certainly a sore trial. It has been responsible for almost everything in the way of human misery, up to suicide.

The trouble in most cases is that the stomach and other digestive organs lack vigor. Not enough of the juices necessary to digestion are secreted, nor does the stomach work up the food properly.

The worst of it is that there is not sufficient nourishment taken out of the food to restore the system's vigor, and the trouble goes from bad to worse. The stomach needs help.

"Little Digesters" meet the need exactly. One "Little Digester" after each meal will ensure perfect digestion, provided, of course, that the food is good and wholesome.

"Little Digesters" are guaranteed to cure Indigestion, and Dyspepsia, or your money will be refunded.

VEGETABLE GROWERS' MEET

From Farm and Dairy.

At the convention of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association held in Toronto last week, the president, Mr. T. Delworth, of Weston, in his opening address, dwelt on the importance of getting the best seed possible and on the difficulties in securing same. He spoke also of the methods of marketing in vogue in parts of the United States which might be copied to some extent here. On account of too many middlemen our growers are not getting the profit that they should.

A report on cabbage and cauliflower growing in the United States was made by Mr. A. McMeans, O.A.C. Guelph. Among the many points mentioned was that large growers over the line reduce expenses by conveniences in storage and shipping. Shrinkage in cabbage stored in as much as 25 per cent. up to April 1st. A report on vegetable growing at the Jordan Experiment Station was made by Mr. H. S. Peart, the director.

"Greenhouse Growing of Vegetables," was the subject of an address by Mr. W. G. Waid, New Carlisle, Ohio, who pointed out that this industry is remunerative. Good soil, plenty of fertiliser, overhead irrigation, proper temperatures and good ventilation are requisites to success.

Mr. G. H. Clark, Seed Commissioner, Ottawa, discussed seed legislation. He stated that many of the evils in connection with clover and grass seeds already have been remedied. The difficulty lies in controlling seeds that are imported. When home-grown seeds are used exclusively control will be more possible.

Small fruits in connection with vegetable growing were discussed by Mr. W. C. McCalla of St. Catharines, who pointed out that the market gardener who is an intensive grower is the fittest man to grow small fruits. In bad seasons a variety of crops often give a profit while only one or two may result in failure.

Insects that affect market gardens were ably dealt with by Mr. C. W. Nash of Toronto. Mr. Nash said that Toronto is the breeding ground of scale insects and other injurious pests. Various garden insects were described and remedies suggested.

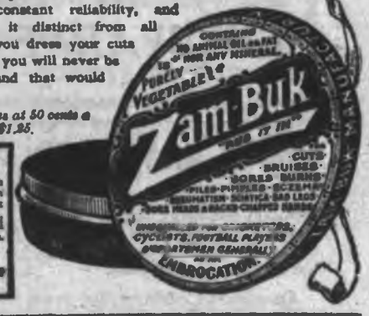
HEAL that OBSTINATE SORE!

CUTS and bruises are often very obstinate in refusing to heal. The edges of the wound remain inflamed and sore, and there is a daily danger of disease-germs settling on the raw flesh and giving rise to serious complications. Thus, neglect or improper treatment of an injury, be it a cut, burn, scald, or even a simple scratch, is a menace to life.

In cases where wounds refuse to heal quickly, nothing but Zam-Buk will suffice if the skin is to be made to grow naturally and perfectly once again. Zam-Buk rubbed gently over a wound has the remarkable effect, not only of rendering the wound proof against disease-germs, but of growing new skin-tissues.

Thus Zam-Buk heals wounds in a perfectly natural manner, and the possibilities of eczema and other torturing skin-diseases are entirely prevented. Possessing rare medicinal properties, Zam-Buk accomplishes what ordinary ointments and salves never can do, and its ever-ready character, constant reliability, and absolute purity, render it distinct from all other preparations. If you dress your cuts and sores with Zam-Buk you will never be troubled with "the wound that would not heal."

Of all Druggists and Stores at 50 cents a box, or three for $1.25.



FREE. Send this coupon (with 1c. stamp to cover return postage) to the Zam-Buk Co., Colborne Street, Toronto, and a free trial box will be mailed at once.

SNOW STOPS FIRE

Kingston, Nov. 19.—The village of Arden, on the C.P.R. suffered $19,000 damage by fire early yesterday morning, and had a narrow escape from being wiped out.

Work of the villagers saved a great deal, and a fall of snow also helped.

It broke out in a barn owned by John Detlor, completely destroying it, his carriage, storehouse and his residence, with Mond's general store. George Mond was in the store, endeavoring to secure papers, when the building caved in, and he had a narrow escape. W. Pringle's hotel was scorched and all the windows broken.

The fire is claimed to be of incendiary origin.

MILK SCARCE IN BRANDON

Brandon, Nov. 19.—There is a greater scarcity of milk here than was ever felt before. Dairymen are unable to get anywhere near the supply required, and in hundreds of families, children are obliged to get along on a milkless diet. Dairymen do not look for relief, as there is a great scarcity throughout Manitoba, the dry summer and scant pasture having left the cows in a poor condition.

THE WOLF.

Early last season one of the attractions at the Grand Opera House was "The Wolf," announced as a Canadian play, by Eugene Walter. Nothing was known of the production or its author and its appearance here was greeted with a very scanty audience.

Last night "The Wolf" was once more offered for the approval of Peterborough theatregoers, but under much different auspices. During its absence it has proved one of the most astonishing dramatic successes of recent years, and its author, Eugene Walter, has risen to the top-most rung of the dramatists' ladder. The result was that last evening one of the biggest audiences of the season saw the production and filed out of the Grand still under the spell of one of the most intensely interesting plays that it has ever been the good fortune of Peterborough people to see. "The Wolf" is big and simple, as big and simple as the Canadian Hudson Bay country, in which it is laid. The situations grip one in bonds of interest that never relax until the final curtain forces one reluctantly to pull away from the spell of the action. The situations are vividly forcible, and worked up with the touch of a master hand. In fact the whole play is a masterpiece.

The plot is too well known to need any explanation in these columns. Every theatregoer in the city is familiar with the action and the characters of the situation. It is enough to say that the Company was worthy of the roles with which they were entrusted, and not a weak spot could be found in the cast. Carl Anthony as Jules Beaubien, was probably the star of an all-star company, and his clever work earned him round after round of applause. Each curtain was the signal for a storm of applause and the Company had to respond to three or four curtain calls at the end of each act. The thrilling duel in the dark, which is the climax of the play, was carefully worked up and was a masterpiece of stage art. The production is superbly mounted in the customary elaborate and painstaking Shubert manner.

NAIAD TIED UP

Fisheries Vessel Completes Season's Work.

The Ontario government steamer "Naiad," of the Fisheries Dept., has been hauled out of the water and beached for the winter. Capt. Carson returned a number of days ago after a final trip to Rice Lake and Hastings.

NO MORE DISTRESS FROM THE STOMACH

No Dyspepsia, Gas, Heartburn or Indigestion Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odour.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

GIRLS ARE WINNERS TO EARN XMAS MONEY

Break the Ore, Wheelbarrow it Out and Load it on Burros.

Spokane, Nov. 18. — For several weeks Miss Edith Smith, daughter of J. F. Smith, manager of the Florence Ore Company, and her chum, Mrs. Mary Harisol, have been working in a mine near Grangeville, Idaho, and have earned money to buy Christmas presents. They said they were tired of the monotony of housework.

It took more time to convince Miss Smith's father, who owned the mine, that they were in earnest than it did to secure his consent. They were permitted to do the necessary assessment on one of the claims, and in payment were given the ore they mined. They broke the ore loose and wheeled it out of the tunnels, sorted it and loaded it on burros, which carried it to the custom mill in Florence, where the ore was milled.

The ore turned out worth $36 a ton, and as it cost only about $6 a ton to deliver it at the mill, including wages for the girls, they netted more than $30 a ton on the transaction. They will probably continue to handle ore from properties owned by the Florence Ore Company.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR HUSBAND CONTENTED

Congenial recreation is the surest preventive of boredom, the best panacea for grumbling, which married life has to offer. If young wives only knew that the value of a hobby for keeping man contented and happy they would encourage their husbands more than they do to do in for one. Most of them are apt to begin married life a little jealous of a husband's outside interests. They think a man has no right to enjoy life away from his own fireside. They don't golf themselves, and they expect their husbands to give up the game they have enjoyed for years because they cannot share it with them.

Of course, in the early days of marriage the husband may seem contented enough if deprived of all his old amusements. He may go cheerfully to the Saturday afternoon concert, although he "has always golfed with Johnson," and does not know one tune from another.

He may listen for two hours every evening to the young wife's recital of her day's doings, or her difficulties with household management. But if a man is not an angel the time comes when he gets a little tired of self-sacrifice—when he yearns unspeakably for time for arranging his stamp collection, or the photographs which he snapped last summer.

He gets irritable in the course of the Saturday afternoon, and begins to wonder if he has not to pay too dearly for married life if it means giving up all his old friends and old pursuits. That means that he is developing into a discontented husband.

In a few years' time he will be a pevish, irritable, middle-aged man, because he has been deprived of his hobbies.

The wise young wife realises the value of hobbies, of congenial interests and healthy amusements for keeping a husband contented.

She encourages her husband to keep up his golf and photography, his china collecting, or carpentry. She simply makes him take up a hobby if he has not a ready-made one when he marries. So the husband gets the benefit of a keen interest to occupy his spare hours. His health and spirits are correspondingly good. There is nothing like a real interest, a hobby, for keeping a man healthy in mind and body. An outdoor hobby especially, like cycpling or golf, make a wonderful difference to the man who has to spend his days in a shop or an office. Very few wives realize that irritability on the part of a husband is generally a sign of ill-health or over-strain. And the best way to counteract overstarin is to provide a hobby which will take a man's mind off his work and his business worries.

All workingmen and women require some interesting recreation if they are to do their work well; if they are to keep healthy and happy. Mutual interests go far to make a home happy, and if the wife can share her husband's hobbies so much the better.

So go in for collecting, if your husband has a mania for postage stamps picture postcards or luggage labels Old furniture is a splendid interest, and not very expensive if you go in for simple cottage styles of furniture. It is a paying hobby, too. The wife who does not cultivate interests apart from the domestic sphere is making a great mistake. A congenial hobby makes good-tempered wives and contented husbands. It supplies conversation on the domestic hearth, and takes the mind off pety domestic jars. The wife who manages to find time for a hobby is less likely to worry over her responsibilities and domestic difficulties.

The husband who is allowed to golf or cycle on Saturday afternoon is more fit for his work during the following week.

So if your husband shows signs of regretting hi sbachelor days, his lost freedom, try the hobby cure at once. Get him to spend aSturday and Sunday in the open air on his bicycle, or make him join the local golf or tennis club. He will appreciate your society all the better if he does spend a few hours with a friend at the end of the week.

If you will take up the same hobby, so much the better for both of you.

But at least take an interest in his hobbies, listen intelligently to the stories of the game, even if you are a little bored. A man loves to talk of his hobbies, his interests. He will appreciate and admire thewife who can say the right thing when he gives a graphic description of his skill at putting, or explains how he lost the game through a pure fluke. It means unselfishness, tact and good manners—three essential ingredients in the elixir of love.

MARRIED WOMEN MOST ATTRACTIVE

As a rule the young married woman is exceedingly atractive. She has gained experience and knowledge of mankind which stands her in good stead. Her household cares and responsibilities have developed tact, and the many experiences which befall every married woman have inspired a feeling of sympathy.

She realises that sh eis not all-important, however fascinating she may be. Man is naturally authorative and he likes his power recognised. Healso has his little vanities, and she who is clever enough to discover and appreciate this is certain to be a favorite.

It seems a pity that girls do not cultivate wider and broader views of life. A young girl may be pretty and interesting as well. Careful, systematic reading is a powerful aid in stimulating conversation and the cultivation of observation will encourage sympathy, which is so potent a factor of social success.

CONSTIPATION AND HEADACHE

Mrs. R. Not only have they cured constipation but have also entirely cured the headaches from which I used to suffer terribly and have improved my health in every way."

GEBHARDT SAID TO CLOSELY RESEMBLE BARTON MURDERER

Mrs. Nelson Patton, Who Had Best Chance to See the Assassin at Hamilton, Shown the Picture.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE HIM

Pictures of Fred Gebhardt, alias Otto Mueller, the confessed murderer and bigamist, under arrest at New York, whom the Provincial authorities are trying to connect with the Barton murder mystery, have been identified by Mrs. Nelson Pitton, of Niagara Falls, Ont., as bearing a striking resemblance to the man who is charged with murdering the unknown woman in a bush on the mountain top in October, 1905.

When the theory of Mueller having possibly been the man who committed the Barton crime was first advanced the Times made an effort to get Mrs. Pitton to identify the pictures, because she perhaps got a better look at the suspect than any of the people who saw him. At that time Mr. Pitton was proprietor of the New Americah Hotel here. It has been pretty well established that the murderer and his victim stayed there over Sunday night. Mrs. Pitton saw the man in the corridor with the woman as they left on Monday morning. They rode to the head of the East End Incline from the hotel and walked direct to the spot where the crime was committed.

Pictures of Mueller were forwarded to Mr. Pitton when the story was first published. Mr. Pitton is now proprietor of the New Rosli House, Niagara Falls. He has been away for some days and only returned home this week. Writing to the Times, he says, "Mrs. Pitton says the one picture I have marked with a cross resembles the man very much, although, as you are aware, it is hard to remember so long ago."

THE WORK OF COMPLETION OF TRENT VALLEY CANAL IS SWINGING FORWARD AT A $1,750,000 CLIP

Estimates for the Fiscal Year, as Laid Down by Hon. Mr. Fielding Yesterday, Contain Item of Nearly Two Millions for the Waterway That Means so Much for Peterboro' and District---$3400 for Steamer Wharf at Juniper Island, Stony Lake.

$1,750,000 for the Trent Canal!

That is the big feautre of the estimates for the fiscal year, as submitted to Parliament yesterday afternoon by Hon. Mr. Fielding, and will be hailed with delight by the people of this district. The appropriation of such a large sum means great progress towards the completion of the waterway that means so much for Peterborough, and will be an effective argument for the Board of Trade in its work of "building up Peterborough." The estimate is the largest that has yet been made towards work on the canal, and indicates that the Government is determined to finish the important work as soon as possible. With nearly two millions voted towards the Canal the work next year will go ahead more rapidly than it has at any stage in the history of the enterprise, and the end of the great work is brought much nearer.

The appropriations also contain another item that is of importance to many Peterborough people. $3,400 is set down for the construction of a new steamer wharf at Juniper Island, Stony Lake, which will be appreciated by the many citizens who spend their summers at the Kawartha resort.

A Part Of Ops Township Is To Be Added To School District

Lindsay, November 18. — The Committee of the County Council appointed Wednesday to hold a special conference with Dr. Merchant, inspector of schools, in connection with the Government's policy in regard to the inspectorate of Victoria county schools, met in the afternoon and it was proposed to let West Victoria remain as it is, and add Ops, making a total of 88 schools, Ops having 11. Then join the eastern part of Ops to the county of Peterborough. The new inspectorate includes Lindsay 20, Verulam 12, Emily 12, Omemee 2, Somerville 11, Bobcaygeon 2. Making a total of fifty-nine schools, along with Smith, Ennismore, Galway and Cavendish townships in Peterborough, which totals 91. This would leave 91 schools of Peterborough County under one inspector.

The negotiations re the inspectorate and the applications for inspector were referred to the members of the County Council comprising the negotiating committee.

Lakefield, Nov. 18, 1909.—St. John's church was crowded to the doors this evening on the occasion of the induction of the Rev. Frederick John Sawers, M.A., to the rectory of the parish. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, M.A., Rural Dean, of Peterborough and Northumberland was commissioned by the Bishop of Toronto to induct the new rector. Rev. Canon Davidson, M.A., and Rev. H. R. Trumpour, M.A., B. D., of Peterborough, Rev. O R Spencer, M.A., of Young's Point, were also present and took part in the ceremony and service. The Lakefield Grove School, of which Rev. A. D. Mackenzie is head master, turned out in full force and occupied the front pews. After the singing of the first hymn, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt stepped to the chancel steps announcing the subject of the service. The rector elect then read the declaration of assent to the article and liturgy of the Church of England in this Province. Rev. H. R. Trumpour then read the Mandate from the Lord Bishop authorizing Dr. Langfeldt to install the

WAS GIVEN A DOLLAR FOR WEEK'S WORK

One dollar a week and your board is not a very encouraging wage to an able-bodied man, but an Examiner reporter heard a story on the street this morning that puts farm labouring in a rather uninviting light. This man had come out from the old country some six weeks ago. He had an only son about nine years old with him and was loth to part with him. A farmer in one of the neighbouring townships required a man and although he did not want to take the boy he needed help so badly that he told him to come along. The man who is undoubtedly industrious and better than the average worked a week, but when only a solitary dollar bill was forthcoming for his work he decided that he was doing much more than wasting his time. He was in the city to-day looking for work that would realise for him better wages.

CHINAMAN IN NORWOOD HAS MADE FORTUNE

Mark Waugh, Norwood's silver-haired celestial, popularly known as "Charlie" last week disposed of his laundry business here to Mark Hain, of Toronto, and left by the afternoon express on Sunday for China, where he expects to spend his declining years with his family in ease and luxury, having by his frugal habits, acquired what the Chinaman considers a competence sufficient to enable him to do so. His successor, Mr. Hain, is a much younger man, but has been in Canada long enough to copy many of the Canadian styles and customs. His predecessor, Mark Waugh, had lived in many American and Canadian cities and was probably the oldest Chinaman in Canada. He came to Canada about five years ago.—Norwood Register.

STUDENTS OF QUEEN'S VISIT CITY TO-DAY

A number of senior science men of Queen's University in company with Prof. L. W. Gill, arrived in the city this morning and spent the day going through the C.G.E. works, the Quaker Oats Co., and the Hydraulic Power house.

A visit was also made to the Lift Lock.

ETHEL BARRYMORE BROKE THE SPEED LIMIT—WAS FINED

New York, Nov. 18.—Not even for the exalted purpose of chugchugging Miss Barrymore from a railway station to a football ground where a glad populace would meet her and The Ruler of Tis Land would bow before her was William Nash permitted to fracture the city's speed laws early on Saturday last. He was scaring persons who were neither players nor Presidents as he raced up Third avenue. Motorcycle Patrolman Culbertson soon stopped him. Nash's next stop wasn't beside the Tigers' prostrate corpse in New Haven; it was at the Yorkville Court.

"Gee! I won't be able to get to New Haven in time," cried Nash. "I want to take my employer to the game."

"And who is your employer?"

"Miss Ethel-Barrymore. She wants to meet President Taft, who's expected there. But she won't be able to do that now."

The Magistrate said law was law even in the case of a Barrymore chauffeur rushing to President Taft. So Nash was held in $300 bail.

INGERSOLL IS PREPARING TO PROCURE POWER

Ingersoll, Nov. 19—(Special)—After a discussion of nearly three hours, the town council last night gave first and second readings to a by-law to secure the sanction of the ratepayers at the January elections for the establishment of a distributing station for hydro-electric power. The by-law is similar to that voted upon by other municipalities in the government power scheme three years ago. At that time, Ingersoll voted on a by-law to acquire the existing plant of the Ingersoll Power & Light Co., but this was defeated. Some two years ago Mayor Sutherland advocated arbitration proceedings with the company and later a by-law was submitted to the people to acquire the plant for $50,000. This too, was defeated, as council was not unanimous for it.

To-night Engineer Yates of the H. E. P. Commission submitted an estimate of $26,000 for a civic distribution plant. This would not, however, provide for a lighting service, a plant for that purpose costing as much again or a total of over $50,000 for a new plant. As Ingersoll has a population of about 5,000 only, it is not considered likely that a dual system would be either profitable or desirable.

HUSBAND HAS ONLY ONE BATH DURING YEAR

Spokane, Nov. 18.—Because her husband, William Skeen, a farmer living near Palouse, goes sometimes as long as a year without bathing, according to a complaint filed in the Superior Court at Colfax, his wife, Lucinda, asks the court to free her from the bonds of matrimony that she and Skeen assumed in Colfax, February 29, 1906.

The complaint alleges that as "cleanliness is next to godliness," this constitutes, in her estimation, grounds for divorce.

There are no children and the only thing in addition to a decree asked for by Mrs. Skeen is that she be given a share of the real property, $20 a month alimony during the pending action, and $100 attorneys' fees.

ROMANCE COSTLY—ASKING DIVORCE FROM HIS YOUNG WIFE

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—A short but costly romance was aired in court here, when Richard Heyne filed a cross petition to the suit of Pearl Heyne for alimony. Heyne is past fifty years of age, and recently inherited $40,000. During an illness he was nursed by the young woman, who became his wife last August.

She alleged that he was wasting his estate and neglecting her, and sought to have him enjoined from disposing of his property. Heyne asks divorce and an injunction preventing the Western German Bank from honouring his wife's checks for money deposited in her name, and from turning over to her four $500 water works bonds, which he alleges she got from him by misrepresentation. He says he has spent $2,500 on her for millinery, dressmaking and jewellery. He alleges indiscretions and neglect of wifely duties.

WERE MARRIED

A young couple who are from the Alderville Reserve were married this afternoon and the law's claim against the man was dropped. The marriage was performed by Rev. C. H. Coon, of Mark St. Methodist church, in the presence of friends and relatives of the young people.

TO BE TRIED ON CHARGE OF WOUNDING

Cobourg, Nov. 18.—Robert Freeman, an Englishman, was committed for trial, charged with wounding Robert Fox at Port Hope. The altercation occurred while a gang were picking apples at Mr. Walter Crowhurst's. Mr. Fox was foreman. Freeman was ordered to pick the apples from a ladder the tree. He refused and rushed upon Fox, a lively encounter following. Freeman was then told to leave the place, but, it is alleged, he secreted himself behind a tree, and rushing upon Fox with a knife about twelve inches in length, slashed it down the brim of Fox's hat, the point of the blade entering just below the left eye. He was overpowered and the dangerous weapon taken from him.

G.T.R. Brakeman Was Killed While Trying To Uncouple Cars

Wm. S. Perry Met Death at Orillia Yesterday Afternoon---Lumber Slipped From Car Striking Him on the Head, Resulting in Instant Death---Son of Mrs. J. E. Perry, McMartinville---Funeral To-morrow.

Special to The Examiner.

Orrila, Nov. 18.—William S. Perry aged 24, unmarried, a native of Peterborough, and a Grand Trunk Railway brakeman was killed here this morning. He was engaged in shunting work in Messrs. Eaton & oSns' lumber yard when a flat car loaded with lumber left the tracks. The sudden derailment loosened the lumber and when Perry tried to uncouple the cars part of the load, sliding over, struck him on the head, causing instant death.

The coroner, after a rigid inquiry deemed an inquest unnecessary.

A brother of deceased who lived at Midland came over immediately he was advised of the accident, and he had the remains taken to Peterborough this afternoon.

The remains of the late Mr. Perry arrived in the city last evening and were taen in charge of by Messrs. Comstock, who afterwards removed the body to the home of the deceased's mother, Mrs. J. E. Perry, who resides at the East end of the lock bridge. His mother, two brothers and two sisters are left to mourn his loss. The brothers are Messrs. Thomas and Harry and the sisters are Mrs. Geo. Robinson and Miss Lizzie Perry.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at half past two from the family residence to the Little Lake Cemetery.

WERE UPSET AND HAD TO SWIM ASHORE

Three men were swamped while attempting to cross Ketchecum Lake last Monday morning. The story is told by the Ketchecum Lake Hunt club members, who returned home a few days ago. A little landing place on the lake known as Cochrane is used by the jobbing lumbermen for loading supplies for their camps. On Monday three men, with a big canoe loaded at Cochrane, and started for their camp near Gull Lake. There was a heavy sea on and the men had a lot of difficulty, but they kept going. They were about thirty feet from shore and not far from the Narrows when the craft was swamped and went down. The men got free and swam to shore but they were nearly frozen. That was about ten o'clock in the morning and they had to stay there until about three in the afternoon, when a lone canoeist happened to pass and take them aboard. Had they missed this opportunity it is hard to say when they would have been rescued, as very few boats are on the waters at this season of the year.

GREAT TERROR REIGNS IN NICARAGUA

WERE CAUGHT RED-HANDED IN THE ACT

Washington, Nov. 18.—Two Americans, Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon, captured while serving with the revolutionist army in Nicaragua, have been sentenced to death by President Zelaya's orders, and it is believed that sentence has already been carried out.

The cruiser Vicksburg has been ordered to proceed in all haste to Corinto, and the gunboat Des Moines will proceed at once to Port Limon to observe events there, and report the situation by wireless.

The news as to the two men reached the State Department last night from the U. S. Consulate at Managua, and stated that their capture had been followed almost immediately by a death sentence. The Consul immediately appealed to President Zelaya to commute their sentence, and his answer was, "I will see." Later, on further appeal, Zelaya said that "the sentence was final." A despatch received this morning at the State Department is to the effect that the men have undoubtedly been executed.

Managnua, Nicaragua, Nov. 18. — Messrs. Cannon and Grace, the Americans who were executed for complicity in the rebellion, were tried by a fair court-martial held under the direction of the Government. The men, it was charged, were responsible for placing dynamite mines intended to blow up Government steamers laden with troops, which entered the river at Greytown. One of the mines planted by Cannon and Grace exploded fifteen yards from the steamer Diamante.

When Cannon and Grace were captured they had with them dynamite machines and other accessories for blowing up vessels. The men confessed their guilt to the authorities, and also in letters to their families. Previously Cannon had taken part in a revolution against Nicaragua from Honduras, where he was imprisoned for several months.

FIVE HUNDRED HAVE BEEN EXECUTED

New Orleans, La., Nov. 18.—A cable from Panama says: Passengers arriving from Nicaragua to-day report that a reign of terror exists throughout the portion of that country controlled by President Zelaya. Government troops are rounding up every person suspected of sympathy with the revolutionists, and executing them without trial. More than 500 have been summarily shot and the executions continue. Residences are ransacked by Zelaya's soldiers in search of incriminating letters and evidence, and when resistance is offered the houses are destroyed. Women relatives of revolutionary sympathisers have been subjected to the most horrible indignities and outrages. Nicaraguan refugees arrived on the Isthmus and in Costa Rica declare that it is time for the civilized powers to intervene.

AMERICANS AMONG THOSE PUT TO DEATH

The following despatch is almost an echo of Richard Harding Davis' stories, "Soldiers of Fortune," or "Capt. Maglin." It may also be said to be another illustration of the oft quoted saying, "truth is stranger than fiction"

Washington, Nov. 19.—Two Americans, who were discovered in the revolutionary army, in Nicaragua, have been captured and sentenced to death by President Zelaya. News received at the State Department today indicates that the sentences have been carried out.

Two American war vessels have been ordered to proceed with all haste to Nicaragua, and the meeting of the new Nicaraguan ambassador with the president at the White House, has been indefinitely postponed.

The execution of the two men is believed to have taken place at or near El Costille, which is in the immediate vicinity of Greytown.

President Taft, upon the receipt of this news, was so incensed at the action of President Zelaya that he immediately announced that he would have no communication whatever with the new Nicaraguan minister, and that official was promptly so informed.

DICKSON NICHOLLS WON SUIT FOR DAMAGES IN PORT HOPE

Claimed That Agreement in Regard to His Lease of Opera House Had Not Been Carried Out and Was Awarded $53.50 Damages by Judge Roger.

Examiner Special.

Port Hope, Nov. 19.—Dickson B. Nicholls has been awarded damages for $53.50 in Division Court by His Honour Judge Roger in his case aaginst Douglas Wark.

The defendant, Douglas Wark is the lesee of the Opera House and he leased the house to Courtney & Courtney for a moving picture show for the sum of $300 per year. This lease was transferred to Dickson Nicholls who at present conducts the picture show. According to the terms of the agreement Mr. Wark reserved the rights to bring in shows to the Opera House but agreed not to use House more than one night or day at a time. On fair nights, Sept. 28th and 29th Mr. Wark brought in two shows, Mepstead & Marr Bros., Vaudeville Co., on the 28th, and Guy Bros. the night following. Mr. Nicholls complained about the appearance of Guy Bros., and claimed $50 damages for being deprived of carrying on his own show on that evening. He also claimed $3.50 being the amount he paid under protest to Mr. Wark for the use of the piano for three months free but the fourth month Mr. Wark placed a fee of $3.50 for the use of the same. Nicholls considered $50 a reasonable estimate for his loss on Fair night. The defendant was not present and judgment was given the plaintiff for the full amount $53.50. H. A. Ward for plaintiff.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 19.—Charles Wall, aged 22, and Alice Charbonneau, aged 14, crossed over to Windsor from eDtroit on Oct 27 last and upon making the usual declaration as to their ages were granted a marriage license. The girl swore she was 18 years old, and although she looked somewhat younger, the issuer, with the sworn testimony before him, had no hesitancy in handing over the license. The couple were subsequently married by Rev. Mr. Snelgrove, rector of the Church of the Ascension. Upon returning to her parents' home across the river and informing her father of what she had done, the young bride and her husband were taken to police headquarters for an investigation of the affair. When it was learned that the wedding had really taken place, the authorities came across the river to learn how a 14 year-old girl could be married under Canadian laws. This brought to light the fact that Wall and the girl had both committed perjury in order to procure the license.

The whole affair had stirred up a hornet's nest in Detroit and several of the Circuit Court judges have decided upon a plan to bring to the attention of the Canadian Government what they denounce as the "Child Marriage Evil." Within the past few weeks, several cases of young girls marrying men to whom they were little more than strangers and crossing the river to have the ceremony performed, where more or less secrecy is observed by the marriage license issuers, have been brought to the attention of the Detroit authorities and it is probable that representations will be made to either Toronto or Ottawa setting forth the necessity for more stringent laws governing the granting of licenses to Americans who cross the river to marry.

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

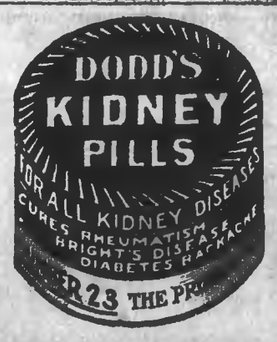
WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

THE "POWER" OF PUBLICITY.

A statement was made at the meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday night to the effect that, "with the conservation scheme worked out to completion the city of Peterborough would not be in need of power very long." This may be a just tribute to the efficiency of conservation of our northern waters, but it smacks of a limited optimism, and does not fill in with the ambition of a "Greater Peterborough." If the City Council will take prompt action in living up to the spirit of the resolution printed at the head of this column, Peterborough will feel the pinch of power scarcity very soon. If the Industrial Commissioner, whose appointment is demanded by public opinion, as reflected in the above resolution, is worth his salt he will speedily exhaust Peterborough's available supply of power, required by new industries, though that exhaustion would require many large industries. Then, without power to offer, our ammunition would be exhausted, and we should be powerless to bid for new industries. We must have a liberal reserve of surplus power in addition to the large quantity we have, if we are to maintain a winning competition for new industries. Welland has captured a new steel industry because she had the available power to offer. The Electric Steel Company of Canada has decided to camp in Welland, and has contracted for 30,000 electric horse power. With other conditions satisfactory to industries seeking a home, how much power could we offer to how many industries, to clench the bargain? If our proposed industrial Commissioner is to meet with the success we expect he will do we must equip him with tools and machinery. These are in part represented by preliminary expenses and authority to offer in the name of the town, sites and power. If, in his first year of office he should secure industries sufficient to exhaust our available reserve of power his usefulness would be gone—for some time at least—for if we wait till our power resources are exhausted, we cannot secure additional supplies in a day or in a year, perhaps. Therefore, the power question assumes a very real importance. If we act upon the above resolution and appoint an industrial commissioner, a logically complementary course of action will be the consideration of means for the acquirement of additional power to place at his disposal as a bait to manufacturing industries. We can't expect him to make the bricks to build a 50,000-population city, without straw.



FORWARD THE TRENT CANAL.

Every advance step in the completion of the Trent Canal brings this great undertaking nearer the day when it will become one of the most important agencies in the development of the Northwest of Canada and of Ontario, of the districts served by its route from bay to lake, and the rounding out of Peterborough's transportation facilities in a way to conduce to its growth in a manner not possible by any other means. We have already felt the advantage of the connection of Peterborough, north and south with the districts served by the completed portions of the water way. The completion of one splendid church structure, built of stone, made practically possible of employment by the opening of the canal and the progress of another splendid church structure are only a faint forecast of the benefits to accrue from local development of hitherto inaccessible resources, and some faint forecast of the possibilities of development and growth to be furnished by its completion and operation from end to end.

This consummation is brought nearer by the fact that this year's Dominion estimates brought before the House yesterday provided for an appropriation of $1,750,000—one and three quarter million dollars—for the Trent Canal. It is altogether probable that this means the putting under contract of at least one of the two remaining sections of the Trenton Division, necessary to open up navigation from Lake Ontario to Lake Simcoe. One of these sections is ready, form an engineering standpoint, to be placed under contract, and the other is nearly ready.

Early in his official career, Sir Wilfrid Laurier speaking in Peterborough, committed the Liberal Government to the completion of the Trent Canal, and in view of the multitudinous demands of national needs and other large undertakings, upon our resources, there has been an earnest and honest effort made to carry out this promise. In the period previous to 1896—when the Liberal Government assumed office—there had been expended upon Trent Canal construction, that is, changeable to capital account, $1,145,000. Since 1896 there has been expended upon Trent Canal construction the considerable sum of $5,284,000; of course, including current expenditure on current contracts, but not including the estimates of this year of $1,750,000, which will bring the total to more than 7 million dollars. This is rather satisfactory, and permits the Canadian, beyond the half century, to reasonably look forward to singing on the occasion of the Canal's completion, his Nunc Dimittis. This year's appropriation of one and three-quarter millions, is the largest in the history of the Canal and it looks delightfully like the beginning of the end—the completion of the Trent Canal, the realization of the dreams of eighty years, and a new impulse to the prosperity of Peterborough and the development of the whole district.

A SUGGESTION.

It is stated that plans are being made for the holding of an exhibition in 1913, to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the freedom of the negro race in the United States. Cairo, Illinois, is suggested as a fit and proper place for such an exhibition. A few days ago in this city a negro, accused—not convicted—of murder, was lynched with the gruesome concomitants that would more than do justice to the most truculent barbarism. He was hanged, hauled up by the gentle hands of women, and when the rope broke and the victim fell to the ground he was riddled with bullets, his body cut open, his heart torn out and chopped into pieces, which were distributed among the mob as souvenirs. The golden anniversary of negro emancipation celebrated at this place would strikingly contrast the sufferings of the negro under the horrors of slavery with the beatific beauty of his condition in the fiftieth year of his emancipation, and incidentally illustrate the great advance in civilization, refinement and respect for the orderly course of law, made in the past fifty years.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A heavy snowfall in Mars is reported. The cold wave has evidently reached Peterborough.

In yesterday's news columns of the Examiner was chronicled the quick and successful work of Brantford's Industrial Commissioner. He found a manufacturing industry homeless through fire, and at once put himself in negotiation with the concern, and brought it to Brantford. Would this industry, if secured at all, have been secured so readily if the matter had had to be filtered through the red-tape seive, necessarily employed by municipal bodies?

The Kingston Standard's remark that "Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech on the navy is, in the last analysis, tantamount to a declaration of independence" is tantamount to—well—nonsense. Was Canada's position assumed in 1897-8, that she should be allowed to have the all-say in the disposition of her revenue a declaration of independence? It meant simply the self-government we have had for half a century and was quite in line with the liberty the British constitution assures to the associated independent dependencies. Are the building and maintenance of a navy any more incompatible with Imperial connection than the maintenance of a volunteer force?

NAVY OR TRIBUTE.

Opponents of the proposed Canadian navy are apparently troubled over Sir Wilfrid's declaration that the navy "will go to no war unless Parliament chooses to send it." What is there improper in such a declaration? Canada need not give Great Britain a tariff preference unless Parliament chooses to give it. Canada was under no compulsion to send her soldiers to the Empire's rescue in South Africa, yet her Parliament sent them and with good results. The Canadian navy is primarily for the protection of our fisheries and shipping, but it will none the less be an auxiliary unit in the Imperial navy, subject to giving assistance in case of Imperial need. If we send money to build up the imperial navy, in whose construction we shall have no share, whose construction will do nothing to develop our national resources and build up a great shipbuilding industry in Canada—give no employment to Canadian labour—we shall be in process of surrendering the autonomy we have gained by years of development. We maintain a volunteer force for our own defence without that being regarded as a step towards independence. Why can we not in the same way and with like consistency, build and maintain a navy? A contribution from Canada that would sap the foundation of our resources would be a drop in the bucket compared with the overflowing financial resources of the Motherland. It would be like buying our discharge from the Imperial service and would not be of the material assistance, and would entirely lack the moral force that would come from building and maintaining a Canadian navy to offer the Empire in case of necessity. The soldiers we sent to South Africa—that turned the crisis in the dark hour, were more helpful, more valued by Great Britain than would have been a contribution of cash ten times greater than the two or three millions it cost us to send them. A Canadian navy, built by Canada, maintained by Canada, and subject to imperial call in the event of being required—be it small or great, is but a tangible expression of the moral tie, the only strong tie, that unites the Motherland and the Dominions Beyond the Seas in the Imperial familyhood.

WHERE CANADA STANDS.

London Advertiser.)

The majority of Canadians will agree with Sir Richard Cartwright, when he says that Canada should not be deterred from ratifying the Franco-Canadian treaty by fear of reprisals from Washington.

The good faith of this country is pledged to the arrangement with France. Negotiations were virtually completed before Congress began to frame the new American tariff, with its maximum and minimum provisions. To withdraw from it now would be shabby treatment of France, and would be tantamount to saying that we shall not henceforth seek the commercial friendship of any foreign country, out of fear of the United States.

Already the minimum American tariff inflicts the maximum of injury upon this country. It is on the average of 75 per cent higher than the Canadian tariff upon imports from the United States. There is no terror for this country in an American surtax on Canadian products: the Dingley tariff exhausted our neighbour's capacity for damaging Canadian trade.

The French treaty will not seriously affect United States producers who find a market in Canada. It slightly abates the duties upon a limited number of distinctively French products, which will not compete to any great extent with American wares. President Taft is required to apply the surtax only to those countries which "unfairly discriminate" against the United States. In all probability he will decide that the Franco-Canadian treaty does not come within the meaning of the phrase. It would not be statesmanlike to quarrel with so good a customer as Canada. If he chooses to attempt to penalise us, the United States will be the greater sufferer, as Sir Richard Cartwright says.

AUSTRALIA'S POSITION.

In the blue book containing the detailed report of the proceedings of the Imperial Defence Conference, Australia thus defines her attitude in regard to co-operation with the Imperial Navy.

"It is, however, to be understood that if the services of any of the coast defence vessels be desired in seas remote from Australia, the approval of the Commonwealth Government shall first be obtained to their removal."

In other words Australia is in accord with the declaration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier the other day, that the approval of Parliament will have to be given before the Canadian fleet is allowed to participate in wars waged for or against the Motherland.

DEVELOPS THE BUST, ROUNDS ARMS AND NECK

Obtain the ingredients separately at any good drug store, and mix carefully at home. Get two ounces of glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce tincture of cadomene compound (not cardamom) and five cents' worth of borax. Mix the glycerine with tincture cadomene and let stand two hours; then add rosewater and a teaspoonful of borax. Apply morning and night, rubbing it in thoroughly. Then wash with hot water and soap and dry.

AWAITING GOOD WIFE

Pastor Has His Case in Hand, But is Hiding His Identity.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 18—"Won't somebody please help me find a wife for a man who ought to have one?" said the Rev. Charles Savidge, with the earnestness of a man who is trying to rescue the drowninng.

"It's a most deserving case," he continued, and I am interested to the extent that I propose to help him out. This man is of middle age, is a widower, and has seven children. Wait a minute—that isn't all, by any means.

"He has a fine farm of 160 acres, not more than one hundred miles from Omaha, ten head of horses, fifty-five head of cattle, 160 hogs and, in short, a first-class farm property.

"He told me he was simply discouraged with living since his wife died. He is a fine man, tall, handsome with dark moustache and beard, and he ought to have a good wife.

"Now I don't want any fake offers, but I am convinced about this case and would like to have a good woman who thinks she might be interested in meeting the gentleman call me up on the telephone and come to see me at my house. There is a real case of need that ought to be adjusted on both sides. Why shouldn't I take it up?"

Blacksmithing and Woodworking Business For Sale

The undersigned offers for sale his blacksmithing and woodworking business, situated on the 10th line between Peterborough and Norwood at Jarvis P. O. The blacksmith shop building is two stories, 25 x 45, with cement floor and cement forge. The upper story is the full size of the blacksmith shop (45x45). Attached to the blacksmith shop is the post office building, which may be entered from the blacksmith shop. Adjoining is a first class brick dwelling, with frontage 15 and 25 feet, with kitchen. It is an L-shaped house with cement cellar. Also verandah and beautiful lawn. There is a good stable, with cement floor, three stalls, with straw barn attached. The land comprises one-half acre. This is one of the best blacksmith stands in the County of Peterborough. The farmers all patronize this shop. My reason for giving up business is on account of having one of my legs fractured I am unable to continue the shoeing. For further particulars, write to

F. CLARKE & SON The Only Corner Jewelry Store

'ROUND THE STORES

Fearless price cutting and profit pruning continues to characterize the methods adopted by Richard Hall & Son in the conduct of their Fire Sale. For over five weeks this sale has been continued with a remarkable continuity of success. Approximately, it might be conjectured that close on to thirty thousand dollars' worth of goods must have been sold during these thirty days. Fast and continuous selling, eager and zealous buying, happy and jubilant buyers, have been self-evident features every day. And there does not appear to be much, if any, let up" to the interest in this sale. New attractions, each day, at this season of the year, create extra demand. Cautious, thoughtful buyers will not pay regular prices, when so many tempting offers are made in the varied lines of necessities. The lists that have been given serve merely as hints at the savings, and give no idea of the splendid variety of high-class goods contained in this big store. Women who appreciate real worth, who admire style and value in superior dress goods, are constantly flocking to the extensive department where all kinds of dress fabrics are exposed at the sacrifice prices. And so on all over the shop, upstairs as well as down. See announcement for Saturday.

When the dry goods shops fill their windows with Suits and Coats, it is natural that one should rest under theimpression that the mid-November buying season is on. Many ladies are now in the throes of fitting appointments with tailors, modistes and milliners and are only now donning cold-weather clothes. The selection of the ready-to-wear suits and coats is not so belated a proceeding as one might think. In regard to Cressman's, the present is, in fact, the psychological moment as far as price is concerned. Their usual advance sale is in progress and the best of bargains are to be found—bargains that answer the true definition that a bargain consists not in what you pay, but what you get. The opinion of every woman who has seen the fine display of coats and suits at Cressman's is a most favourable one. Every garment bears its individual style. The Suit Coats are nearly all made about 45 inches long, some of course a trifle shorter, the general effect is not perfectly plain, but mantailored with a moderate amount of trimmings. Some there are that are past this point and give one the idea of a fancy military coat, with military collar and military braids in profusion.

In cloths the suits are shown in fancy tweeds and worsteds in the lower priced garments, while in the better goods the French Venetians, French and English Cheviots, and Broadcloths, also the new Traverse Cloths and Silk and Wool Ottomans, are shown. The goods shown are generally in solid colours, with a few here and there in modest patterns, such as two tone grey checks, shadow stripes, etc.

The head of the department at Cressman's is particularly proud of one suit that just came in. It is a fine broadcloth in a soft shade of Ashes of Roses; the coat is in the usual cut with the collar and lapel slightly differing from the run of coats. The collar is in Moire Silk, gracefully shaped to the neck, and the lapels are bolder, with Black Moire Silk set in. The coat, skirt at front and back and cuffs are inlaid with Moire Silk, and trimmed with buttons to match; the skirt is in the "Moyon Age" style, trimmed to match the coat.

Bargains stand thick in the Peterborough Bookstore at present. Every aisle fairly glistens with them. The very large stock of fancy goods, as well as books, stationery and wall papers, has been through the hands of the price-cutter, and slashed right and left. It is imperative that the entire stock be reduced to a fixed limit before Christmas, in order that a basis for the change in business may be arrived at. The Retiring Sale offers a golden opportunity to early buyers of elegant holiday goods, of which the store is crammed full.

Peterborough women need little coaxing to appreciate something decidedly out of the common. Miss McGivern, whose pleasing millinery is always in demand, is offering surprising reductions in her beautiful trimmed hats. Ladies can therefore secure the best made-up headwear just now at a saving.

The feminine work bag is assuming a rampant expression. Conversations of a quiet evening are prefaced by a gentle upheaval of its contents, and the strife of fair tongues is pursued at the point of the needle. Harry Adams' "Store for Women" is feeling the effects of the extra demand for such things as cushion tops, embroidered centres, and allied lines of needlework supplies, in anticipation of Christmas. It's not hard to find anything a woman needs, at Adams'.

One feels as if it were meet and necessary to invoke the spirit of reverence and eloquence before advancing into eulogy of a bookshop. The well-kept and attractive store presided over by Mr. Cubitt, east side of George street, is a spot where the quiet lover of books may find what will appeal to his temperament. The collection of books is one of the choicest in the city. Mr. Cubitt's display of fine stationery and fancy goods, also bears evidence of good judgment in buying. See his new arrivals.

Messrs. Robert Fair & Co. have excelled themselves this season in handsome window trims. Many ladies have voted this store the most tasteful and effective window on the street. Excellent judgment is used in displaying the colourings and kinds of goods for exhibition, which harmonize best and give the striking effects that attract attention. But if the shopper has not already visited Fair's this week, she should not fail to do so to-morrow. Among the many bargain chances of the week, one will find handsome dress goods and suitings at striking reductions..

Dress fabrics that formerly were ticketed 50c. and 75c. per yard, are now re-marked at 35c.; and 75c. and $1.50 material at 50c. Many of these are dainty fabrics, suitable for evening dresses, and should be seen to be fully appreciated. For to-morrow the Golden Lion has a lot of attractive offerings bulletined. Tailored suits that were $14.50 and $20, are marked down at $5.90. Heavy winter coats that were $15 and $17.50, at $7.50; underskirts at half price. These prices mark the opening week of Fair's annual dress goods sale.

Mr. E. L. Payne, druggist, on the corner of George and Simcoe Sts., is offering the public low prices in patent medicines, as well as regular drugs and household requirements. His reduced price list is worth perusal, as the cut rates are about twenty per cent. off regular prices. The business of this drug store is rapidly increasing among all classes of people, which is evidence of the proprietor's good business methods and careful stock keeping.

Some of the jewellers have started out to make things merry for early Christmas gift buyers. Two of the leading stores, Messrs. F. Clarke & Son and the F. T. Schneider Co. are bidding strongly for a rush trade to begin now. The stocks held by these firms are among the newest and most attractive on George street, and their efforts should arouse the slow and tardy buyer of Christmas gifts to make hay while the sun shines.

WEDDING BELLS

HALIBURTON—McNEELY.

On Monday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 476 Woodville avenue, Miss Lillian, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McNeely, was married to Mr. Charles Haliburton, a popular C.P.R. brakeman of West Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. H. Brown, of Annette Baptist Church, under an arch of foliage and pink roses. The wedding march was played by Miss Edith Loundes, as the bride entered the room, assisted by her father. She was attired in a beautiful gown of cream liberty satin trimmed with real lace and also carried a shower bouquet of cream roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ruby McNeely, sister of the bride, and Miss E. Riley. Miss McNeely wore a very pretty gown of pink silk chiffon voile and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Little Audrey Foster made a charming little flower girl. The groom was assisted by Mr. J. Walker and Mr. F. McConkey.

After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding repast was served to about fifty guests.

The bride's travelling dress was of grey ladies' cloth with hat to match. On their return from their honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Haliburton will reside at 105 Fairview avenue, ward seven.—Toronto Star.

AMERICAN WOMEN AS JUDGED BY VISITING ENGLISHWOMAN

London, Nov 18—Mrs. Arthur Stannard takes direct issue with Marie Corelli on the latter's championing of American women. Mrs. Stannard's opinion on the question is as weighty as that of any English woman in society to-day. Here is what she said to a representative of The World when asked to talk about the Corelli article.

"I own that American women are not only charming but delicious. Still, the average American woman does not in my opinion, possess the solid qualities of character which mark the true-bred English woman.

"The American woman is always talking, according to my observation of her, about what she intends to buy, what she is going to do, what she expects to wear. The English woman is not so absorbed in these topics. She has more brain power, I venture to assert, and in my own experience I have yet to meet an American woman who enjoyed even a fair share of real brain power.

"Corelli is particular to mention," added Mrs. Stannard, "that her American women friends were particularly shining and scintillating lights. This would amuse me but for the fact that I am compelled to think that Corelli had reference to the coruscations of diamonds and other jewellery which American women seem to consider a necessary part of their make up.

The alleged chivalry of the American man," said Mrs. Stannard, in conclusion, "is true cause for ribald jests. I have never known an Englishman in a bus or tramcar to fail to give up his seat to a woman, but I noticed that the New Yorker is too much engrossed in his market returns or whatever they call their Wall St. stuff, to bother about a standing woman. Coming down to facts, as they say across the water, I don't really believe that Corelli means half what she is quoted as saying."

Millionaire Clubman And Wife On Trial Separation

San Francisco, Nov. 18. — Walter Hobart, millionaire and clubman, whose exploits on the polo field and in other capacities have furnished much talk in Burlingame, Ltd., has provided new material for discussion in the smart San Mateo colony by innovating the trial divorce.

Hobart started to live alone in his roomy mansion at Burlingame last June, when his wife went to the home of her sister, Mrs. A. S. Lilley, at San Rafael.

It was announced then by Mrs. Lilley that this arrangement would continue through the summer, and that the matter was so private that it precluded discussion.

Decided to Live Separately.

Mrs. Charles Baldwin, sister of Hobart, removed the arrangement from the realms of speculation by announcing early in September that the Hobarts had decided to separate and live apart for an indefinite period.

An assignment of securities and property and a monthly allowance that would allow Mrs. Hobart an ample income for herself and her children were then announced.

Mrs. Hobart shortly afterward left for a trip abroad, and has since been living with her children in Italy.

"Mr. and Mrs. Hobart are not going to the courts with their troubles," Mrs. Baldwin announced before the departure of her sister-in-law. "There will not be a divorce."

Burlingame confirms all this now by pointing out that there will be no divorce—not, at least, for a year.

Hobart and his wife, according to the colonists of Burlingame, who profess to share the secrets of the social elect, have evolved the simple but definite arrangement of remaining out of each other's company for 12 months as an experiment.

Trying Out Temperaments.

While the separation lasts, according to the interpretation that Burlingame places on it, both will be gaining first-hand information on how it would suit their individual temperaments to be freed permanently by the divorce courts.

Friends of Hobart and his wife point out that when the 12 months have elapsed it may be likely that both will be ready to forget their differences and agree to agree again.

When the trial divorce is being tested Hobart continues to be a familiar figure at most of the smart gatherings at Burlingame, where his optimistic friends keep assuring him that they can see nothing in it but the reconciliation of himself and Mrs. Hobart.

Wife Has Initiative.

Mrs. Hobart, according to Burlingame, has the privilege of taking the initiative in the matter of their divorce or reconciliation when she returns.

Burlingame also claims to know that she is receiving an income of $1,000 a month while the trial divorce lasts.

And just as a by-product of the separation of the Hobarts has come a well-defined split in the ranks of Burlingame society, the lines of cleavage being marked by the respective friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart. The situation has become a matter of gossip within the last month in consequence of two smart dinners, the first by Mrs. Francis J. Carolan and the second by Walter Hobart himself.

MUST PLAY AGAIN

Brussels Playing in Havelock To-day.

A meeting of the Ontario football executive was held at the Walker House, Toronto, on Saturday, when Havelock's claim for the championship was dealt with, Messrs. F. McKay and T. P. Lancaster, representing the local club.

President Brown's ruling that Brussels did not default when they did not go to Havelock, and naming a later date, was sustained, although several claimed that Havelock should be entitled to the game.

Brussels were ordered to pay Havelock $14 for expenses in connection with the same game, thus practically proving that Havelock was entitled to the game.

In the matter of the last game here, when the teams tied on the round, the executive claimed that the referee made a mistake in not making them play off the tie, and they gave Havelock the option of playing off at home on Friday, paying all expenses, or at Toronto on Saturday, each to pay their own expenses and take chances on receipts.

Then locals have decided to play the game here on Friday afternoon at 2.30, and have notified Brussels tot that effect.—Havelock Standard.

RECTOR OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, LAKEFIELD

new rector into the rights, privileges and appurtenances of the parish.

The key to the church was presented to the new rector, also a prayer book and the bible, in the accustomed form, and Mr. Sawers was declared the legally appointed rector of St. John's. The evening service was proceeded with, with special psalms, lessons and prayers. Rev. Canon Davidson was the special preacher, and delivered a most practical and helpful sermon from II. Corinthians, iv: 4, "For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake."

The service being ended, the congregation gave a reception to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Sawers in the school house, at which a large number were present. Mr. Hilliard acted as chairman. Speeches were made by Revs. Dr. Langfeldt, A. W. Mackenzie, C. R Spencer and H. R. Trumpour, all being expressive of good wishes for the new rector and his wife, testifying to the great esteem in which Mr Sawers is held. A large number of Peterborough friends attended the induction, among them Mrs. Sawers, the mother of the rector.

The Christian Science Lecture Was Much Appreciated

The Christian Science lecture last night by Prof. Hering in the Conservatory Music Hall was well attended and proved highly interesting and instructive. Mr. R. J. Todd occupied the chair.

Prof. Hering in opening said:

In addressing an intelligent audience upon the subject of "Christian Science, the Science of Salvation," it is well, first of all, to reach a mutual understanding as to the meaning of the terms. Science means exact, systematized, and demonstrable knowledge of fact, laws and causes, while according to Smith's Bible Dictionary salvation means "deliverance from temporal evils and earthly destruction," in other words deliverance from evil. Hence "the Science of Salvation," means in substance that demonstrable knowledge which affords deliverance from evil.

St. Paul admonishes us to work out our own salvation with fear and trembling. This Spiritual command means far more than the common belief that salvation is assured by simply having faith or belief in Jesus as the Son of God. Such saving faith is virtually necessary, but it is only the beginning of our salvation—its spiritual basis.

The true Christian Scientist reflects the divine Mind, stands on the basis of God, man and the universe as spirit and spiritual, as love and its manifestation, as mind and its ideas, perfect and harmonious. Hence he understands the unreality of matter and evil and knows that man is not sick but that the patient is simply suffering from a false mesmeric belief. From that point he proceeds with the truth of being and thus establishes harmony on a spiritual scientific basis.

This is a cardinal point in Christian science healing, that it is the divine mind in us that does the healing and not human thought. In Christian Science healing the human sense serves only as a vehicle for truth. It is the truth alone that effects results

Another cardinal point in Christian Science healing is that it works from the standpoint of the unreality of matter and evil and thus proves the allness and supremacy of God. It includes the knowing and affirmation of truth, the recognition and denial of error.

Cause of Sickness and Sin.

Sickness is the result of mesmerism, illusion. The human thought listens to the arguments of mortal mind instead of refusing to believe them—hence its ills. The sick are asleep in the mesmerism of material sense and need to be awakened to man's true existence as God's child. Christian Science shows us the way to do this.

Healing Methods.

HE RESEMBLES BARTON MURDER

The result of inquiries made by Provincial Inspector Greer, who has been in correspondence with the New York authorities, has not been made known. It was thought the theory was disposed of when it was ascertained that the description did not tally as closely as was first supposed with the Barton murderer, but the fact that three people who saw the suspect declare that pictures of Mueller bear a striking resemblance should justify the authorities in following the matter until they make sure.

Some of the Toronto papers, after the Mueller story was published, said he could not possibly be the murderer, because he was in Sing Sing prison at the time. The Times has investigated this and finds the report is not correct. Mueller was released three months before the crime was committed.—Hamilton Times.

SEE "THE CATTLE THIEVES" AT THE PRINCESS

If there is anything that the Canadian people are proud of, it is the work of her North West Mounted Police, and just now Peterborough citizens have an opportunity of seeing them as they really are in the splendid film that is being shown at the Princess to-day, and to-morrow, entitled "The Cattle Thieves," in which the Mounted Police show their skill in riding and shooting. There is no deception about this picture, which was posed for by a section of the police. In addition to being interesting on this account "The Cattle Thieves" is an unusually exciting film story. In addition four new Pathe films are being shown, the result being the best bill since the Princess opened. To-morrow afternoon there will be a special entertainment for children.

THE NON-JURY SITTINGS ON MONDAY NEXT

The non-jury sittings of the High Court will be held at the court house on Monday, commencing at one o'clock. Mr. Justice Britton will preside. There are three cases to be heard by His Lordship, namely Rose vs. Dunlop; Bennett vs. the Havelock Electric Light and Power Company, and the Coporation of Lakefield vs. Brown.

In the case of Bennett vs. the Havelock Electric Light and Power Company, and the Corporation of Lakefield vs. Brown.

In the case of Bennett vs. the Havelock Electric Company, Thos. Bennett, on behalf of himself and a number of other shareholders, is suing the Company for $5,000, claiming the said company fraudulently took stock for that amount and after building a power house, which only cost $300, divided the balance among the directors. O'Connell & Gordon for the plaintiffs, and Hall, Medd & Davidson for the defendants.

"TWO WOMEN AND THAT MAN"

A new and unique play by Henry D. Carey, entitled "Two Women and That Man" is said to tell a most powerful story of what a woman had to contend with during her adventures in the famous rush for gold in the Klondyke regions during 1898, in which period and country the story of the play is laid. It will be easily recalled that few women dared to face the inevitable cold, hardship and conditions that existed there during that time. While the play is essentially a love drama as the title implies it also gives a graphic and detailed picture of that far north country to the minutest degree. Many characters that may be said to be new to the stage are shown, in fact the play is absolutely new in all respects and can really be called unique and original.

HOWARD WATCHES

Messrs. Clarke & Son Have Received a New Stock of the Famous Time Pieces.

Messrs. F. Clarke & Son, jewellers, of this city, have just received a fine new stock of the famous Howard Watches. This watch is recognized as the finest watch made, and is carried and has stood the test from such famous men as Wilbert Wright, the aeroplanist, Peary, of Polar fame, and many others, who desire exactness of time.

These watches are now on view and sale at F. Clarke & Son's, and should be seen by all who appreciate a good watch.

KNICKERBOCKER CO. OPENS NEW STORE

Will Handle the Best in Ladies' and Gents' Ready-to-Wear Clothes—Also Fine Line of Furs.

To-morrow morning, the Knickerbocker Company, under the local management of Zacks Bros., will open a store here at 422 George St. The company will handle a varied line of goods of the very best material, and the men and women of Peterborough ought to be able to secure every satisfaction in the matter of dress at this new and modern store. The store has been all repapered and decorated, and presents a very attractive appearance. The management intend only to keep the most up-to-date things and there is no doubt but that they will receive a large patronage from the citizens in Peterborough.

Their stock will include a high grade of men's clothing, ladies' ready-to-wear suits of the latest designs, fur-lined and fur coats, ladies' silk underskirts, waists, sweaters and household furnishings including carpets, oilcloths, curtains, tablecloths and blankets.

To-morrow morning a special line of ladies' fine silk underskirts will be offered at greatly reduced prices.

HAY STILL $17

Hamilton Market Price Down to $12 But No Change Here.

The market price of hay continues at from $16 to $18, with $17 the favourite price. According to news from Western Ontario hay is selling on the Hamilton market at $12 a ton and the supply being abundant, it is felt that the price will remain around those figures. There have been no signs in Peterborough of a decided slump in the price of this commodity. The demand in the city is heavy hence the firmness in the price.

The Parkdale Canoe Club senior O. R. F. U. team cannot secure any of the Varsity men they were after for their game to-morrow against T. A. A. C., as the Varsity Athletic Association will not permit it. Clarke, of the second team, though, has been given permission to play for Dundas, his home town, against the Tiger second team to-morrow.—Toronto Globe.

TOOK ILL WHILE DEER HUNTING AND DIED AWAY FROM HIS HOME

Sad Death of Methuen Township Man Who Became Ill at Camp---Family Were Called---Death Occurred Before Removal to His Home.

The death occurred last week of a well known resident of this neighbourhood under circumstances which are unusually sad.

Mr. William John Elliott, of the 19th Con. of Dummer, in company with Mr. Thos. McNeely, went out to Airhart's settlement in the township of Methuen to spend the hunting season where they were joined by Mr. Geo. Airhart.

At the end of the first week Mr. Elliott came home to replenish their supplies and next day returned to the scene of their exploits, about three miles north of Airhart's on Sandy Lake. Before leaving he arranged for his son, William J. Elliott to go out about the middle of the next week to have a hunt and to bring them home.

Thursday last Mr. Elliott was not feeling well and did not join the chase but remained at the camp. Mr. McNeely and Mr. Elliott, Jr., went. It was arranged that if he got worse he would fire a signal and they would come in. They were not away long from the camp when they heard the signal. On their return they found him much worse and after removing him to Mr. Airhart's the son started for Havelock to summon a doctor and to bring Mrs. Elliott and also procure a suitable conveyance in which to bring the sick man home. Dr. Crawford lost no time in answering the summons and remained with him until Friday morning when he left him feeling much easier, promising to return next morning to see and to accompany him home.

When Mrs. Elliott and her son arrived Friday evening they found him a very sick man, and although all that loving hands could do to alleviate his sufferings and administer to his wants was done, he continued to sink, and early Saturday morning passed away. He was removed to his home the same day. On the way out the friends met Dr. Crawford at Oak Lake making his second trip.

Mr. Elliott was 57 years of age, and is survived by his wife and two children—Mr. W. J. Elliott and Mrs. John Drain, Jr., of Stony Lake. He was a steady, hard working man, but liked a little diversion, and for the past thirty years he had been accustomed to spending a couple of weeks in the north during the hunting season.

He was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends, and was also widely known. He took a keen interest in the affairs of his municipality and was twice in the field for the office of councillor.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon to the Norwood cemetery, and was largely attended. The Rev. E. W. Pickford, rector of the Anglican church, officiated. The bearers were: Messrs. Thos. McNeely, Thomas, Samuel and Robert McConnell, Samuel Thompson and Harry McLaughlin.—Norwood Register.

FOR BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

There are times in the life of nearly every child when Dr. Chase's Ointment proves itself a blessing. The tender skin chafes and is irritated by the clothing. Oftentimes baby eczema develops from this very cause. In a dozen ways Dr Chase's Ointment can be used to sooth and heal the skin and prevent suffering of the little one. No treatment is so well suited for this purpose and none is so entirely satisfactory.

INFORMATION WANTED

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I write you for information. Could you tell me why a light snow, as that this morning, falling upon a pavement with a hard and smooth-finished surface, melted to slush almost as it fell; while that, falling upon pavement with rough or floated surface remained unmelted. If you cannot solve the problem perhaps some scientific member of one of our two large teaching staffs—Collegiate Institute and Normal school—can slake the thirst for information of A TYRO.

Note.—At first thought the difference noted by Tyro is accounted for on the same principle as that which explains the superior warmth of woollen fabrics to cotton fabrics, the greater porosity, the greater number of contained air spaces—air being a poor conductor of heat. The smooth surfaced pavement is more compact—has less air spaces than the loosely finished pavement, and therefore the residual warmth is more readily given out and communicated to the snow lying upon the surface. If this suggested explanation does not satisfy "Tyro" or is otherwise open to objection, doubtless the authorities he mentions will supply the information he seeks.

SIMPSON BEATEN BY SHRUBB
RACES RED HAWK TO-NIGHT

Hiawatha Indian Could Not Hold Alfie, Although He Made Him Step in Jig-Time to Beat Him in Their Race at Fort William on Monday.

Fred Simpson, who runs Red Hawk 12 miles here Friday night at Excelsior Rink, arrived to-day from Fort William, where he ran Alf. Shrubb 10 miles. He brings with him Fort William papers that show that the race was a clinker.

"Oh, yes, Shrubb beat me," says Simpson. "He always will as long as he gets me as he did at the Armouries last winter, with a cold, or at Fort William on three days' notice. He forgets that I farm for a living and run for a side graft, and am not always in the pink of condition, like he is, and ready to run all the time. Anyway, I made him run 10 miles in 55.25 over a 12½ lap track on a slippery floor."

A Great Race.

The Fort William Herald says: "To say that last night's ten mile grind at the Arena Rink was an interesting affair, would be putting it mildly. It was more than interesting; it was exciting every minute from start to finish, and the five or six hundred people who witnessed it left the building after everything was over satisfied with the performance of Alf. Shrubb and Fred Simpson as runners. It was indeed a grand race all the way, and one that will be remembered for some time to come by those who were fortunate enough to see it."

The Herald goes on to say that it was only after a mile of ding-donging that Shrubb shook Simpson, and that it took him 2 miles to gain the first 220 yards on him. He sprinted half-a-dozen times ineffectually before he got away again, and at five miles had Simpson two laps back. The big Indian glued to him like a leech from the five mile mark on, meeting sprint with sprint, and in the final dash, a two lap sprint, beat Shrubb out, though he was two laps behind.

Red Hawk ran four miles in 21.09 at Excelsior rink yesterday in preparation for his race with Simpson Friday night, and says he will win by half a mile. If he does, he will be a better man than Shrubb, for Monday night's 10 miles with Shrubb will do Simpson a whole lot of good.

BLEACHERS RESERVED FOR CROWD

Ottawa-Tiger Game at Rosedale Will Attract Biggest Audience of Season—Students as Ushers.

Toronto, Nov. 19. — Twenty-three hundred reserved seat tickets were put on in Ottawa, Hamilton and Toronto yesterday morning, and so great was the demand for seats for the Tiger-Ottawa game at Rosedale on Saturday that all the seats were claimed by 10 o'clock. As a result the officers of the Interprovincial Union in order to accommodate those desiring seats have arranged to reserve both the bleachers at the Rosedale grounds, and these will be put on sale in Toronto and Hamilton this morning at 8 o'clock, the Toronto sale opening at H. H. Love's, 189 Yonge street. In Hamilton the Tiger Club was besieged all day yesterday for tickets, and fully 800 of the bleacher seats will be taken in the Tiger city alone, with the result that the Hamilton supporters at the game to-morrow will number nearly 1,500. Two special trains are being run, and it will be a great day for the crowd with the yellow 'mums, win or lose.

At a meeting of the Tiger Rooters Club last evening, arrangements were made to bring down 200 "rooters," and these will be arranged in the centre of the west end of the main stand with the rest of the Hamilton crowd around them. The Ottawa Rooters' club will be placed in the east section of the main stand, surrounded by their friends, and next to them the Varsity and Argo teams will be placed. The Varsity students have chosen to look after the ushering, and 30 "rah-rah" boys will do the honours. All arrangements are complete and a monster crowd is expected at what should prove the greatest gridiron battle of the year.

THE O.R.F.U. FINAL WILL BE A BATTLE

Both Teams are Confident of Victory and in spite of Other Attractions There Will be Record Crowd

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The reserved seat plan for the big O.R.F.U. game at Varsity Athletic Field opens this morning at Love's, and indications point to a "standing room only" crowd to-morrow afternoon. The interest in this crucial struggle between Parkdale and T. A. A. C. has been equalled by seldom in these parts, and were it not for the counter attraction at Rosedale the crowd would easily reach record proportions. As it is arrangements have been made for the handling of a bumper 'house,' and a detail of police will be on hand to maintain order. None but officials and representatives of the press will be allowed on the field.

With Messrs. Hendry and Griffith handling the game, it will be a case of the players having to confine themselves to straight football, but the feeling between the two teams is so intense, and there is so much at stake that it will take the officials all their time to hold the men in check. The lines of both teams are as heavy as anything in the Interprovincial, the Crimson's, which averages over 185 pounds, having something even on that of the Hamilton Tigers. In addition, speed is very much in evidence, both with Parkdale and their opponents, their outside wings, in particular, being extremely speedy.

Parkdale must not play Maynard, but in his stead they promise to spring another surprise in another half even better than the Varsity star. T.A.A.C. have been holding practices both afternoon and evening, and the Paddlers, too, have overlooked absolutely nothing in this respect.

The game will start at 2.45 o'clock to the minute.

A CHANGE IN RULES THAT SHOULD BE CARRIED OUT

Team in Possession of the Ball Should Not Lose Oval at the End of Quarter Time, Suggests Hamilton Times---Seems Reasonable on the Face.

Rugby for this season will close with the Dominion championship game between the winners of the Ottawa-Tiger game and Varsity, the last mentioned game taking place a week from the coming Saturday. Before the season closes there is talk of some changes being made in playing rules of the game by each union, and one which is feasible enough to be changed.

It is the rule in respect to the position of the ball at the end of the third and first quarters. As it is now, the ball is kicked off from the centre of the field as soon as the whistle blows for time to change ends. The team that has worked the ball right up to the oposing team's goal line, is then compelled to lose its advantage, and start all over again.

It is the same in every union in Canada, with the exception of the Inter-Collegiate Union, where the ball is taken to the opposite end of the field to which it was when the whistle blew, and placed in the same position relatively. This is the fairest way, and the best way to the team who work the ball by hard football, and then lose perhaps on the kick-off to the other side.

Of course the present rule, as used in the Big Four makes the game uncertain, as the whistle may blow for the change of ends with the ball in possession of a team on the other side's line, and a try or a rouge possible. The abolition of this rule in favour of the one in the Inter-Collegiate would be of much assistance to a weaker team playing against the wind, with the other side in possession of the ball and ready to cross the line for a try.

It would mean the taking of the ball to the other end of the field and although the other side has possession of the ball, the team whose line was in danger of being crossed in the other end of the field have the advantage, and if the wind is strong enough can with some degree of safety return a punt from behind their line as the wind will carry it out of danger.

But the main object in making the rules to conform with the Intercollegiate rule on this point would be that it would not take away the ball from the team that had worked hard to get it to the other team's goal line only to lose it when the whistle blew it seldom happening that the ball is in centre field when time expires for the quarter change.

This play has met with the approval of those who have witnessed any of the games in the Intercollegiate Union and there is no reason why it should not be the same in the Inter-provincial and O.R.F.U.—Hamilton Times.

GEO. SPOTTON, PRESIDENT J. A. McKONE, PRINCIPAL

DEATH OF DR. BARR M.P.

Shelburne Member of Dominion House Is Found Dead In His Bed In Cecil Hotel, Ottawa—Was Well on Thursday—Tributes Paid to Memory and Members Take the Body to His Home.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Dr. John Barr of Shelburne, M.P. for Dufferin (Conservative), was found dead in bed at the Cecil Hotel yesterday afternoon.

He was in his usual health Thursday, and attended the sitting of the Commons. In the Parliamentary lobbies he had a chat with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and all through the day seemed to be in excellent spirits.

He did not come down to breakfast yesterday morning, but his non-appearance occasioned no alarm. However, when he did not appear for dinner, Dr. Roche, M.P. (Marquette); J. E. Armstrong, M.P. (Lambton), and and Mr. Marshall, M.P. (Elgin), went up to his room and found him dead in bed. He had apparently died in the early hours of the morning, supposedly of heart disease. The coroner stated that no inquest would be held.

The late Dr. Barr enjoyed a wide popularity in the House, and yesterday afternoon Sir Wilfrid Laurier paid a tribute to his memory. He said Dr. Barr was very much respected by the members on the Government side of the House, and he desired to convey a sincere expression of condolence to the members of his family.

R. L. Borden described him as conscientious, earnest and indefatigable in the public interest, and was sure that every member would join in an expression of sympathy with the family in their bereavement.

The remains were sent to Shelburne last night in a special car provided by the Government, and escorted by Dr. Sproule, Dr. Chisholm, Dr. Shaffner, T. R. Tabor, J. E. Armstrong and E. N. Lewis.

It is pointed out as a strange coincidence that Dr. Fred Lewis of Orangeville, who, in 1905, succeeded Dr. Barr in the Ontario Legislature, was found dead in his room in the Queen's Hotel, Toronto. That was on May 25, 1907.

Dr. Barr was born in Elizabethtown, Leeds County, in 1843, and educated at Lowden Grammar School and Victoria University. He represented Dufferin in the Ontario Legislature from 1875 to 1879, and also from 1890 to 1894, and from 1898 to 1904, when after the federal gerrymander creating Dufferin as a new constituency, he resigned to accept nomination for the Commons. In religion he was a Methodist.

MURDER IS CHARGED

Report of Analyst Shows That Mrs. McLaughlin Had Been Poisoned—Bodies of Boys Taken From Burned Building Will Be Exhumed—Inquest Will Be Resumed on Monday Night.

Whitby, Nov. 20.—Another chapter was added to the McLaughlin case at Uxbridge yesterday morning, when Archie McLaughlin was arrested by Provincial Detective Greer of Toronto, under instruction from the Attorney-General's Department. The prisoner took matters quite coolly, and after appearing before Magistrate Hamilton, was driven to Whitby and placed behind the bars.

His arrest was the result of Prof. Ellis' examination of Mrs. McLaughlin's stomach, in which was found a large quantity of strychnine.

The final session of the inquest will be held Monday night at Uxbridge behind closed doors, when the medical evidence will be given. Among the witnesses to be examined are Prof. Ellis, Dr. W. C. Shier, Dr. J. A. McClintock, and Miss Dennis, sister of Mrs. McLaughlin. McLaughlin has engaged T. C. Robinette, K.C., as his counsel, and Mr. Phelan, of that firm arrived here to-day. It is understood that, after the inquest, the defence will consent to prisoner appearing before a magistrate at once, for committal for trial, which may not take place until the spring Assizes.

An information had been sworn out by the chief of police of Whitby, and a warrant issued by Crown Attorney Farewell, but before notice of this procedure reached Uxbridge, McLaughlin had been taken in charge. The news soon spread through the town, and considerable excitement marked the arrest. Mr. Cook, McLaughlan's lawyer, rushed into the hotel when the handcuffs were being adjusted and excitedly warned McLaughlin not to talk to the police. "I'm not telling them anything," the prisoner assured him.

It is understood that McLaughlin has been under surveillance since the last sitting of the coroner's jury on the 4th inst. For several days he has been particularly morose, and has spent most of his time with his six-year-old daughter Monta, whom he carried out of the burning house on the night of the tragedy.

In all probability the bodies of the little boys will be exhumed and examined for traces of poison.

Monta, the little girl with whom he spent most of his time, has always been his favorite child. She was put in the stand at the last hearing of the inquest, but became frightened, and started to cry, and it was not thought wise to continue the examination. In a statement made to Crown Attorney Farewell, she told in a very clear manner a story that they failed to shake even by cross-examination of a severe nature. In the regular session of the inquest, however, she would say nothing. While she was in the witness box, her father, leaned forward in his chair, and a strained expression came over his face, which did not leave it until she had been taken out of the court-room. Since that time she has been constantly with him.

McLaughlan ate a hearty meal at the jail, soon after his arrest. The food was ordered by him from the hotel. He begged to be given an exclusive apartment, and broke down and wept when put in the ward with other prisoners.

Detective Greer will return to Uxbridge to-day to begin investigations. His sole duty yesterday was in making sure of getting McLaughlin.

Fisheries Protection Settled.

New York, Nov. 20.—According to announcement made in New York, last night, the agreement between Canada and the United States for the protection of the waters lying between the two countries from conditions endangering the fisheries has been signed and probably will become operative within a fortnight.

The announcement was made by Dr. David Starr Jordan, the American member of the International fisheries commission, which has been engaged for more than a year in drawing up the statutes.

Child Tied to Door Burns.

Indian Harbor, Ind., Nov. 20.—Neighbors who broke into a burning house yesterday found a baby girl in her crib, dead of suffocation by smoke, and her three years old brother unconscious, tied to a doorknob with a rope.

The children's mother, Mrs. John Koran, had gone shopping. To prevent the boy playing with matches she tied him to the door. Fire broke out from a stove.

A Suffragette Burlesque.

London, Nov. 20.—The Evening News says it learns from a reliable source that the suffragettes who were sent to jail in Bristol for breaches of the peace during the recent visit of Winston Churchill have refused to don prison clothes and insist in remaining in paris naturalibus.

Two Bad Fires.

Cornwall, Nov. 20.—Eugene Joubert's store at Williamstown was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, along with contents.

Wm. Tait's flour and feed store at Monkland Station was burned Thursday night. Loss about $4,500, with $1,500 insurance.

WORK GOES ON RAPIDLY

He Wants to Know Why Expenses of Government Are Going Up and Is Told That Country Is Growing—Leasing of Government Railway Lines—Hon. Mr. Fisher Introduced New Alfalfa Bill.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The Commons had a business-like session yesterday and got through a considerable portion of the civil service estimates. The sitting was comparatively quiet, the only feature being a discussion over the appearance of the union label on The Labor Gazette, although this publication is printed at the Government's printing bureau, an open shop.

Hon. Mr. Foster and Mr. Fielding expressed diverse views as to the tremendous growth of the public expenditure.

E. N. Lewis, West Huron, introduced a bill respecting injuries to persons due to motor vehicles, which he said was necessary, as highway assaults by vehicles, not known at the time the criminal code was drawn up, were far too common and required special legislation.

Mr. Sinclair of Guysboro introduced a bill to amend the Canada Shipping Act so that ships purchased abroad and inspected should be liable to inspection again in Canada.

A new bill by Hon. Mr. Fisher seeks to include alfalfa in the Seed Grain Control Act.

Hon. Mr. Graham explained that by the terms of his bill to authorize the Government to lease lines of railway connecting the Government railways, no lease would become operative until ratified by act of Parliament.

Major Sharp's bill to amend the Bank Act provides that all stocks on which no dividends have been claimed for upwards of six years shall be transferred to the Government, as trustees.

Before the orders of the day were called Hon. George E. Foster asked some questions regarding the Imperial Defence Conference report. He desired to know the attitude of New Zealand and Australia. The other day the Prime Minister had spoken of what these countries were going to do, and Mr. Foster supposed that their proposals would appear in the report. Another point was that there was an allusion in that report to an effort by the Admiralty to meet the wishes of Canada, but he could not find out what the wishes of Canada were.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that the printed report contained all the papers with the exception of the oral deliberations of the conference. He had no objection to giving the information desired if the Imperial authorities gave permission. Mr. Brodeur pointed out that they had not received permission to bring down the papers relative to Australia and New Zealand. No memoranda had been prepared by the Canadian representatives.

At four o'clock, Hon. W. S. Fielding, for the first time this session moved the House into supply, but Mr. Foster said he had a few remarks to make about the expenditure on civil Government before the motion passed.

Whereas the expenditure on the civil Government list in 1888 was $1,048,417. It had in 1895, when the Conservatives went out of power, increased to only $1,396,628. On the other hand, there was, between 1895 and 1906, a jump up to $3,088,416, or over 99 per cent., and for the fiscal year closing on March 21, 1911, the House will be asked to provide $4,763,407. These figures were absolutely startling.

Referring to the increase in the general estimates from forty-one million dollars in 1896 to $127,000,000 for the coming years, the figures were enough to set the people thinking.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said that the expenditure of the country should be measured by the growth of its business and revenue. When Mr. Foster was giving his figures, he should not have omitted to say that during the 1893-1896 period stagnation prevailed. The revenue of the country in 1893 was over thirty-five millions, while in 1896 it was less than thirty-four millions. The record revenue during that time was some thirty-eight millions. Mr. Foster should also have informed the House that in 1905 the revenue had grown to be over ninety-six millions. It had fallen away a bit since, but was rapidly coming back to the 1907 level. There had been an increase in the expenditure, but the Conservatives had increased it by over thirty per cent. when no headway had been made by the country.

Pulpwood and the Tariff.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The question of the desirability of imposing an export duty upon pulp and pulpwood will be brought before Parliament this session by a resolution given notice of by E. N. Lewis, M.P., of West Huron. Last year he moved for the imposition of an export duty; this year he adds a very important offer to the United States that if it will admit Canadian made paper free of duty, then it shall be exempt from the export tax.

Senators Should Work Fridays.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The Senate yesterday adjourned until Tuesday, when the insurance bill will come up for a second reading.

Senator Lougheed objected to the business being postponed to suit the Senators who wanted to go to Montreal, and thought more work should be done on Friday.

WOMAN SUPPLIED LIQUOR TO ANOTHER

Brantford, Nov. 20.—In the Police Court yesterday, Mrs. Kate McCarthy was fined $50 and costs or 30 days in jail for supplying liquor to an Indian woman. The defendant has several small children and is in precarious health.

The magistrate regretted that he could not fine the husband, as he believed he was to blame. The woman was carried from the court, time being refused for the payment. She was never in court before. The Indian woman was liberated after telling where she secured the liquor. She boarded with the McCarthy's.

A request of McCarthy to be allowed to serve his wife's sentence was refused.

MARRIED TO HIDE DISGRACE

Windsor, Nov. 20.—Detroit papers are stirring up an agitation to have the marriages of Michigan couples in Windsor recorded in Detroit, to stop the increasing number of weddings here.

Only recently a Detroit girl, said to be only fourteen years of age, obtained a license and was married by an Anglican clergyman here. Steps were taken to have the marriage annulled across the river.

In defence of his marrying record, Rev. D. H. Hind of Sandwich states that ninety per cent. of the women who come to him to be married do so to hide disgrace, and want their certificates dated back. He and other ministers, as well as the license issuers, resent the imputations of the alien press.

DRUNK ON LEMON

Flint, Mich., Nov. 19.—The memory of man runneth not back to the time when Seth Payne was not a deptuy sheriff of this county, an dpeople usually sit up and take notice when Seth talks. Recently he was asked to run over to Chicago and arrest a wife deserter from this county and he did the trick about as nicely as if he had been dressed like a real city detective instead of going attired just in his regular working clothes.

Seth is taking quite an interest in the fight against liquor in the county and the other day he visited the prosecutor's office for some advice on a question with bothered him. He had arrested a man in Flushing, who was stupid and on searching him he found five bottles which contained lemon extract. All were empty but one and Seth brought them along when he came for advice. He told the prosecutor that it was impossible for the prisoner to have obtained anything else on which to build his jag but the extract and he was sure that he had discovered a new way to defeat the will of the people. "That stuff is on sale in every store in Flushing," said Seth, "and if a man can get drunk on it what's the use of being so careful about the liquor and letting the extract run wild."

Seth was finally convinced that the real Simon pure lemon extract could be sold without fear of arrest, but he was also told that five bottles of it, or even one, would kill any man if taken in one dose.

Woman Touring The Country In Battle Against Divorce

Rev. Mrs. W. J. Dodge Begins Campaign Against Growing Evil —"Getting Married and Staying Married" Is Her Slogan— An Eloquent Speaker.

INCREASE OF DIVORCE

Beloit, Kan., Nov. 19.—Mrs. W. J. Dodge, herself an ordained minister and the wife of an ordained minister of the Christian church, has started out on a tour through Missouri, Kansas and other stptes to lecture against divorce and urge reform along that line whenever and wherever she can find anybody to listen to her. The Rev. Mrs. Dodge is deeply impressed with the belief that of all the evils divorce is the worst, and she says she will go forth and proclaim from the housetops if necessary, her radical views upon the topic.

HER CAMPAIGN MOTTO

"Getting Married — —and Staying Married," is the motto which Mrs. Dodge will emblazon above her rostrums. She will talk in halls, theatres, churches, outdoors, at street fairs county fairs, farmers' auctions, anywhere.

The husband of the anti-divorce preacher is pastor of the Christian Church at Farley, Mo. When her husband was pastor of a Leavenworth church, Mrs. Dodge made weekly trips to Farley and preached in the church there as regular pastor. She was graduated from the theological college of the University of Kentucky in 1906—the first woman to receive a theological degree from that institution.

"The sanctity of the home," said Mrs. Dodge before starting on her tour, "is the foundation stone of the nation and of the Church. I want to do something toward solidifying that foundation. The way to do it is to make marriage irrevocable.

AROUSED HER TO ACTION

"A recent report which shows that in Kansas City the number of divorces in a given time was equal to half of the marriages aroused me to this purpose, which I had been considering for years. I feel that I am called to this mission as was Joan of Arc to the saving of France, I wish to save America.

"I may not be able to do much reforming, but I hope to set the people to thinking and thus do my mite to help along a much-needed reform," continued Mrs. Dodge modestly. "We criticise the Mormon laws, but it has been well said that under the present divorce laws, while the Mormon drives his wives abreast, the Gentile drives his tandem.

"People need to be told and taught some things that tend toward domestic happiness. Good housekeeping and good cooking are first aids to happy home life. No girl has a right to say 'yes' to a man until she has taken a degree in the culinary art. On the other hand, the young husband should have enough sense to preserve a discreet silence as to the cooking ability of his mother.

REFORM IN THE CEREMONY

"The marriage ceremony itself needs to be reformed a little. I see no use for that troublesome little word 'obey.' I should prefer to substitute the words 'reason with.' That is what my husband and I do. Whenever we disagree we reason together about it until we discover which of us is right. Then the one who is wrong submits.

Toying with her own wedding ring, Mrs. Dodge said: "I have been looking the matter up, and I find that the wedding ring is simply a relic of barbarism. It is a successor to the ancient custom of the husband paying a sum of money to the bride's father. The modern custom is quite the reverse. Nowadays, particularly when a foreign title is wanted, the girl's father pays a lump to the husband.

"In our laxity regarding the marriage tie we are getting to be like the Eskimos or the Siberians. When an Eskimo wife burns the whale, blubber or scorches the walrus steak, her husband dashes out, slamming the igloo door, if there is a shutter on it and disappears for a time. Before he returns his wife has taken the hint and gone hunting for another husband.

INCREASE IN DIVORCE

"In Siberia the husband takes the initiative. When he feels that the marriage ties are no longer endurable he tears the veil from his wife's face, which is a signal that she must go. Some American separations are almost or quite as ludicrous as these."

Recent statistics studied by Mrs. Dodge other than those from Kansas City have had their weight in building up her determination to go forth and try to slap the divorce dragon. She read that in 1867 the courts of this country granted 9,937 divorces. In 1906 the number was 72,062.

While the population increased 110 per cent. in the interval, divorces increased more than 700 per cent. Twenty-eight divorces were granted in 1870 to every 100,000 persons. Thirty years later the ratio had increased to seventy-three divorces

Mrs. oDdge intends to fight the divorce dragon in the Middle Western States first and then to invade the Eastern precincts, such as New York, from which so many dissatisfied husbands and wives flee to North Dakota or eNvada, where it is easier to get unmated.

CAUSE AND CURE OF NEURALGIA

Modern Methods Dispose of the Cause Instead of Treating the Symptoms.

Neuralgia means simply "nerve pain," so there may be a great variation in the character and intensity of the pain and any nerve in the body may be affected There are a number of causes of neuralgia, but the most commen is a general rundown condition of the system. The discovery of this fact from reliable statistics led to the new treatment for neuralgia which consists in building up the general health by the tonic treatment and so disposing of the cause of the trouble.

Persons reduced by acute sickness, or by severe mental or physical strain, or by loss of sleep are frequently victims of neuralgia and it is common in the case of those suffering from anaemia or bloodlessness. This brings us to the actual cause of neuralgia,, which is nerve starvation. The blood which is normal health carries to the nerves all of their nourishment, is unable to perform this duty satisfactorily when it is weak or impure. Build up the blood and the neuralgia pain will disappear as the nerves become better nourished. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are blood-making tonic , and for this reason cure even the most obstinate cases of neuralgia. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood, which feeds the starved veins and drives out the sharp, darting, stabbing pains of neuralgia. Mrs. John Tilbert, Little River, N. C., says:—"A few years ago I was a great sufferer from neuralgia in my head and face. At times the attacks were simply excruciating, and I would be forced to remain in bed. I tried doctors' medicines, but did not receive any b enefit until I began am happ yto say that the benefit I using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills ,and I received form these was wonderful. I may also add that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured my daughter of anaemia and indigestion, at a time when we began to dispair of her getting better. I can highly recommend these Pills to anyone suffering from these troubles."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills form any dealer in medicines or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MONITORS WILL OUST BIG SHIPS

All Warships to be Finally of That Type, Says Expert.

New York, Nov. 18.—Rear Admiral G. F. F. Wilde, who commanded the Katahdin during the war with Spain, declares that the semi-submarine is the coming type of battleship.

The hull of the man-of-war of the new British design is shaped like that of the regulation submarine boat, whereas the upper surface is heavily armoured. At bow and steru are turrets, each carrying two 12 or 13-5-inch guns. The curved deck is pierced for smaller guns to repel torpedo boats.

Aside from the turrets, no portion of the vessel is exposed to the enemy's fire during action except the curved deck. That is protected by a heavily armoured shield. This armour, which is to be five inches in thickness, could practically never be struck anything but a glancing blow on account of the slops of the deck.

The New Type.

"The telling feature of the semi-submarine type of boats," says Rear Admiral Wilde, "is the ease with which they may be handled. The Katahdin, for instance, could turn almost in her own length, like a Chinese junk. She could turn and look at herself, in seaman's phrase. She could maintain a speed of over 16 knots, too, despite the fact that she was awash in any kind of rough water. This, which is the objection raised to the new type of semi-submarines, is hardly defensible. The boat swims like a shark. The waves do not break on her, but merely slur over.

I often wished during the war that some of the Spanish battleships would have tried to chase me, I could have turned and rammed them with the Katahdin's nose before they were well under way.

"The other prime objection brought up against a proposed new type is the low freeboard which, they say, will prevent the manipulation of her guns in a heavy sea. This is nonsense. I've been in southwestern tyhoons in the China Sea, which is the roughest water on the face of the globe, and I never saw the time yet when I could not open up the ports and train my guns.

"I notice that the proposed battleships are to be armed with four-inch guns for the torpedo craft. Sixteen-pounders would answer equally well. A modern musket will penetrate the hull of a torpedo boat.

"The British calculate that their new boat will make 25 knots, while cruising and about 19 when she is submerged and ready for action. If they can make that they will be all right.

Cost Much Smaller.

"The new type of battleship could be built at much less cost, four semi-submarines, equalling in cost one Dreadnought. As to the construction nothing will protrude above the curved deck, except the conning tower, funnel, mast, navigating bridge and turrets. The latter are armoured with ten inches of Krupp steel, and their bases are further protected by an inclined glacis of steel, which is virtually a continuation of the deck.

"When submerged, the target would be about 160 feet long to the extremities of the turrets, and not more than twenty-five feet in height at the most. All this would be armoured by an equivalent of ten inches of steel. The Katahdin was built on very similar lines.

CURES BAD KIDNEYS AND ENDS BACKACHE

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism, pains, heart palpitations, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelid, lack of energy, and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, offensive and discoloured water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect kidney or urinary disorder, or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, distributing its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realise it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—fifty-cent treatment—any drug store—anywhere in the world.

NEW BARBER SHOP OPENS

Mr. John F. Flannigan has opened a barber shop at the corner of Smith and Water Sts., and is now ready for business. A tonsorial parlour is something that has been lacking in the north end of the city and no doubt Mr. Flannigan's enterprise in locating there will be rewarded with a liberal share of patronage from the people living in that section. As Mr. Flannigan knows his business thoroughly, no doubt his new move will be very successful, and the Inverlea barber shop will flourish.

HIRE A MAN BY THE YEAR

From Farm and Dairy.

With the wind-up of fall work in sight, many farm hands are nearing the date when they will have put in their time. Where will they go on the expiration of their term of employment? It can be given as a pretty safe assertion that many as in the past will winter in the cities. A large percentage of these will find employment there and will for evermore be lost to the farm.

The practice of hiring men for eight months only of the year, is largely accountable for the scarcity of farm labor that has existed in recent years. The cry for help comes mainly from those who hire men only for the summer months. Those who hire by the year get a class of men who in most cases are glad that they have cast in their lot with the farm, such men who when properly provided for, become fixtures and prove most satisfactory to their employers.

One of the great advantages of dairying, as it should be practised, is that it provides work the year round, thus enabling hired men to be kept employed at a profit for twelve months of the year. Those who have good short term men, whose time has about expired, should seriously consider providing accommodation and work for them that they may be kept on the farm. It costs very little more to hire a man by the year than for eight or nine months. The efficient man, especially if he have a family that is comfortably housed and provided for, is a prize that few can afford to lose. Such a man becomes a part of the concern, and the investment necessary to retain him will in the final accounting prove to be most profitable.

RISKS IN BALLOONING.

Opposing Views on Flying Expressed by Mme. Bleriot and Mrs. Harbord.

Aviation, as yet scarcely born, has already become a favorite sport with women. In this country, it is true, women aeronauts are few, but there are enough of them in Paris to form a good sized club, and elsewhere in Europe the love of aerial sports is gaining ground rapidly among women. In fact, as Mme. Louis Bleriot, wife of the intrepid aviator who crossed the English channel on July 25, puts it, "Aviation has conquered les femmes simultaneously with the air."

"It is a mistake," Mme. Bleriot says in an article published in a Paris paper after her husband had crossed the channel, "to suppose that women are timid. Their love of novelty constrains them to love danger also. They love movement and originality, and aviation promises to give them all this."

The Hon. Mrs. Assheton Harbord of England does not agree with Mme. Bleriot in thinking that the danger of aviation appeals to women. On the contrary, she maintains that, so far as ballooning is concerned, there is no danger, but that most people think there is, and women who risk their lives daily in motorcars are afraid to trust themselves in the air.

"Ballooning is neither so dangerous nor so expensive as motoring," says Mrs. Harbord. "In fact, with ordinary care it is an absolutely safe recreation. Of the several dangers that present themselves to the mind of the novices I think the most common is the fear that the balloon may burst or get torn. It would indeed be a dreadful disaster if when one was several thousands of feet above the earth the balloon were to burst, but probably this is a danger that is nonexistent. When the mouth of a balloon is open there is no pressure upon it, and it is simply impossible for it to burst. And if by some strange mischance a balloon were to get torn it would not really imperil the safety of the occupants of the car, for it would simply descend slowly to the earth instead of falling, as many people imagine, like a dead weight."

Even an electric storm need not cause fear, Mrs. Harbord thinks. She got into one once when crossing the channel, and the lightning played about the car in a most magnificent and terrifying manner, but she went through it without mishap. Once when obliged to descend while traveling at a high rate of speed the members of the party were thrown rather violently out of the car and entered Holland on their heads, but all escaped with no more injury than a severe shaking.

The Child at the Table.

To borrow from the slang dictionary: The child needs the ten or twelve hours' sleep in his business of growing tall and robust, steady of nerve and sane of mind. Furthermore, he needs food adapted to his needs; plenty of cereals, plenty of milk, plenty of ripe fruit in the season thereof, meat once a day, nourishing broths and a few green vegetables; no fried things whatsoever, neither tea nor coffee; no pastry, no mince pie or plum pudding or highly seasoned entrees. Time enough for these delicacies when the inches (and feet) are all in, the muscles in splendid working order, the gray matter of the brain "all there" and ready to do the duties of a man's brain for fifty years to come.

One branch of a child's education, sorely neglected in tens and thousands of homes, is mastication. As soon as he cuts his teeth teach him why they were given him. Make him chew everything he takes into his mouth. Able dietitians are proclaiming boldly that milk should be chewed, a mouthful at a time, if one would not have it change to curd about the diaphragm. The child's meat should be finely minced for him until he can cut it up for himself.

He may forget the truism that "gentlemen eat slowly" after he joins in the great American rush for fortune. Obedience to it for a term of years will lay the foundation of sound digestion. He will have a better chance of long life and no dyspepsia than if he had been allowed to gulp down milk by the glassful without drawing breath and to gobble steaks and chops in two inch chunks.

Insist that the child shall behave decorously at the table, as well as eat properly, from the time he can comprehend an order conveyed in the simplest language.

HANDY CONTRIVANCE.

A Shoe Box and Couch Made From Grocery Boxes.

A shoe box and seat is a useful piece of furniture in the bedroom. Two boxes purchased at a grocery store can be made to serve the purpose, but to make a really strong affair the frame should be constructed of boards three-quarters or seven-eighths of an inch in thickness. A good size for the box is twenty-four inches high, fifteen deep and sixteen wide, while the seat box may be thirty inches long and fifteen inches high and deep. These boxes are to be attached to each other with stout screws, and a back the length of the two boxes, having a rounded corner, is to be securely fastened to the rear of each box. In the shoe box two shelves are screwed fast, and to the lower box a cover is arranged on hinges, so that it can be raised from the front. The back, seat and top of the shoe box can be covered with denim, under which a padding of hair or cotton will make a softer back and seat. The denim may be caught down or "tufted" with carriage buttons, and string passed through holes made in the wood can be tied at the reverse side. Around the front and sides a valance of cretonne or denim may be gathered and hung from the top edge of the box and seat, fastened at the edge by gimp and tacks. Brass headed upholsterers' nails driven at regular distances apart will present the best appearance. Where the valance at the edge of the shoe box meets the seat the fabric is to be divided in order that it may be drawn to one side when taking out or replacing shoes. A coat of shellac or paint will cover the exposed parts of the woodwork not hidden by the upholstery goods.

ALL IN WHITE BEDROOM.

The Latest Expression of the Modern Sanitary Craze.

Nothing is prettier or more dainty than an all in white bedroom. It is not entirely practical if the room is of that convertible type used as sitting room and sleeping apartment alternatively. But when the dear little bedroom is used to sleep in only or perchance as a dressing room there is no more perfect scheme than white furnishings.

Cottage furniture has returned, and a white enameled bed will look well with a bureau and washstand that have been retouched with wood enamel in white. Even the washstand china may be an all white porcelain of a more than usually shapely design. The woodwork may be whitened, even if it first requires the application of a paint remover and the work that entails.

Curtaining and wall paper will present no difficulty, since the decorator can now supply both plain and glossy white papers, and the qualities of swiss for sash curtains are practically numberless. That paper having a satiny surface or an invisible pattern will prove less monotonous, and the drapery of the dressing bureau should match the curtains.

Now, the introduction into this "colorless" scheme of the occasional picture or the bit of delicate pottery or metal ware will break what may prove monotony, but an excess of ornamentation is to be decried, since the main object and purpose of this purity in coloring is the accomplishment of an entirely sanitary room.

Yes, it may need repapering and re-enameling sooner than a darker color, which is to be anticipated, for our white bedroom is intended not only to look clean, but to be clean.

A wonderfully dainty woman steps out of just such a room every morning into what she chooses to consider a sunshiny world, and the room seems to have something to do with her outlook.

COACHING WOMEN OF FASHION

Teaching Them the News of the Day a London Profession.

It would seem that no woman should be altogether discouraged so long as new occupations develop as they have during the last decade. In London there is already a new calling which was noticed for the first time this spring in numbers sufficient to entitle it to rank among the recognized trades of women who have to support themselves.

The claims on the time of a woman of society in the swiftest whirl of London life are now so great that she cannot be expected to keep up with the latest news of the world, the smartest talk about the new books or even the latest notes of fashion. With her social duties and their necessary preparation she has her hands full. It is to supply her with these necessary attributes for conversation that intelligent young women in London are devoting their time. They go once a week, sometimes daily, and while their patrons are in the hands of the hairdresser, their maid or even their dressmakers they talk to them about the interesting affairs of the day, telling them just what is new in politics, art and literature. In this way my lady is able to acquire sufficient information to appear with credit.

It sometimes happens that one of these universal providers of small talk may literally coach her employer for some particular function she is going to attend, whether it be a dinner that will demand a certain amount of acquaintance with politics or science or literature. Her duty is to make these subjects as clear and comprehensible as she can in as short a time as possible. So successful has this new field been that the number of intelligent, well informed girls who now earn a good living in this way has greatly increased during the last year.

If the woman of society finds that she needs to have decided opinions on any particular subject it is the duty of her mental stimulator to have them also on hand.

NOVEL COFFEEPOT.

Flows Freely by Pressing Button on the Handle.

How many housewives have burned their fingers by opening the hot lid of a coffeepot to permit a freer flow of the liquid! To obviate this an Iowa man has invented a coffeepot the lid of which remains closed. By pressing the small lever on the handle air is admitted, and it runs out rapidly in a straight stream instead of gurgling out and splashing over the sides of the cup. This is one of those minor inventions which the average person does not appreciate, but which add materially to the comfort and satisfaction of the housekeeper and should interest all men who are anxious to save their wives as much of the unpleasantness of cooking as possible.

Must Learn to Buy.

Mrs. Ellen H. Richards of the Institute of Technology in Boston, who is regarded as an authority on domestic science subjects, says that it is impossible for a woman to buy wisely when she is not conversant with the way articles are manufactured and what they contain. Women used to be better buyers when they spun and made their own garments. They could look over the work of some one else and judge it wisely and know what it was worth, but they cannot do that now. The remedy, she says, lies in educating women in the manufacture and construction of household articles. The average woman does not know the kind of picture, ornament or work of art that she is buying. She has to take the word of some clerk, and it stands to reason that she should know as much about it as he. A whole college course is not too long she says, to teach women how to buy. Men must serve long apprenticeships in stores before they are made buyers, and women who spend most of the money should be just as competent. It is not enough to teach young women to cook. That is only the beginning of the things they ought to know. If they are to be housekeepers and homemakers they must know the chemistry of cooking and how to buy judiciously.

Coming.

The woman of the future was about to start downtown when her husband placed his arms around her neck and kissed her.

"Darling, light of my life," he whispered softly, "I love you more than words can tell."

"Oh, you do, eh?" she responded suspiciously. "Well, what is it now, Henry, a new silk hat or a pair of trousers?"—Success Magazine.

New Opponent of Vegetarianism.

Mrs. Katherine I. Williams, one of the world's authorities on cooking, finds herself in hot water as a result of her scientific opinion that vegetarianism is a foolish theory. She has been attacked by many of the prominent vegetarian advocates in England and the continent and has heard from a few in this country. George Bernard Shaw, who makes his dinner on bananas and who in serving meat to his guests asks them if they wish to partake of part of their fellow creatures, has sniffed in derision at Mrs. Williams' opposition to vegetarianism, but she remains unmoved through all the fire of criticism. She has studied the problem, and she is satisfied she is right. She first studied the cooking of every civilized country; then she took up research on the chemical nature of foods and the changes wrought by cooking. As a result of this work, covering many years, she was forced to oppose vegetarianism. She says we are natural meat eaters and that we cannot thrive up to the fullest on vegetables. She advocates casserole cooking above all other methods and advises the use of steam for cooking, instead of water, whenever possible.

Prayer and Pugnacity.

Woman prays to get to heaven, but fights to get into society.—Bohemian.

War on Chinese Mothers-in-law.

Chinese women have been successful in their revolt against the barbaric custom of compressing the feet, and now they are engaged in a campaign for the suppression of mothers-in-law. This means modern advancement for the Celestial Kingdom with a vengeance, and, though the agitation may appear humorous to us, it is of grave import to the mothers-in-law. The Chinese wives have organized anti-mothers-in-law clubs, which doubtless will find the approval of many American husbands. The complaint is that the Chinese mother-in-law is too much of a busybody, that she is an autocrat, a positive nuisance and a bar to complete happiness between married couples. The Chinese wife does not object to being ordered about by her husband, but she has put her foot down against being ordered about by her husband's mother. There can be no doubt of the outcome. The Chinese mother-in-law is bound to lose her power.

Rust on Cooking Utensils.

Rust is caused by the fact that the utensils are not wiped perfectly dry. Cleanse them in hot soapsuds, rinse in very hot clear water and dry thoroughly and you will never be troubled with rust.

Study Under Difficulties.

It was my love for my children that gave me the energy, the will power, to reach great heights in my profession. I practiced, I studied my great roles and arias seated at the piano, the baby at my breast, the others playing around me none too softly. I memorized my parts while standing at the oil stove cooking our simple meal or while busy at the washtub, with my little ones always around me. Singing, learning, studying, I was supremely happy because they were with me. I brought up my children, and they were my comfort and my support. They made a brave, courageous "fellow" of me. And it was no difficult task. If I had to hurry to the theater for rehearsals I would give the children their supper at 5 o'clock and put them to bed. When I returned at 10 or 11 o'clock I would be greeted by merry birds' twitter from the different little nests, and I would divide my sandwiches with them. Then we would sleep as only the happy and healthy may.—Mme. Schumann-Heink in Delineator.

Collier and a Collier.

A single misprinted letter may produce astonishing results, and even the misreading of a capital letter as a small one may be disastrous. When John Payne Collier died the London Press correctly gave a paragraph stating that he had been buried in Bray churchyard, near Maidenhead, a large number of friends being present at the funeral. But a provincial paper which presumably knew nothing of the notorious Shakespearean critic gave the same paragraph concerning "John Payne, a collier," and to complete the thing headed it "The Bray Colliery Disaster."—London Chronicle.

Practical Superstition.

"Are you superstitious?"

"In a practical way."

"How is that?"

"Well, I never walk under a ladder unless I feel sure it won't fall on me, and I always expect bad luck when pursued by a mad bull across a lot in which there are just thirteen acres."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hear it yourself - the Edison Phonograph

You cannot judge the Edison by hearing other kinds. The Edison is the sound-reproducing machine at its best. It is not a talking machine. It is a Phonograph reproducing every sound faithfully—the song exactly the way the singer sang it; the opera exactly the way the orchestra played it; the two-step exactly the way the band rendered it. That is the Edison Phonograph as Mr. Edison makes it—the object of his constant, daily care.

When he says he wants to see an Edison Phonograph in every home, he means your home. Do you not want one there? Do you not need this amusement maker for your own sake, for your children and for your guests? Hear one today. Hear all the others too and compare. Only in this way can you know that what we say is true.

CHRISTMAS STAMP CAMPAIGN

THE 1909 BATTLE AGAINST THE DREAD WHITE PLAGUE.

Available Beds in the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives Increased Three-Fold as a Result of Last Year's Sale of Christmas Stamps. The Number Can Be Doubled This Year If Everyone Will Help.

STIMULATED by the success of a year ago the National Sanitarium Association have made large preparations for the sale of the Christmas Stamp of 1909-10, issued on behalf of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives.

Nearly $6,000.00 was netted from last year's sale, making it possible for the trustees to increase the available beds for needy patients from an average of fifty-five a year ago to one hundred and forty, the accommodation to-day.

The trustees are hopeful that they may bring the accommodation up to 300 beds as the outcome of this year's sale of this little one cent messenger of hope and healing.

The Christmas Stamp, as a means of fighting the dread white plague, had its origin in Denmark in 1904, the sale from which has financed a hospital for consumptives in that country. The idea was taken up by the Red Cross Society of the United States in 1907, and interest has grown each year.

A year ago a Christmas stamp of special design was put in circulation by the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives with the success already indicated in this article.

The price of the individual stamp is only one cent, but what wonderful things can be accomplished by so tiny an instrument. There is no reason why everyone who writes a letter, addresses a postcard, mails a newspaper or parcel from this day out should not use one of these stamps.

The educational value of the stamp appearing on every piece of mail matter would be enormous. One can hardly figure up the material results. It would mean a routing of the enemy Tuberculosis that would bring hope and joy and gladness to thousands of homes and communities in all parts of Canada.

The stamp of 1909 is more beautiful than that of a year ago. The design is as shown in this article, but printed in red and green, and is of same size as the regular government postage stamp.

This Christmas stamp will not carry any kind of mail, but any kind of mail will carry it—and carry too the happy Season's Greetings from sender to receiver. The stamps will be done up in envelopes of ten, twenty-five, fifty and one hundred for ordinary selling, and large users will be supplied in quantities. The price for ten or for one thousand is a cent each.

The banks, departmental stores, drug stores, book and stationery stores and many other stores will sell them. Women's clubs, church organizations, bible classes and Sunday schools, public schools, and many other organizations and individuals will help this year as last year.

There would seem to be no reason why everybody everywhere may not help in forming an army of willing workers to sell these stamps all over the Dominion. The Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives is in the fullest sense a national institution caring for patients from every province in Canada.

The first issue of the stamp for this year is one million, and these will be put into circulation immediately, but there can hardly be any reason why the issue should not be increased many times over before Christmas.

The direction of the sale of Christmas Stamps is in the hands of Mr. J. S. Robertson, Sec.-Treasurer, National Sanitarium Association, 347 King Street, West, Toronto, who will give prompt reply to any enquiries regarding the stamp.

TOBACCO IN CANADA

WESTERN ONTARIO LEADS IN PROFITABLE INDUSTRY.

Successful Raising of a Binder Leaf For Cigars Has Given Impetus to What Promises to Be One of the Dominion's Best Products—O'Brien Plantation Established About Fifteen Years Ago.

A new impetus to the development of the tobacco-growing industry in Canada is lent by the success now being attained in the production of superior grades of binder-leaf tobaccos used in the manufacture of cigars and high-grade cut smoking varieties.

Experiments along the line of the cultivation of these grades have been carried on for some years, and with such marked success that there no longer remains any doubt as to the immense possibilities in the development of this line of agriculture, if it may be so termed.

Although tobacco leaf has been successfully grown in various parts of Canada for some years, farmers in the Counties of Kent and Essex, in Ontario, may be said to have advanced the industry to a higher plane of perfection than elsewhere in the Dominion, so much so that the value of the production in these counties, although even yet only in its infancy, outrivals that of any other branch of agriculture. The possibilities are so great and its successful production now so well established in these counties and elsewhere in the Dominion that it may be well assumed, that in other districts within the country where its cultivation has not yet been attempted it may be successful grown, and thus another branch of agriculture developed, confirming the proud distinction which Canada holds of being the peer of all nations in the variety and quality of her farm products.

A newspaperman a few days ago visited the plantation of O'Brien Bros., in the Township of Harwich, in the County of Kent, where a large force were at work harvesting the year's record-breaking crop. The plantation may be said to be one of the oldest and largest in the district and is indeed claimed to be the largest on the continent. Through the courtesy of Mr. Jerry O'Brien he was enabled to gather much information concerning the culture, care, harvesting and curing the leaf and of its importance as an agricultural product of these districts.

Questioned, Mr. O'Brien said that he commenced the growing of tobaccos here some fifteen years ago. The varieties grown consisted principally of those known as the Burley, Zimmer, Blue Prior and Twist Bud, used principally in the manufacture of chewing and cut smoking tobaccos. The product of these now amount to many millions of pounds annually and the value per acre of the product is much greater than that of any other line of agriculture.

Mr. O'Brien's success in growing these heavy grades led him to the belief that the highest grades of Connecticut Havana seed binders might be grown, and some years ago he began experimenting along these lines. His expectations have been more than justified by the magnificent crop just harvested, and confirmed by three years' successive crops of this variety, each rivaling its predecessor in quality and quantity.

This year's product will average over 1,500 pounds to the acre of matured and cured tobacco, and of magnificent quality.

Asked as to the theory that the growth of tobacco caused a deterioration in the quality of the soil, Mr. O'Brien stated that his experience did not justify such a claim, as the crop he was now harvesting was the sixth successive one off of the same land, and each year showed an improvement in quality and yield. Mr. O'Brien's claims are well justified by the plants we saw being gathered, the leaves measuring in size to 15 x 30 inches, or an average of over three square feet in area. The cultivation and enrichment of the soil requires great care, and in this Mr. O'Brien stated that he used no artificial manure. The grower is well rewarded for the care he gives to the land.

The harvesting of a tobacco crop is, however, no child's play, nor is the husbandman rewarded with returns from his industry as quickly as in other branches of agriculture. The tobacco, after being cut in the field, is left for about a week on the ground, until the leaf becomes withered and flexible, as otherwise it would split and break if housed green, each plant is strung on long pieces of wood and hung head down, or "racked," as it is called, and is thus left for a period of four months, after which it is stripped from the stem, sorted as to sizes and conformity of colors, and packed in cases and thus left till nature ferments it and evens the colors, which takes about a year and a half, when it is ready for manufacturing.

Asked as to the comparative yield of the higher grades of tobacco they are now growing with the heavy grades previously grown, Mr. O'Brien said they were quite equal yield, as they could plant 1,500 more plants of these to the acre than the other grades, which more than counterbalanced the weight of the heavy grades. When properly cured Mr. O'Brien said the Canadian grown binder was superior to the Connecticut, York State or Wisconsin binders in every respect, and in burning quality and holding fire was superior to any.

A PIONEER AERONAUT

The Brave and Daring Frenchman Pilatre de Rozier.

TRAGIC END OF HIS CAREER.

He Was the First Aeronaut to Lose His Life From a Balloon, and He Was Dashed to Death With a Companion From a Height of 1,700 Feet.

Jean Francois Pilatre de Rozier, who was born at Metz in 1756 and who was killed, a martyr to his zeal, by a fall from his balloon at Boulogne, France, June 15, 1795, was the first aeronaut to lose his life in the dangerous work of mastering the air.

Pilatre de Rozier, who had made ascents in the Montgolfier balloon, determined to solve the question of balloons as mediums for carrying passengers and could think and dream of nothing but how he could fashion a machine that would carry him on an aerial voyage. When his balloon was finished he made some twenty-three ascents, nearly always alone, but occasionally accompanied by the Marquis d'Arlandes, a brave soldier and one who had faith in Pilatre's ideas. The balloon was always held captive by strong cords.

Whenever he went up there was a crowd to watch him. One day there was a thrilling moment. The balloon drifted toward some high trees, and it seemed inevitable that the tissues would be torn by the branches and Pilatre dashed to the ground. They saw the young man calmly throw a bunch of straw on his fire and quickly pour over it two small bottles of oil. Instantly the fierce heat sent the balloon up safely, and it swept beyond the danger line of the trees. A mighty shout went up from the crowd, and when he came down Pilatre had an ovation.

He now felt ready to make his grand experimental trial trip, but the king would not allow him to go, as he feared to lose so brave and scientific a man. Pilatre was in despair, and at length the king said that he would give him the opportunity to test the safety of his balloon in the following way: He would give full pardon to any two criminals who were willing to go up in it, provided Pilatre did not himself go.

The scientist was very angry. "He said: "What! Shall vile criminals, foul murderers, men rejected from the bosom of society, have the glory of being the first to navigate the air? Never while Pilatre de Rozier draws breath!"

After repeated prayers for permission to make his experiment he appealed to the influence of the Duchess de Polignac, the governess of the royal children. To her petitions the Marquis d'Arlandes added his and asked to be allowed to accompany Pilatre. At length consent was obtained.

On Nov. 21, 1783, Pilatre and the marquis made an ascent from the gardens of the Chateau de la Muette, in the Bois. They sailed safely across the Seine, over the Hospital for Old Soldiers, over the Military school and landed about five miles from Paris.

Their return was greeted with wild enthusiasm.

The marquis rode back, but Pilatre had to go first to his house and get a coat, for some one had stolen his in the mixup of their coming down, when the balloon, of course, collapsed.

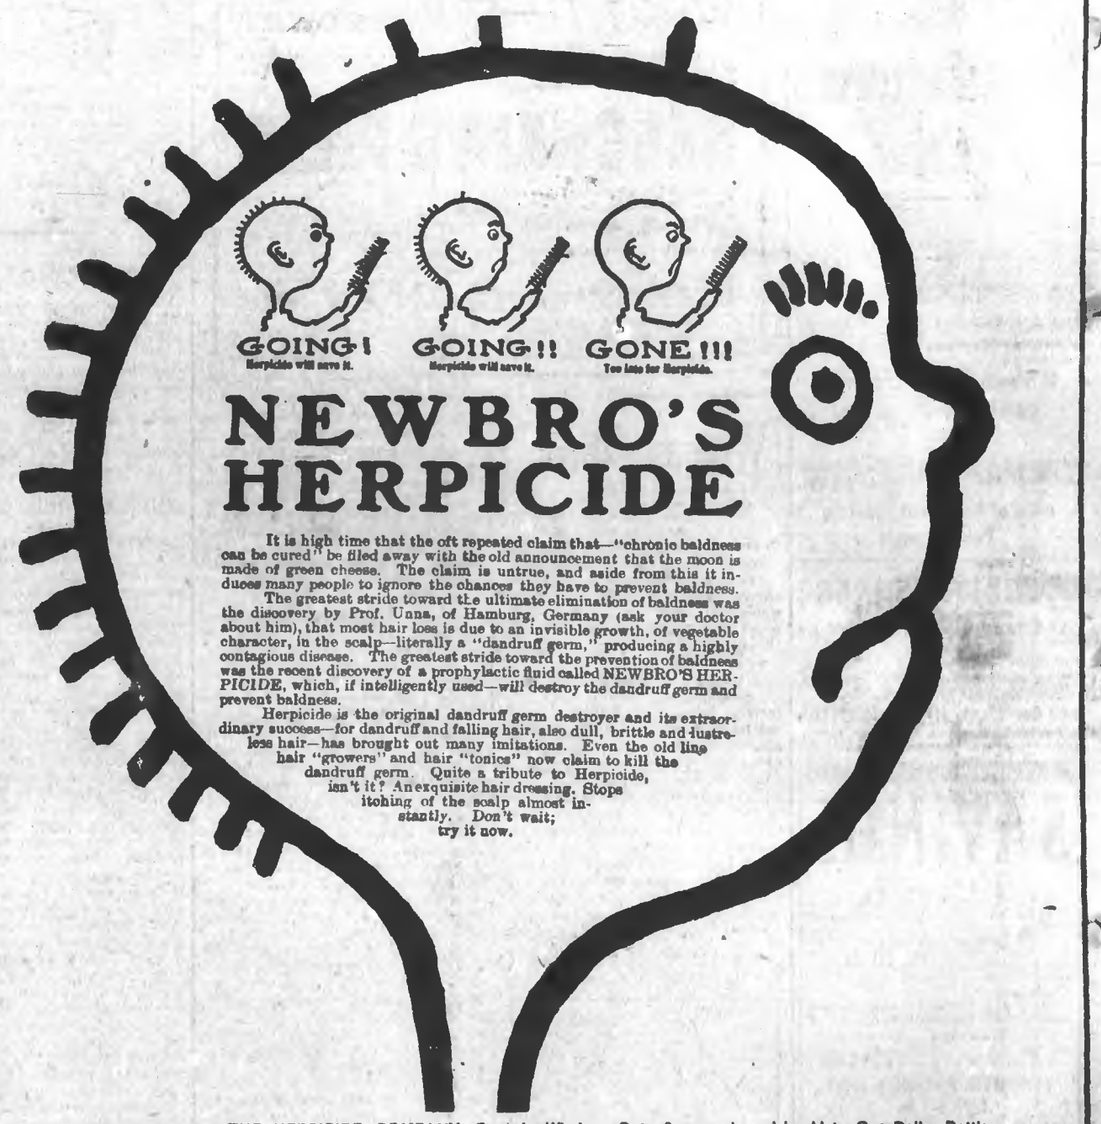
Pilatre now announced that he would cross the channel from Boulogne to England. A wealthy Frenchman advanced the money to construct an improved machine that he was certain could stay in the air as long as necessary. This new invention was a balloon filled with hydrogen gas. Under it was a cylinder by which he expected to rarefy the air contained in it so that he could either ascend or descend easily and so reach currents of air that would take him in any desired direction.

It was five months before there came a day suitable for making the aerial trip. A physician who loved adventure and believed in the success of the experiment went with him from Boulogne.

They cut the cords that held the balloon at 7 o'clock in the morning. The ascent was majestic, and when at a height of 200 feet the balloon swept into a current of air that took it toward the channel. Suddenly a cross current swept it back.

Pilatre hastened to let some cold air into the cylinder and in some way made a rent in the balloon. They were 1,700 feet high, and instantly they were dashed to the earth, mangled and crushed frightfully.

France still remembers his enthusiastic faith in his scientific efforts, and in many places are memorials and inscriptions that perpetuate his fame.—Boston Globe.



NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

It is high time that the oft repeated claim that—"chronic baldness can be cured" be filed away with the old announcement that the moon is made of green cheese. The claim is untrue, and aside from this it induces many people to ignore the chances they have to prevent baldness.

The greatest stride toward the ultimate elimination of baldness was the discovery by Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany (ask your doctor about him), that most hair loss is due to an invisible growth, of vegetable character, in the scalp—literally a "dandruff germ," producing a highly contagious disease. The greatest stride toward the prevention of baldness was the recent discovery of a prophylactic fluid called NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE, which, if intelligently used—will destroy the dandruff germ and prevent baldness.

Herpicide is the original dandruff germ destroyer and its extraordinary success—for dandruff and falling hair, also dull, brittle and lustreless hair—has brought out many imitations. Even the old line hair "growers" and hair "tonics" now claim to kill the dandruff germ. Quite a tribute to Herpicide, isn't it? An exquisite hair dressing. Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. Don't wait; try it now.

A PET MONKEY.

Its Pranks With an Author's Manuscripts and Decorations.

A Paris contemporary dealing with the love of great men for animals gives an amusing account of Chateaubriand and his monkey. When he was engaged in preparing Fontanes' works for the press, on returning one day he was met by his monkey.

"Ah, you rogue," said Chateaubriand, "your shamefaced look tells of mischief." The monkey was chained up, but as things did not appear much disturbed Chateaubriand thought no more of the matter until it was time to resume work. Fontanes' manuscripts were not to be found.

At last Chateaubriand looked into the waste paper basket, and there were the manuscripts. The monkey had watched his master, and as he had seen him fold a sheet of paper and tear it into four, so he had dealt with Fontanes' writings. With much labor they were pieced together and afterward published.

Chateaubriand thought it advisable to see what else the monkey had done. His orders had disappeared from a drawer which was always kept closed. The servants searched everywhere for them, but they were not to be found. Nearly a week elapsed before they were traced, and then a domestic noticed that the monkey had suspended them to the cornice in a quasi-symmetrical way.

The monkey was given his congé, and Chatbeaubriand replaced him by a cat, which was allowed a place on his master's writing table, and great was the pleasure which he derived in playing with puss.

DIVING FOR COINS.

The Natives of Madeira Are Experts at the Business.

As we drew in and came to anchor we saw descending upon us a fleet of small, curious boats filled with half naked men. We suspected now that Madeira was a cannibal island and prepared for the worst. It was not quite as bad as that. They merely wanted us to throw coins over into the liquid azure which they call water in this country, whereupon their divers would try to intercept the said coins somewhere between the top and bottom of the sea. We didn't believe they could do it, but we tried and, as usual, found that the other fellow knew his own game better than we did.

If those amphibians did not always get the coins they generally did. They could see them perfectly in that amazing water, and they could dive like seals. Some of the divers were mere children—poor, lean creatures who stood up in their boats and shouted and implored and swung their arms in a wild invitation to us to fling our money overboard. But they did not want small money—at least not very small money. They declined to dive for pennies. Perhaps they could only distinguish the gleam of the white metal. Let a nickel or a dime be tossed over and two or three were after it in a flash, while a vehement outbreak of Portuguese from all the rest entreated still further largess. It was really a good show, and, being the first of its kind, we enjoyed it.—Albert Bigelow Paine in Outing Magazine.

Meaning of the Green Bough.

The custom of placing a green bough on the roof of a newly built house is not confined to Germany, but was adopted by the French Canadians, who brought it with them from Brittany. The custom originated from the superstition prevalent centuries ago that every tree is inhabited by a spirit; consequently it was believed that every time a tree was felled another spirit was dispossessed, and this was supposed to cause some bitterness on his part against society. Rather than risk having these homeless and disgruntled spirits vent their ill feeling upon the houses under construction or upon the builders a branch was planted on the highest part of the house for their occupancy. They were then supposed to be mollified, and if they remained so until the roof was put on any evil design contemplated would prove harmless, for the spell would be broken.—Van Norden's Magazine.

Savona.

The history of Savona is that of a long struggle with the Genoese, ended in the sixteenth century, when they seised the town and rendered its harbor useless by sinking vessels filled with stones at the entrance. In 1746 it was captured by Sardinia, but was soon back again under the control of Genoa. The ancient Savo where Mago stored his booty in the second Punic war, Savona was the birthplace of the popes Sixtus IV. and Julius II. and the home of the ancestors of Columbus, who bestowed its name on one of the first islands he discovered in the West Indies.—London Standard.

His Preference.

Five-year-old Bobbie went visiting with his mother and, unexpectedly remaining overnight, was obliged to wear his cousin Kate's nightgown. The next morning he said tearfully, "Mamma, before I'll wear a girl's nightie again I'll sleep raw."—Harper's Weekly.

Youth and Old Age.

"Before a man is thirty he falls in love with every pretty girl he looks at."

"Yes, and after he is thirty he falls in love with every pretty girl who looks at him."—Stray Stories.

Rivals.

Knicker—You have a boy in college and a girl cultivating her voice? Bocker—Yes, and I don't know which has the better yell.—Brooklyn Life.

Would Be Nice.

"I tell you that the world shall yet do me what I deserve!" he ranted.

"That will be nice," replied his wife, trying to view her back in the mirror. "I look well in black."—Houston Post.

WORNOUT MOUNTAINS.

Laurentian Highlands the Oldest Land in the World.

Stretching across Canada north of the St. Lawrence and ending in the regions about the source of the Mississippi is a range of low granite hills called the Laurentian highlands. These hills are really mountains that are almost worn out, for they are the oldest land in America and, according to Agassiz, the oldest in the world.

In the days when there was nothing but water on the face of the globe these mountains came up, a long island of primitive rock, with universal ocean chafing against its shores. None of the other continents had put in an appearance at the time America was thus looking up. The United States began to come to light by the gradual uplifting of this land to the north and the appearance of the tops of the Alleghenies, which were the next in order. Later the Rockies started up. The United States grew southward from Wisconsin and westward from the Blue Ridge.

An early view of the country would have shown a large island which is now northern Wisconsin and a long, thin tongue of this primitive rock sticking down from Canada into Minnesota, and these two growing states looking out over the waters at the mere beginnings of mountain ranges east and west. They were waiting for the rest of the United States to appear.—Charles D. Stewart in Atlantic.

BOILED IT DOWN.

What the Lovers Intended to Say and What They Did Say.

What he intended to say: Lucille, I cannot tell you how I have waited, how I have longed for this moment. Do you remember, Lucille, the first time we met? Well, I loved you from that moment. Are you surprised? I could not help it—I felt as though fate had drawn us together. Only tell me, darling, that some of my love is returned. There must be hope for me—say there is! (Takes her hand.) I love you—love you more than words can tell. All I ask is that for the remainder of my life I may be your willing slave. All I desire is your happiness. Tell me, sweetheart, that my love is reciprocated. Will you be mine? (Kisses her.) Darling, at last my happiness is complete.

What she intended to say: Why, Jack! I did not dream of this! I have always thought of you merely in a friendly way, and it seems so strange now to have you speak of love. I suppose I could get used to it in time. Yes, I might learn to love you a little—just a little. But you must really, Jack, give me some time to readjust myself. What! Kiss me! You silly boy! Well, just one.

What they said: Jack—The fact is, Lucy, I—I—I—I—will you marry me?

Lucy—Oh, Jack!—New York Journal.

"Disgraced!"

Hon. Alfred Lyttelton tells an amusing story which amply illustrates the love of sport which is ingrained in the members of his family. On one occasion, when the future K.C. was figuring in a cricket match, one of the younger members of the household rushed into the drawing-room, and in an agony of shame and grief told of the downfall of Alfred. "I never should have thought he could have done it," he groaned. "Why, what has he done? Tell me quickly!" demanded the anxious mother. "Done! Why, he ran out to a beastly slow and got stumped!"

What He Called It.

"What is your occupation?" asked the attorney.

"I haven't any," the witness answered. "I work in a boiler factory."

"Well, don't you call that an occupation?"

"No, sir; I call that a job."

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

THE RIVER SEINE.

Its Contact With Paris on Its Journey to the Sea.

Inevitably in its passage through Paris the blue and silver of the Seine's robe are blurred by contact with the volumes of smoke which occasionally hang upon its surface and stained by the impurities which reach it from the streets. Though it quickly recovers its pristine blueness after the fortifications have been left behind, it is never again quite the unsophisticated river that it was before its Paris experience. Its waters are less limpid, its course more nervous, while at its meeting with the sea at Honfleur its color and character have changed completely. There the vast stretches of mud over which it rolls, mud of Paris, mud of Rouen, give to the waters of the wide Seine estuary reaching from Trouville to Le Havre the half dead moire tones of oxidized silver. The great Parisian river dies magnificently, and no more gorgeous spectacle can be conceived than when on a fine evening the sun sets upon the Seine at its junction with the sea, where its ultimate cliffs fade away behind the summer haze into a powder of gold, and it burns a light turquoise blue, with weird reflections of brazen yellow, old gold and cadaverous green. How different from its gentler and simpler aspect as it huddles round the heart of Paris, warm purple and burnished gold when the sinking sun strikes it as it softly laps against the stone embankment of the Louvre or sparkling blue, dappled with milk white, beneath the silvery mists of the Paris morning!—Harper's Weekly.

MOLL CUTPURSE.

Bold Highway Robber and the First English Woman Smoker.

Mary Frith, better known as Moll Cutpurse, was a notable figure in old time London life. She had the reputation of being the first woman to smoke tobacco in England.

The length of her days is a disputed point, but it seems certain that she attained the age of over threescore years and ten. It is asserted that constant smoking prolonged her life. A portrait representing her in the act of smoking forms the frontispiece of Middleton's comedy of the "Roaring Girl." She also figures in other plays of the period.

Mary was the daughter of a shoemaker living in the Barbican, and Malone gives 1584 as the date of her birth. She early took to wicked ways and became a noted "highwayman." Among her familiar friends were the notorious Captain Hind and Richard Hannam. She was an expert swordswoman. Single handed she robbed on Hounslow heath General Fairfax of 200 gold jacobuses, shooting him through the arm and killing two of his horses on which his servants were riding. For the offense she was committed to Newgate, but on paying the general £2,000 she obtained her liberty.

At one time Mary had £3,000 of her own, but by giving money to distressed cavaliers she died comparatively poor. Her death took place in July, 1659, and she was laid to rest in St. Bridget's.—Milgate Monthly.

Metheglin.

Metheglin and hypocras were numbered among the many good things beloved of Pepys, and the latter drink stood him in good stead at a guildhall banquet which occurred during one of his spells of pledged abstinence from wine. This was on lord mayor's day, 1663, when the diarist notes: "We went into the buttry and there stayed and talked and then into the hall again, and there wine was offered, and they drunk, I only drinking some hypocras, which do not break my vowe, it being, to the best of my present judgement, only a mixed compound drink and not any wine. If I am mistaken, God forgive me. But I hope and do think I am not." He was. Hypocras was usually composed of spice, herbs and sugar steeped for many days in Rhenish wine, and it is not reasonable to suppose that the lord mayor's butler had forgotten the wine.

English "Consols."

The young woman who has been explaining in the north London police court that she expected £15 invested in consols to bring her in 10 shillings in the pound interest knew about as much concerning "the funs" as the elder Mr. Weller. You recall Sam Weller's scorn upon discovering that his father supposed "reduced counsels" to be alive. But there is one single point about consols which most people, probably including many who possess some, could not answer offhand—of what exactly is the name an abbreviation? There is nothing even to remind us of it. Even the precise persons who would die rather than contract "omnibus," "telephone" or "photograph" never speak of "consolidated annuities."—London Chronicle.

The First Firearms.

The early history of firearms in the sense of tubes from which missiles are thrown by the action of a detonating compound of the nature of gunpowder is wrapped in obscurity, though it may be inferred from the few early records that such weapons were first employed in warfare soon after the beginning of the fourteenth century, if not some time before. The country of their origin remains uncertain, but it was most probably Italy.

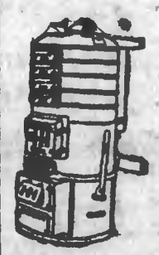
Bring Business Sense to Bear— on the Heating Problem



The "Sovereign" Hot Water Boiler

Made by the

TAYLOR-FORBES Company, Limited, GUELPH, ONT.

Generations of Canadians have shivered through comfortless winters awaiting the arrival of an efficient house heating system. Now that it is here in the "Sovereign" hot water furnace, many still cling to the hot air furnace under the mistaken idea that an equipment of pipes and radiators is too expensive. Ask your plumber for an estimate—and remember that what you buy will never wear out—will add more than its entire cost to the value of your house—will give you comfort and protect your health.

As well as heating all the house, the "Sovereign" will supply abundance of hot water for the bath and kitchen.

China Improving Navy.

London, Nov. 20.—The Chinese naval commission headed by Prince Tsaichun, brother of the regent, arrived in England, yesterday, to study the question of naval construction with a view of modernizing the navy of China.

Great importance is attached to the visit and the progressive movement which it foreshadows and full naval and military honors were accorded the commission upon their landing at Dover, where they were met by representatives of the Foreign Office and the Admiralty.

The party will be received by King Edward at Windsor to-day.

Mr. Cochrane at Woodstock.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 20.—Hon. Frank E. Cochrane, Minister of Mines, addressed a large audience in the public library building here last night under the auspices of the Canadian Club. He was the guest of Dr. Andrew MacKay, M.P.P., while in the city.

Both Legs Crushed.

Cobalt, Nov. 20.—John Rourke, an employe of the northern customs concentrators, while working under a freight car yesterday afternoon, had both legs badly crushed by the unexpected shunting of an engine on the siding.

Paralytic Suicides.

Cornwall, Nov. 20.—Wm. Meecham of this town, formerly of St. Regis Falls, N.Y., killed himself with a rifle at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Cobane. He was 52 years of age, and partially crippled with paralysis.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

Labor Delegates Pass Resolution Demanding It.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—"That the freedom of speech, which we have exercised without judicial restraint based on super-constitutional and self-arrogated authority, has been more in conformity with the fundamental principles of a free and self-governing country than is possible in the United States of America."

This resolution was adopted by the American Federation of Labor yesterday afternoon, along with the whole reports of the resolution committee. It was the final slap of the delegates at the decision of the courts that President Gompers, Vice-President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison must surrender themselves to the authorities of the District of Columbia next week to begin their sentences in jail for contempt of court. Coupled with this parting shot, the federation also expressed thanks for the entertainment and hospitality extended by the press and the people of Toronto during the two weeks of the convention.

At 10 o'clock this morning the officers were elected and by noon the great gathering of the representatives of the toiling masses will be a thing of history.

"Injunction in labor disputes are innovations in our modern jurisprudence," was the first comment of the report, which suggested that the executive committee take the necessary steps to have an appeal against the sentences of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison carried to the Supreme Court.

"Injunctions are intended to protect property rights only as shown by the fact that the courts invariably insist upon a bond being furnished by the interested parties to indemnify the parties enjoined from any loss that might accrue."

Ambrose Lepine Is Dead.

Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—There died yesterday at St. Vital, Man., Ambrose Lepine, lieutenant of Louis Riel in the rebellion of 1869-70, aged 75.

As adjutant-general he presided at the court-martial which condemned Thomas Scott to death. At the request of Mgr. Taché, Lepine consented in 1872 to leave for the United States.

In company with Riel he left by night in a closed carriage, protected by a couple of policemen, and was conducted across the frontier, going to St. Paul, where he stopped for a year. On his return to Manitoba on Sept. 27, 1873, he was arrested on a charge of participating in the murder of Scott.

After a long trial, in which he was defended by Messrs. Dubuc, Girard and Royal, as well as by Sir J. A. Chapleau, he was condemned to death, but recommended to the mercy of the court.

On the request of Mgr. Taché, the sentence was commuted to two years' imprisonment, with perpetual deprivation of his civil rights.

Half Million to the Good.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Net earnings to the amount of $550,000 for the fiscal year of ten months ended Oct. 31, is the record of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway for 1909. Compared with the twelve months of 1908, this amount is about $300,000 in excess of the returns for that year.

For September the gross earnings were $151,777, and the expenditure $90,151, giving a net revenue of $61,626. The total on royalties for the month were about $10,000.

Distributing the September earnings, the freight receipts were $86,000, an excess over the same month last year of $45,000, and the passenger receipt $53,468, or $35,983 over last year.

"Interest and sinking fund charges on the capital expenditure amount to $56,000 per month," said the Provincial Treasurer, yesterday, "and the excess revenue over the amount is devoted to improvement and betterment."

Big New Coal Company.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Charles Millar, barrister, and E. R. C. Clarkson, assignee, both of Toronto, have applied for a charter for a coal company in the Yellowhead Pass. This is the G.T.P. entrance to the Rockies, and the properties, which covers 3,500 acres, is said to be another Crow's Nest. Col. Talbot, M.P., is said to be the original promoter. Many Toronto men are understood to be behind the venture, which is to be known as the Yellowhead Coal Co.

A German syndicate wanted this property, but the Canadians got there first, paying over $70,000 for surface rights.

Gladstone For Africa.

London, Nov. 20.—The Standard yesterday stated that the report that Herbert Gladstone will be appointed Governor-General for South Africa, is confirmed by the announcement that the Liberal executive committee of Gladstone's constituency has requested T. E. Harvey to become the Liberal candidate for West Leeds in the approaching election.

Township Will Bonus Railway.

St. Mary's, Ont., Nov. 20.—The by-law to grant a bonus of $20,000 to the St. Mary's & Western Railway Co. was voted on by the Township of Blanchard yesterday, and carried by a majority of four.

A similar bylaw was carried last May, but upon protest for irregularity was subsequently quashed.

The Barton Rapley Mystery.

Strathroy, Nov. 20.—It is stated that Barton Rapley, the commercial traveler who mysteriously disappeared from a Napanee hotel a short time ago, was seen at the depot here, and sent word to an uncle here of his short presence in the town.

Fortifying the Orkney Islands.

London, Nov. 20.—With the beginning yesterday of the establishment of a naval base at the Orkney Islands, the North Sea becomes practically a British lake, which on the outbreak of war would be immediately closed to the rest of the world.

Street Railway Crisis.

Kingston, Nov. 20.—If the Street Railway Co. does not accept the power offer of the City Council by Monday evening, there will be no more power to run the cars after Tuesday night, and the railway will be disconnected with the city power-house, the present agreement with the city as to power expiring on Tuesday. There is reason to believe that the company will accept the five-year provisional agreement offered at a rate of 1.20 cents a kilowat hour.

A Despatch From the Admiralty.

London, Nov. 20.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that a long comprehensive despatch is being forwarded to the Canadian Government regarding the constitution of the Imperial naval staff. The despatch considers seriatim all proposals and objections which have been raised both from the colonial and Imperial standpoint. An early reply is urged.

Brantford Man Disappears.

SUFFRAGETTE ARRIVES.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst Interviewed In Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—When the Grand Trunk express from Buffalo drew into the Union Station last night, a winsome, wistful woman quietly stepped from a rear coach, was greeted by the president of the Canadian Suffrage Association and quietly passed out through the bustling crowd. There was no ostentation, no noise of shouting, no waving of the battle-ensign, "Votes for Women," just a dignified movement towards a conveyance.

So Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffrage movement in England, and the inspiration of all who are seeking universal suffrage, arrived in Toronto.

Mrs. Pankhurst in appearance is a pleasing contrast to the impression conveyed by the accounts given of her speeches and her published portraits. In physique she is not large, but of medium build. Her voice is restrained, penetrating and musical. Approaching her, one looks for an aggressive, virile woman, but meets a quiet lady-like person with an anxious gaze and an appealing expression. Mrs. Pankhurst is a veritable bundle of nervous energy. In manner she is tense, dramatic and fervent; she speaks without artifice; her words are sincere and frank, and she draws her listeners to her by an air of courtesy and grace.

To-night Mrs. Pankhurst will tell Toronto, and so Canada, the truth about the fight in England. "I do not think the suffragettes in America and in Canada know much about what we are doing in England. That is just why I am here," she said. "I do not think they are in a proper position to make up their minds about the movement in England. We are militant, we are doing the right thing under the circumstances."

"Will you advise the women of Canada and the United States?" she was asked.

"No. I have not sufficient knowledge of the conditions on this side of the water to give such advice. The women of Canada and the United States must choose their own methods."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

William Morgan (colored) who claimed to be 102 years old, died in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, last night.

Toronto capitalists have bought the site and present building of the Woodward department stores in Vancouver, for $375,000, for a theatre.

A hurricane struck Lisbon yesterday afternoon, causing considerable damage. No casualties are reported, though it is rumored that a fishing vessel was swamped off shore.

Two large piano firms of Montreal—the C. W. Lindsay Co., Ltd., and Ormes & Sons—have been consolidated into a million dollar corporation, to be known as Lindsay, Limited. C. W. Lindsay will be president of the company.

The political crisis has drawn out from Mr. Balfour, the leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, the written admission on the contemplated taxing of raw cotton that "such a tax would violate the fundamental principles of fiscal reform."

Steamship Service to Cuba.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The estimates make provision for a subsidy of $20,000 for a steamship service between St. John and Cuba. It is understood, however, that the contract for the service has not yet been made.

OTTAWA KICKING WITH THE WIND TOOK AN EARLY LEAD IN BIG GAME

Score at End of First Quarter in Inter-Provincial Final at Rosedale Was 9-0 in Favour of the Rough Riders.

6,000 PEOPLE AT GAME

Special Wire to the Examiner.

..Rosedale Grounds, Toronto, Nov 20.—Long before one o'clock the crowd started toward Rosedale for the big game between Hamilton and Ottawa, and they were still coming when the ball was kicked off. Six thousand people saw the game, but there was noise enough for double that number. The rank and file of the rival camps were on deck early and half an hour before the game started the fun was in progress. The Tiger rooters, with their big yellow chrysanthemums, occupied a huge block in the centre of the stand. They were there and yelling lustily when the Ottawa bands arrived. Then the fun started in real earnest. Cheer, and counter cheer rent the air.

The arrival of the Tiger team, at two o'clock was the signal of a mighty cheer that had hardly subsided when the Ottawa team reched the club, led by the band. The Tiger mascot carried a big image of Billibon, bedecked in the Tiger yellow and black, for good luck, and the superstitious ones of the team embraced it before they marched upon the field. The Tigers took the field for practice first, and Davey Tope was given a mighty reception.

The Ottawa's did not really let go till one of their bands paraded across the field. A moment later the Hamilton band cut loose in middle of an Ottawa overture and pandemonium reigned

The weather was ideal. Sun came out at the time for starting the game and everything was lovely The turf was nice and dry and a stiff wind from the west gave a great advantage to the team kicking from the quarter.

The Line Up.

Ottawa	Hamilton
Back.
Johnstone	Tope
Half.
Gerard	Burton
McCann	Moore
Williams	Simpson
Quarter.
Kilt	Awrey
Scrimmage.
Ferguson	Peiffer.
Kennedy	raig
Sheriff	Gerard
Wing.
Vaughan	Barron
Church	Brasmer
Stronach	Lyon
Phillips	Gray
McGee	Isbester
Christie	Marriott

First Quarter.

The game was called promptly at 2.45 by Referee Meisen. Ottawa won the toss and kicked east with a gale behind them. The Tigers' kick-off was rushed back and in an instant Ottawa had them on the defensive. Tope missed a high pass but recovered. Simpson kicked to Gerard, who kicked weakly into Brasmer's hands, and he run it back to centre. Two kicks by Williams sent ball to dead line for Ottawa. . First point. Ottawa 1, Tigers 0.

A moment later Williams repeated the manuarter way. Ottawa 2, Tigers 0.

Tigers settled down to close game. Moore and Isbester bucked for yards, but Moore muffed a punt from Gerard, and Williams again punted to dead line.Ottawa 3, Tigers 0.

Tigers lost the ball for interference, but recovered. They started a run but made a foolish pass and it was knocked down. Then Williams missed a drop over goal. Simpson booted to Williams, who kicked over the line to Tope, who was downed by Stronage ofr a rouge. Ottawa 4, Tigers 0.

Tigers are still on the defensive. The rough riders are hammering their bucks and smething their end runs. Simpson's kick went across the field and McCann nailed it for a try, which was not converted. Ottawa 9, Tigers 0.

Tigers then took a brace. Moore broke through. Simpson kicked to Gerard, who fumbled, but recovered, and McWilliams kicked to safety. A moment later Gerard fumbled again but McWilliams saved. Quarter time, Ottawa 9, Tigers 0.

Second Quarter.

With the wind, Simpso ncommenced hard work and Ottawa was instantly placed on defensive. Gray got a minute for punching. The Ottawa backs fumbled every punt. Ben Simpson dropped a goal from 35 yards out, and scored Tigers first points.—Ottawas 9, Tigers 3.

Simpson kicked and the Ottawa backs fumbled. Ferguson was fenced for kick at Tope. Kilt followed for interference and Ottawas were on the defensive and short two men. Phillips was knocked out, but continued. Burton took a punt from Williams, and almost got over. Christie was hurt in a buck and replaced by Hickey. The Tigers lost ball for failure to gain yards. Ottawas are playing a stiff defence game, despite muffing of their backs. Burton fumbled a punt and Ottawa dribbled to midfield, but Tigers held them for downs. Simpson kicked from midfield over the line. Johnstone fumbled, but with three Tiger wings driving for the ball, kicked it to dead ball line, and saved a sure touch.—Ottawa 9, Tigers 4. Simpson beated to dead ball line.

Isbister was penalized for taking a came with Ottawas on defensive.

Ottawas 9, Tigers 5.

The Brooks Building at corner of George and Sherbrooke Streets, consisting of three splendid stores. A marked improvement to that part of George street.

NEW BROOKS BUILDING A FINE ACQUISITION TO BUSINESS SECTION

Recently Erected at Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets ---Consists of Three Splendid Stores and Two Apartments---Modernly Equipped Throughout.

A decided improvement on the old shops that formerly stood on the corner of George and Sherbrooke Sts. and a valuable acquisition to the fine business blocks in the city of Peterborough is the splendid new Brooks building recently erected on the above mentioned corner. It is a well built white brick structure, two storeys in height, equipped throughout with all modern appliances. The ground floor is divided off in three stores, while the second one consists of two apartments, divided by a hall, four rooms being on either side. The stores which are large and spacious are occupied by Mr. W. C. Tully who conducts a first class grocery business, Mr. A. L. Talbot who has an up-to-date butcher shop and Mr. Robert Di Bernardo who carries on a boot and shoe making and repairing trade. By the addition of this clean and attractive looking building the general appearance of that portion of George St., has been greatly improved. The rooms on the second floor are commodious and comfortable and make splendid residences for small families.

The contractor for the building was Mr. Thos. Rutherford who carried out the plans excellently. It is heated throughout by hot water, the system of heating having been installed by Mr. Adam Hall. The property is owned by Mr. J. M. Brooks, Dalhousie St.

Local Option And Its Effect Upon A License For Club

Peterborough, Nov. 19.

Editor of The Examiner:

Kindly answer the following:—

A bets B that if local option is carried in Peterborough there is nothing in the act to stop the Peterborough Club having a license. INQUIRER.

Answer.—James Haverson, solicitor for the License Holders Association, and an authority on the license laws says of this question: "Local option in Peterborough will not affect the Peterborough Club as a Club license is not prohibited."

Jos. Stewart, local License Inspector, says that the matter of club licenses in the event of local option carrying, would be left in the hands of the local Board of License Commissioners, who could grant or withhold a license from the Club as they thought fit.

These opinions bear out A's bet that there is nothing in the Act to stop the Peterborough Club having a license.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Resident of North End Complains of Noisy Young Men.

A resident of the North End of the city called at the police station this afternoon and complained of a gang of young men who made themselves a great nuisance by dancing and singing on a nearby verandah. They would start about midnight and keep it up until early morning. He wanted the practice stopped.

Account of Induction of Rev. F. J Sawers, of Lakefield

In to-day's edition of the Buffalo Courier there is an account of the induction of Rev. F. J. Sawer's as rector of St. John's Church, Lakefield. The coremony was performed on Thursday by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt. A splendid photograph of Mr. Sawers appears in connection with the article.

TO LIGHT LIFT LOCK

A Sum Has Been Placed in the Appropriations for Purpose of Having it Electrically Lighted Next Year—Will be Appreciated.

OTHER LOCKS AS WELL

It will be pleasing news to the people of Peterborough, and to the public generally, who are interested in navigation, to know that through the efforts of Hon. J. R. Stratton, a sum has been placed in the estimates for the Trent Canal appropriations to provide for the installation of an electric lighting apparatus at the Peterborough Hydraulic Lift Lock with a view to having the lock lighted at nights during the season of navigation. Not only does the appropriation cover the cost of installation of electric lights at the Lift Lock, but it also provides for installing lights at the various locks between Peterborough and Lakefield. As the locks between Peterborough and Lakefield are close together, this practically means that the entire Canal between Peterborough and Lakefield will be lighted. The advantage to be derived from the lighting of the reach between Peterborough and Lakefield will be most substantial. Hon. Mr. Stratton has felt all along that the closing of the Lift Lock, of necessity, at seven o'clock each evening, was not affording the navigation interests the benefits that it would provide, if lighted at night. The appropriation for installing a lighting system is, therefore, an important one, and should tend to greatly assist and increase the traffic on this section of the Canal.

HALL'S FIRE SALE A NOTABLE RECORD

From "Round the Stores"—Greeted With Large Houses Every Day.

Fearless price cutting and profit pruning continues to characterize the methods adopted by Richard Hall & Son in the conduct of their Fire Sale. For over five weeks this sale has been continued with a remarkable continuity of success. Approximately, it might be conjectured that at least thirty-five thousand dollars' worth of goods must have been sold during these thirty days. Fast and continuous selling, eager and zealous buying, happy and jubilant buyers, have been self-evident features every day. And there does not appear to be much, if any, let up" to the interest in this sale. New attractions, each day, at this season of the year, create extra demand. Cautious, thoughtful buyers will not pay regular prices, when so many tempting offers are made in the varied lines of necessities. The lists that have been given serve merely as hints at the savings, and give no idea of the splendid variety of high-class goods contained in this big store. Women who appreciate real worth, who admire style and value in superior dress goods, are constantly flocking to the extensive department where all kinds of dress fabrics are exposed at the sacrifice prices. And so on all over the shop upstairs as well as down. See announcement for Saturday.

INSURE THE MEN

Question of Insuring Members of Fire Brigade to Be Discussed.

A bill of $11.00 from Dr. Greer for attending Deputy Fire Chief Grange was presented to the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night, and as it raised the question of insuring the men it was decided to wait until all the members of the committee were present. The committee has touched upon the insurance proposition before this year, but has yet to take the matter up in earnest. It is felt that something should be done and at the next meeting Ald. Buller will likely bring the matter up again.

CAPITAL AND LABOUR

Series of Sermons by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt on Relation of Christianity to Modern Thought.

A series of special sermons on Christianity in relation to modern thought, dealing particularly with Labour and Capital problem will be begun to-morrow evening at St. Luke's church, the sermons to be preached by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt. The subject for to-morrow night will be "Christianity and Modern Thought." All persons interested in the application of Christianity to modern conditions and wishing to know more of the great problem of Capital and Labour ought to attend.

ELECTRIC LIGHT TRIMMERS ARE INCENSED AT THE NUMEROUS REPORTS OF LIGHTS BEING OUT

Trouble That Has Been Brewing for Some Time Discussed by Fire, Water and Light Committee—Men Believe Maliciousness Behind Reports in Which Lights Burned Completely Away

AFFAIR EXPLAINED

A storm has been brewing of late among the arc lamp trimmers in the city on account of the large number of lights reported out by Chief Howard. It will be understood that the trimmers are the men who replenish the arc lamps every day, and prepare them for use during that night. Each man has a district and he is expected to cover his route after dark to make sure that all his lamps are burning. For this work they receive a bonus of twenty-dollars a year, but every time a lamp is reported out he loses forty cents, which the city receives. The company is charged 16 cents and an additional fine of 25 cents is imposed, and all of this comes out of the trimmer's bonus. During the last week in particular there has been an increased feeling among the men because of the number of reports sent in, and the resentment is against the fact that on investigation only a few were found to have been out all night.

The question was brought up before the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night by Mr. J. H. Larmonth, who appeared on behalf of the men of the Peterborough Light and Power Co.

His Statements.

Mr. Larmonth said there had been a great deal of dissatisfaction in regard to reporting lights out. He understood that Chief Howard had received instructions from the Committee in regard to this and it was felt by the men that some of the firemen were "after the scalps of the Light and Power Company's men," in other words they were "making it hot for them." The light trimmers, as the men in charge of the lights are known, were beginning to feel aggrieved at the numerous reports. The Company desired to give the city the full value for their money, but if any lamps were out during the night the Company was willing to pay for them.

City Clerk Armstrong read the resolution passed in the committee, by which Chief Howard was authorized to receive the report of lights out from the police, and to report them to the Company's office. He had also power to report lights he himself found not lighted.

Chief Howard's Explanation.

Chief Howard, in explanation, said that he had instructed his men whenever off duty or about town on any business to report lights out.

On Thursday 11 had been reported not working. He went with Mr. Fits and found that only two had not been burning, and two of these had apparently been burning half the night. These two were lumped, and the report was boiled down to one light for that night. One night thirty-five were found out, and many reports had been 'phoned to the police. Chief Howard had found that a whole circuit had been out owing to some machinery at the power house being temporarily out of order. Two others in different districts were found out that same night and only these two were reported out.

Chief Not Blamed.

Mr. Larmonth had nothing to say against Chief Howard's work. He had done everything fairly. The Company did not complain against reports of lamps that had been out, but they wanted to prevent a repetition of the present week's occurrences. Lights were being reported that were found to have been burning. Mr. Larmonth intimated even that lights had been tampered with, and incandescents on Hunter street had been removed.

Wanted the Names.

When a light was reported out to the Chief, he wanted to know who made the report. This, at least, gave the Company some protection. He would not be incensed against any one reporting a light actually out. Mr. Larmonth said that it could be understood that the trimmers would be stirred up by numerous reports every morning, when only one or two had not been working.

Ald. Hicks said he would rather see all the lights burning than be receiving the fines for those that had not been in working order.

Chief Howard said that five lights wasthe total reported out this month. The others reported had been found burned out, and it was supposed that they had burned all night.

The Committee decided to do nothing until all the members would be present. In the meantime Chief Howard is to make his annual report and is to give the Company the names of the firemen and police who make the reports, but if a citizen requests his name to be withheld the Chief need not give it with his report. Mr. Larmonth agreed to this for the present.

MANY BODIES FOUND OXYGEN WILL BE USED

Special to The Examiner.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 20.—The firemen and miners employed in the work of bringing bodies from the mine struck at dawn to-day, after announcing it was impossible to continue work now without oxygen. The bodies now being brought to the surface are in a terrible state of decomposition, and the odours in the mine passages are almost beyond human endurance. Volunteers were immediately called and a score of the male relatives of miners entombed in the mine rallied to the support of the Chicago Fire Company, under Capt. Kenny, of Engine Company 40, who stuck to it with his men. The charred and blackened bodies of 30 men were recovered by rescue parties at an early hour to-day. Thirty-six bodies were found by the first fighters, piled high at the end of a blind gallery of the western gallery in the second vein.

Firemen To Have Social And Xmas Tree For Their Families

During Christmas week the firemen will have a Christmas tree and a little social affair on an afternoon, yet to be decided. They have given the matter some consideration, and deputed Chief Howard to ask the committee for permission to use the dormitory for the occasion. The men will not be able to go home for the usual Christmas festivities, and the idea was suggested that they have a little celebration for their wives and children at the hall, and the affair has been practically settled. The tree will be for the children and the men and their wives will have a little social time of their own. Refreshments and music will serve to make the occasion a pleasant one, and as the practice is followed in other cities it will doubtless be a success here. The members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee will be the guests of the men who are arranging the affair at their own expense.

The men state that a number of people have expressed their desire of giving something to the men for the event and Chief Howard asked what the committee had to say in regard to it. It was decided that the men could accept any voluntary gifts at Christmas time, but there must be no canvassing for donations.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Hicks it was decided to allow the men to use the dormitories for the purpose mentioned.

Director Of Meteorological Observatory To Give Address

The next meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society will be held in the Collegiate Institute on Tuesday evening, November 30th, when Mr. R. F. Stupart, director of the Meteorological Observatory, Toronto, will give an address on "Wind and Weather." It is from the above observatory that all storm signals and weather probabilities are given out for a distance of 2000 miles east of Toronto. All the coast towns and the steamships receive the weather forecasts from this observatory. Mr. Stupart will tell of the work in connection with it, and his lecture will no doubt prove exceedingly interesting.

Oyster Supper Was A Very Successful Affair

The church parlours of the Park Street Baptist Church were overcrowded last night at the Oyster Supper given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the church. The crowd was handled without any confusion, however, owing to the fine arrangements of the church.

About $75.00 was realized, and everybody went away satisfied with the supper and also the most excellent programme provided, which was rendered in a manner which reflected great credit on all who took part.

The pastor, Rev. W. C. Biddiford, occupied the chair, and in a brief and happy speech replete with humour, welcomed the people.

The following programme was then rendered:

Instrumental—Mr. Foster.
Words of welcome—Chairman.
Mandolin selection.
Solo—Mr. Pratt.
Recitation—Mr. Johns.
Instrumental—Miss Rena Johnston.
Solo—Mr. Miller.
Recitation—Miss Hill.
Violin solo—Miss Hope Miller.
Instrumental—Miss Hazel Gillespie.
Solo—Mr. Pratt.
Recitation—Mr. Johns.
Duet.—Miss Mill and Mr. Miller.
National Anthem.

VOICE OF A GREAT NEED

The resolution which was unanimously carried by the City Council, Board of Trade and representative Citizens' meeting, November 9th, is as follows:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

WHEREAS the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario; and

WHEREAS it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

WHEREAS the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

WHEREAS it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which in our opinion would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

ACTION DEMANDED.

For the first ten days the Examiner has had standing in sight of its readers, the resolution at the head of this column. It has been kept there because it was regarded as the expression of a determination on the part of the City Council, the Board of Trade, and prominent citizens to take an action that would give an impetus to the popular desire for a greater Peterborough; it was kept there that it might be seared into the minds of the people, who look to their representative citizens, to implement their resolutions by action; that they may remember the resolution and demand an accounting if it is not carried out. The Examiner has tried to do its share to keep the matter alive. The resolution at the head of this column appears for the last time—for a time at least. If it is not acted upon it is easy to resurrect it. Action is demanded.

SMALL POLITICS.

The Toronto News, with a picayune spirit, peculiar to its partizanship, prints a list of estimates for public works in Liberal constituencies, especially constituencies represented by Liberal ministers, to show the alleged favouritism exercised. It instances $290,000 for Quebec, Sir Wilfrid's seat, and one of the most important ports of Canada; $25,000 for Mr. Fielding's riding; $15,000 for Sir Frederick Borden's constituency, etc. To show the unfairness of the News "exposure" of favouritism in making the estimates, it is only necessary to mention that for Tory Toronto, where it would be as impossible to elect an angel as a Grit, the estimates call for a Liberal Government expenditure of $734,000, equal to the total expenditure suggested for all the Ministers' ridings put together, and a greater amount than that recommended in any one city in the Dominion except Port Arthur, where the making of an outport for the wheat of the Northwest, demands an expenditure of $800,000 for harbour improvements. The Little Canadian has a place of honour in the News building, in a retreat for small politics.

WE, THE PEOPLE OF CANADA.

Avast there ye lubbers! Climb down from the bridge, Sir Wilfrid, and make room for the Conservative Club of Peterborough; for the Young Conservatives are charging their guns to blow the Laurier Government to smithereens and strew the three thousand miles of Dominion coast line with the wreckage of Sir Wilfrid's naval policy, the flotsam and jetsom of Canada's baby navy. "Mr. Charles N. Brown, president of the Conservative Club has requested the Review to call a meeting of all those, etc." The voice is the voice of Brown, but the words are the words of the village Hampden, who with dauntless breast, is prepared to withstand the tyrant of the fleet. The editor of the Review demands that the Canadian Navy should be "a unit of an Empire-fleet." Is it to be such a unit as the Conservative party is upon the subject, with Mr. Borden, the leader, in accord, with Sir Wilfrid Laurier in adhesion to the principle adopted by the unanimous vote of parliament, and Mr. Monk, the Quebec Conservative leader, who wants to do nothing at all, and the ranting, roaring Roblin, who wants to make a cash contribution? The three tailors of Tooley street, posing as "We, the people of England", is a fitting prototype of the meeting, summoned under the aegis of the Editor of the Review, to declare condemnation of the action of the Canadian Government's refusal of the reasonable request of Britain for a "unit" Canadian navy. The editor of the Review told the Toronto World that "Canada wants no navy." Wait for the "special meeting called in the Conservative club rooms on Saturday night. It seems impossible that there could be still another Conservative naval policy, but one can never tell.

LOOKING AHEAD.

The Toronto Star has a gratifying news paragraph to show the splendid work and development being performed by the Provincial railway, the T. & N. O., a line conceived and practically built by the Ross Government, under the influence of faith in the resources of Northern Ontario, and in the face of the passive, if not active, resistance of the Conservative Opposition of the day. The paragraph says:

> The Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Company has paid the Provincial Treasurer the sum of $550,000, as net revenue for the first ten months of 1909, which complete the fiscal year. This is $200,000 in excess of the amount handed over to the Province for the twelve months of 1908, and indicates that the Government railway, under its chairman, Mr. Englehart, is not only advancing rapidly in earning power, but that the expenditures are being kept down so far as efficeency will permit. The net revenue for the first nine months of the year amounted to $510,000, and in addition nearly $108,000 was received from ore royalties. This total of $618,00 contrasts with $180,000 net earnings for the similar period of 1908. For the month of September the gross earnings were $151,777, and the expenditure $90,151, leaving a net revenue of $61,626. In addition the ore royalties exceeded $10,000. The freight revenue was $86,000, or $45.00 more than last year. The passenger revenue was $53,452, as compared with $35,923 in September 1908. As the interest and sinking fund charges on the capital expenditure do not exceed $50,000 a month or $500,000 for the ten months the road is a clear $50,000 ahead in the sum it has paid the Province for this year. The excess is being spent in improvements to the road.
> This is generally extremely satisfactory and shows that true statesmanship looks ahead and plans and builds for the future. This is what the Ross government did when it explored Northern Ontario in the face of the scoffs and sneers of Conservatives, and revealed its agricultural and mineral possibilities; a result followed by the building of the railway which has justified itself so abundantly. The same spirit has influenced the Laurier ogvernment in building the Transcontinental Railway, which may and doubtless will, open up in the northern regions of Quebec and Ontario natural resources such as have been developed by the provincial railway, but over a far wider area and possibly with correspondingly larger results.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The London, England, Standard, (Tory and strongly Imperialist), says there is true statesmanship and true leadership in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's words on the naval question, which would find endorsement in every legislative assembly of the Empire.

"It's an ill wind, etc." The earthquake destroyed the Messina orange orchards, and now we have Canadian apples being shipped to Italy. The steamer Toronto sailed for Montreal, the first of a direct line to Italy, and among her cargo were twelve barrels of Canadian apples for the King of Italy.

On Thursday night in Chicago Dr. Grenfell, the good angel of Labrador, was married to Miss McClenahan, and it is to be hoped that he has got a wife worthy of him; he seems to have done so for his bride elects to share his lot and make her husband a home in the northern wilds of Newfoundland. She sees nothing of sacrifice in this—it is only a matter of course—"his work is there; I am his wife"; that is the simple and noble all. Dr. Grenfell, if anybody, deserves domestic happiness; a man who has made so many miserable homes happy, should have a happy home himself.

THE NAVAL QUESTION.

(London Advertiser.)

The Opposition newspapers, with few exceptions, are awaiting the cue from Mr. Borden before discussing the Government's naval programme.

One exception is the Toronto News. It has advocated a Canadian navy, but describes the Government's plans as "miserably inadequate," It is inconceivable,' adds the News, "that the Opposition will accept the Government's proposal," And then it proceeds to exhibit again that illuminated pumpkin, the German scare, as to which the British Chancellor of the Exchequer has just written in the London Nation:

> "We know now how little foundation existed for the last scare. In the light of established facts the March fright which shook Britain and convulsed the colonies looks rather foolish. Mr. Balfour's 25 German Dreadnoughts in 1912 have, for the moment, disappeared from the stage. The sensational drama of a foreign invasion has ceased to draw. It is not now to the interests of the Tory party to dwell too much on the grave national emergency,' while the country sees them fighting with grim tenacity in the House of Commons against contributing a penny towards the fund which the Government are raising to meet it. But when the taxes are established, the Tory members will strive to divert their produce from the channel of fruitful reform, which may win gratitude for the party which initiates it, to the barren waste which ends in popular disappointment and national restlessness or even disaster. Liberals will have themselves to blame if they lack the perspicacity and firmness to resist these manufactured cries of national danger."

The resolutions of the Canadian Parliament in March last, were adopted in a moment of panic. Even members of the British Government were misled by reports which have been since disproved. Germany has not accelerated her official programme She will not have more than thirteen Dreadnoughts in 1912. After that date she will construct only one Dreadnought a year, in place of three as at present. If she should amend her Naval Act, and not reduce her output of Dreadnoughts after 1912, there will be real ground for alarm, and every country in the British Empire will immediately rise to the situation. By no possibility can Britain's naval supremacy be threatened. Germany cannot build Dreadnought secretly. Nor can the German Government easily get money to maintain the existing pace. The people are almost in rebellion now because of the weight of taxation, and the Socialists the other day swept the state of Baden on the issue of the budget.

The Canadian naval project, though born in a panic, must soon have some without the stimulus of the German scare. Public opinion had been long moving in that direction. Canadians generally have for many years felt that participation in the naval defence of the Empire was only a matter of time—of the growth and wealth of the country. The hour has struck. The beginning may be modest, but it is a programme that will expand with the necessities of the Empire. It may be that these necessities will grow less urgent through the force of saner and humaner counsels in Europe, or through some re-alignment of the great powers.

OUR UNKOWN RESOURCES.

(Brockville Recorder.)

General Passenger Agent Hinton, of the G. T. R., recently made some important statments in Winnipeg relative to the enterprise with which he is connected. He declares that the world will be startled when it knows the fertility of the land which the road is opening up. He says: "There is an inland empire of fertile prairie in British Columbia that is absolutely unknown. It is the only large area between the mountains and the coast, located in the northern part of the province. It is naturally irrigated by the Pacific streams, and mountain tributaries on either side. In this district the famous pea-vine grass thrives, thus making the land most valuable for grazing, as the growth is the richest stock-food known. There are millions of acres of it practically going to waste. "The district," he continues, "will surpass the fruit lands, in the point of value, through the states of Washington and Oregon, where the best fruit in the States is grown, and has a ready market everywhere." And while the road is opening a vast stretch of country in the West, the eastern section of this great railway is opening up a vast stretch of valuable country between Moncton and Winnipeg. From coast to coast the road will traverse lands that are rich in natural resources.

RETIRING SALE ATTRACTIONS

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Globe is issuing a series of well-prepared circulars in the publicity line of which the following is a good sample. It's worth having by business men generally:

"Back a few decades in the industrial history of England a certain man started to make soap. In all probability it was just common soap, and it was no doubt made in a common factory. In all likelihood he encountered all the difficulties, financial and otherwise, that usually beset the path of an infant industry, but he struggled on, and there came a time when he made a departure from the common to the uncommon. He began to advertise.. To advertise successfully meant the making of better goods,' goods for which the demand would be lasting. The rest of the story is known throughout the civilized world. He would be a bold man who would hazard a guess what the "name' 'of that soap might today be successfully capitalized for, aside altogether from the assets in the form of factories and stock which the proprietor owns in a dozen different cities, and, by the way, he owns a city of his own.

"Have you a name? Of course you have a family name, but have you a name in the industrial world — a name that is indelibly stamped on the business with which you are identified? Are you building up a name which as the years go by will become more and more a capital asset? Or are you content to be one of the common, humble, unambitious soap makers or broom-makers or carriage-makers? To a very large extent the distinction is between the advertiser and the non-advertiser."

Blacksmithing and Woodworking Business For Sale

The undersigned offers for sale his blacksmithing and woodworking business, situated on the side line between Peterborough and Norwood at Jermyn P. O. The blacksmith shop building in two stories, 25 x 42, with cement floor and common forge. The upper story is the full size of the blacksmith shop (25x42). Attached to the blacksmith shop is the post office building, which may be entered from the blacksmith shop. Adjoining is a first class brick dwelling, with frontage of 22 feet, with kitchen. It is an L-shaped house with cement cellar. Also verandah and beautiful lawn. There is a good stable with cement floor, three stalls, with straw barn attached. The land comprises one half acre. This is one of the best blacksmith stands in the County of Peterborough. The farmers all patronize this shop. My reason for giving up business is on account of having one of my legs fractured I am unable to continue the shoeing. For further particulars, write to

GENERALLY SPEAKING

Xmas. Shopping.

Shoppers, do your shopping early. Remember, that by doing so, you not only save yourselves a considerable amount of bustle and disappointment, but you confer a favour on that long-suffering body of mortals, the salespeople of Peterborough.

It is such an easy thing to get one's shopping done early, and yet people are so apt to lose sight of that fact, and also of the additional and all important one that in doing so they get the best choice of articles.

Victoria Park.

Meanness is an offshoot of ignorance, we all know, but while it is sometimes smiled at, when it obtrudes itself in the shape of chesseparing in commercial and domestic concerns, it is altogether a different matter when it assumes the form of damage to public property. All good citizens have a right to complain when the well-meant efforts of the Horticultural Society are brought to nought, as they have been, either by hoodlums or by persons possessed of the ungodly spirit of vandalism. It is a pretty safe guess that a man or boy is no better than his actions proclaim him to be, and whoever is responsible for the tearing down of the wires along the paths in Victoria Park, be he man or boy, if found, should be severely punished by the authorities.

Moving Pictures for the Young.

The Film Index, the organ of the moving picture interests, announces in its latest issue that there is a movement on foot to present pictures that will appeal more especially to young people. They are intended to be of an uplifting tendency. This is a movement in the right direction. There is no gainsaying the fact that these popular shows are getting to be an educative factor of no small value to the public at large, and if a special effort is to be made to cater to the tastes of the young there is no telling how far they may be made use of in supplementing the knowledge gained in schools and colleges. Perhaps some day we shall see institutions of learning with equipments for setting forth in dumb show great events in history as well as depicting objects of geographical interest, in order to bring more clearly before the minds of the scholars what they are so apt to look on as dry and useless when placed before their eyes in cold print.

Shooting Stars.

Lack of space last week compelled the omission of a few words on a most remarkable phenomenon, which was witnessed at Niagara Falls on Saturday, Nov. 13th, 1833. This was nothing more nor less than the most imposing display of shooting stars on record. We are told that the spectacle was visible over an area as between longitude 61 in the Atlantic and 100 in Central Mexico, and from the latitude of the great lakes to the West Indies. From the appearance presented it might be regarded as a grand and portentous display of nature's fireworks. "Seldom," says the writer, "has a scene of greater or more awful sublimity been exhibited than at the Falls of Niagara on this memorable occasion, the two leading powers in nature, water and fire, engaging, as it were, in an emulative display of their grandeur. The awful roar of the cataract filled the mind of the spectator with an infinitely heightened sense of sublimity, when its waters were lightened up by the glare of the meteoric torrent in the sky. In many parts of the country the people were terror struck, imagining that the end of the world was come; whilst those whose education and vigour of mind prevented them from yielding to such terrors were nevertheless vividly reminded of the grand description in the Apocalypse, "The stars of heaven fell unto the earth even as a fig tree casteth her untimely figs, when she is shaken of a mighty wind."

During three successive years, from 1831 to 1833, the 13th of November, was marked by a magnificent display of shooting stars.

Halley's Comet.

Most people are aware that Halley's comet, that mysterious rambler in the heavens, is again approaching within measurable distance of the earth. We give a few facts concerning it, which, so far as we are aware, have not found their way into the newspapers.

The reason why it is called Halley's comet is not because Dr. Halley discovered it, but because he was the man who, after elaborate investigations, found that it made periodical appearances in the sky. Before he made this important discovery, there had been all sorts of surmises afloat, as to what sort of a body a comet was. People attributed many events to their influence. We will take a few instances at haphazard. When a comet appeared in 1811 there was a great number of twins born in London. This was put down to the comet. The Plague of London was also attributed to the same cause. So also was the destruction of Lima and Callao by an earthquake in 1746. There were enormous flocks of wild pigeons, noticed on this continent in a certain year. The reason for their astounding numbers was placed to the credit of a comet. Let us hope in this connection that the coming of the present comet will have the effect of bringing them back from the present mysterious hiding place, to which they betook themselves several years ago.

Dr. Halley, in his investigations, found reason to believe that the comets of 1531, 1607, and 1682, were one and the same comet, and boldly declared his belief that it would appear again late in 1758, or easly in 1759, and he appealed to posterity not to lose sight of the fact that if it did so the prediction of such a result was due to an Englishman. The comet was espied on Christmas Day, 1758, and passed its perihelion on March 13, 1759. It appeared again in 1835 and as we know now it is again in evidence. Savants now are certain that the comets of 1378, 1456, 1531, 1607, 1682, 1759, 1835 and 1910 are one and the same comet. In the book from which these items are obtained, which was printed about fifty years ago, it is interesting to note that the writer says "astronomers are quite confident that the comet will again make its appearance in or about the year 1911." Halley was a friend of Sir Isaac Newton, and was Astronomer Royal in 1749.

Wives and Mothers Suffer With Backache

Constantly on their feet, attending to the wants of a large and exacting family, women often break down with nervous exhaustion.

In the shops, factories, and on a farm are weak, ailing women, dragged down with torturing backache and bearing down pains.

Such suffering isn't natural, but it's dangerous, because due to diseased kidneys.

The dizziness, insomnia, deranged menses, and other symptoms of kidney complaint can't cure themselves they require the assistance of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which go direct to the seat of the trouble.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS CURE ALL WOMAN'S ILLS

To give vitality and power to the kidneys, to lend aid to the bladder and liver, to free the blood of poisons, probably there is no remedy so successful as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. For all womanly irregularities their merit is well known. Recommended for girls and women of all ages. 25 cents per box at all dealers. Refuse any substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

IMPORTANT FACTS

"A quart of milk is practically equal to a pound of beef in food value."

Prof. Dean, of the Ontario Agricultural College: "The composition of wheat is higher in protein and heat of combustion than any other cereal for human food."

Results of analysis by Bureau of Chemistry by U. S. Dept. of Agriculture:

ORANGE MEAT is simply the whole wheat berry, steam cooked, mixed with salt, flaked and toasted. This process develops in each wheat berry the highest percentage of grape sugars. It converts the starches into a form most easily digested and assimilated. ORANGE MEAT and milk is a perfect food

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Paul's Story of His Life. II Cor. xi: 21 to xii: 10.

Golden Text.—He said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee; for my strength is made perfect in weakness. II Cor. xii: 9.

Verse 21.—Do you know any person in all history who had a better right to boldly tell of his sufferings than Paul?

Verses 22-23.—Is there any lack of modesty, or good taste, in Paul, or any other true man, giving a full account of his qualifications and his sufferings for Christ's cause?

What advantage is it to be born of good stock?

What advantage was it to Paul that he was a Hebrew, an Israelite, and of the seed of Abraham?

Is there any higher privilege, or greater honour than to have laboured and suffered, for the cause of Christ, which is the cause of humanity?

Does a true ministry, then and now, always imply much suffering and self denial?

Verse 24-27.—What is the best word picture you can give, of the noble hero who, at the expense of life-long and unparalleled suffering, gave himself up to the service of others? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Read until the story of this bitter and prolonged suffering is burned into your memory, and then read the story of Paul's great work and of the wonderful love and grace to God to him, and then think of the sumptuous lives of the chief priests who were, in great measure, responsible for Paul's suffering, and then say, after all, which got the more aggregate joy out of life, Paul or they?

How many of these cruel sufferings, to which Paul here refers, are mentioned elsewhere in the New Testament? Give chapter and verse. (See Acts ix: 24-25; xiv: 19; xvi: 22 et seq.)

Verses 28-33.—Is Paul an exception, or is it the duty of all of us to have a great care for all the churches, and to be in sympathy with everybody, weeping with those who weep, and rejoicing with those who rejoice?

Which is the greatest man, the one who excels in education, in science, in oratory, in statesmanship, or the one who excels in his love for the churches, for the poor, for sinners, and in a heart that sympathizes with all mankind?

Chapter xii: 1-6.—What is the logical or scientific value of Paul's experience of heaven?

What is the only real proof of God, of immortality and of the wisdom of the spiritual life?

Is it probable, or possible, that persons to-day may have similar experience of the unseen world as Paul?

Verses 7-10.—What was Paul's "thorn in the flesh"?

What is the greatest "thorn in the flesh" that strong and healthy spiritual men have to-day?

Lesson for Sunday, Nov. 28th, 1909. Paul on Self Denial. (World's Temperance Lesson), Rom, xiv: 10-21.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

STOLE A KISS GOT 90 DAYS

Holland, Mich., Nov. 19.—Justice Vandenmullen, of this city, a confirmed bachelor, imposed a sentence of ninety days in the Detroit House of Correction upon Harlem, Timms, of Graid Rapids, for stealing a kiss, and intimated that the punishment was entirely too light.

The complainant was Miss Delia Romeyn, aged seventeen, who told the Justice that when she alighted from a Grand Rapids train Timms followed her.

When a dark corner was reached, Miss Romeyn asserted Timms threw his arms around her and kissed her.

HIGH-HEELS FOR SQUAWS

One Cheyenne Indian Invests His Cash in a Dozen Bedsteads.

Sheridan, Wyo., Nov. 19.— Little Wolf, chief of the Cheyenne Indians, accompanied by 150 of his people, arrived in Sheridan yesterday from the Upper Tongue river country. The Indians brought with them over $5,000 of the $40,000 recently paid them by the government for beef furnished. The indians made all kinds of purchases. One family bought two sewing machines, another a dozen white enamel bedsteads. Others bought top buggies, wagons, etc. Almost all of the squaws purchased silk dresses, bright coloured petticoats, high-heeled shoes, etc. None could be induced to buy the big, broad brimmed hats worn by their paleface sisters.

These are the same indians that were recently stated to be on the war path. There are no more peaceful, intelligent, law-abiding and hard-working indians in the world than the tribe that is now visiting Sheridan.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 19.—It's an ill wind that blows no good, and the hurricane which swept a tidal wave from the gulf over the State of Tobasco, Mexico, brought down millions of feet of mahogany and cedar and distributed it over hundreds of miles of that country occupied by the poor natives and by plantation owners who lost their crops by the flood. The amount of timber is estimated at about 650,000 tons, valued at $20,000,000 and belongs to the unfortunates upon whose premises it was washed by the storm tide. This valuable timber, by accumulation of half a century, has fallen into ravines and other inaccessible recesses from the mountain sides where it would have cost more than its value to have recovered it by machinery of the construction of railways.

While food and clothing are being rushed to the storm sufferers, many of them are wealthy with the stock of timber which they will soon be able to dispose of at good prices.

WAS BALD SIX YEARS.

Three Months of the New Scientific Treatment Restored His Hair.

Baldness is caused by dandruff, which is caused by a germ. Kill the germ and it is almost certain that hair will grow again, if the follicle has not been totally destroyed. Nels Peterson of Lime Spur, Mont., says: "I had been bald six years, and had tried all kinds of 'cures,' but without any benefit whatever, until I tried Herpicide. November 16, 1909, I began using Herpicide. Everybody can have luxuriant, glossy hair, if Herpicide is used thoroughly. Take no substitute. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Sold by Jury & McDermid, Druggists; also Payne's drug store. One Dollar bottles guaranteed.

IN OTTAWA

Mr. Daniel O'Connell, Representing Mr. C. R. McAllister in Supreme Court Case.

A case before the Supreme Court in Ottawa yesterday is that of O. H. McAllister vs. Ontario Bank for rental to the amount of $21,000 for the stone building on Hunter St. east. Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for Mr. McAllister and Mr. J. Bicknell, K. C., for the curator of the Ontario Bank.

ENCOURAGING "HIS" HOBBY

We all know that it is very tiresome when the man whose companionship is our greatest pleasure and delight neglects us in favor of a tennis racquet, a golf club, a hammer, a spade, or whatever implement is used in the following of his own particular hobby.

But he doesn't really neglect us; we must not allow ourselves to think he does, and we must force ourselves to realise that the man with the hobby is usually a thoroughly sound and healthy-minded man.

Iknow a girl—we will call her Daisy—who became engaged to a splendid six foot young giant who was a member of a local rowing club and whose Saturday afternoons and several evenings a week were devoted to training for forthcoming races.

At first Daisy didn't mind, and was content to idle along the banks while Douglas flashed by in a slim racing shell, but after a bit she began to be jealous of her lover's hobby and to feel that she was being neglected in favor of two silly wooden sculls.

For a time she grumbled to herself alone, then she began grumbling to Douglas, with the result that after a few weeks of tears and excuses the rowing club was abandoned and the sculls laid aside.

But this piece of enforced masculine renunciation worked nothing but sad results, for every evening which the lovers spent together was tortured with an uncomfortable restraint caused by the hovering ghost of an abandoned hobby.

Douglas couldn't help remembering the splash of the water and the swish of the oars, and Daisy couldn't help knowing that he was remembering. With the result that six weeks later the ring was missing from Daisy's lonely little finger, while, with a heavy heart, Douglas got into training for the next regatta races.

And all this because a silly, exacting little girl had refused to sanction the existence of so harmless and healthy a rival as a pair of sculls.

It was a big pitty, and there are dozens of other similar big pities when women jibe at the hobby which gives health, interest and enjoyment to the man of their hearts.

It may be irritating, when we would likea peaceful walk through the leafy lanes, for scals and exercises and pieces to be practised on the piano.

Yes, never for one moment would one deny that sometimes the husband's hobby is quite a small drawback to complete domestic bliss, but for all that, let that hobby go on and prosper, bringing pleasure and contentment in its train.

JUDICIAL SALE

OF THE ASSETS OF THE

PETERBOROUGH SHOVEL AND TOOL COMPANY, LIMITED

PURSUANT to an order of the High Court of Justice made by His Honour R. C. S. Huyeke, Local Master of the High Court of Justice at Peterborough, in the matter of the Winding Up of The Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company, Limited, sealed tenders will be received, addressed to the said Local Master, at His Chambers, Court House, Peterborough, Canada, and marked "Tender re The Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company, Limited," up to two o'clock in the afternoon on the 14th DAY OF DECEMBER, 1909,

For the purchase of the following assets of the said Company:

PARCEL NO. 1.—REAL ESTATE AND BUILDINGS.

The factory site in the City of Peterborough, comprises a block of land centrally located containing about two acres. The buildings have been erected for a matter of only a few years—are adapted to any class of manufacture and consist of a one-storey brick factory, 48 ft. by 180 ft. 6 in., a brick storeroom adjoining the factory, 66 ft. by 99 ft., both fronting on Stewart street; frame warehouse, one and a half storeys high, 30 ft. 11 in by 134 ft. 9 in., facing Rink street; frame pickling house, 16 ft. 9 in. by 18 ft. 6 in., and frame oil house, 16 ft. 3 in. by 14 ft. 10 in., with two oil tanks located in the centre of the lot.

The shipping facilities are good—there being two sidings and switches connecting with the Grand Trunk Railway and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The advantages of the City of Peterborough as a manufacturing point, affording as it does ample electrical power at reasonable rates and practically unexcelled shipping facilities, are so well known that no comments are necessary.

A plan of the buildings may be seen at the offices of the Liquidator.

PARCEL NO. 2. — MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT.

The machinery and equipment consists of machinery and tools such as are required for the manufacture of shovels, spades, etc., and are in good working order.

PARCEL NO. 3. — RAW MATERIAL, GOODS IN PROCESS OF MANUFACTURE AND IN GOODS MANUFACTURED.

An inventory may be inspected at the Offices of The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, or at the works in Peterborough.

Tenders will be received for any one or more of such parcels.

TERMS OF SALE.—Ten per cent. with tender and balance within ten days after acceptance thereof, without interest. The tenders will be opened and considered at the Chambers of His Honour R. C. S. Huyeke, Local Master of the High Court of Justice, at Peterborough, on the said 14th day of December, 1909, when all tenderers may be present or represented.

Tenders must be accompanied by a marked cheque, payable to the order of the Liquidator, for 10 per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be returned if the tender should not be accepted. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

The conditions of the sale are the standing conditions of the Court, so far as applicable.

The purchaser shall search the title at his own expense. And the vendors shall not be required to furnish any abstract or produce any deeds, declarations or other evidence of title, except those in their possession.

The purchaser shall have ten days in which to make any objections or requisitions in respect to the title, and in case the purchaser shall make any objections or requisitions which the vendors shall from any cause be unable or unwilling to answer, the vendors may at any time rescind the sale. In that case the purchaser shall be entitled to a return of the deposit, without interest, costs or compensation.

Further particulars may be had on application to the Liquidator.

TELEPHONING WITHOUT WIRES

Interest is still unabated in the first public exhibition in wireless telephony given in Canada at the recent Canadian National Exhibition by the Collins Wireless Telephone Co. of Newark, N. J. It was shown conclusively by these wonderful instruments that the voice could be transmitted across buildings and through brick walls without any wire connection whatever. Among the many hundreds that demonstrated the Collins Telephone to their satisfaction were Mayor Oliver, Mr. W. K. McNaught, M.P.P., Mr. J. C. Eaton, Dr. J. O. Orr, Manager of the Exhibition, and Mr. B. Anderson, Customs official. Mr. Collins has accomplished the remarkable feat of talking from Newark to Philadelphia, a distance of 81 miles, and he expects soon to be able to talk to New York and Chicago. To show his appreciation of the first public exhibition in Canada, Mayor Oliver had his photograph taken operating a Collins telephone. A dispatch has been received in Toronto which says:

"The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle, Washington, has conferred the Gold Medal highest award on the Collins Wireless Telephone Co., of Newark, N.J. Marconi, the wireless wizard, says: "Wireless telephony is an established fact. I am satisfied that wireless telephony has been solved, and to Mr. Collins is due the credit for the invention. I believe from my own tests that for the near future communication can be maintained over any distance by the wireless telephone. There is a great practical future for the wireless telephone; it will be a benefit to science and to the commercial world.

The Collins Company are about to organize subsidiary companies throughout the States and Canada, commercially the parent company to retain a large interest and to receive royalties from them.

A small allotment of stock of the parent company is now offered to the public at $4.00 per share. Three years ago the stock sold at 50 cents a share. At this rate of increase the price in three years will be $32.00 per share, and it will not stop there. Business men who see a great future commercially for the wireless telephone are snapping up the stock. No more will be sold when this allotment is subscribed. The Collins Co. has opened offices in Toronto, at the Grand Union Hotel, Front and Simcoe streets, Toronto. Communications addressed to The Collins Wireless Telephone Company as above, will receive prompt attention.

Many of our readers no doubt remember when the Bell Telephone stock went begging in 1876 at 50 cents a share and a few years later, sold at $3,000 a share. In order to secure the stock at $4.00 we would advise our readers to act promptly.

JESSIE ALEXANDER RECITAL

The public of Peterborough were pleased beyond question and treated to a fine exposition of elocutionary art and music at the Conservatory Hall last evening, when Miss Jessie Alexander, assisted by the Conservatory orchestra, rendered one of the finest programmes that ever fell to the lot of an audience to receive. The recital opened before a large and appreciative audience, and it is safe to say that everyone was well pleased. From the first number on the programme to the last, the assembly was delighted and captivated by the efforts of the artists.

Of Miss Alexander it may be said that in every number she excelled herself, and never on any other occasion here had she drawn forth such rounds of applause as was evident last evening. Her clear enunciation and charming personality gave to her selections the essence of everything that is orignt. . Every number was encored heartily, and Miss Alexander responded in such a way as to win her way to the hearts of all her hearers. Special mention may be made of her renditions of scenes from "Romeo and Juliet,' 'in which the different characters were portrayed in a manner worthy of high appreciation. An encore, "The Charge of the Mad Brigade," gave genuine satisfaction. "Th e Suffrage Question," a dissertation by Mr. Dooley, was well received and encored, the encore being "A Pot of Tea," which surely appealed to the Scottish feeling. Dr. W. H. Drummond's "Ma Leetle Dominique," was exceedingly well rendered, being a characteristic "habitant" selection. " 'Ceptin' Me," written by the late Alma Frances McCollum, of Peterborough, made a very pleasing encore. "The Higher Culture," in negro dialect, proved very entertaining and amusing.

The Conservatory orchestra was at its best, each number being encored, the "Glow Worm" and "American Patrol," bringing forth the highest encomiums. Mr. Rupert Gliddon, the leader, deserves praise for the efficient and masterly way in which the orchestra is conducted. Over 350 people were present, and they undoubtedly listened to one of the best programmes ever given in Peterborough.

Should Miss Alexander return to Peterborough in the future, she may be assured of a large audience and enthusiastic reception, as her name is synonymous with all that is entertaining and inspiring in the world of elocution. The management should feel gratified at the success which attended their efforts. The programme:

1. March, "Abschied Der Gladiatoren" ....Blankenburg. Conservatory Orchestra.
2. Scenes from "Romeo and Juliet" .... Shakespeare Miss Jessie Alexander.
3. Selection, "Bonnie Scotland"... .... Peurmer Conservatory Orchestra.
4. "The Suffrage Question" ....Finlay P. Dunne Miss Jessie Alexander.
5. Characteristic, "American Patrol ....Meachem Conservatory Orchestra.
6. "Ma Leetle Dominique"..... .... Dr. W. H. Drummond Miss Jessie Alexander.
7. Idyl, "Glow Worm .....Linke Conservatory Orchestra.
8. Recitation .... Selected Miss Jessie Alexander.
9. March .. ..Selected Conservatory Orchestra.

EASY FAT REDUCTION

When buttermilk and gymnastics were the only known cures for overfatness many people preferred to stay fat—dreading the remedy worse than the disease.

Now, these two grim lions on the road to slimness have been overcome and the loss of 20 to 50 pounds has become a very safe and pleasant affair. You can eat and drink and be merry and lazy and still lose 10 to 16 ounces of useless fat daily. Folks with double chins and stout abdomens can lose them in a month and yet not strain, bother or deny themselves a single blessed thing. It does not cost much, either—any druggist will fix you up—and there is no waiting; results begin when you do.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime of this simple, harmless mixture: ½ oz. Marmola, ¾ oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4½ oz. Peppermint Water, and you will strip off evenly, without wrinkling, all the useless fat that now annoys and punishes you.

Firemen Will Likely Receive New Furniture For Their Hall

Meeting of Fire, Water and Light Committee Last Night—New Caps for Men—Other Matters Dealt With—Chemical Engine Needed, Says Chief.

ACCOUNTS PASSED

A meeting of the Fire and Light Committee was held last night with Ald. Buller presiding, and Ald. Hicks and Morgan present. The reporting of lights out, as found in another column, and the work of the Fire Department was practically upheld. The fact that most of the lights reported out had apparently burned all night, was taken into consideration, and had been reported by Chief Howard.

It was believed by the trimmers that a certain amount of maliciousness was behind many of the reports, and for that reason they wanted to know the names of citizens who did report. No imputations were made against the firemen.

Chemical Engine.

In his report of the fire in the City Hall a week ago to-night Chief Howard said that it again demonstrated the necessity of a chemical engine.

An account for $4.00 for four men engaged as extra help in fighting Mason's fire on George street, was passed.

Lansdowne Street residents asked for more lights. They had no sidewalk and the light was inadequate. The committee decided to let them grope a while longer, explaining that lights had been ordered for that street a short time ago and they may not have been put in position yet.

Ald. Duncan asked for a hydrant on Gladstone Ave. It was decided to attend to this request.

Caps for Firemen.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Hicks it was decided to buy twelve new caps for the firemen.

Chief Howard again asked for furniture for the fire hall. He pointed out that the firemen had no decent furniture. He had endeavoured to conduct the department as economically as possible, and felt that the least the committee could do was to spend $200 on furniture, which was badly needed. Ald. Hicks favoured the purchase of furniture if the appropriations would permit. It was finally decided that Ald. Buller confer with the City Treasurer, if the finances of the committee are in a healthy condition several hundred dollars will likely be spent in furniture.

THE SKIPPER OF THE HEY!-ED. TALKS CANADIAN NAVY

Realising the important position the Naval question is occupying in the minds of the people of Canada just now, and feeling that an anxious public should not have to wait for Monday, for the chunks of wisdom that will be dealt out at the Empire-building meeting in the Conservative club rooms on Saturday night, the Examiner commissioned one of its staff to secure expert opinion on the subject and naturally when the gallant Kaptain Karsen of the good ship "Hey!-Ed." hove in sight, the reporter signalled the well-known mariner to lay to.

"What is your candid opinion as to what Canada should do in the matter of assisting Great Britain's navy policy?" was the first question the scribe fired across the bows of the salt.

Kapt. Karsen seemed a little surprised and a good deal indignant at the question.

"Why, look 'ere, matie," he retorted, with a hitch of his nautical trousers, and a fresh revolution of his quid; "Canada don't need to worry nothing about building none of them there Dred Knots, while me and my staunch ship the "Hey!-Ed." is a-sailing of the seas. I'd like to see the Dutch warship that would try to carve holes in the Canadian scenery if the Government gives me a chanct to meet 'em half way. Why, the "Hey! Ed." is as good as a dozen Dred Knots to Canada now, and if there is any trouble in the offing all they got to do is to build five or six more and put Sam Kamphelle, Jarge Kunes, Peter Jardiniere, Jacques Morphee, or some of the rest of the heroes at the helm, and there wouldn't be no talk of a German invasion. Them's my sentiments and I'd tell you more about my scheme, only I've promised to give a chalk talk before the Admiralty Board of the Yung Konservative Club to-night, and I ain't going to give away all my ammunition."

All of which, coming from Kap Karsen, should settle the matter.

Miller's Compound Iron Pills have such virtue that every one should try them.—Wm. Madill, druggist.

GREAT PLAY OF ALASKAN LIFE

"Two Women and That Man," a True Picture of Life in the Frozen Northland.

An entirely new and unique story of an almost new country "Alaska," is to be found in the play of "Two Women and That Man," by Henry D. Carey. As the title implies the story deals chiefly with the question of two women being in love with one man, and at the same time depicts the country and its people to a fine degree. The play is laid in a small town up in the northern part of Alaska, during the year 1899, at which time there was a great influx to that country. All kinds of men and women meeting and fighting all the many hardships and conditions that were there, and of these people and times the author has built this play. 1d-119.

New Church A Beautiful And Substantial Edifice

Will be Opened To-morrow Morning—A Brief Review of the Handsome Pile Erected for the Catholic People of the South End—Bishop O'Connor's Industry.

HAS DEVOTED HIS TIME

The Church of the Sacred Heart, the second Catholic church in the city of Peterborough, situated on the lot at the north-east corner of Romaine and Aylmer streets, will be formally opened to-morrow morning by a Pontifical High Mass which will be celebrated by Archbishop Gauthier of Kingston. Prior to the mass the church, will be blessed by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, commencing at 10.30 a.m. Henceforth the Catholic people of the south end of the city will attend the church which was built for them in order to divide the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral which has been of late taxed to its full capacity every Sunday. During recent years the Catholic population of the city has grown to large numbers and although the Cathedral, built many decades ago, was planned on generous lines and has afforded ample accommodation up to recent years it was not to be expected that it would always be sufficiently large for the number of people which was anticipated to increase with the development of the city. Realizing the almost immediate necessity of taking action Bishop O'Connor encouraged by the support of the laity decided to erect a new church and since then the work has been systematically proceeded with and the present beautiful edifice stands as a monument to His Lordship's careful guardianship of the people in his charge.

General Features.

The Church of the Sacred Heart has been built not for the present alone, but for the future and the strength and solidity which it would require are evident at a first glance at the splendid exterior. It is 145 feet long by 60 feet in width and fronts Romaine St. It is built entirely of red granite with limestone trimmings all of which were obtained from Mr. R. Sheehy's quarries at Stony Lake. The material has combined to lend the church a decidedly imposing appearance and offsets the architecture to good advantage. The main entrances are led up to by a cement walk and steps the entire width of the building. At the front of the building a tower extends 84 feet above the ground, and is surmounted by a tower with cross of another 60 ft. with the result that the top of the cross is about 160 ft. above the ground and can be plainly seen from any part of the city.

The church is entered by three doors facing Romaine St., the porch from the main door leading into side porches at the right and left. From the two side vestibules stairs lead to the gallery and choir loft. The interior design is strong and artistic. The vaulted ceiling with its main arch over the nave and two smaller aisle arches is supported by two rows of fluted pillars with Ionic capitals. The ceiling is paneled and some time in the future will be frescoed. The walls are coloured in pure white faintly relieved by a cream border near the ceiling. The effect is very pleasing to the eye and enhances the spaciousness which the church really possesses. The beauty of the interior is still further increased by the coloured stain glass windows, each of which represents some scriptural scene. Under the light of day the church is an ensemble of harmonizing colours and imposing as it is the effect is even greater with the artificial rays of many electric lights. The sanctuary is at the north end and the altar is snugly placed against the rounded north wall directly opposite the main entrance. At either side are two smaller altars.

Accommodate 1,000.

The church has been provided with accommodation for 1,000 persons. There are six rows of oak seats totalling 180, each of which will comfortably hold five persons. The gallery has a capacity of another hundred exclusive of the choir. There are three aisels extending from the three doors and the only other exit is through the vestry. Just inside the main door is a memorial font presented to the church by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sheehy in memory of their son, Willie. The windows are gifts from private individuals as memorials and from the various Catholic societies in the city.

Those Who Did the Work.

The design of the church is the work of the diocesan architect, Mr. John E. Belcher, and is another striking example of his skill and artistic ideas. The contractors were Messrs. William Langford and Richard Sheehy, who since the time of their acceptance of the work about two years ago have rushed it forward with despatch and care. The result of their efforts speak more significantly than mere words. The foundation was completed in June, 1908, and it will be remembered that the corner stone was laid on Sunday, June 14th. From that time the most important section was begun and by winter the building was advanced to the extent that interior work could be proceeded with. Since spring it may be said that the finishing touches were being made and in every practical sense of the word the church is now complete at least for present requirements. The lighting and heating was done by F. R. J. McPherson & Co. They installed a modern system of ventilation and the Pease Company's system of steam heating has been used. The plumbing is the work of Mr. C. A. J. Duranceau. Mr Fred Cook was responsible for the painting, which has been faultlessly executed. The stained glass windows were purchased from the N. T. Lyon Co., of Toronto. The wealth of detail that is found on all sides beggars description and an adequate idea of the beauty of the structure can be gained only by personal observation.

In connection with the church a long stone shed has been built at the rear providing shelter for the horses of those farmers who have to drive into the city. At the mass to-morrow morning Bishop O'Connor will make the announcements in regard to the disposal of priests to the new church. The choir will be selected from the parishioners in the south and they will be assisted for a time by members of the Cathedral choir.

Before closing mention should be made of the main altar, the gift of St. Peter's T.A.S. When it is said that it is, in every respect, in keeping with the church, the society's munificence will be appreciated. In the erection of the edifice and in its equipment Bishop O'Connor has stinted nothing, nor is there any extravagance. The ensemble effect is harmonious and a spacious and beautiful house of worship has been provided for the Catholic people of the southern section of the city.

TAKE A COLD SERIOUSLY

The possibilities of every cold are dreadful to contemplate. Bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption, usually begin with a simple cold. Why not fight the cold from the start and assure success by using Dr Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It allays inflamation, keeps the cough free and loose and protects the bronchial tubes from danger.

A CHALLENGE FROM MR. LASTAR

To the Editor of The Examiner:—

Dear Sir,—After having received a certain amount of letters asking why I do not give more reasons why local option should not be here in the city, and as I have met Mr. Potter and he asked me if I would dare to state the lies that I wrote in my last letter, on a public platform, and as he stated he knew too much about me that would be illegal to publish in a paper, in answer to all this I challenge Mr. Potter or any other man he can produce from the city or outside on any subject, local option or any other matter that would be in the interests of the people of Peterborough, and that if any man knows anything wrong about me that might be libel in court, I hereby state that let them reveal anything they can bring against me and I will not bring any proceedings against them, provided I will be given a chance to answer. I would like an answer before to-morrow's meeting.—Yours, etc. B. LASTAR.

SONG SERVICE

Ever increasing interest is being manifest in the evangelistic song services, held in the Gospel Hall every Sunday night. To-morrow night the subject will be "Coming Home." Some of the hymns will be "I'm Tired of Straying, Lord"; "Joy, Joy, Joy"; "Softly and Tenderly"; "Ring the Bells of Heaven". Others also will be sung. The service will begin at seven sharp.

MARKET TO-DAY

Eggs Still at 30 Cents—Poultry and Meat Plentiful.

While eggs were inclined to be scarce on the market this morning they could be purchased at 30 cents. Butter was plentiful at 25 cents, and poultry could be had at prices suitable to the average pocket book. Turkeys of fairly good size were offered at from $1.35 to $1.50; ducks, 60 cents each; geese at from $1.00 to $1.25, and chickens at various prices from 60 cents a pair, up. Pork, lamb and beef were more plentiful than usual, beef at 5½ and 6½, lamb at 10 and 12 cents, and pork at 11 and 13 cents. Onions sold at $1.00 a bag and potatoes at from 45 to 60c. Apples were plentiful at a rather wide range of prices. Other market offerings were sold at the usual quotations.

THE ANNIVERSARY

Springville Presbyterian Church Will Hold Special Services To-morrow.

The anniversary services of the Springville Presbyterian Church will commence to-morrow and will be continued on Monday night. The Rev. Mr. Livingstone of the Barton Street Methodist Church, Hamilton, will be the special preacher for the occasion. He is an eloquent preacher and a splendid singer as well. On Monday night there will be an excellent programme, in which Rev. Mr. Livingstone, Rev. Mr. Potter, of St. Andrew's Church, Mrs. Thorndyke, Miss Story, elocutionist, and other well-known people will take part. The Springville Church, under the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Marsh, is in a flourishing condition. The special meetings, which have just been completed, have proved highly successful.

WHY NOT STOP THAT ITCH?

Write for a Free Sample Bottle of D.D.D. and Get Instant Relief.

If you are afflicted with skin disease, the kind that seems to baffle medical skill ,and leaves you wild with itch, you would do well to investigate a prescription which is now recommended by many of the best skin specialists, even in preference to their own prescriptions. It is the simple, soothing oil or wintergreen compound known as D. D. D. Prescription, and it sells at $1.00 a bottle.

But a simple bottle will be enough to convince you that the itch is instantly allayed by this preparation. Get a liberal sample bottle of the healing, soothing, external remedy—D. D. D. Prescription—and see!

We feel quite sure that before long you will be cured, and at any rate we know — know positively — that you will be relieved instantly, the minute the soothing liquid is applied to the skin.

Mrs. W. L. Clarke, of Lagan, Alta., tried D. D. D. and says:

"It is the best remedy for the skin or scalp that I have ever used."

STRATFORD HOCKEY TEAM WANTS ANOTHER CHANGE AT THE MIDGETS

Stratford will have one, two, and perhaps, three hockey teams in the O.H.A. The Classic City is just the opposite to Lindsay in one respect, and that is that in Stratford there is material galore for either Junior, intermediate or senior teams, but in Lindsay, it is different, and a bare corporal guard can hardly be claimed as anywhere near fast enough to catch a place on a good intermediate team. Lindsay can gather together all kinds of junior material, but for faster company the players have either left town or have appeared in the hockey arena "positively the first time." Of last year's champion intermediates only three are in town. The Midgets last year were acknowledged to be one of the best balanced teams that ever won the championship. They had stuck together for years and kept hammering away at the door until they at last achieved what they desired. They won the cup, they beat a team from one of the best hockey towns on the map—Stratford—and their desire fulfilled, they disbanded and went their way.

In Stratford where material is plentiful it is different, and the management experience very little difficulty in gathering together fast hockey teams. In the Classic City the youngsters are taught to play hockey from the knee-height of a grasshopper, up. This year the Stratford sports are endeavouring to form a senior group comprising Woodstock, Stratford, London, Galt, and Ingersoll, and they will also play intermediate and junior.

In fact they are very much disappointed that Lindsay is unable to organize a team to defend the championship mug this year. The Beacon says:

"Say, what do you know about Lindsay? Don't they value the silverware or have they got cold feet? And we had our revenge all mapped out this year, too."

Lindsay has not cold feet, and would be delighted to give the Stratford Indians another run for the silverware if it were possible. Who knows but that the two junior teams from these two hockey towns may fight it out for the championship this coming winter. True, Lindsay has lost the service of one or two speedy juniors, along with the intermediates, but there seems to be no dearth in the juvenile material. Here is wishing it may be so.—Lindsay Warder.

A STRONG LETTER IN REFERENCE TO PETERBOROUGH'S FIGHT FOR FAVOURS

To the Editor of The Examiner.—

Dear Sir,—There is food for reflection and even amusement, if the matter were less serious, in the action taken at the special Board of Trade meeting on Tuesday night. In answer to the request of the Lakefield Board of Trade for co-operation in securing the extension of the Lakefield wharf, the local Board acted. A committee was appointed, consisting of Mr. Charles, Mr. Travers, Mr. Lamonth and Mr. D. O'Connell, to undertake the modest mission of securing the building of a wharf along the river front, and also a retaining wall, and the extension of the Wolfe street wharf at Government expense.

Are the people of Peterborough qualifying themselves for citizenship of Toronto? Do they want the earth? Do they want to surrender all spirit of self-reliance and lapse into entire dependence upon the Government?

Why should the Government build a wharf on the water front, or at Wolfe street, for the city? Why should not the city bear some of its own burdens? Why not the steamboat men do something? Some members of the committee show their consistency by demanding at one moment the expenditure of thousands of dollars on local wharves, and the next uniting with the political enemies of the Government in denouncing their "extravagance" and their "corrupt purchase of influence," by building wharves that they claim the people should build for themselves. In other places, where wharves are built as Government works, tolls are charged steamers tying up to them, etc. A Government wharf must have regulations regarding the landing of passengers and freight, and no doubt these will be put in force at Peterborough and Lakefield.

Lakefield has now a splendid Government-built wharf, 325 feet in length, but the modest Board of Trade wants it extended in the form of an L to the G. T. R. tracks. Neither the people of Lakefield nor the Government own the site of the proposed extension, and the latter is asked to build a wharf to be owned and controlled by the Grand Trunk Railway.

Is there to be no end to the paternalism to be demanded of the Government? Dams for conservation are being built in the interests of power development for those who are the most lithe and unscrupulous enemies of the Government, and denunciators of their alleged "extravagance" in building works to promote private interests.

Peterborough wants the Government to build a retaining wall and wharf along the water front. Can't Peterborough do a little for itself? It got the wharf from for nothing through the efforts of a former representative. Peterborough has been exceedingly lucky in having things done for it for nothing. We have had all our parks presented to us—Victoria Park, and Central Park, came from the county for practically nothing. The other parks were given by Mrs. Nicholls. Mrs. Nicholls gave us the hospital, and Andrew Carnegie a public library building. The only important public building erected by the city is the Collegiate Institute, and the Government contributed $20,000 to the cost of the site of that. We gave the site for the Normal School, it is true, but we only earned a reputation for generosity by diverting from its proper purpose a park which was the gift of a public-spirited private citizen.

Isn't it time that we showed a little manhood and independence? Did something for ourselves and not go hat in hand to the Government, begging as favours things we should do for ourselves? I have as large a stake in the city as any of the gentlemen that are going, in forma pauperis, to pump pap from the Government breast. I am as anxious to see the city prosper, as desirous of saving in expense, as any man, but I think there should be a limit to the demands upon the Government to relieve us of our responsibilities, and that we should do something to help ourselves.

Yours truly,
SELF-RELIANCE.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AILMENTS.

I am a woman.
I know women's sufferings.
I have cured this poor
I will cure, free of any charge, any woman sufferer with local imperfections in any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or my self offer. Brantford, Ont., Nov. 19.—Special—How Colds, LaGrippe and other minor ills settle on the Kidneys and develop Rheumatism, Heart Disease, Bright's Disease, and other terribly dangerous ailments and how any kind all of them are cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills is fully shown in the case of Mrs. A. H. Thomson, whose home is 48 Albion street, this city.

Mrs. Thomson was, some years ago, taken with Cold and La Grippe, and Straining, which affected her Kidneys, and the result was Backache, Lumbago, Rheumatism and Heart Disease, which caused both her and her friends grave anxiety.

She had suffered some years when she heard of cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and bought a box, which she used with such splendid results that she continued to take them till she was cured. Since then she has used Dodd's Kidney Pills in her own family and recommended them widely to her friends, all of whom have warm words of praise for the standard Canadian Kidney remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Lumbago and Bright's Disease are all Kidney Diseases or are caused by diseased kidneys. You can't have any of them if you keep your Kidneys sound and your blood pure. Dodd's Kidney Pills make the Kidneys sound. Sound Kidneys strain all the impurities out of the blood.

LETTER FROM MR. J. F. LILLICRAP

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—In your report of a meeting of your City Board of Trade, we find that it is stated that a letter was read from the Lakefield Board of Trade, asking your support of their petition to the Department of Public Works, for better wharf accommodation here.

It was stated in this letter that the proposed extension of the wharf was for the more convenient transfer of passengers and freight from the railway to the steamers, and that it is in the interests of a large number of Peterborough people as well as the whole summer trade to and from Stony Lake no one will deny. Therefore the writer would judge that the meeting of the Board of Trade could not have been a representative one for the letter from our Board of Trade would have received the support that it deserved. It appears that Mr. McClellan stated at the meeting that Lakefield has 325 feet of wharf against Peterborough's 200 feet, and that he thought that charity began at home. It would say to this that the extension we are asking for is more in the interests of Peterboro' than of Lakefield and that they do not ask charity from Peterborough, and I believe that many Peterborough people are prepared to back up our request, as last year your Council asked for this extension; however if we do not get what we ask the Government for, we know who is working against us and the interests of the Stony Lake property owners and tourists.—Yours truly,

J. F. LILLICRAP.

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Temperance and Moral Reform League of this City, who have arranged for its Publication.

CAN LOCAL OPTION BE ENFORCED IN PETERBOROUGH?

Every now and then we hear people who admit that local option is a success in the country districts, express doubt as to whether or not it can be successfully enforced in a city the size of Peterborough. The fact that over 6,000,000 people in America live in local option districts, including the residents of over 50 cities, each larger than Peterborough, is the best answer to this question. So successful has been the enforcement of prohibition in large cities in the United States, that now the city of Chicago, with its 7,136 saloons, is planning to grapple with the question. The daily press of Chicago, have shown remarkable fairness and liberality toward developments in the temperance and prohibition reform in that city, and are giving space, almost without limit, to the discussion of this question.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean has prepared a summary of the effects of prohibition in other districts and has this to say about it.

PROHIBITION WOULD BENEFIT INDUSTRIAL LABOR AND MERCHANTS

Prohibition, while not, of course, completely abolishing the liquor traffic in Chicago, would undoubtedly save to the people from fifty to seventy-five per cent. of the city's present liquor traffic.

The seven thousand saloons of Chicago must take in an average of $10,000 each per year to pay expenses and even moderate profit. Including the large sale of bottled liquors and mail and express shipments from outside the liquor bill of the city must total not less than $80,000,000 per year. By closing the saloons the people will be saved from forty to fifty million dollars for legitimate purposes. Not less than one hundred thousand families will be materially benefitted. This forty million dollars once spent for drink would probably find channels for distribution in some such ways as the following.

For better and more comfortable clothing, boots and shoes, hats and caps, $5,000,000.

For food and grocery necessities, of which so many thousands are now deprived through the drink slavery of the heads of families, not less than $5,000,000.

For better home and furnishings not less than $10,000,000.

For increased deposits in savings banks, education, amusements, and miscellaneous, $30,000,000.

This increased demand for legitimate merchandise, homes and recreation, would prove a tremendous boon to local retail and wholesale trade.

PROHIBITION A FINANCIAL BOON TO LARGE CITIES

The record of prohibition in fifty large industrial centres shows that the locations vacated by saloons have in almost all instances been quickly filled with legitimate business, restaurants, and amusement halls.

The liquor claim that prohibition would close up the hotels of the city is disproved by the results in every city where prohibition has gone into effect. Our records do not show a single instance where the hotel facilities have not been as large and as high a grade following the enactment of prohibition.

Since the inauguration of prohibition in the great industrial city of Birmingham, Alabama, at least one new million dollar hotel has been financed, three new banks opened for business and the figures for bank clearings and building operations have increased remarkably. Not only that but the increase in the investment of foreign capital has been marked Building operations in Atlanta, Georgia, Birmingham, Alabama and Kansas City, three of the largest prohibition cities have broken all previous records in the past few years.

PUBLIC FINANCES WILL NOT SUFFFER UNDER PROHIBITION

As regards the condition of public finances, with a clean political administration, $2,000,000 could be saved to Chicago anually by a fifty per cent. reduction in crime. Another million by the reduction of present exorbitant salaries of city officials, and more than two million secured from personal property assessments, which have this year been shown to be notoriously small, and no retail business has dodged its reasonable personal property taxes so astonishingly as the saloon business. Instead of paying on an average assessed valuation of $2,000 each for saloon fixtures and stock, the liquor men, according to the official report of the State Board of Equalization, are assessed on an average valuation of less than $3.00 per saloon. This is a graft which would not stand the first ray of light under a prohibition administration.

CRIME DROPS ONE HALF UNDER PROHIBITION

The decrease in the cost of crime is based upon figures available to all. Worcester, Massachusetts, reports total arrests 52 per cent. greater under license than under prohibition; arrests for drunkenness 113 per cent greater under license; arrests of "first offenders" 129 per cent. greater under license.

In Birmingham, Alabama, arrests dropped in one year from 11,812 under license to 6,820 under prohibition

Railroad accidents dropped from 91 under license to 16 under prohibition and others in proportion. Throughout the State of Alabama the decrease in arrests for crimes averages 75 per cent.

In Memphis, Tennessee, the decrease in arrests for crime average 75 per month under prohibition is from 164 under license to 61 under the new law.

These are but a few of the benefits which prohibition will bring to the city of Chicago. The increased demand in all the legitimate lines will mean increased demand for labour. The sober and efficient men "thrown out of work" will quickly fit into the new conditions, while the sots and criminal classes will drift to safer and more congenial fields for vice and debauchery.

DOES PROHIBITION PROHITIT?

During the past week a letter that appeared in the Peterborough papers from a party who is opposed to local option, claimed that as long as liquor is manufactured it will be sold, and that, therefore, there is no use attempting to enforce local option until the manufacture of liquor is prohibited. It would be difficult for this party, or for any one else, to prove this statement, The facts are the other way. Prohibition does prohibit. Possibly not completely but to a very large extent.

As a result of the fact that over half of the population of the United States is now living in prohibition districts the United States government is looking about for some source of revenue to replace the decreasing tax on liquors. From June 1907 to June 1908, internal revenue collections fell off about $18,000,000. This meant that liquor to the value of many times that sum was no longer being manufactured. Why? Because there was no market. Had it been manufactured it could not have been sold.

Since June 1908, the decrease mentioned has about doubled. It was expected that the deficit in the internal revenue receipts up to June 1909 would be $30,000,000. It is believed that this decrease in revenue is counterbalanced by the lessened cost of punishing criminals.

THEY SHOULD HELP

We are sometimes told that more liquor is sold in local option districts than before local option was introduced. If that is the case why are the big brewers and distillers spending large sums of money to prevent the spreading of the local option movement? When we invite them to assist us extend local option so as to help increase their business they decline the assistance and continue working against what is said to be in their best interests.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH AND THE SALOON

The prohibition area in the United States, and in many portions of Canada has been extended widely largely as a result of the splendid campaign against the liquor traffic that has been conducted by the Catholic Church. The strong stand that is taken by prominent Catholics on this question has already been mentioned in these columns. The following is a brief extract from a splendid address delivered at the Chicago Catholic Total Abstinance Convention by Rev. Jas M. Reardon, of St. Paul, Minn. Limited space prevents its publication in full.

"The great obstacle which bars the way to individual reformation is the ever-present saloon. Its door stands invitingly open to entice the unwary, its siren voice never ceases to allure its victims from the path of rectitude; its very presence in a silent but almost irresistible call to indulge in strong drink. The saloon is the plague-spot of our national life, and hence it is that the Catholic Church is arrayed against it as an institution from which, as from a Pandora's box, spreads all the evils of the liquor traffic. The Catholic Church is the avowed and uncompromising enemy of the American saloon; and it desires most ardently that this "pestilential evil" be wiped out entirely that it may no longer curse the race.

THE CHURCH AND THE SALOON AT WAR

"Against this formidable foe the Catholic Church raises her voice in vigorous denunciation. The saloon would contend with the church for supremacy on American soil; it would if it could, destroy her power and glory in its emancipation from the restraint which religion imposes. Therefore, between the church and the saloon there can be no truce, no compromise, the nursery of intemperance—as one of her greatest foes, a barrier to the operation of divine grace in human souls, an arch-enemy with whom there can be no semblance of a compromise."

PETERBOROUGH'S CHILDREN AND THE SALOON

Every drunkard and every criminal was once a child. No one can tell how many children of to-day will be sucked in by the open bar and ruined unless we drive the saloon out of our midst. Believing that this fact should be emphasized, the temperance workers in Peterborough have arranged for a procession of children on the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 29th which is to be observed as the World's Temperance Sunday. The children will be led by the Salvation Army Band and the procession will be followed by an address in the Opera House where Mr. E. A. Bengough, of Toronto, will give a chalk talk to the children.

The Salvation Army Band will leave the Barracks on Simcoe street at 2.30 in the afternoon and will take the Salvation Army Sunday School children to Charlotte Street Church where they will be joined by the children of St. James Methodist Church, Park Street Baptist Church, Knox Presbyterian and Charlotte Street Methodist Church. The procession will proceed from Charlotte Street Church along Rubidge street and will be joined at Brock street by the children of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

It will then march down Brock street to Aylmer and along Aylmer to Murray where the children from the Murray Street Baptist Church will fall into procession. Continuing, the children will march along Murray street to Water where they will be joined by St. Paul's Presbyterian Sunday School. Continuing along Water to McDonnel and George, the George Street Methodist and Mark street Methodist Sunday Schools will become a part of the procession. The whole procession will then march in full strength down George street to the Opera House to hear the address already mentioned. The procession will not be confined only to children but hundreds of young ladies and young men will take part in it.

PUBLIC MEN VS. THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Do you know of any prominent man who is willing to stand up and support the liquor traffic? If you do please give us his name. There are thousands who are opposed to it. Here is what some of them say:

The devil in solution—Sir Wilfred Lawson.

That beverage, the mother of sins—Southey.

The evil is in the drink.—David Lewis, J.P.

Liquid fire and distilled damnation—Robert Hall.

I consider all spirits bad spirits—Sir Astley Cooper.

The dynamite of modern civilization—Hon. John D. Long.

While you have the drink you will have the drunkard—George W. Bain.

It is a drink, a drun, and a drunkard; an appetite, a taste, a delirium—Rev. W. S. Pratt.

I oppose drink, because it opposes me. The work I try to do, it undoes. —Bishop C. D. Foss.

Strong drink is not only the devil's way into a man, but man's way to the devil.—Adam Clark, D.D.

Drink baffles us, confounds us shames us, and mocks us at every point, the public-house holds its triumphant course.—London Times.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

Do you not feel it in the air that local option is going to carry at the poles next January? That it is going to carry is borne out by the returns being received by the temperance workers. One working man stated recently that in the machine shop where he works out of 30 voters he did not know of one man who was going to vote against local option. A canvass which has been completed of one poll has brought out the result that 200 out of 250 ratepayers have announced their intentions to vote for local option. Reports from some other polls show that three-quarters of the rate-payers who have been canvassed so far have signified their intention to vote against the open bar in Peterborough. Is it any wonder that the temperance workers in Peterborough are enthusiastic?

The pastor of a church in the country near Peterborough, where the farmers are enjoying local option, sent word to the temperance workers in Peterborough this week, that the farmers of his congregation are willing to furnish rigs on election day next January to get the temperance voters out to the poles. This offers a suggestion for other rural congregations. It is voluntary work of this nature that is helping to drive the open saloon out of the country.

Do not miss the meeting in the Grand Opera House to-morrow afternoon. The speakers are men of experience who will show how local option has succeeded in other districts and who will answer the arguments of the liquor interests. They are John A. Paterson, Esq., K.C., of Toronto, and Rev. T. Beverly Smith, Church of England clergyman at West Toronto.

Do you suppose that if prohibition was proving a failure in the cities of the United States and in the local option districts in Ontario that the liquor interests would not be bringing in speakers from all these centres to prove how foolish we would be to try local option in Peterborough? They cannot get such speakers and that is why we do not hear anything from them.

Last year saw 26 saloons a day closed by the operation of temperance laws in the United States. Twenty-six times 365 equals——?

THE BEST YET

Norwood Register

At the regular meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Methodist church, Norwood, on Nov. 2nd, 1908, the following resolution was passed unanimously:—

"This Quarterly Board desire to express their satisfaction at the improved condition of things in general since the advent of Local Option.

"This town, under the license system, had been paying a heavy toll in human life both from among its minors and its men. Not only has no life been sacrificed through drink since Local Option, but habitual drunkards have become sober citizens; and previous heavy drinkers take home to their families in necessities and comforts the worth of that which once went over the bar.

"Notwithstanding some known infractions of the law, NOT A SINGLE COMPLAINT HAS BEEN HEARD FROM OUR BUSINESS MEN concerning the effects of Local Option, but, on the contrary, many of them spontaneously express their great pleasure and satisfaction at the improvement in their business during the past six months.

"Our Agricultural Fair, which, it was prophesied, would be ruined by local option, was a triumphant success; and the absence from our streets of drunkenness, rowdyism and profanity on the day with which from time immemorial they had been notoriously connected, compelled even the opponents of the Local Option measure to confess that it was, after all, the best thing that had yet come to Norwood."

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

FAMOUS PUNCHES OF FAMOUS RING GENERALS

The Favourite Blows With a Knock-out Attached That Have Been Found Most Advantageous by Some of the Well Known Pugilists.

Jack Johnson—Right arm uppercut and hook.

Joe Gans — A snappy right hook.

Terry McGovern — Overhand right-hand wallop to the jaw.

Every fighter of prominence in the prize ring to-day has his own particular style of fighting and a knack of delivering a finishing punch. No two men fight exactly alike. There never was a champion from Tom Sayers' time, 60 years ago, down to to-day, who didn't have a favourite blow to bring home the money and glory.

The right cross, the upper cut, the swing and the straight-arm punch were generally used and not until brute strength gave way to skill and science did the variety of punches include left-handers.

To-day there are any number of good men in the ring who depend more on their lefts than they do on their rights, and among the good men so inclined is none other than James J. Jeffries.

Jeffries Best Punch.

Jeff has always been known as a two-handed fighter. He can use his right as well as his left, and it is even said he can throw a ball equally as well with his left as with his right. But prize ring history shows us that left has won most of his fights with his left hand. It was his long and powerful left that dropped trip-hammer fashion on Bob Fitzsimmons at Coney Island the night the championship changed hands.

Jeff had taken a walloping from Fitz for eleven rounds, guarding as best he could with his right, while his battering ram of a left always struck out almost straight, and followed Fitz from his side of the ring to that and in and out of corners.

Jeff got few opportunities to land it, but he never stopped trying. Finally it came down in a long sweep, caught Fitz on the jaw, and down went the champion, flat on his face. It was the same with Corbett.

It took Jeffries 23 rounds to connect with it, and, but for the rebound of the ropes as Corbett, misjudging the distance between them, stepped back from one of Jeff's lunges, only to be thrown forward to receive the sweeping left. Corbett might have lasted to the 25th round and been awarded the decision. It is almost certain that Jeffries' left will do most of the damage to Jack Johnson when they meet.

Jack Johnson's Favourite.

Johnson uses a very useful and damaging left himself but it isn't of the round-arm sweeping variety like Jeff's. It is a snappy jab. He can reduce an opponent to a weakened state with it, but when it comes to a question of ending a battle his right arm uppercut, or hook, is what he brings into play. He used this punch on Tommy Burns, and he nearly tore Stanley Ketchel's head off with it in his recent battle. Jim Corbett, perhaps the cleverest big boxer of recent years, had a tantalizing left and a right across as his favourite punches Corbett used both hands as a defence. He rarely set himself, and this explains his inability as a knocker-out.

Joe Gans, the ex-champion lightweight, a close student of the game, made himself famous with a right-hand hook, but at the same time Gans was always a wonderful two-hand fighter. Those who have met him say he was a sharpshooter. He could pick your eye out and put it back again, and then bang, over would go the right hook, and then good-night. Jack Dempsey, who met his Waterloo when he fought Fitzsimmons used to stop all rushes with a snappy left-hand wallop. His right was good, but nearly all his fights were won with the left.

Some of the Others.

Fitzsimmons' mainstay was a half-arm wallop, delivered to the jaw or stomach at close quarters or breaking from a shift. Fits also had a left-hand shift that first came into prominence when he beat Jim Corbett at Carson City. Fits could sink his left hand deep into an opponent.

Kid McCoy was perhaps the most scientific puncher of them all. His favourite blow was the celebrated corkscrew. When he let it go, he twisted his wrist, just before he reached the spot at which he aimed, and the result was bewildering. Choynski, Maher, O'Donnell and other big heavies were victims of the corkscrew.

Battling Nelson, the present lightweight champion, credits all his fame to his scissors punch, landed on the liver with a rigid left hand. The punch has a paralyzing effect, pain shooting in several different directions from the spot struck.

Going down the line, it is found that every fighter of any note had a favourite method of attack, and all have been usually effective.

DR. A. W. MACPHERSON ELECTED MEMBER OF O. H. A. EXECUTIVE

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Dr. A. W. MacPherson, of Peterborough, was elected a member of the O.H.A. executive at the annual meeting of the O. H.A., held here this morning. There were seven candidates, from which four had to be selected.

The meeting discussed the amendment to make the maximum age of the junior players nineteen instead of twenty, as it is now. The amendment was at length carried, but will not go into force until next year.

The new officers are:—

President—L. Blake Duff, Welland

First Vice-President—H. E. Weltlaufer, Berlin.

Second Vice-President—C. Farquharson, Stratford.

Treasurer—Dr. W. G. Wood, Toronto.

Secretary—W. A. Hewitt, Toronto.

C. A. A. U. Representative—F. Nelson, Toronto.

Executive Committee—Jno. Dyment Barrie, 25 votes; K. Casselman, London, 21 votes; Rev. A. F. Barr, Whitby, 19 votes; Dr. W. A. MacPherson, Peterborough, 12 votes.

Dr. A. W. MacPherson represented the Peterborough Hockey Club at the annual meeting to-day at which there was a very large attendance of delegates.

W. A. Hewitt, acting treasurer in giving the report of the treasurer submitted the following:

On behalf of the sub-committee I beg to submit the Annual Financial Statement of the affairs of the Association showing in detail the receipts and expenditures from November 14th, 1908 to November 13th, 1909.

This year the Financial Statement is exceptionally good. The two main sources of revenue were as usual, the annual membership fees and the share from the final games. Our general expenses have been light and as a result our surplus has made a substantial increase. At the end of last year we had a balance to our credit of $1,962,53. After paying all our expenses, I am able to report a cash balance in the bank of $2,286.97, the largest in our history.

The Secretary's report had the following local interest:

There were 44 teams in the intermediate series, comprising eleven districts. The group winners were as follows: Lindsay, Port Perry, Toronto Rowing Club, Milton, Niagara Centrals of St. Catharines, Galt, Stratford, Brantford, Ingersoll, Wiarton, and Collingwood. In 5 of the 11 districts there were ties for the championship, viz., Lindsay and Peterborough; Niagara Centrals and Niagara Falls; Stratford and Goderich; Ingersoll and Simcoe; and Collingwood and Midland. Three games were found necessary to decide the winner between Niagara Centrals and Niagara Falls.

In the 2nd round, Toronto Rowing Club defeated Port Perry; Milton beat Galt; Ingersoll won from Brantford and Wiarton beat Collingwood. Lindsay, Stratford and Niagara Centrals drew byes.

In the next round Lindsay beat Toronto Rowing Club, Ingersoll beat Milton and Stratford beat Wiarton. Niagara Centrals having still their district to win drew another bye.

The semi-finals brought together Lindsay and Niagara Centrals and Ingersoll and Stratford. Lindsay scored an easy victory over the St. Catharines team in a sudden death game at Toronto, while Ingersoll and Stratford, having tied on the round in home and home matches, were ordered to play a sudden death game in Brantford, Stratford eventually winning out.

The final saw another great struggle between Lindsay and Stratford. Both games were desperately contested, but Lindsay showed their superiority by winning at home by 7 to 2, and at Stratford by 5 to 3, a total of 12 goals to 5. This was Lindsay's 3rd championship, though they had always been close up and naturally the townspeople were very proud of their team and their achievements.

Dr. Ivensburgh.

Dear Sir,—Just a line to let you know what a great benefit I have derived from your excellent treatment. I may say that a person in connection with me would never imagine that I was stuttered, and I owe my brilliant cure entirely to your instructions. I sincerely believe that any person, no matter how badly afflicted, may be cured in a very short time if they will but follow your instructions, and I will certainly recommend you to any stammerer that I may come in contact with.

AT BROCK STREET RINK

The big Friday night programme at the Brock St. rink last night was a great success, and the largest crowd of the week was in attendance. A block contest was the big feature of the programme and proved highly amusing. The winners were Miss R. Logan and Mr. J. O'Brien. A moonlight skate, a novelty introduced earlier in the week, was repeated with great success.

WHAT TO SELECT FOR CHRISTMAS

If you wish to buy for yourself, or your home, or your friends, something that will be a permanent pleasure, buy a picture.

Of all gifts a picture is the one that wears well. It adorns the home and it pleases the eye, and it grows into the life.

In spending money for oneself or for one's friends, it is a satisfaction to know that the investment is well made; that it is spent for something that has a use, as well as is a pleasure in itself. This is where a picture has its great charm and advantage. It adorns a house and it charms with its presence.

Some very beautiful, artistic, and meritorious pictures may be seen at Pillsworth's Picture and Art Store, 430 George street, and if you will call when you have a few minutes or better an hour or so to spare, their practical picture and art salesman will be delighted to show you their magnificent line of frames and unframed pictures and if you are not delighted with having seen so many beautiful works of art we shall feel much disappointed. There are so many beautiful things in nature and art which can only be made manifest by a picture.
